10 But we haue remained in tents, and haue obeyed, & done according to all that Jonadab our Father commanded vs.

11 But when Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel came vp into the land, we sayde, Come, and let vs goe to Ierusalem, from the house of the Caldeans, and from the house of Aram: so we dwell at Ierusalem.

12 Then came the word of the Lord vnto Jeremiah, saying,

13 Thus saith the Lord of hosts, the God of Israel, Go, & tell the men of Iudah, and the inhabitants of Ierusalem, Will ye not receiue doctrine to obey my words, saith the Lord?

14 The commandement of Jonadab the sonne of Rechab that he commaunded his sonnes, that they should drinke no wine, is surely kept: for vnto this day they drinke none, but obey their Fathers commandement: notwithstanding I haue spoken vnto you, rising early, and speaking, but ye would not obey me.

15 I haue sent also vnto you all my seruants the Prophets, rising vp early, and sending them, saying, Returne now euery man from his euill way, and amend your works, and goe not after other gods, to serue them, and ye shall dwell in the land which I haue giuen vnto you, and to your fathers, but ye would not incline your eare, nor obey me.

16 Therefore thus saith the Lord, the God of Israel, I haue most diligently exhorted and warned you both by my selfe, and my Prophets. Chap. 18. 11. and 25. 5.

16 Surely, the sons of Jonadab the sonne of Rechab, haue kept the commandement of their father, which he gaue them, but this people hath not obeyed me.

17 Therefore thus saith the Lord of hosts, the God of Israel, Behold, I will bring vpon Iudah, and vpon all the inhabitants of Ierusalem, all the euill that I haue pronounced against them, because I haue spoken vnto them, but they would not heare, and I haue called vnto them, but they would not answere.

18 And Jeremiah saide to the house of the Rechabites, Thus saith the Lord of hosts, the God of Israel, Because ye haue obeyed the commandement of Jonadab your father, and kept all his precepts, and done according vnto al that he hath commaunded you, 19 Therefore thus saith the Lord of hosts, the God of Israel, Jonadab the sonne of Rechab shall not want a man to stand before me for euer.

CHAP. XXXVI.

1 Baruch writeth, as Jeremiah endieth, the booke of curses against Iudah and Israel. 9 He is sent with the booke vnto the people, and readeth it before them all. 14 He is called before the rulers, and readeth it before them also. 23 The king casteth it in the fire. 28 There is another written at the commandement of the Lord.

Add in the fourth yeere of Iehoiakim the sonne of Iosiah king of Iudah, came this word vnto Jeremiah from the Lord, saying,

2 Take thee a roll or booke, and write therein all the words that I haue spoken to thee against Israel, and against Iudah, and against all the nations, from the day that I spake vnto thee, even from the dayes of Iosiah vnto this day.

3 It may be that the house of Iudah will heare of all the euill, which I determined to doe vnto them, that they may returne euery man from his euill way, that I may forgive their iniquitie and their sinnes.

4 Then Jeremiah called Baruch the son of Neriah, and Baruch wrote at the mouth of Jeremiah all the wordes of the Lord, which he had spoken vnto him, vpon a roll, or booke.

5 And Jeremiah commanded Baruch, saying, I am shut vp, and cannot goe into the house of the Lord.

6 Therefore goe thou, and read the roll, wherein thou hast written at my mouth the wordes of the Lord in the audience of the people in the Lords house vpon the fasting day: also thou shalt read them in the hearing of all Iudah, that come out of their cities.

7 It may be, that they will pray before the Lord, and euery one returne from his euill way, for great is the anger, & the wrath that the Lord hath declared against this people.

8 So Baruch the sonne of Neriah did according vnto all, that Jeremiah the Prophet commanded him, reading in the booke the wordes of the Lord in the Lords l That is, by his Prophets & ministers: which sheweth that it is as much as though he should speake to vs himselfe when he sendeth his ministers to speake in his Name.

g The Fast was then proclaimed, and Baruch read this roule, which was a litle before that Ierusalem was first taken, and then Iehoiakim and Daniel, and this companions were led away captives.
h Which is the East gate of the Temple,

9 And in the fift & yere of Iehoiakim the sonne of Josiah King of Iudah, in the ninth moneth, they proclaimed a fast before the Lord to all the people in Ierusalem, and to all the people that came from the cities of Iudah vnto Ierusalem.

10 Then read Baruch in the booke the wordes of Ieremiah in the house of the Lord, in the chamber of Gemariah the sonne of Shaphan the Secretary, in the higher Court at the entry of the new gate of the Lords house, in the hearing of all the people.

11 When Michajah the sonne of Gemariah the sonne of Shaphan had heard out of the booke all the wordes of the Lord, 12 Then hee went downe to the Kings house into the Chancellours chamber, and loe, all the Princes late there, euen Elishama the Chancellour, and Delatah, the sonne of Shemayah, and Elnathan the sonne of Achbor, and Gemariah the sonne of Shaphan, and Zedekiah the sonne of Vanantah, and all the Princes.

13 Then Michajah declared vnto them all the wordes that he had heard when Baruch read in the booke in the audience of the people.

14 Therefore all the princes sent Iehudi the sonne of Netaniah, the sonne of Shelemiah, the sonne of Chushi, vnto Baruch, saying, Take in thine hand the roule, wherein thou hast read in the audience of the people, and come. So Baruch the sonne of Neriah tooke the roule in his hand, and came vnto them.

15 And they saide vnto him, Sit downe now, and reade it, that wee may heare. So Baruch read it in their audience.

16 Now when they had heard all the wordes, they were afraid, both one and other, and said vnto Baruch, We will certifie the king of all these wordes.

17 And they examined Baruch, saying, Tell vs now, how diddest thou write all these wordes at his mouth?

18 Then Baruch answered them, Hee pronounced all these wordes vnto mee with his mouth, and I wrote them with inke in the booke.

19 Then said the Princes vnto Baruch, Goe, hide thee, thou and Ieremiah, and let no man know where ye be.

20 And they went in to the King to the court, but they layd vp the roule in the chamber of Elishama the Chancellour, and told the king all the wordes, that hee might heare.

21 So the king sent Iehudi to fetch the roule, and hee tooke it out of Elishama the Chancellours chamber, and Iehudi read it in the audience of the king, and in the audience of all the Princes, which stood beside the king.

22 Now the king late in the winter house in the ninth moneth, and there was a fire burning before him.

23 And when Iehudi had read these four sides, he cut it with the pen knife, and cast it into the fire that was on the hearth, untill all the roule was consumed in the fire, that was on the hearth.

24 Yet they were not afraide, nor rent their garments, neither the king, nor any of his servants that heard all these wordes.

25 Menethesele, Elnathan, and Delatah, and Gemariah, had besought the king, that he would not burne the roule, but hee would not heare them.

26 But the king commanded Ierahmeel the sonne of Hammelech, and Seratah the sonne of Azriel, and Shelemiah the sonne of Abdiel, to take Baruch the scribe, and Ieremiah the Prophet: but the Lord hid them.

27 Then the word of the Lord came to Ieremiah (after that the king had burnt the roule and the wordes which Baruch wrote at the mouth of Ieremiah) saying,

28 Take thee againe another roule, and write in it all the former wordes that were in the first roule which Iehoiakim the king of Iudah hath burnt.

29 And thou shalt say to Iehoiakim king of Iudah, Thus sayeth the Lord, Thou hast burnt this roule, saying, Why hast thou written therein, saying, that the king of Babel shall certainly come and destroy this land, and shall take thence both man and beast?

30 Therefore thus sayeth the Lord of Iehoiakim king of Iudah, We shall haue none to sit vpon the throne of David, and his dead body shall be cast out in the day to the heate, and in the night to the frost.

31 And I will visit him and his seed, and his seruants for their iniquitie, and I will bring vpon them, and vpon the inhabitants of Ierusalem, and vpon the men of Iudah all the euill that I haue pronounced against them, but they would not heare.

32 Then tooke Ieremiah another roule, and gaue it Baruch the scribe, the sonne of Neriah, which wrote therein at the mouth of Ieremiah all the wordes of the booke which Iehoiakim King of Iudah had burnt in the fire, and there were added besides them many like wordes.

CHAP. XXXVII.

Zedekiah succeedeth Ieconiah 3 He sendeth vnto Ieremiah to pray for him. 12 Ieremiah going into the land of Benjamin, is taken. 15 He is beaten, and put in prison.

AND King Zedekiah the sonne of Iosiah reigned for Contah the sonne of Iehoiakim, whom Nebuchad-rezzar King of Babel made king in the lande of Iudah.

2 But neither hee, nor his seruants, nor the people of the land would obey the wordes of the Lord, which he spake by the minister of the Prophet Ieremiah.

3 And Zedekiah the king sent Iehucal the sonne of Shelemiah, and Zephaniah the sonne of Maaseiah the Priest to the Prophet Ieremiah, saying, Pray now vnto the Lord our God for vs.

4 Now Ieremiah went in and out among the people: for they had not put him into the pylon.

m Shewing that the wicked in stead of repenting when they heare Gods iudgements, grow into further malice against him and his word.

n Thus we see the continuall care that God hath euer ouer his, to preserue them from the rage of the wicked.

o Though the wicked thinke to haue abolished the word of God, when they haue burnt the booke thereof: yet this declareth that God will not onely raise it vp againe, but also increate it in greater abundance to their condemnation, as verse 32.

p These are Iehoiakims words.

q Though Iehoiachin his sonne succeeded him, yet because he reigned but thre moneths, it was esteemed as no reigne.

5 Then Pharaohs hoste was com out of Egypt: and when the Caldians that besieged Ierusalem, heard tidings of them, they departed from Ierusalem.

6 Then came the word of the Lord vnto the Prophet Ieremiah, saying,

7 Thus sayeth the Lord God of Israel, Thus shall ye say to the king of Iudah, that sent you vnto me, to inquire of mee, Behold, Pharaohs hoste, which is com forth to helpe you, shall returne to Egypt into their owne land.

8 And the Caldeans shall come againe, and fight against this citie, and take it, and burne it with fire.

9 Thus sayeth the Lord, Deceiue not ly depart from vs: for they shall not depart.

10 For though ye had litten the whole host of the Caldeans that fight against you, and they remained but wounded men among them, yet should euery man rise vp in his tent, and burne this city with fire.

11 When the host of the Caldeans was broken vp from Ierusalem, because of Phaaraohs army,

12 Then Ieremiah went out of Ierusalem to go into the land of Beniamin, separating himself thence from among the people.

13 And when hee was in the gate of Beniamin, there was a chiefe officer, whose name was Irtiab, the sonne of Shelemiah, the sonne of Hananiah, and hee tooke Ieremiah the Prophet, saying, Thou shalt flee to the Caldeans.

14 Then said Ieremiah, That is false, I flee not to the Caldeans: but he would not heare him: so Irtiab tooke Ieremiah, and brought him to the Princes, 15 Wherefore the Princes were angry with Ieremiah, and smote him, and laid him in prison in the house of Iehonathan the scribe: for they had made that the prison.

16 When Ieremiah was entred into the dungeon, and into the prisons, and had remained there a longe time,

17 Then Zedekiah the king sent, & tooke him out, and the king asked him secretly in his house, and said, Is there any word from the Lord? And Ieremiah said, Yea: for, said he, thou shalt bee deliuered into the hand of the king of Babel.

18 Wherefore, Ieremiah said vnto king Zedekiah, What haue I offended against thee, or against thy seruants, or against this people, that ye haue put me in prison?

19 Where are now your prophets, which propheesied vnto you, saying, The king of Babel shall not come against you, nor against this land?

20 Therefore heare now, I pray thee, O my lord the king: let my prayer be accepted before thee, that thou cause me not to returne to the house of Iehonathan the scribe, lest I die there.

21 Then Zedekiah the king commanded that they should put Ieremiah in the court of the prison, and that they should giue him dayly a peece of bread out of the Bakers street, vntill all the bread in the city were eaten vp. Thus Ieremiah remained in the court of the prison.

CHAP. XXXVIII.

1 By the motion of the rulers Ieremiah is put into a dungeon. 10 At the request of Ebed melech the King commaundeth Ieremiah to be brought forth of the dungeon. 17 Ieremiah sheweth the King how he might escape death.

1 When Shephatiah the sonne of Mattan, and Gedaliah the sonne of Bathur, and Iucal the sonne of Shelemiah, and Bathur the sonne of Balchiah, heard the wordes that Ieremiah had spoken vnto all the people, saying,

2 Thus saith the Lord, Bee that remaineth in this city, shall die by the sword, by the famine and by the pestilence: but he that goeth forth to the Caldeans, shall liue: for he shall haue his life for a pray, and shall liue.

3 Thus saith the Lord, This city shall surely be giuen into the hand of the King of Babels army which shall take it.

4 Therefore the Princes sayd vnto the King, We beseech you, let this man bee put to death: for thus he weakeneth the hands of the men of warre: that remaine in this city, and the hands of all the people, in speaking such wordes vnto them: for this man seeketh not the wealth of this people, but the hurt.

5 Then Zedekiah the King, said, Behold, hee is in your handes, for the King can deny you nothing.

6 Then tooke they Ieremiah, and cast him into the dungeon of Malchiah the son of Hammelech, that was in the court of the prison: and they let downe Ieremiah with coords: and in the dungeon there was no water but mire: so Ieremiah sticke fast in the mire.

7 Now when Ebed-melech the blacke Moore, one of the Eunuches, which was in the Kings house, heard that they had put Je-reiah in the dungeon (then the king late in the gate of Beniamin)

8 And Ebed-melech went out of the Kings house, and spake to the king, saying,

9 O my lord the King, These men haue done euill in all that they haue done to Je-reiah the Prophet, whom they haue cast into the dungeon, and hee dieth for hunger in the place where he is: for there is no more bread in the citie.

10 Then the King commaunded Ebedmelech the black Moore, saying, Take from hence thirty men & with thee, and take Je-reiah the Prophet out of the dungeon before he die.

11 So Ebed-melech took the men with him, and went to the house of the King vnder the treasury, and tooke there old rotten ragges and olde worne cloutes, and let them downe by coards into the dungeon to Je-reiah.

12 And Ebed-melech the blacke Moore said vnto Ieremiah, But now these olde rotten ragges and worne, vnder thine arme-boles, betwene the coards. And Ieremiah did so.

13 So they drew vp Ieremiah with coards, and took him vp out of the dungeon, and Jeremiah remained in the court of the prison.

14 ¶ Then Zedekiah the king sent, and tooke Jeremiah the Prophet vnto him, into the third entry that is in the house of the Lord, and the king sayd vnto Jeremiah, I will alke thee a thing: hide nothing from mee.

15 ¶ Then Jeremiah said to Zedekiah, If I declare it vnto thee, wilt not thou slay me: and if I giue thee counsell, thou wilt not heare me.

16 ¶ So the king swaie secretly vnto Jeremiah, saying, As the Lord liueth, that made vs these soules, I will not slay thee, nor giue thee into the handes of those men that seeke thy life.

h And yeeld thy selfe vnto them.

17 ¶ Then sayd Jeremiah vnto Zedekiah, Thus sayeth the Lord God of hostes, the God of Israel, If thou wilt goe forth vnto the king of Babels^b princes, then thy soule shall liue, and this citie shall not bee burnt vp with fire, and thou shalt liue, and thine house.

18 But if thou wilt not goe forth to the king of Babels princes, then shall this citie be giuen into the hand of the Caldeans, & they shall burne it with fire, and thou shalt not escape out of their hands.

i Which declareth that he more feared the reproch of men, then the threatenings of God.

19 And Zedekiah the king said vnto Jeremiah, I am careful for the Jewes that are fled vnto the Caldeans, lest they deliuer me into their hands, and theyⁱ mocke me.

20 But Jeremiah sayd, They shall not deliuer thee: hearken vnto the voyce of the Lord, I beseech thee, which I speake vnto thee: so shall it bee well vnto thee, and thy soule shall liue.

21 But if thou wilt refuse to goe forth, this is the word that the Lord hath shewed me.

k When Ieconiah and his mother with others were caried away, these women of the kings house were left: which shall be taken, sayeth the Prophet, and tell the king of Babel how Zedekiah hath bene seduced by his familiar friends & false prophets, which haue left him in the mire. l Herein appeareth the infirmity of the Prophet, who did dissemble to saue his life, albeit it was not to the denial of his doctrine, or to the hurt of any.

22 And beholde, all the women that are left in the king of Iudahs house, shall bee brought forth to the king of Babels princes: and those women shall say, Thy friends haue periuaded thee, and haue preailed against thee: thy feete are fastened in the mire, and they are turned backe.

23 So they shall bring out all thy wiues, and thy children to the Caldeans, and thou shalt not escape out of their hands, but shalt bee taken by the hand of the king of Babel: and this citie shalt thou cause to bee burnt with fire.

24 ¶ Then said Zedekiah vnto Jeremiah, Let no man know of these wordes, and thou shalt not die.

25 But if the princes vnderstand that I haue talked with thee, and they come vnto thee, and say vnto thee, Declare vnto vs now, what thou hast said vnto the king, hide it not from vs, and we will not slay thee: also what the king said vnto thee,

26 ¶ Then shalt thou say vnto them, I humbly besought the king that he would not cause me to returne to Iehonathans house to die there.

27 ¶ Then came all the Princes vnto Jeremiah and asked him. And hee tolde them according to all these wordes that the king had commaunded: so they left off speaking with him, for the matter was not perceived.

28 ¶ So Jeremiah abode still in the court of the prison, vntill the day that Ierusalem was taken: and he was there when Ierusalem was taken.

CHAP. XXXIX.

1 Nebuchad-nezzar besiegeth Ierusalem. 4 Zedekiah fleeing is taken of the Caldeans. 6 His sonnes are slaine. 7 His eyes are thrust out. 11 Jeremiah is provided for. 15 Babel-melech is deliuered from captivity.

¶ In the ninth yere of Zedekiah king of Iudah, in the tenth moneth came Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel and all his host against Ierusalem, and they besieged it.

2 And in the eleventh yere of Zedekiah, in the fourth moneth, the ninth day of the moneth, the citie was broken^a vp.

a The gates and walles were broken downe.

3 And all the princes of the king of Babel came in, and late in the middle gate, euen Neregal, Sharezzer, Sangar-nebo, Barsechin, Rab-saris, Neregal, Sharezzer, Rabmag, with al the residue of the princes of the king of Babel.

4 And when Zedekiah the king of Iudah saw them, and all the men of warre, then they fled, and went out of the citie by night, through the kings garden, and by the^b gate betweene the two wals, and he went toward the wilderness.

b Which was a posterne doore, reade 2. Kings 25. 4.

5 But the Caldeans hoste pursued after them, and ouertooke Zedekiah in the desert of Iericho: and when they had taken him, they brought him to Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel vnto Riblah in the land of Hamath, where he gaue iudgement vpon him.

c Which is called Antiochia in Syria.

6 ¶ Then the King of Babel slewe the sonnes of Zedekiah in Riblah before his eyes: also the king of Babel slew all the nobles of Iudah.

7 Moreover, he put out Zedekiahs eyes, and bound him in chaines, to carry him to Babel.

8 And the Caldeans burnt the Kings house, and the houses of the people with fire, and brake downe the walles of Ierusalem.

d Or, captaine of the guard.

9 ¶ Then Nebuzar-adan the chiefe steward caried away captiue into Babel the remnant of the people, that remained in the citie, and those that were fled and fallen vnto him with the rest of the people that remained.

e For the rich and the mighty which put their trust in their shifts & meanes, were by Gods iust iudgements most rigorously handled.

10 But Nebuzar-adan the chiefe steward left the^d pore that had nothing, in the land of Iudah, & gaue them vineyards and fields at the same time.

f Ebr. by the hand of.

11 ¶ Now Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel gaue charge concerning Jeremiah^e vnto Nebuzar-adan the chiefe steward, saying, g Ebr. set thine eyes vpon him.

12 Take him, and ^h looke well to him; and doe him no harime, but doe vnto him^e as he shall say vnto thee.

e Thus God preserved his Prophet by his meanes whom hee made the scourger to punish the king, and them that were his enemies

13 ¶ So Nebuzar-adan the chiefe steward sent, and Nebuzazban, Rab-saris, and Neregal, Sharezzer, Rab-mag, and all the king of Babels princes:

f Whom the king of Babel, had now appointed gouernour ouer the rest of the Iewes that he left behind.

g Thus God recompensed his zeale and fauour, which he shewed to his Prophet in his troubles.

14 Euen they sent, and tooke Jeremiah out of the court of the prison, and committed him vnto Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam, the son of Shaphan, that he should carry him home; so he dwelt among the people.

15 Now the word of the Lord came vnto Jeremiah, while he was shut vp in the court of the prison, saying, 16 Goe and speake to Ebed-melech the blacke Moze, saying, Thus saith the Lord of hostes the God of Israel, Behold, I will bring my words vpon this cite for euill, and not for good, and they shall be accomplished in that day before thee.

17 But I will deliuer thee in that day, saith the Lord, & thou shalt not be giuen into the hand of the men whom thou fearest.

18 For I wil surely deliuer thee, and thou shalt not fall by the sword, but thy life shall be for a pray vnto thee, because thou hast put thy trust in me, saith the Lord.

CHAP. XL.

4 Jeremiah hath licence to goe whither hee will.
6 Hee dwelleth with the people that remaine with Gedaliah.

The word which came to Jeremiah from the Lord, after that Nebuzar-adan the chiefe steward had let him go from Ramath, when hee had taken him being bound in chaines among all that were carried away captiue of Ierusalem & Iudah, which were carried away captiue vnto Babel.

2 And the chiefe steward tooke Jeremiah, and saide vnto him, The Lord thy God hath pronounced this plague vpon this place.

3 Now the Lorde hath brought it, and done according as he hath said: because pee haue sinned against the Lord, and haue not obeyed his voice, therefore this thing is come vpon you.

4 And now behold, I loose thee this day from the chains which were on thine hands: if it please thee to come with me into Babel, come, and I will loose wel vnto thee: but if it please thee not to come with mee into Babel, & say I will, behold, all the land is before thee: whither it seemeth good, and convenient for thee to go, thither go.

5 For yet hee was not returned: therefore hee said, Returne to Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam, the sonne of Shaphan, whom the king of Babel hath made gouernour ouer all the citie of Iudah, and dwell with him among the people, or goe whersoener it please thee to goe. So the chiefe steward gaue him vitayles and a reward, and let him goe.

6 Then went Jeremiah vnto Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam to Mizpah, and dwelt there with him among the people that were left in the land.

7 Now when all the captaynes of the host, which were in the fields, euen they and their men heard that the king of Babel had made Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam gouernor in the land, and that he had commitered vnto him, men, and women, and children, and of the poore of the land that were not carried away captiue to Babel,

8 Then they came to Gedaliah to Mizpah, euen Ishmael the sonne of Nethaniah, and Iohanan and Ionathan the sonnes of Kareah, and Seraiah the sonne of Tanhumeth, and the sonnes of Ephaï the Netophathite, and Jezaniah the sonne of Baa-chabbi, they and their men.

9 And Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam, the sonne of Shaphan, saide vnto them, and to their men, saying, Feare not to serue the Caldeans: dwell in the land, and serue the king of Babel, and it shall bee well with you.

10 As for mee, beholde, I will dwell at Mizpah to serue the Caldeans, which will come vnto vs: but you, gather you wine, and summer fruites, and oyle, and put them in your vessels, and dwell in your citie that ye haue taken.

11 Likewise when all the Iewes that were in Moab, & among the Ammonites, and in Edom, and that were in all the countreys, heard that the king of Babel had left a remnant of Iudah, and that hee had set ouer them Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam the sonne of Shaphan, 12 Euen all the Iewes returned out of all places where they were diuised, and came to the land of Iudah to Gedaliah vnto Mizpah, and gathered wine and summer fruites very much.

13 Moreover, Iohanan the sonne of Kareah, and all the captaynes of the host that were in the fields, came to Gedaliah to Mizpah.

14 And saide vnto him, Knowest thou not that Baalis the king of the Ammonites hath sent Ishmael the sonne of Nethaniah to slay thee: but Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam beleueed them not.

15 Then Iohanan the sonne of Kareah spake to Gedaliah in Mizpah secretly, saying, Let me goe I pray thee, and I will slay Ishmael the son of Nethaniah, and no man shall know it. Wherefore should he kill thee, that all the Iewes which are gathered vnto thee should be scattered, and the remnant in Iudah perish?

16 But Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam saide vnto Iohanan the sonne of Kareah, Thou shalt not doe this thing: for thou speakest falsly of Ishmael.

with him, and smote Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam the sonne of Shaphan with the sword, and slew him, whom the king of Babel had made gouernour ouer the land.

3 Iſhmael also slew all the Iewes that were with Gedaliah at Mizpah, and all the Caldeans that were found there, and the men of warre.

4 Now the second day that he had slaine Gedaliah, and no man knew it.

5 There came men from Shechem, from Shiloh, and from Samaria, euen foure score men, hauing their beards shauen, and their clothes rent & cut, with offerings and incense in their handes to offer in the house of the Lord.

6 And Iſhmael the sonne of Nethaniah went forth from Mizpah to meete them, weeping as he went: and when he met them, he said vnto them, Come to Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam.

7 And when they came into the middes of the city, Iſhmael the sonne of Nethaniah slew them, and cast them into the midst of the pit, hee and the men that were with him.

8 But ten men were found among them, that said vnto Iſhmael, Slay vs not: for we haue treasures in the field, of wheat, and of barley, and of oyle, and of hony: so hee stayed, and slew them not among their brethren.

9 Now the pit wherein Iſhmael had cast the dead bodies of the men (whom hee had slaine becauſe of Gedaliah) is it, which Aſa the king had made, becauſe of Baſha king of Iſrael, and Iſhmael the sonne of Nethaniah filled it with them that were slaine.

10 Then Iſhmael caried away captiue all the residue of the people that were in Mizpah, euen the kings daughters, and all the people that remained in Mizpah, whom Nebuzar-adan the chiefe steward had committed to Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam, and Iſhmael the sonne of Nethaniah caried them away captiue, and departed to goe ouer to the Ammonites.

11 But when Iohanan the sonne of Kareah, and all the captaynes of the hoste that were with him, heard of all the euill that Iſhmael the sonne of Nethaniah had done, 12 Then they all tooke their men, & went to fight with Iſhmael the sonne of Nethaniah, and found him by the great waters that are in Gibeon.

13 Now when all the people whom Iſhmael caried away captiue, saw Iohanan the sonne of Kareah, and all the captaynes of the hoste, that were with him, they were glad.

14 So all the people, that Iſhmael had caried away captiue from Mizpah, returned, and came againe, and went vnto Iohanan the sonne of Kareah.

15 But Iſhmael the sonne of Nethaniah escaped from Iohanan with eight men, and went to the Ammonites.

16 Then tooke Iohanan the sonne of Kareah, and all the captaynes of the hoste that were with him, all the remnant of the people, whom Iſhmael the sonne of Nethaniah had caried away captiue from Mizpah, (after that hee had slaine Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam) euen the strong men of warre, and the women, and the children, and the eunuches, whom he had brought againe from Gibeon:

17 And they departed and dwelt in Gethi: Chimham, which is by Beth-lehem, to go and to enter into Egypt,

CHAP. XLII.

The captaynes take counſell of Ieremias, what they ought to doe. 7 He admonisheth the remnant of the people not to goe into Egypt.

Then all the captaynes of the host, and Iohanan the sonne of Kareah, and Iezaniah the sonne of Hoſhaiah, and all the people from the least vnto the most came,

2 And said vnto Ieremias the Prophet, Hear our prayer, we beseech thee, and pray for vs vnto the Lorde thy God, euen for all this remnant (for wee are left but a fewe of many, as thine eyes doe behold.)

3 That the Lord thy God may shew vs the way wherein wee may walke, and the thing that we may doe,

4 Then Ieremias the Prophet said vnto them, I haue heard you: behold, I will pray vnto the Lord your God, according to your words, and whatsoever thing the Lord shall answer you, I will declare it vnto you: I will keepe nothing backe from you.

5 Then they sayde to Ieremias, The Lord be a witnesse of truth, and sayth betwene vs, if we do not euen according to all things, for the which the Lord thy God shall send thee to vs.

6 Whether it be good or euil, we will obey the voice of the Lord God, to whom we sent thee, that it may be wel with vs, when we obey the voice of the Lord our God.

7 And so after tenne dayes came the word of the Lord vnto Ieremias.

8 Then called hee Iohanan the sonne of Kareah, and all the captaynes of the hoste, which were with him, and all the people from the least to the most,

9 And sayd vnto them, Thus saith the Lord God of Iſrael, vnto whom ye sent mee to present your prayers before him,

10 If yee will dwell in this land, then I will build you, and not destroy you, and I will plant you, and not roote you out: for I repent me of the euill that I haue done vnto you.

11 Feare not for the king of Babel, of whom ye are afraid: hee not afraid of him, saith the Lord: for I am with you to saue you, and to deliuer you from his hand.

12 And I will grant you mercy, that hee may haue compassion vpon you, and he shall cause you to dwell in your owne land.

15 (And now therefore heare the word of the Lord, yee remnant of Iudah: thus sayeth the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel, If yee let your faces to enter into Egypt, and go to dwell there,)

16 Then the sword that ye feared, shall take you there in the land of Egypt, and the famine, for the which yee care, shall there hang vpon you in Egypt, and there shall yee die.

17 And all the men that set their faces to enter into Egypt, to dwell there, shall die by the sword, by the famine, and by the pestilence, and none of them shall remaine nor escape from the plague that I will bring vpon them.

18 For thus sayeth the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel, As mine anger and my wrath hath bene powred forth vpon the inhabitants of Ierusalem: so shall my wrath bee powred forth vpon you, when yee shall enter into Egypt, and yee shall be a detestation, and an astonishment, and a curse, and a reproch, and yee shall see this place no more.

19 O ye remnant of Iudah, the Lord hath said concerning you, Goe not into Egypt: know certainly that I haue admonished you this day.

20 Surely ye haue dissembled in your hearts when yee sent mee vnto the Lord your God, saying, Pray for vs vnto the Lord our God, and declare vnto vs such according vnto all that the Lord our God shall say, and we will doe it.

21 Therefore I haue this day declared it to you, but you haue not obeyed the voyce of the Lord your God, nor any thing for the which he hath sent me vnto you.

22 Now therefore know certainly that ye shall die by the sword, by the famine, and by the pestilence, in the place whither ye desire to goe and dwell.

CHAP. XLIII.

Iohanan carieth the remnant of the people into Egypt contrary to the mind of Jeremiah. & Jeremiah prophesieth the destruction of Egypt.

NOW when Jeremiah had made an ende of speaking vnto the whole people all the wordes of the Lord their God, for the which the Lord their God had sent him to them, even all these wordes,

2 Then spake Azariah the sonne of Iohanan, and Iohanan the sonne of Kareah, and all the proud men, saying vnto Jeremiah, Thou speakest falsly: the Lord our God hath not sent thee to say, Goe not into Egypt to dwell there,

2 When the hypocrites of the wicked is discovered, they burst forth into open rage: for they can abide nothing but flatteries, reade Iſa 30. 10. d He sheweth what is the nature of the hypocrites: to wit, to faine they would obey God and embrace his word, if they were assured that his messengers spake the truth: though in deed they be most farr from all obedience.

3 But Baruch the sonne of Neriah prophesieth the against vs, for to deliuer vs into the hand of the Caldeans, that they might slay vs, and carry vs away captiues into Babel.

4 So Iohanan the sonne of Kareah, and all the captaines of the hoste, and all the people obeyed not the voyce of the Lord, to dwell in the land of Iudah.

5 But Iohanan the sonne of Kareah, and all the captaines of the hoste, tooke all the remnant of Iudah that were returned from all nations, whither they had bene diuen, to dwell in the land of Iudah:

6 Euen men, and women, and children, and the kings daughters, and euery person that Nebuzar-adan the chiefe steward had left with Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam the sonne of Shaphan, and Jeremiah the prophet, and Baruch the sonne of Neriah.

7 So they came into the land of Egypt: for they obeyed not the voyce of the Lord: thus came they to Tahpanhes.

8 Then came the word of the Lord vnto Jeremiah in Tahpanhes, saying,

9 Take great stones in thine hand, and hyde them in the clay in the bricke kil which is at the entry of Pharaohs house in Tahpanhes in the sight of the men of Iudah.

10 And say vnto them, Thus saith the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel, Behold, I will send a byring Nebuchad-rezzar the king of Babel my seruant, and will set his throne vpon these stones that I haue hidde, and he shall spread his pavilion over them.

11 And when he shall come, he shall smite the land of Egypt: such as are appointed for death, to death, and such as are for captiuitie, to captiuitie, and such as are for the sword, to the sword.

12 And I will kindle a fire in the houses of the gods of Egypt, & he shall burne them, and carry them away captiues, and hee shall aray himselfe with the land of Egypt, as a shepherd putteth on his garment, and shall depart from thence in peace.

13 Yee shall breake also the images of Beth-shemesh that is in the land of Egypt, and the houses of the gods of the Egyptians shall be burne with fire.

CHAP. XLIIII.

Hee reprooueth the people for their idolatrie. 15 They that set light by the threatening of the Lord, are chastened. 26 The destruction of Egypt and of the Iewes therein is prophesied.

THE word that came to Jeremiah concerning all the Iewes which dwell in the land of Egypt, and remained at Migdol, and at Tahpanhes, and at Memphis, and in the countrey of Pathros, saying,

2 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel, Ye haue seene all the euill that I haue brought vpon Ierusalem, and vpon all the cities of Iudah: and behold, this day they are desolate, and no man dwelleth therein, there is no holde so strong, that can preserve them from Gods vengeance.

e Thus the wicked do not onely contemne and hurt the messengers of God, but slander & speake wickedly of all them that support or fauour the godly.

f As from the Moabites, Ammonites, and Edomites, Chap. 40. 11.

g Reade Chap. 26. 6. & 44. 12. shewing that this should come vpon them for their infidelity and stubbornnes. h For you were fully minded to goe into Egypt, whatsoeuer God spake to the contrary.

i To wit, in Egypt.

a These were all famous and strong cities in Egypt, where the Iewes that were fled, dwelt for their safety: but the Prophet declareth that 3 Because of their wickednes which they haue committed, to prouoke mee to anger, in that they went to burne incense, and to serue other gods, whom they knew not, neither they, nor you, nor your fathers.

4 Wherefore I sent vnto you all my seruants the Prophets^b rising early, and sending them, saying, Oh do not this abominable thing that I hate.

5 But they would not heare, nor incline their eare to turne from their wickednesse, and to burne no more incense vnto other gods.

6 Wherefore my wrath, and mine anger was powred forth, and was kindled in the cities of Iudah, and in the streets of Ierusalem, and they are desolate, and wasted, as appeareth this day.

7 Therefore now thus saith the Lord of hostes the God of Israel, Wherefore commit ye this great euill against your soules, to cut off from you man and woman, child and suckling out of Iudah, and leaue you none to remaine?

8 In that yee prouoke mee vnto wrath, with the workes of your hands, burning incense vnto other gods in the land of Egypt whither yee be gone to dwell: that ye might bring destruction vnto your selues, and that ye might be a curse and a reproch among all nations of the earth.

9 Haue yee forgotten the wickednesse of your fathers, and the wickednesse of the Kings of Iudah, and the wickednesse of their wiues, and your owne wickednes, and the wickednesse of your wiues, which they haue committed in the land of Iudah and in the streets of Ierusalem?

10 Why are not ye humbled vnto this day, neither haue they feared nor walked in my Lawe nor in my Statutes, that I set before you, and before your fathers.

11 Therefore thus sayth the Lord of hostes the God of Israel, Behold, I will set my face against you^a to euill, and to destroy all Iudah,

12 And I will take the remnant of Iudah, that haue set their faces to goe into the land of Egypt there to dwell, and they shall all be consumed and fall into the land of Egypt: they shall euen bee consumed by the sword, and by the famine: they shall die from the least vnto the most, by the sword, and by the famine, and they shall bee a detestation, and an astonishment, and a curse and a reproch, 13 For I will visite them that dwell in the land of Egypt, as I haue visited Ierusalem, by the sword, by the famine, and by the pestilence.

14 So that none of the remnant of Iudah, which are gone into the land of Egypt to dwell there, shall escape or remaine that they should returne into the land of Iudah, to the which they haue a desire to returne to dwell there: for none shall returne, but such as shall escape.

15 When all the men which knew that their wiues had burnt incense vnto other gods, & all the women that stood by, a great multitude, euen all the people that dwell in the land of Egypt in Pathros, answered Ieremiah, saying,

16 The word that thou hast spoken vnto us in the name of the Lord, we will not heare it of thee,

17 But we will doe whatsoeuer thing goeth out of our owne mouth, as to burne incense vnto the Queene of heauen, and to poure out drinke offerings vnto her, as wee haue done, both wee and our fathers, our Kings and our Princes in the cities of Iudah, and in the streetes of Ierusalem: for then we had wee^a plentie of victuals, & were well and felt none euill.

18 But since wee left off to burne incense to the Queene of heauen, and to poure out drinke offerings vnto her, wee haue had scarcenesse of all things, and haue bin consumed by the sword and by the famine.

19 And when we burnt incense to the Queene of heauen, and poured out drinke offerings vnto her, did we make her cakes to make her glad, and poure out drinke offerings vnto her without our husbands?

20 Then said Ieremiah vnto all the people, to the men, and to the women, and to all the people which had giuen him that answer, saying,

21 Did not the Lord remember the incense, that yee burnt in the cities of Iudah, and in the streetes of Ierusalem, both you, and your fathers, your kings, and your princes, and the people of the land, and hath he not considered it?

22 So that the Lord could no longer forbear, because of the wickednesse of your inventions, and because of the abominations, which ye haue committed: therefore is your land desolate and an astonishment, and a curse, and without inhabitant, as appeareth this day.

23 Because ye haue burnt incense, and because ye haue sinned against the Lord, & haue not obeyed the voice of the Lord, nor walked in his Law, nor in his statutes, nor in his testimonies, therefore this plague is come vpon you, as appeareth this day.

24 Whereouer Ieremiah said vnto all the people, and to all the women, Heare the word of the Lord, all Iudah that are in the land of Egypt.

25 Thus speaketh the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel, saying, See and your sicknesse, they at whose houses haue both spoken with your mouthes, and fulfilled with your^a hande, saying, Wee will performe our vowes that wee honour God. haue vowed, to burne incense to the Queene of heauen, and to poure out drinke offerings to her: yee will performe your vowes, and doe the things that yee haue vowed.

26 Therefore heare the worde of the Lord, all Iudah that dwell in the land of Egypt. Behold, I haue sworne by my great name, sayeth the Lord, that my name shall not be affirmed by Gods word: for thereby they take occasion to iustifie their doings, and their husbands shall giue an account thereof before God, Reade Isa. 3. 25.

2 Thus saith the Lord God of Israel vnto thee, O Baruch,

3 Thou diddest say, Alas is me now: for the Lord hath layd sorrow vnto my sorrow: I am faint in my mourning, and I can finde no rest.

2 Hee prophesieth the destruction of Egypt. 27 Deliuance is promised to Israel.

The wordes of the Lord, which came to Ieremiah the Prophet against the Gentiles,

2 As against Egypt, against the armie of Pharaoh Necho king of Egypt, which was by the river Berath in Carchemish, which Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel smote in the fourth yeere of Iehoiakim the sonne of Josiah king of Iudah. 27 Make ready buckler and shield, and goe forth to battell.

4 Make ready the horses, and let the horsemen get vp, and stand by with your sallets, stubb the speares, and put on the brigandines.

5 Therefore haue I leene them afraid, and diuen backe: for their mighty men are fainten, and are fled away, & looke not back: for feare was round about, saith the Lord.

6 The swift shall not flee away, nor the strong man escape: they shall stumble and fall toward the North by the river Berath.

7 Who is this, that cometh vp as a flood, whose waters are moued like the riuers?

8 Egypt riseth vp like the flood, and his waters are moued like the riuers, and hee saith, I will goe vp, and will couer the earth: I will destroy the citie with them that dwell therein.

9 Come vp, ye horses, and rage ye chariots, and let the valiant men come forth, the blacke Hozes, and the Libyans that beare the shield, and the Lydians that handle and bend the bow.

10 For this is the day of the Lord God of hostes, and a day of vengeance, that hee may avenge him of his enemies: for the sword shall deuoure, and it shall be satiate, and made drunke with their blood: for the Lord God of hostes hath a sacrifice in the North country by the river Berath.

11 Goe vp vnto Gilead, and take balm of virgin, the daughter of Egypt: in vaine shalt thou vse many medicines: for thou shalt haue no health.

12 The nations haue heard of thy shame, and thy cry hath filled the land: for the strong hath stumbled against the strong, and they are fallen both together.

14 I will be in Egypt, and declare in Migdol, and proclaim in Moph, and in Tahpanhes, and say, Stand still, and prepare thee: for the word shall deuoure round about thee.

15 Why are thy valiant men put backe: they could not stand, because the Lord did smite them.

16 We made many to fall, & one fell vpon another: and they said, Arise, let vs goe against our owne people, and to the land of our nativity from the sword of the violent.

17 They did cry there, Pharaoh king of Egypt, and of a great multitude hath passed the time appointed.

18 As I liue, saith the King, whose name is the Lord of hostes, Surely as Tabor is in the mountaines, and as Carmel is in the sea, so shall it come.

19 O thou daughter dwelling in Egypt, make thee geare to goe into captiuitie: for Moph shall be waste and desolate, without an inhabitant.

p To wit, that the Egyptians shall be destroyed.

c Hee warneth the Egyptians to prepare themselves to warre. d The Prophet had this vision of the Egyptians, which should be put to flight by the Babylonians at Carchemish. e The Babylonians shall discomfite them at the river Euphrates. f He derideth the boastings of the Egyptians, who thought by their riches and power to haue overcome all the world, alluding to the river Nilus, which at certaine times overfloweth the country of Egypt.

g For these nations tooke part with the Egyptians. h Hee calleth the slaughter of Gods enemies, a sacrifice, because it is a thing that doth please him, Isa. 34. 6.

i That is, at Carchemish.

k For at Gilead did grow most foueraigne balm for wounds.

l So called, because Egypt had not yet ben overcome by the enemy.

m He sheweth that no saluor or medicine can preuaile, where as God giueth the wound.

o He derideth them which shall impute their ouerthrow to lacke of counsel and policie, or to fortune, and not obseruing of time, not considering that it is Gods iust iudgement.

q They haue abundance of all things, & therefore are disodedient and proude.

r As verse 9.

s They shall be scarce able to speake for feare of the Caldeans.

t Meaning, Egypt.

u That is, they shall stay the great & mighty men of power.

x To wit, Nebuchad-nezzars armie.

a God comforteth all his that were in captivity, but specially the small Church of the Iewes, where- of were Jeremiah and Baruch, which remained among the Egyptians: for the Lord neuer forgeth his, Isa 44. 2. chap. 30. 10. b Reade Chap. 10. 24.

20 Egypt is like a faire calf, but destruction cometh out of the mouth it cometh.

21 Also her hired men are in the midst of her like fat calves: they are also turned back and fledde away together: they could not stand because the day of their destruction was come vpon them, and the time of their visitation.

22 The voyce thereof shall go forth like a serpent: for they shall march with an armie, and come against her with axes, as hewers of wood.

23 They shall cut downe her forest, saith the Lord: for they cannot be counted, because they are more then the grasshoppers, and are innumerable.

24 The daughter of Egypt shall be confounded: she shall be deliuered into the hands of the people of the North.

25 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel, Behold, I will visit the common people of No, and Pharaoh, & Egypt, with their gods, and their kings, euen Pharaoh and all them that trust in him.

26 And I will deliuer them into the hands of those that seek their liues, and into the hands of Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel: and into the hands of his seruantes, and afterward he shall dwell as in the olde time, saith the Lord.

27 But feare not thou, O my seruant Jaakob, and be not thou afraid, O Israel: for behold, I will deliuer thee from a farre countrey, and thy seed shall come from the land of their captivity, and Jaakob shall returne and be in rest and prosperity, and none shall make him afraid.

28 Feare thou not, O Jaakob my seruant, saith the Lord: for I am with thee, & I will utterly destroy all the nations, whither I haue diuen thee: but I will not utterly destroy thee, but correct thee by iudgement, and not utterly cut thee off.

CHAP. XLVII.

The word of the Lord against the Philistims.

The words of the Lord that came to Jeremiah the Prophet against the Philistims, before that Pharaoh smote Gaza.

2 Thus saith the Lord, Behold, waters rise vp out of the North, and shall be as a swelling flood, and shall ouerflow the land, and all that is therein, and the cities which they dwell therein: then the men shall cry, and all the inhabitants of the land shall howle.

3 At the noise and stamping of the hooves of his strong horses, at the noise of his charrets, and at the rumbling of his wheeles, the fathers shall not looke backe to their children, for feeblesse of hands.

4 Because of the day that cometh to destroy all the Philistims, & to destroy Cyprus and Sidon, and all the rest that take their part: for the Lord will destroy the Philistims, the remnant of the isle of Caphtor.

in their land, euen to Gaza, Deut. 2. 33.

5 Balneke is come vpon Azab: Azab is cut up with the rest of their valleys. How long wilt thou cut thy selfe?

6 O thou sword of the Lord, how long wilt it be, thou ceasest turne againe into thy scabbard, rest and be still.

7 How can it cease, seeing the Lord hath giuen it a charge against Azkelon, and against the sea banke: euen there hath he appointed it.

h Meaning, that it is not possible that the wicked should by any meanes escape or stay the Lord when he will take vengeance.

CHAP. XLVIII.

The words of the Lord against the Moabites, because of their pride and crueltie.

Concerning Moab, thus saith the Lord God of hostes, the God of Israel, Come vnto Bebo: for it is wasted: Kiriat-haim is confounded and taken: Dibgab is confounded and afraid.

2 Moab shall boast no more of Bethshon: for they haue deuised euill against it. Come, and let vs destroy it, that it be no more a nation: also, thou shalt be destroyed. O Moab men, and the sword shall pursue thee.

3 A voyce of crying shall be from Horonaim with desolation and great destruction.

4 Moab is destroyed: her little ones haue caused their cry to be heard.

5 For at the going vp of Luhith, the mourner shall goe up with weeping: for in the going downe of Horonaim, the enemies haue heard a cry of destruction.

6 Flee and saue your liues, and be like vnto the heath in the wilderness.

7 For because thou hast trusted in thy works, and in thy treasures, thou shalt also be taken, and Chemosh shall goe forth into captivity with his Priests and his Princes together.

8 And the destroyer shall come vpon all cities, and no city shall escape: the valley also shall perish, and the plaine shall be destroyed as the Lord hath spoken.

9 Give wings vnto Moab, that it may flee and get away: for the cities thereof shall be desolate, without any to dwell therein.

10 Cursed be he that doth the worke of the Lord negligently, and cursed be he that keepeth backe his sword from blood.

11 Moab hath bin at rest from his youth, and he hath settled on his lees, and hath not bene powred from vessell to vessell, neither hath he gone into captivity: therefore his taste remained in him, and his sent is not changed.

12 Therefore behold, the dayes come, saith the Lord, that I will send vnto him such as shall carry him away, and shall empty his vessels, and breake their bottles.

h He sheweth that God would punish the Caldeans, if they did not destroy the Egyptians, and that with a courage, and calleth this executing of his vengeance against his enemies, his worke: though the Caldeans sought an other end, Isa. 10. 12. Or, deceitfully. I hath not bene remoued as the Iewes haue, but haue liued at ease, and as a wine that feedeth it selfe on his lees, k At the calfe of Bethel was not able to deliuer the Israelites: no more shall Chemosh deliuer the Moabites.

l How are they destroyed that put their trust in their strength and riches.

m Thus they that flee shall answer.

n That is, his power and strength.
o He willed the Caldeans to lay afflictions ynow upon them, til they bee like drunken men that fall downe to their shame, and are derided of all.
p Thou reioycst to heare of his miserie.
q He shall not execute his malice against his neighbours.

r Be-de 112. 16. 7
f Which city was in the vtmost border of Moab: and hereby he signifieth that the whole land should bee destroyed, and the people caried away.

13 And Moab shall be ashamed of Chemosh, as the house of Israel was ashamed of Beth-el their confidence.

14 Woe thinke you him, who are mighty and strong men of warre?

15 Moab is destroyed: his cities are burnt up, and his chosen young men are gone down to slaughter, saith the King, whose name is, The Lord of hostes.

16 The destruction of Moab is ready to come, and his plague hasteth fast.

17 Al ye that are about him, mourne for him, and all ye that know his name, say, How is the strong staffe broken, and the beautifull rod!

18 Thou daughter that doest inhabit Dibon, come downe from thy glory, and sit in thirt: for the destroyer of Moab shall come up upon thee, and he shall destroy thy strong holds.

19 Thou that dwellest in Aroer, stand by the way, and behold: as he that fleeth, and that escapeth, and say, What is done?

20 Moab is confounded: for it is destroyed: howle, and cry, tell ye in Arnon, that Moab is made waste.

21 And iudgement is come upon the plaine country, upon Holon, and upon Jahaz, and upon Dibon, and upon Moab.

22 And upon Dibon, and upon Becho, and upon the house of Diblachaim, 23 And upon Kiriat-haim, and upon Beth-gamul, and upon Beth-nicon, 24 And upon Kerioth, and upon Bozrah, and upon all the cities of the land of Moab: saith the Lord.

25 The home of Moab is cut off, and his arme is broken, saith the Lord.

26 Make ye him drunken: for he magnified himselfe against the Lord: Moab shall wallow in his vomite, and he also shall be in derision.

27 For didst not thou deride Israel, as though hee had bene found among theues: for when thou speakest of him, thou art removed.

28 O ye that dwell in Moab, leave the cities, and dwell in the rockes, and bee like the dove that maketh her nest in the sides of the holes mouth.

29 Alce haue heard the pride of Moab (he is exceeding proud) his stoutnesse, and his arrogancie and his pride, and the haughtinesse of his heart.

30 I know his wrath, saith the Lord, but it shall not be so: and his dissimulation, for they doe not right.

31 Therefore will I howle for Moab, and I will cry out for all Moab: mine heart shall mourne for the men of Kir-heres.

32 O vine of Sibmah, I will weepe for thee, as I wept for Jazer: thy plant are gone over the sea, they are come to the sea: of Jazer: the destroyer is fallen upon the summer fruits, and upon thy vintage.

33 And joy and gladnesse is taken from the plentifull field, and from the land of Moab: for I haue caused wine to faile from the wine presse: none shall tread with shouting: their shouting shall be no shouting.

34 From the cry of Dibon unto Taled, and unto Jahaz haue they made their noyse: from Zoar unto Poronaim, the border of these yere of shall goe howling: for the waters also of Dimon shall be wasted.

25 Moreover, I will come to reele in Moab, saith the Lord, him that offereth in the his places, and him that burneth incense to his gods.

26 Therefore mine heart shall sound for Moab like a shawme, and mine heart shall sound like a shawme for the men of Kir-heres, because the riches that he hath gotten are perished.

27 For every head shall be bald, and every beard plucked: upon all the bandes shall be cuttings, and upon the loynes lacke-cloth.

28 And mourning shall bee upon all the house tops of Moab, and in all the streets thereof: for I haue broken Moab like a vessel where in is no pleasure, saith the Lord.

29 They shall howle, saying, How is hee destroyed: how hath Moab turned the backe with shame: so shall Moab be a derision and a feare to all them that hear him.

30 For thus saith the Lord, Behold, he shall see as an Eagle, and shall spread his wings over Moab.

31 The cities are taken, and the strong holds are wonne, and the mighty mens hearts in Moab at that day, shall be as the heart of a woman in trauaile.

32 And Moab shall be destroyed from being a people, because hee hath set up himselfe against the Lord.

33 Feare, and pit and snare shall be upon thee, O inhabitant of Moab, saith the Lord.

34 Hee that escapeth from the feare, shall fall in the pit, and he that getteth up out of the pit, shall be taken in the snare: for I will bring upon it, even upon Moab, the yere of their visitation, saith the Lord.

35 They that fled, stood under the shadow of Deshbon, because of the force: for the fire came out of Deshbon, and a flame from Sihon, and deuoured the corner of Moab, and the top of the seditious children.

36 Alce be unto thee, O Moab: the people of Chemosh perisheth: for thy sonnes are taken captiues, and thy daughters ledde into captiuitie.

37 Yet will I bring againe the captiuitie of Moab in the latter dayes, saith the Lord. Thus saith the Lord of the iudgement of Moab.

CHAPTER XLIX.
The word of the Lord against the Ammonites, 7 Idumea, 23 Damascus, 28 Kedar, 34 and Elam.

1 And the children of Ammon thus saith the Lord, Oath Israel no sonnes: for they haue none: neither shall they haue any: for they haue sold their king, and his people dwelt in his cities.

2 Therefore behold, the dayes come, saith the Lord, that I will cause a noyse of inuaded the country of Gad.

3 To wit, of the Ammonites.

warre to bee heard in Rabbah of the Ammonites, and it shall be a desolate heape, and her daughter shall be burnt with fire: then shall Israel possesse thole that possessed him, saith the Lord.

2 Bowle, D. Heshbon, for it is wasted: cry ye daughters of Rabbah: giue you with sackcloth: moune and curre to and fro by the hedges, for their king shall goe into captivity, and his princes and his princes like him.

4 Therefore gloriest thou in the valleys? thy valley sheweth away, D. rebellious daughter: he trusted in her treasures, saying, My strength shall count vnto me.

5 Behold, I will bring a seare vpon thee, saith the Lord God of hosts, of all those that be about thee: and ye shall be scattered euery man & right forth, and none shall gather him that fleeth.

6 And afterward I will bring againe the captivity of the children of Ammon.

7 To Edom thus saith the Lord of hosts, Is wisdom no more in Teman? Is counsell perished from their chylde? Is their wisdom vanished?

8 Fle, ye inhabitants of Dedan: (they are turned backe, and haue conspired to dwell) for I haue brought the destruction of Esau vpon him, and the time of his visitation.

9 All the grape gatherers come to thee, would they not leaue some grapes? if cherues come by night, they will destroy: till they haue enough.

10 For I haue discovered Esau: I haue discovered his secrets, and hee shall not be able to hide himselfe: his land is wasted, and his burghers and his neighbours, and these shall be none to say, I will build a towne, and I will plant a vineyard.

11 Leane thy fatherlesse children, and I will preserve them alie, and let the widowes trust in me.

12 For thus saith the Lord, Behold, they which trust in strength were not to drinke of the cup, haue assuredly drunken, and art thou he that shalt escape free? thou shalt not go free, but thou shalt surely drinke of it.

13 For I haue sworn by my selfe, saith the Lord, that Bozrah shall be waste, and for a reproch, and a desolation, and a curse, and all the cities thereof shall be perpetuall desolations.

14 I haue heard a rumour from the Lord, and an ambassador is sent vnto the heathen, saying, Gather you together, & come against her, and rise up to the battell.

15 For loe, I will make thee but small among the heathen, and despised among men.

16 Thy feare, & the pride of thine heart hath deceiued thee, thou that dwellest in the clefts of the rocke, and keepest the height of the hill: though thou shouldst make thy nest as high as the eagle, I will bring thee downe from thence, saith the Lord.

17 Also Edom shall be desolate: euery one that goeth by it, shall be astonished, and shall hiss at all the plagues thereof.

18 As in the overthrow of Sodome, and of Gomorrah, and the places thereof nere about, saith the Lord: no man shall dwell there, neither shall the sonnes of men remaine in it.

19 Behold, I he shall come vp like a Lyon from the dwelling of Jordan vnto the strong dwelling place: for I will make Israel to rest, euen I will make him to halt away from her, and who is a chosen man that I may appoint against her? for who is like me? and who will appoint me the time? and who is the shepherde that will stand before me?

20 Therefore heare the counsell of the Lord that he hath deuised against Edom, and his purpose that he hath conceived against the inhabitants of Teman: surely the least of the flocke that shall then out-sprey, he shall make their habitations desolate with them.

21 The archers moued at the noyse of their fall: the cry of their voyce is heard in the red sea.

22 Behold, he shall come vp, and flee as the eagle, and spread his wings ouer Bozrah: at that day shall the heart of the strong men of Edom be as the heart of a woman in trauell.

23 Unto Damascus he saith, Hamath is confounded, & Arpad, for they haue heard euill tidings, and they are faine hearted as one on the tearfull sea: that cannot rest.

24 Damascus is discouraged, & turneth her selfe to flight, & a seare hath seized her: anguish and sorowes haue taken her as a woman in trauell.

25 How is the glorious citie not referred, the city of my toy!

26 Therefore her yong men shall fall in her streets, and all her men of warre shal be cut off in that day, saith the Lord of hosts.

27 And I will kindle a fire in the wall of Damascus, which shall consume the palaces of Benhadad.

28 Unto Cedar and to the kingdoms of Habor, which Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel shall smite, thus saith the Lord, Arise, and goe vp vnto Kidar, and destroy the men of the East.

29 Their tents and their flocks shal they take away: yea, they shall take to themselves their curtaines, and all their vessels, and their camels, and they shall cry vnto them, Heare is on euery side.

30 After get you farre off (they haue consulted to dwell) O ye inhabitants of Habor, saith the Lord: for Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel hath taken counsell against you, and hath deuised a purpose against you.

31 Arise, and get you vp vnto the wealthy nation, that dwelleth without care, saith the Lord, which haue neither gates nor barres, but dwell alone.

32 And their camels shalbe a booty, & the multitude of their cattel a spoyle, and I will scatter them into all windes, & to the vtmost corners, and I will bring their destruction from all the sides thereof, saith the Lord.

i I will place Nebuchad-nezzar there. And in these prophecies Jeremiah speaketh of those countreys, which should be subdued vnder the fist of those foure monarchies whereof Daniel maketh mention.

k This may be referred to the Empire of the Persians and Medes after the Caldeans, or vnto the time of Christ, as Chap. 48. 47.

23 And Babel shall be a dwelling for dragons, and desolation for ever: there shall no man dwell there, nor the sonnes of men remaine in it.

24 ¶ The words of the Lord that came to Jeremiah the Prophet, concerning Elam in the beginning of the reigne of Zedekiah king of Iudah, saying, 25 Thus saith the Lord of hosts, Behold, I will breake the bow of Elam, even the chiefe of their strength.

26 And vpon Elam wil I bring the foure winds fro the foure quarters of heauen, and wil scatter them towards all these windes, and there shall be no nation whiche the fugittines of Elam shall not come.

27 For I wil cause Elam to be afraid before their enemies, and before them that seeke their liues, & wil bring vpon them a plague, even the indignation of my wrath, saith the Lord, and I wil send the sword after them till I haue consumed them.

28 And I wil set my throne in Elam, and I wil destroy both the king & the princes from thence, saith the Lord: but in the latter dayes I wil bring againe the captiuitie of Elam, saith the Lord.

¶ Her prophesie of the destruction of Babylon, and the deliuerance of Israel, which was in captiuitie.

¶ The word that the Lord spake concerning Babel, and concerning the land of the Caldeans, by the ministry of Jeremiah the Prophet,

2 Declare among the nations, and publish it, and set by a standart, proclaim it and conceale it not: say, Babel is taken, Babel is confounded, Berodach is broken downe: her idoles are confounded, and their images are burst in peces.

3 For out of the North there cometh by a nation against her, which shall make her land waste, and none shall dwell therein: they shall flee and depart, both man & beast.

4 In those dayes, and at that time, saith the Lord, the children of Israel shall come, they, and the children of Iudah together, going, and weeping shall they go, and seeke the Lord their God.

5 They shall aske the way to Zion, with their faces thitherward, saying, Come, and let vs cleane to the Lord in a perpetuall covenant that shall not be forgotten.

6 ¶ My people hath been as lost sheepe: their shepheards haue caused them to go astray, and haue turned them away to the mountaynes: they haue gone from a mountaine to hill, and forgotten their resting place.

7 All that found them, haue deuoured them, & their enemies said, We offend not because they haue sinned against the Lord, the habitation of iustice, euen the Lord the hope of their fathers.

8 ¶ Flye from the midst of Babel, and depart out of the land of the Caldeans, and be ye as the hee goates before the flocke.

9 For loe, I will raise, and cause to come by against Babel a multitude of mighty nations from the North countrey, and they shall set themselves in aray against her, whereby she shall be taken: their arrows shall be as of a strong man which is expert, for none shall returne in vaine.

10 And Caldea shall be a spoile: all that spoyle her, shall bee satisfied, sayeth the Lord.

11 Because ye were glad and reioyced in destroying mine heritage, and because ye are growen fat, as the calves in the grasse, and neyed like strong horses.

12 Therefore your mother shall be sore confounded, and shee that bare you shall bee ashamed: behold, the uttermost of the nations shall be a desert, a dry land and a wilderness.

13 Because of the wrath of the Lord, it shall not be inhabited, but shall be wholly desolate: every one that goeth by Babel, shall be astonished, and shall hiss at all her plagues.

14 ¶ Put your selues in aray against Babel round about: all ye that bend the bow, shoote at her, spare no arrows: for she hath sinned against the Lord.

15 Crie against her round about: shee hath giuen her hand: her foundations are fallen, and her walles are destroyed: for it is the vengeance of the Lord: take vengeance vpon her: as shee hath done, doe vnto her.

16 Destroy the tower from Babel, and him that handeth the sicke in the time of haruest: because of the sword of the oppressor they shall turne every one to his people, and they shall see every one to his owne land.

17 Israel is like scattered sheepe: the Lyons haue dispersed them: first the king of Asshur hath deuoured him, and last this Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel hath broken his bones.

18 Therefore thus saith the Lord of hosts, the God of Israel, Behold, I will visite the king of Babel and his land, as I haue visited the king of Asshur.

19 And I wil bring Israel againe to his habitation: he shall feed on Carmel and Bashan, and his soule shall be satisfied vpon the mount Ephraim and Gilead.

20 In those dayes, and at that time, saith the Lord, the iniquitie of Israel shall be sought for, and there shall be none: and the sinnes of Iudah, and they shall not be found: for I will bee mercifull vnto them, whom I reterue.

21 Goe vp against the land of the rebels, euen against it, and against the inhabitants of Dekod: destroy, and lay it waste after them, sayeth the Lord, and doe according to all that I haue commanded thee.

22 A cry of battell is in the land, and of great destruction.

23 Now is the hammer of the whole world destroyed and broken: how is Babel become desolate among the nations!

u Nebuchad-nezzar, who had smitten downe all the princes and people of the world.

24 I have feared thee, and thou art taken, O Babel, and thou wast not aware: thou art found, and also caught, because thou hast striven against the Lord.

25 The Lord hath opened his treasure, and hath brought forth the weapons of his wrath: for this is the worke of the Lord God of hosts in the land of the Caldeans.

26 Come against her: from the utmost border: open her storehouses: tread on her as on sheaves, and destroy her utterly: let nothing of her be left.

27 Destroy all her bullockes: let them go downe to the slaughter. Alas unto them, for their day is come, and the time of their visitation.

28 The voyce of them that flee, and escape out of the land of Babel to declare in Zion the vengeance of the Lord our God, and the vengeance of his Temple.

29 Call up the archers against Babel: all ye that bend the bow, besiege it round about: let none thereof escape: recompense her according to her worke, and according to all that she hath done, doe unto her: for she hath bene proud against the Lord, even against the Holy one of Israel.

30 Therefore shall her young men fall in the streets, and all her men of warre shall be destroyed in that day, saith the Lord.

31 Behold, I come unto thee, O proud man, saith the Lord God of hosts: for thy day is come, even the time that I will visit thee.

32 And the proud shall stumble and fall, and none shall raise him up: and I will kindle a fire in his cities, and it shall devour all round about him.

33 Thus saith the Lord of hosts, The children of Israel, and the children of Judah were oppressed together: and all that took them captives, held them, and would not let them goe.

34 But their strong Redeemer, whose Name is the Lord of hosts, hee shall maintain their cause, that he may give rest to the land, and disquiet the inhabitants of Babel.

35 A sword is upon the Caldeans, saith the Lord, and upon the inhabitants of Babel, and upon her princes, and upon her wise men.

36 A sword is upon the slayers, and they shall dote: a sword is upon her strong men, and they shall be afraid.

37 A sword is upon their horses, and upon their charrets, & upon all the multitude that are in the mids of her, and they shall be like women: a sword is upon her treasures, and they shall be spoiled.

38 A drought is upon her waters, and they shall be dried up: for it is the land of graven images, and they dote upon their idols.

39 Therefore shall the Zims with the Zims, shall dwell there, & the ostriches shall dwell therein: for it shall be no more inhabited, neither shall it be inhabited from generation to generation.

40 As God destroyed Sodom and Gomorrah with the places thereof neere about, saith the Lord: so shall no man dwell there, neither shall the sonne of man remaine therein.

41 Beholde, a people shall come from the North, and a great nation, and many Kings shall be raised up from the coasts of the earth.

42 They shall hold the bow and the buckler: they are cruell and unmercifull: their voyce shall roare like the Sea, and they shall ride upon horses, and be put in aray like men to the battell against thee, O daughter of Babel.

43 The king of Babel hath heard the report of them, and his hands waxed feeble: sorrow came upon him, even sorrow as of a woman in travail.

44 Behold, hee shall come up like a lion from the swelling of Jordan unto the strong habitation: for I will make Israel to rest, and I will make them to haste away from her: and who is a chosen man that I may appoint against her? for who is like me, and who will appoint me the time? and who is the shepheard that will stand before me?

45 Therefore heare the counsel of the Lord that hee hath devised against Babel, and his purpose that hee hath conceived against the land of the Caldeans: surely the least of the flocke shall draw them out: surely he shall make their habitation desolate with them.

46 At the noise of the winning of Babel the earth is moored, and the cry is heard among the nations.

6 Why Babylon is destroyed. 41 The vaine confidence of the Babylonians. 43 The vanity of idolaters. 39 Jeremiah gives his booke to Sereiah.

Thus saith the Lord, Behold, I will raise up against Babel, and against the inhabitants thereof that lift up their heart against me, a destroying wind,

2 And will send unto Babel fanners that shall fanne her, & shall emptye her land: for in the day of trouble they shall be against her on every side.

3 Also to the bender that bendeth his bow, and to him that lifteth himselfe up in his brigandine, will I say, Spare not her young men, but destroy all her host.

4 Thus the slaine shall fall in the land of the Caldeans, & they that are thrust through in her streets.

5 For Israel hath bene no widow, nor Judah from his God, from the Lord of hosts, though their land was filled with flame against the Holy one of Israel.

6 Flee out of the mids of Babel, and deliver every man his soule: be not destroyed in her iniquitie: for this is the time of the Lords vengeance: he will render unto her a recompence.

7 Babel hath bene as a golden cup in the Lords hand, that made all the earth drunken: the nations have drunken of her wine, therefore doe the nations rage,

8 Babel is suddenly fallen, and destroyed: howle for her, bring balm for her sores, if she may be healed.

o Not that Babylon stood on a mountaine, but because it was strong and seemed invincible.

could not be healed: forsake her, and let vs goe every one into his own countrey: for her iudgement is come vp into heauen, and is lifted vp to the cloudes.

10 The Lord hath brought forth our righteousness: come and let vs declare in Zion the worke of the Lord our God.

11 Make bright the arrowes: gather the shields: the Lord hath raised up the spirit of the King of the Medes: for his purpose is against Babel to destroy it, because it is the vengeance of the Lord, and the vengeance of his Temple.

12 Set up the standard vpon the walles of Babel, make the watch strong: set up the watchmen: prepare the likours: for the Lord hath both deuised, and done that which he spake against the inhabitants of Babel.

13 O thou that dwellest vpon many waters, abundant in treasures, thine ende is come, even the end of thy counselnesse.

14 The Lord of hostes hath sworn by his name, saying, Surely I will fill thee with men, as with caterpillers, and they shall cry and shout against thee.

15 He hath made the earth by his power, and established the world by his wisdom, and hath stretched out the heauen by his discretion.

16 He giueth by his voyce the multitude of waters in the heauen, and hee causeth the cloudes to ascend from the endes of the earth: he turneth lightnings to raine, and bringeth forth the winde out of his treasures.

17 Every man is a beast by his owne knowledge: every funder is confounded by the grauen image: for his melting is but falsehood, and there is no breath therein.

18 They are vanity, and the worke of errors: in the time of their visitation they shall perish.

19 The portion of Iacob is not like them: for he is the maker of all things, and Israel is the rod of his inheritance: the Lord of hostes is his Name.

20 Thou art mine hammer, and weapons of warre: for with thee will I breake the nations, and with thee will I destroy kingdomes.

21 And by thee will I breake horse and horseman, and by thee will I breake the charret, and him that rideth therein.

22 By thee also will I breake man and woman, and by thee will I breake olde and young, and by thee will I breake the young man, and the mayd.

23 I will also breake by thee the shepheard and his flocke, and by thee will I breake the husbandman and his yoke of oxen, and by thee will I breake the Dukes and Princes.

24 And I will render vnto Babel, and to all the inhabitants of the Caldeans, all their euill, that they haue done in Zion, even in your sight, saith the Lord.

25 Behold, I come vnto thee, O destroying mountaine, saith the Lord, which destroyest all the earth: and I will stretch out mine hand vpon thee, and rolle thee downe from the rocks, and will make thee a burnt mountaine.

26 They shall not take of thee a stone for a corner, nor a stone for foundations, but thou shalt bee destroyed for ever, saith the Lord.

27 Set up a standard in the land: blow the trumpets among the nations: prepare the nations against her: call by the Kingdomes of Ararat, Minni, and Aschenaz against her: appoint the prince against her: cause hostes to come vp as the rough caterpillars.

28 Prepare against her the nations with the Kings of the Medes, the dukes thereof, and the Princes thereof, and all the land of his dominion.

29 And the land shall tremble and sorrow: for the denice of the Lord shall be performed against Babel, to make the land of Babel waste without an inhabitant.

30 The strong men of Babel haue ceased to fight, they haue remained in their holdes: their strength hath failed, and they were like women: they haue burnt her dwelling places, and her barres are broken.

31 A poste shall runne to meet the poste, and a messenger to meete the messenger, to shew the King of Babel, that his city is taken on a side thereof.

32 And that the passages are stopped, and the reedes burnt with fire, and the men of warre troubled.

33 For thus saith the Lord of hostes the God of Israel, The daughter of Babel is like a threshing floure: the time of her threshing is come: yet a little while, and the time of her harvest shall come.

34 Nabuchad-nezzar the King of Babel hath deuoured mee, and destroyed mee: he hath made me an empty vessell: he swallowed me vp like a dragon, and filled his belly with my delicates, and hath cast me out.

35 The spoile of me, and that which was left of me, is brought vnto Babel: shall the inhabitant of Zion say: and my blood vnto the inhabitants of Caldea, shall Ierusalem say.

36 Therefore thus saith the Lord, Behold, I will maintaine thy cause, and take vengeance for thee, and I will dye by the sea, and dye by her springs.

37 And Babel shall be as heapes, a dwelling place for dragons, an astonishment, and an hissing, and without an inhabitant.

38 They shall roare together like Lyons, and yell as the Lyons whelpes.

39 In their heate I will make them feasts, and I will make them drunken that they may reioyce, and sleepe a perpetuall sleepe, and not wake, saith the Lord.

40 I will bring them downe like lambs to the slaughter, and like rammes and goates.

41 How is Seshach taken! and how is the glory of the whole earth taken! how is Babel become an astonishment among the nations!

42 The sea is come vp vpon Babel: she is covered with the multitude of the waues thereof.

p From thy strong holds and fortresses.

q By these three nations he meaneth Armenia the higher and Armenia the lower, and Scythia: for Cyrus had gathered an armie of diuers nations.

43 Her cities are desolate: the land is dry and a wilderness, a land wherein no man dwelleth, neither doeth the sonne of man passe thereby.

44 I will also visite Bel in Babel, and I will bring out of his mouth, that which he hath swallowed up, and the nations shall runne no more vnto him, and the wall of Babel shall fall.

45 My people, goe out of the mids of her, and deliuer yee euery man his soule from the fierce wrath of the Lord, 46 Lest your heart euen faint, & ye feare the rumour that shall be heard in the land: the rumour shall come this yeece, and after that in the other yeece shall come a rumour, and crueltie in the land, and ruler against ruler.

47 Therefore behold, the dayes come, that I will visite the images of Babel, and the whole land shall be confounded, and all her flaine shall fall in the mids of her.

48 Then the heauen and the earth, and all that is therein, shall reioyce for Babel: for the destroyers shall come vnto her from the North, saith the Lord.

49 As Babel caused the flaine of Israel to fall, so by Babel the flaine of all the earth did fall.

50 Ye that haue escaped the sword, goe away, stand not still: remember the Lord a farre off, and let Ierusalem come into your mind.

51 We are confounded because we haue heard reproch: shame hath covered our faces, for strangers are come into the Sanctuaries of the Lords house.

52 Wherefore behold, the dayes come, saith the Lord, that I will visite her grauen images, and through all her land the wounded shall grone.

53 Though Babel should mount vp to the heauen, and though she should defend her strength on high, yet from me shall her destroyers come, saith the Lord.

54 A sound of a cry cometh from Babel, and great destruction from the land of the Caldeans.

55 Because the Lord hath laid Babel waste, & destroyed from her the great voyce, and her waues shall roare like great waters, and a sound was made by their noise.

56 Because the destroyer is come vpon her, euen vpon Babel, and her strong men are taken, their bowes are broken: for the Lord God that recompenseth, shall surely recompense.

57 And I will make drunke her Princes, and her wise men, her dukes and her nobles, and her strong men: and they shall sleepe a perpetuall sleepe, and not wake, saith the King, whose name is the Lord of hostes.

58 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, The thicke wal of Babel shall be broken, and her high gates shall be burnt with fire, and the people shall labour in vaine, and the folke in the fire, for they shall be weary.

59 The word which Ieremiah the Prophet commaunded Sheraiah the son of Nehriah, the sonne of Baasrah, when he went with Zedekiah the king of Iudah into Babel, in the fourth yeece of his reigne: and this Sheraiah was a peacefull prince.

60 So Ieremiah wrote in a booke all the euill that should come vpon Babel: euen all these things that are written against Babel.

61 And Ieremiah said to Sheraiah, When thou comest vnto Babel and shalt see, and shalt reade all these words, 62 Then shalt thou say, O Lord, thou hast spoken against this place to destroy it, that none should remaine in it, neither man nor beast, but that it should be desolate for euer.

63 And when thou hast made an ende of reading this booke, thou shalt binde a stone to it, and cast it in the midst of Euphrates, 64 And shalt say, Thus shall Babel be drowned and shall not rise from the euill, that I will bring vpon her, & they shall be weary. Thus farre are the wordes of Ieremiah.

They shall not be able to resist, but shall labour in vaine.

CHAP. LIJ.

4 Ierusalem is taken. 10 Zedekiahs sonnes are killed before his face, and his eyes put out. 13 The citie is burned. 31 Iehoiachin is brought forth of prison and sed like a King.

Zedekiah was one and twentie yere old when he began to reigne, and he reigned eleuen yeres in Ierusalem, and his mothers name was Hamutal, the daughter of Ieremias of Libnah.

2 And he did euill in the eyes of the Lord according to all that Iehoiakim had done.

3 Doubtlesse because the wrath of the Lord was against Ierusalem and Iudah, till he had cast them out from his presence, therefore Zedekiah rebelled against the king of Babel.

4 But in the ninth yeece of his reigne, in the tenth moneth, the tenth day of the moneth came Nebuchad nezzar king of Babel, he and all his hoste against Ierusalem, and pitched against it, and built forts against it round about.

5 So the citie was besieged vnto the eleuenth yeece of the king Zedekiah.

6 Now in the fourth moneth, the ninth day of the moneth, the famine was sore in the citie, so that there was no more bread for the people of the land.

7 Then the citie was broken vp, and all the men of warre fled, and went out of the citie by night, by the way of the gate betweene the two walles, which was by the kings garden: (now the Caldeans were by the citie round about) and they went by the way of the wilderness.

8 But the army of the Caldeans pursued after the king, and took Zedekiah in the desert of Iericho, and all his host was scattered from him.

9 Then they took the king, and caried him vp vnto the king of Babel to Riblah in the land of Hamath, where he gaue iudgement vpon him.

10 And the king of Babel slew the sonnes of Zedekiah before his eyes: he slew also all the princes of Iudah in Riblah.

11 Then he put out the eyes of Zedekiah,

and

a That is, his gifts & presents which he had received as part of the spoyle of other nations, and which the idolaters brought vnto him from all countreys.

b Meaning, that Babylon should not be destroyed all at once, but by little and little should be brought to nothing: for the first yeece came the tidings, the next yeece the siege, and in the third yeece it was taken, yet this is not that horrible destruction which the Prophets threatened in many places: for that was after this when they rebelled, and Darius came them by the policy of Zopyrus, and hanged three thousand gentlemen besides the common people.

c All creatures in heauen and earth shall reioyce and praise God for the destruction of Babylon the great enemy of his Church.

d Babylon did not only destroy Israel, but many other nations.

e Ye that are now captiue in Babylon.

12 Now in the first moneth, in the tenth day of the moneth, which was the nineteenth yeere of the King Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel, came Nebuzar-adan chiefe steward which stood befoze the king of Babel in Jerusalem.

13 And burnt the house of the Lord, & the Kings house, & all the houses of Jerusalem, and all the great houses burnt he with fire.

14 And all the army of the Caldeans that were with the chiefe steward, brake downe all the walles of Jerusalem round about.

17 Also the pillars of brasle that were in the house of the Lord, and the bales, & the brasen sea that was in the house of the Lord, the Caldeans brake, and caried al the brasle of them to Babel.

18 The pots also and the beloms, and the instruments of musike, and the balins, & the incense dishes, and all the vessels of brasle wherewith they ministered, took they away.

19 And the bowels, and the ashpens, and the balins, and the pots, & the candlesticks, and the incense dishes, and the cups, and all that was of gold, & that was of silver, took the chiefe steward away.

20 With the two pillars, one Sea, and twelue brasen buls, that were vnder the bales, which King Salomon had made in the house of the Lord: the brasle of all these vessels was without weight.

21 And concerning the pillars, the height of one pillar was eighterne cubites, and a threed of twelue cubites did compasse it, and the thicknes thereof was foure fingers: it was hollow.

22 And a chapter of brasle was vpon it: and the height of one chapter was five cubites with networke, and pomegranates vpon the chapters round about, all of brasle, the second pillar also, and the pomegranates were like vnto these.

23 And there were ninety and sixe pomegranates on a side: and all the pomegranates vpon the net worke were an hundred round about.

24 And the chiefe steward tooke Sheraiah the chiefe Priest, and Zephaniah the second Priest, and the three keepers of the doore.

25 He tooke also out of the cite an eunuch which had the ouersight of the men of warre and seven men that were in the Kings presence which were found in the cite, and Sophcr captaine of the host who mustered the people of the land, and threescore men of the people of the land, that were found in the mids of the cite.

26 Nebuzar-adan the chiefe steward tooke them, and brought them to the King of Babel to Riblah.

27 And the King of Babel smote them, and slew them in Riblah, in the land of Hamath: thus Judah was caried away captiue out of his owne land.

chap. 2. 18.

no man cometh to the solempne feasts: all her gates are desolate: her Priests sigh: her virgins are discomfited, and she is in heauiness.

5 Her aduersaries are the chiefe, and her enemies prosper: for the Lord hath afflicted her for the multitude of her transgressions, and her children are gone into captiuitie before the enemy.

6 And from the daughter of Zion all her beautie is departed: her Princes are become like Harts that find no pasture: and they are gone without strength before the pursuer.

7 Jerusalem remembered the dayes of her affliction, and of her rebellion, and all her pleasant things that she had in times past, when her people fell into the hand of the enemy, and none did helpe her: the aduer-saries saw her, and did mocke at her. Sabbaths.

8 Jerusalem hath grievously sinned, therefore she is in derision: all that honoured her, despise her, because they haue seene her filthinesse: yea, shee sigheth and turneth backward.

9 Her filthinesse is in her skirts: she remembered not her last end, therefore she came downe wonderfully: she had no comforter:
O Lord, beholde mine affliction: for the ene-mie is proud.

10 The enemy hath stretched out his hand vpon all her pleasant things: for shee hath seene the heathen enter into her Sanctuary, whom thou diddest command, that they should not enter into thy Church.

11 All her people sigh and seeke their bread:
they haue giuen their pleasant things for meate to refresh the soule: see, O Lord, and consider: for I am become vile.

12 Waite ye no regard, all ye that passe by this way: behold, and see, if there be any sorrow like vnto my sorrow, which is done vnto me, wherewith the Lord hath afflicted me in the day of his fierce wrath.

13 From aboute hath he sent fire into my bones, which preuaileth against them: hee hath spread a net for my feet, and turned mee backe: he hath made mee desolate, and daily in heauinesse.

14 The yoke of my transgressions is bound vpon his hand: they are wrappes, and come vp vpon my necke, hee hath made my strength to fall: the Lord hath deliuered mee into their hands, neither am I able to rise vp.

15 The Lord hath troden vnder foote all my valiant men in the mids of mee: he hath called an assembly against me to destroy my young men: the Lord hath troden the wine presse vpon the virgine the daughter of Judah.

16 For these things I weepe: mine eye, euen mine eye casteth out water, because the Comforter that should refresh my soule, is farre from me: my children are desolate, because the enemy preuaileth.

17 Zion stretcheth out her hands, and there is none to comfort her: the Lord hath appointed the enemies of Iacob round about him, Jerusalem is as a menstruous woman in the mids of them.

18 The Lord is righteous: for I hate re-belling against his commandment: heare,
I pray you all people, and behold my sorrow:
my virgins and my young men are gone into captiuitie.

19 I called for my louers, but they decei-ued me: my Priests and mine Elders perished in the citie, while they sought their meat to refresh their soules.

20 Behold, O Lord, how I am troubled: my bowels swell: mine heart is turned within mee: for I am full of heavinesse:
the sword spoileth abroad, as death doeth at home.

21 They haue heard that I mourne, but there is none to comfort mee: all mine enemies haue heard of my trouble, and are glad, that thou hast done it: thou wilt bring the day that thou hast pronounced, and they shall be like vnto me.

22 Let all their wickednesse come before thee: Doe vnto them, as thou hast done vnto me, for all my transgressions: for my sighs are many, and mine heart is heauie.

C H A P. II.

How hath the Lord darkened y daughter of Zion in his wrath! and hath cast downe from heauen vnto the earth the beautie of Israel; and remembered not his sweete in the day of his wrath!

2 The Lord hath destroyed all the habitations of Iacob, and not spared: he hath throwen downe in his wrath the strong holds of the daughter of Iudah: he hath cast them downe to the ground: he hath polluted the kingdome and the princes thereof.

3 Hee hath cut off in his fierce wrath all the hope of Israel: he hath drawen backe his right hand from before the enemy, and there was kindled in Iacob like a flame of fire, which deuoured round about.

4 He hath bent his bowe like an enemy: his right hand was stretched vp as at the heauens, aduersary, and slew all that was pleasant to the eye in the Tabernacle of the daughter of Zion: he powred out his wrath like fire.

5 The Lord was as an enemy: he hath denounced Israel, and consumed all his palaces: he hath destroyed his strong holds, and hath increased in the daughter of Iudah lamentation and mourning.

6 For he hath destroyed his Tabernacle, as a garden he hath destroyed his congregation: the Lord hath caused the feasts and Sabbaths to be forgotten in Zion, and hath despised in the indignation of his wrath the King and the Priest.

7 The Lord hath forsaken his altar: hee hath abhorred his Sanctuary: he hath gi-uen into the hand of the enemy the wailes to praise God in of her palaces: they haue made a noyle in the solempne the house of the Lord, as in the day of solem-nitie.

8 The Lord hath determined to destroy the wall of the daughter of Zion: he stretched out a line: he hath not withdrawen his hand from destroying: therefore hee made crying.

^h This is a figurative speech, as that was when he said the wayes did lament chap. 1. 4. meaning, that this sorow was so great, that the insensible things had their part thereof.

9 Her gates are sunke to the ground: he hath destroyed and broken her barres: her King and her Princes are among the Gentiles: the Law is no more, neither can her Prophets receiue any vision from the Lord.

10 The Elders of the daughters of Zion sit vpon the ground, and keepe silence: they haue cast vp dust vpon their heads: they haue girded themselves with sackcloth: the virgines of Ierusalem hang downe their heads to the ground.

11 Mine eyes doe faile with teares: my bowels swell: my liuer is powred vpon the earth, for the destruction of the daughter of my people, because the children and sucklings I sworne in the streets of the city.

12 They haue sayd to their mothers, Where is bread and drinke: when they swomed, as the wounded in the streets of the city, and when they gaue vp the ghost in their mothers bosome.

13 What thing shall I take to witness for thee: what thing shall I compare to thee, O daughter Ierusalem: what shall I liken to thee, that I may comfort thee, O virgin daughter Zion: for thy breach is great like the sea: who can heale thee?

14 Thy prophets haue looked out vaine and foolish things for thee, and they haue not discovered thine iniquitie, to turne away thy captiuitie, but haue looked out for thee false prophecies, and causes of banishment.

15 All that passe by the way, clappe their hands at thee: they hisse and wagge their head vpon the daughter Ierusalem, saying, Is this the citie that men call, The perfection of beautie, and the joy of the whole earth?

16 All thine enemies haue opened their mouth against thee: they hisse and gnash the teeth, saying, Let vs deuoure it: certainly this is the day that wee looke for: wee haue found and serue it.

17 The Lord hath done that which hee hath purposed: hee hath fulfilled his word that he hath determined of old time: he hath throwen downe, and not spared: hee hath caused thine enemies to reioyce ouer thee, and set vp the borne of thine aduersaries.

18 Their heart ^acried vnto the Lord, O wall of the daughter Zion, let teares runne downe like a riuer day and night: take thee no rest, neither let the apple of thine eye cease.

19 Arise, cry in the night: in the beginning of the watches powre out thine heart like water before the face of the Lord: lift vp thine hands toward him for the life of thy yong children, that faint for hunger in the corners of all the streets.

20 Behold, O Lord, & consider to whom thou hast done thus: shall the women cate their fruit, and children of a spanne long: shall the Priest and the Prophet be slaine in the Sanctuary of the Lord?

21 The yong & the old lie on the ground in the streets: my virgins and my yong men are fallen by the sword: thou hast slaine them in the day of thy wrath: thou hast killed and not spared.

22 Thou hast called as in a solemne day my terrors round about: so that in the day of the Lords wrath none escaped nor remained: those that I haue nourished & brought vp, hath mine enemy consumed.

CHAP. III.

I Am the man that hath scene affliction in the rod of his indignation.

2 He hath led me, and brought mee into darknesse, but not to light.

3 Surely he is turned against mee: he turneth his hand against me all the day.

4 My flesh and my skinne hath he caused to waste old, and he hath broken my bones.

5 He hath builded against me, and compassed me with gall and labour.

6 He hath set me in darke places, as they that be dead for euer.

7 Hee hath hedged about mee, that I cannot get out: hee hath made my chaines heauie.

8 Also when I cry and shout, he shutteth out my prayer.

9 Hee hath stopped vp my wayes with heuen stone, and turned away my paths.

10 He was vnto mee as a beare lying in wait, and as a lyon in the secret places.

11 He hath stopped my wayes, and pulled me in pieces: he hath made me desolate.

12 He hath bent his bowe, and made me a marke for the arrow.

13 He caused the arrows of his quier to enter into my reines.

14 I was a derision to all my people, and their long all the day.

15 He hath filled me with bitterness, and made me drunke with wormewood.

16 Hee hath also broken my teeth with stones, and hath couered me with ashes.

17 Thus my soule was farre off from peace: I forgoate prosperitie.

18 And I sayd, My strength and my hope is perished from the Lord.

19 Remembering mine affliction, and my mourning, the wormewood and the gall.

20 My soule hath them in remembrance, and is humbled in me.

21 I consider this in mine heart: therefore haue I hope.

22 It is the Lords mercies that wee are not consumed, because his compassions faile not.

23 They are renewed euery morning: great is thy faithfulness.

24 The Lord is my portion, saith my soule: therefore will I hope.

25 The Lord is good vnto them that getteth the victory.

^h He sheweth that God thus vseth to exercise his, to the intent that hereby they may know themselves, & feele his mercies. ⁱ Considering the wickednes of man, it is marueile that any remaineth alieue: but onely that God for his owne mercies sake and for his promise will eue haue his Church to remaine, though they be neuer so few in number, Isa. 1. 9. ^k We feele thy benefites dayly. ^l The godly put their whole confidence in God, and therefore looke for none other inheritance, as Psal. 16. 5.

^a The Prophet complaineth of the punishments and afflictions that he endured by the false prophets and hypocrites, when he declared the destruction of Ierusalem, as Ier. 20. 3.

^b He speaketh this as one that felt Gods heauie iudgements, which he greatly feared, & therefore setteth them out with this diuersitie of words.

^c This is a great temptation to the godly, when they see not the fruit of their prayers, & causeth them to thinke that they are not heard, which thing God vseth to doe, that they might pray more earnestly, and the oftner.

He sheweth that we can neuer begin too timely to bee exercised vnder the crosse, that when the afflictions grow greater, our patience also by experience may be stronger. He murmureth not against God, but is patient. He humbleth himselfe, as they that fall downe with their face to the ground, and so with patience waiteth for succour. He taketh no pleasure in it, but doeth it of necessity for our amendment when he suffereth the wicked to oppress the poore.

trust in him, and to the soule that seeketh him.

26 It is good both to trust and to waite for the saluation of the Lord.

27 It is good for a man that he beare the yoke in his youth.

28 He lieth alone, and keepeth silence, because he hath boyned it vpon him.

29 He putteth his mouth in the dust, if there may be hope.

30 He giueth his cheek to him that smiteth him: he is filled full with reproches.

31 For the Lord will not forsake for ever.

32 But though he send affliction, yet will he haue compassion according to the multitude of his mercies.

33 For he doeth not punish willingly, nor afflict the children of men.

34 In stamping vnder his feete all the prisoners of the earth.

35 In ouerthrowing the right of a man before the face of the most High.

36 In subverting a man in his cause: the Lord seeth it not.

37 Who is he then that saith, and it cometh to passe, and the Lord commandeth it not?

38 Out of the mouth of the most High proceedeth not euill and good?

39 Wherefore then is the living man sorrowful? man suffereth for sinne.

40 Let vs search and trie our wayes, and turne againe to the Lord.

41 Let vs lift vp our hearts with our hands vnto God in the heauens.

42 Wee haue sinned, and haue rebelled, therefore thou hast not spared.

43 Thou hast couered vs with wrath, and persecuted vs: thou hast slaine, and not spared.

44 Thou hast couered thy selfe with a cloude, that our prayer should not passe through.

51 Mine eye breaketh mine heart because of all the daughters of my city.

52 Mine enemies chaled mee soe like a bird without cause.

53 They haue shut vp my life in the dungeon, and cast a stone vpon me.

54 Waters flowed ouer mine head, then thought I, I am destroyed.

55 I called vpon thy name, O Lord, out of the low dungeon.

56 Thou hast heard my voyce: stop not thine eare from my sigh, and from my cry.

57 Thou dwellest nere in the day that I called vpon thee: thou saydest, feare not.

58 O Lord, thou hast maintained the cause of my soule, & hast redeemed my life.

59 O Lord, thou hast scene my wrong, iudge thou my cause.

60 Thou hast scene all their vengeance, and all their deuises against me.

61 Thou hast heard their reproch, O Lord, & all their imaginations against me:

62 The lips also of those that rose against me, and their whispering against mee, continually.

63 Behold their sitting downe, and their rising vp, how I am their song.

64 Giue them a recompence, O Lord, according to the worke of their hands.

65 Giue them || sword of heart, euen thy curse to them.

66 Persecute with wrath and destroy them from vnder the heauen, O Lord.

3 Euen the dragons draw out the breasts, and giue sucke to their yong, but the daughter of my people is become cruell like the ostriches in the wilderness.

4 The tongue of the sucking childe cleaueth to the rofe of his mouth for thirst: the yong children aske bread, but no man breaketh it vnto them.

5 They that dyd feede delicately, perishe in the streetes: they that were brought vp in scarlet, embrace the dung.

6 For the iniquitie of the daughter of my people is become greater then the sinne of Sodome, that was destroyed as in a moment, and || none pitched campees against her.

7 Her Nazarites were purer then the snow, and whiter then the milke: they were more ruddy in body, then the red precious stones: they were like polished saphire.

9 They that be slaine with the sword are better then they that are killed with hunger: for they fade away as they were stricken through for the fruites of the field.

10 The hands of the pittfull women haue sodden their own children, which were their meate in the destruction of the daughter of my people.

11 The Lord hath accomplished his indignation: hee hath powred out his fierce wrath, hee hath kindled a fire in Zion, which hath deuoured the foundations thereof.

12 The kings of the earth, and all the inhabitants of the world would not haue beleued that the aduersary & the enemy should haue entred into the gates of Ierusalem:

CHAP. V.

The prayer of Ieremiah.

a This prayer as is thought, was made when some of the people were caried away captiue, others, as the poorest, remained, & some went into Egypt and other places for succour: albeit it seemeth that the Prophet foreseeing their miseries to come, thus prayed.

Remember, O Lord, what is come vpon vs: consider and behold our reproch.

2 Our inheritance is turned to the strangers, our houses to the aliens.

3 We are fatherlesse, euen without father, and our mothers are as widowers.

4 We haue drunken our water for money, and our wood is sold vnto vs.

5 Our neckes are vnder persecution: we are weary and haue no rest.

6 We haue giuen our hands to the Egyptians, and to Asshur, to be satisfied with bread.

7 Our fathers haue sinned and are not,
and we haue borne their iniquities.

8 Seruants haue ruled ouer vs, none would deliuer vs out of their hands,

9 Wee gate our bread with the perill of our liues, because of the sword of the wil-dernesse.

10 Our skin was blacke like as an ouen, because of the terrible famine.

11 They defiled the women in Zion, and the maids in the citie of Iudah.

12 The princes are hanged by their hand: the faces of the Elders were not had in honour.

13 They tooke the yong men to grinde, and the children sell vnder the wood.

14 The Elders haue ceased from the gate, and the yong men from their sngs.

15 The ioy of our heart is gone, our dance is turned into mourning.

16 The crowne of our head is fallen: wee now vnto vs that we haue sinned.

17 Therefore our heart is heauy for these things, our eyes are dimme,

18 Because of the mountaine of Zion which is desolate: the fores runne vpon it.

19 But thou, O Lord, remainest for e-uer: thy throne is from generation to generation.

20 Wherefore dost thou forget vs for e-uer, and forsake vs so long time?

21 Turne thou vs vnto thee, O Lord, and we shall be turned: renew our dayes as of olde.

22 But thou hast bitterly reiected vs: thou art exceedingly angry against vs.

1 Whereby is declared that it is not in mans power to turne to God, but is onely his worke to conuert vs, and thus God worketh in vs, before wee can turne to him.

And therefore thy covenant and mercies can neuer faile. 1 Whereby is declared that it is uert vs, and thus God worketh in vs, before wee can turne to him.

THE ARGVMENT.

After that Iehoiachin by the counsell of Ieremiah and Ezekiel had yeelded himselfe to Nebuchad-nezaar, and so went into captiuitie with his mother and diuers of his princes, and of the people, certaine began to repent, and murmure that they had not obeyed the Prophets counsell, as though the thing which they had prophesied should not come to passe, and therefore their estate should be still miserable vnder the Caldeans. By reason whereof he confirmeth his former prophesies, declaring by new visions and reuelations shewed vnto him, that the citie should most certainly be destroyed, and the people grievously tormented by Gods plagues, insomuch that they that remained should be brought into cruell bondage. And lest the godly should despaire in these great troubles, he assureth them that God will deliuer his Church at his time appointed, and also destroy their enemies which either afflicted them, or reioyced in their miseries. The effect of the one and the other should chiefly be performed vnder Christ, of whom in this booke are many notable promises, and in whom the glory of the new Temple should perfectly be restored. He prophesied these things in Caldea at the same time that Ieremiah prophesied in Iudah, and there began in the fift yeere of Iehoiachins captiuitie.

i Every Cherubim had four faces, the face of a man, and of a lion on the right side, and the face of a bullocke, and of an eagle on the left side.

j Ebr. whither their spirit, or will was to goe.

k That is, when they had executed Gods will: for afore they returned, till God had changed the state of things.

E came to passe in the thirtieth yeere, in the fourth moneth, and in the fift day of the moneth (as I was among the captiues by the river Chebar) that the heauens were opened, and I saw visions of God.

2 In the fift day of the moneth (which was the fift yeere of king Ioiachins captiuitie.)

3 The word of the Lord came vnto Ezekiel the Priest, the sonne of Buzi, in the land of the Caldeans, by the river Chebar, where the hand of the Lord was vpon him.

4 And I looked, and behold, a whirlewinde came out of the North, a great cloud, and a fire wrapped about it, and a brightness was about it, and in the mids thereof, to wit, in the middes of the fire came out as the likeness of amber.

5 Also out of the mids thereof came the likeness of foure beasts, and this was their forme: they had the appearance of a man.

6 And euery one had foure faces, and euery one had foure wings.

7 And their feete were straight feete, and the sole of their feete was like the sole of a calves foot, and they sparkled like the appearance of bright brasse.

8 And the hands of a man came out from vnder their wings in the foreparts of them, and they foure had their faces, and their wings.

9 They were soyned by their wings one to another, and when they went forth, they returned not, but euery one went straight forward.

10 And the similitude of their faces was as the face of man: and they foure had the face of a lion on the right side, and they foure had the face of a bullocke on the left side: they foure also had the face of an eagle.

11 Thus were their faces: but their wings were spread out aboue: two wings of euery one were soyned one to another, and two covered their bodies.

12 And euery one went straight forward: they went whither their spirit led them, and they returned not when they went forth.

13 The similitude also of the beasts, and their appearance was like burning coales of fire, and like the appearance of lampes: for the fire ranne among the beasts, and the fire gave a glister, and out of the fire there went lightning.

14 And the beasts ranne, and returned like vnto lightning.

15 Now as I beheld the beasts, behold, a wheele appeared vpon the earth by the beasts, hauing foure faces.

16 The fashion of the wheeles and their worke was like vnto a chysolite: and they foure had one forme, and their fashion, and their worke was as one wheele in another wheele.

17 When they went, they went vpon their foure sides, and they returned not when they went.

18 They had also rings, and height, and were fearefull to behold, and their rings were full of eyes round about them foure.

19 And when the beasts went, the wheeles went with them: and when the beasts were lift vp from the earth, the wheeles were lift vp.

20 Whither their spirit led them, they went, and thither did the spirit of the wheeles leade them, and the wheeles were lifted vp besides them: for the spirit of the beasts was in the wheeles.

21 When the beasts went, they went, and when they stood, they stood, and when they were lifted vp from the earth, the wheeles were lifted vp besides them: for the spirit of the beasts was in the wheeles.

22 And the similitude of the firmament vpon the heads of the beasts was wonderful, like vnto chysolite, spread ouer their heads aboue.

23 And vnder the firmament were their wings straight, the one toward the other: euery one had two, which covered them, and euery one had two which covered their bodies.

24 And when they went forth, I heard the noyse of their wings, like the noyse of great waters, and as the voyce of the Almighty, euen the voyce of speech, as the noyse of an hoste: and when they stood, they let downe their wings.

25 And there was a voyce from the firmament that was ouer their heads, when they stood, and had let downe their wings.

26 And aboue the firmament that was ouer their heads, was the fashion of a throne like vnto a saphire stone, and vpon the similitude of the throne was by appearance, the similitude of a man aboue vpon it.

27 And I saw as the appearance of amber, and as the similitude of fire round about within it to looke to, euen from his loynes vponward: and to looke to, euen from his loynes downward, I saw as a toward, the likeness of fire, and brightness round about it.

28 As the likeness of the bow, that is in the cloud in the day of raine, so was the appearance of the light round about.

29 This was the appearance of the similitude of the glory of the Lord: and when I saw it, I fell vpon my face, and I heard a voyce of one that spake.

 3 And he said vnto me, Sonne of man, I send thee to the children of Israel, to a rebellious nation, that hath rebelled against me: for they and their fathers haue rebelled against me, euen vnto this very day.
 4 For they are $\frac{1}{2}$ impudent children, and stiff hearted: I do send thee vnto them, and thou shalt say vnto them, Thus saith the Lord God.
 5 But surely they will not heare, neither indeede will they cease: for they are a rebellious house: yet shall they know that there hath bene a Prophet among them.
 6 And thou sonne of man, feare them not, neither bee afraid of their wordes, although rebels, and chornes be with thee, and thou remainest with scorpions: feare not their wordes, nor be afraid at their looks, for they are a rebellious house.
 7 Therefore thou shalt speake my wordes vnto them: but surely they will not heare, neither will they indeede cease: for they are rebellious.
 8 But thou sonne of man, heare what I say vnto thee: bee not thou rebellious, like this rebellious house: open thy mouth, and eate that I giue thee.
 9 And when I looked vp, behold, an hand was sent vnto me, and loe, a roule of a booke was therein.
 10 And he spread it before me, and it was written within and without, and there was written therein, Lamentations, and mourning, and woe.

CHAP. III.

1 The Prophet being fed with the word of God, and with the constant boldnesse of the Spirit, is sent vnto the people that were in captiuitie. 17 The office of true ministers.

Micouer hee said vnto mee, Sonne of man, eate that thou findest: eate this roule, and goe, and speake vnto the house of Israel.
 2 So I opened my mouth, and hee gaue me this roule to eate.
 3 And he said vnto me, Sonne of man, cause thy belly to eate, and fill thy bowels with this roule that I giue thee. Then did I eate it, and it was in my mouth as sweete as hony.
 4 And he said vnto me, Sonne of man, goe, and enter into the house of Israel, and declare them my wordes.
 5 For thou art not sent to a people of an vnknownen tongue, or of an hard language, but to the house of Israel:
 6 Not to many people of an vnknownen tongue, or of an hard language, whose wordes thou canst not vnderstand: yet if I should send thee to them, they would obey thee.
 7 But the house of Israel will not obey thee: for they will not obey mee: yea, all the house of Israel are impudent and stiff hearted.

8 Behold, I haue made thy face strong against their foreheades.
 9 I haue made thy forehead as the adamant, and harder then the flint: feare them not therefore, neither bee afraid at their looks: for they are a rebellious house.
 10 He said moreover vnto me, Sonne of man, receiue in thine heart all my wordes that I speake vnto thee, and heare them with thine eares.
 11 And goe and enter to them that are led away captiues, vnto the children of thy people, and speake vnto them, & tell them, Thus saith the Lord God: but surely they will not heare, neither will they indeede cease.
 12 Then the spirit tooke mee vp, and I heard behind me a noyse of a great rushing, saying, Blessed be the glory of the Lord out of his place.
 13 I heard also the noyse of the wings of the beasts that touched one another, and the rattling of the wheelles that were by them, euen a noyse of a great rushing.
 14 So the spirit lift mee vp, and tooke me away, and I went in bitterness, and indignation of my spirit, but the hand of the Lord was strong vpon me.
 15 Then I came to them that were led away captiues to Tel-abib, that dwell by the riuer Chebar, and I sate where they sate, and remained there astonished among them: seuen dayes.
 16 And at the ende of seuen dayes, the word of the Lord came againe vnto me, saying, 17 Sonne of man, I haue made thee a watchman vnto the house of Israel: therefore heare the word at my mouth, and giue them warning from me.
 18 When I shall say vnto the wicked, Thou shalt surely die, and thou giuest not him warning, nor speakest to admonish the wicked of his wicked way, that he may liue, the same wicked man shall die in his iniquitie: but his blood will I require at thine hand.
 19 Yet if thou warne the wicked, and he turne not from his wickednes, nor from his wicked way, he shall die in his iniquitie, but thou hast deliuered thy soule.
 20 Likewise if a righteous man turne from his righteousness, and commit iniquitie, I will lay a stumbling blocke before him, and he shall die, because thou hast not giuen him warning: he shall die in his sinne, and his righteous deedes, which hee hath done, shall not be remembered: but his blood will I require at thine hand.
 21 Nevertheless, if thou admonish the righteous man, that righteous sinne not, and that he doeth not sinne, he shall liue because he is admonished: also thou hast deliuered thy soule.
 22 And the hand of the Lord was there vpon mee, and he said vnto mee, Arise, and

CHAP. IIII.

1 The besieging of the citie of Ierusalem is signified. 9 The long continuance of the captiuitie of Israel. 16 An hunger is prophesied to come.

Thou also sonne of man, take thee a brack, and lay it before thee, and purtray vpon
it the citie, euen Ierusalem.

2 And lay siege against it, and build a fort against it, and cast a mount against it:
set the campe also against it, and lay engines of warre against it round about.

3 Moreover, take an yron panne, and set it for a wall of yron betweene thee and the citie, and direct thy face toward it, and it shall be besieged, and thou shalt lay siege against it: this shall be a signe vnto the house of Israel.

4 Sleepe thou also vpon thy left side, and lay the iniquitie of the house of Israel vpon it, according to the number of the dayes that thou shalt sleepe vpon it, thou shalt beare their iniquitie.

5 For I haue layd vpon thee the yeres of their iniquity, according to the number of the dayes: euen three hundredth and ninetie dayes: so shalt thou beare the iniquity of the house of Israel.

6 And when thou hast accomplished them, sleepe againe vpon thy right side, and thou shalt beare the iniquitie of the house of Iudah fourtie dayes: I haue appointed thee a day for a yere, euen a day for a yere.

7 Therefore thou shalt direct thy face toward the siege of Ierusalem, and thine arme shall be conquered, and thou shalt prophesie against it.

8 And behold, I will lay bands vpon thee, and thou shalt not turne thee from one side to another till thou hast ended the dayes of thy siege.

9 Thou shalt take also vnto thee wheate, and barley, and beanes, and lentils, and millet, and fitches, and put them in one vessel, and make thee bread thereof according to the number of the dayes, that thou shalt sleepe vpon thy side: euen three hundredth and ninetie dayes shalt thou eate thereof.

10 And the meate thereof thou shalt eate, shall be by weight, euen twenty shekels a day: and from time to time shalt thou eate thereof.

11 Thou shalt drinke also water by measure, euen the first part of an hin: from time to time shalt thou drinke.

12 And thou shalt eate it as barley cakes, and thou shalt bake it in the dung that commeth out of man in their sight.

13 And the Lord said, So shall the children of Israel eat their defiled bread among the Gentiles whither I will cast them.

14 Then said I, Ah, Lord God, behold, my soule hath not bene polluted: for from my youth vp, euen vnto this houre, I haue not eaten of a thing dead, or tozne in pieces, neither came there any vncleane flesh in my mouth.

15 Then he sayd vnto mee, For I haue giuen thee bullocks dung for mans dung, and thou shalt prepare thy bread therewith.

16 Moreover he said vnto mee, Sonne of man, behold, I will breake the staffe of bread in Ierusalem, and they shall eate bread by weight, and with care, and they shall drinke water by measure, and with astonishment.

17 Because that bread and water shall faile, they shall be astonied one with another;
and shall consume away for their iniquity.

And thou sonne of man, take thee a sharp and diuide the haire.

2 Thou shalt burne with fire the third part in the middes of the citie, when the dayes of the siege are fulfilled, and thou shalt take the other third part, and smite about it with a knife, and the last third part thou shalt scatter in the winde, and I will draw out a sword after them.

3 Thou shalt also take thereof a few in 4 Then take of them againe, and cast

8 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I euen I come against thee, and will execute iudgement in the mids of thee, euen in the sight of the nation.

9 And I will doe in thee, that I neuer did before, neither will doe any more the like, because of all thine abominations.

10 For in the middes of thee, the fathers shall eat their sonnes, & the sonnes shall eat their fathers; and I will execute iudgement in thee, and the whole remnant of thee will I scatter into all the windes.

11 Therefore as I liue, sayeth the Lord God, Surely, because thou hast defiled my Sanctuary with all thy filthinesse, and with all thine abominations, therefore will I also destroy thee, neither shall mine eye spare thee, neither will I haue any pittie.

12 The third part of thee shall die with the pestilence, and with famine shall they be consumed in the mids of thee: and another third part shall fall by the sword round about thee: and I will scatter the last third part into all windes, and I will draw out a sword after them.

13 Thus shall mine anger bee accomplished, and I will cause my wrath to cease in them, and I will bee comforted: and they shall know, that I the Lord haue spoken it in my zeale, when I haue accomplished my wrath in them.

14 Moreover, I will make thee waste and abhorred among the nations that are round about thee, and in the sight of all that passe by.

15 So thou shalt be a reprob and shame, a chastisement and an astonishment vnto the nations that are round about thee, when I shall execute iudgements in thee, in anger and in wrath, and in sharpe rebukes: I the Lord haue spoken it.

16 Then I shall lend vpon them the scilicet arrowes of famine, which shall bee for their destruction: & which I will send to destroy you, and I will increase the famine vpon you, and will breake your staffe of bread.

17 So will I send vpon you famine, and euill beasts, and they shall spoile thee, and pestilence, and blood shall passe thorow thee, and I will bring the sword vpon thee: I the Lord haue spoken it.

CHAP. VI.

1 He sheweth that Ierusalem shall be destroyed for their idolatrie. 8 He prophesieth the repentance of the remnant of the people, and their deliuerance.

And the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, set thy face towards the mountaine of Israel, and prophesse against them,

3 And say, Ye mountaine of Israel, heare the word of the Lord God. Thus sayeth the Lord God to the mountaine, to the hills, to the euers, and to the valleys, Behold, I euen I will bring a sword vpon you, and I will destroy your high places:

4 And your altars shall be desolate, and your images of the sunne shall be broken: and I will cast downe your staine men before your idoles.

5 And I will lay the dead carcases of the children of Israel before their idoles, and I will scatter your bones round about your altars.

6 In all your dwelling places the cities shall be desolate, and the high places shall be laid waste, so that your altars shall be made waste and desolate, and your idoles shall be broken and cease, and your images of the sunne shall be cut in peeces, and your workes shall be abolished.

7 And the staine shall fall in the mids of you, and ye shall know that I am the Lord.

8 Yet wil I leaue a remnant, that you may haue some that shall escape the sword among the nations, when you shall be scattered thorow the countreys.

9 And they that escape of you shall remember me among the nations, where they shall be in captiuitie, because I am grieved for their whorish hearts, which haue departed from me, and for their eyes, which haue gone a whoring after their idoles, and they shall be displeased in themselves for the euill which they haue committed in all their abominations.

10 And they shall know that I am the Lord, and that I haue not said in vaine, that I would doe this euill vnto them.

11 Thus sayeth the Lord God, I will stretch forth my hand, and stretch forth with thy foote, and say, Alas, for all the wicked abominations of the house of Israel: for they shall fall by the sword, by the famine, and by the pestilence.

12 He that is farre off, shall die of the pestilence, and he that is neere, shall fall by the sword, and he that remaineth and is besieged, shall die by the famine, thus will I accomplish my wrath vpon them.

13 Then shall ye know that I am the Lord, when their staine men shall be among their idoles round about their altars, vpon every high hill in all the tops of the mountaiues, and vnder every greene tree, and vnder euery thicke oake, which is the place where they did offer sweet saour to all their idoles.

14 So will I stretch mine hand vpon them, and make the land waste and desolate, from the wilderness vnto Diblath in all their habitations, and they shall know, that I am the Lord.

10 Behold, the day, behold, it is come: the morning is gone forth, the rod flourisheth: pride hath budded.

11 Cruelty is risen vp into a rod of wickednesse: none of them shall remaine, nor of their riches, nor of any of theirs, neither shall there be lamentation for them.

12 The time is come, the day draweth nere, let not the buyer reioyce, nor let him that selleth, mourne: for the wrath is vpon all the multitude thereof.

13 For he that selleth, shall not returne to that which is sold, although they were yet alive: for the vision was vnto all the multitude thereof, and they returned not, neither doth any incourage himselfe in the punishment of his life.

14 They haue blowen the trumpet, and prepared all, but none goeth to the battell: for my wrath is vpon all the multitude thereof.

15 The sword is without, and the pestilence and the famine within: hee that is in the field, shall die with the sword, and he that is in the cite, famine and pestilence shall deuoure him.

16 But they that flee away from them, shall escape, and shall bee in the mountaines, like the dones of the valleyes, all they shall mourne, euen one for his iniquitie.

17 All hands shall be weak, & all knees shall fall away as water.

18 They shall also gird themselves with sackcloth, and feare shall couer them, and shame shall be vpon all faces, and baldnesse vpon their heads.

19 They shall cast their siluer in the streetes, and their gold shall be cast farre off: their siluer and their gold cannot deliuer them in the day of the wrath of the Lord: they shall not satisfie their soules, neither fill their bowels: for this ruine is for their iniquitie.

20 He had also set the beautie of his sanctuary in mafeitie: but they made images of their abominations, and of their idoles therein: therefore haue I set it farre from them.

21 And I will glue it into the hands of the strangers to be spoiled, and to the wicked of the earth to be robbed, and they shall pollute it.

22 My face will I turne also from them, and they shall pollute my secret place: for the destroyers shall enter into it, and defile it.

23 I will make a chaine: for the land is full of the iudgement of blood, and the cite is full of crueltie.

24 Therefore I will bring the most wicked of the heathen, and they shall possesse their houses: I will also make the pompe of the mightie to cease, and their holy places shall be defiled.

25 When destruction commeth, they shall seeke peace, and shall not haue it.

26 Calamitie shall come vpon calamitie, and rumour shall be vpon rumour: then shall they seeke a vision of the Prophet: but the Law shall perish from the Priest, and counsell from the Ancient.

27 The king shall mourne, and the princes shall be clothed with desolation, & the hands of the people in the land shall be troubled: I will doe vnto them according to their wayes, and according to their iudgements will I iudge them, and they shall know that I am the Lord.

CHAP. VIII.

2 An appearance of the similitude of God. 3 Ezekiel is brought to Ierusalem in the spirit. 6 The Lord sheweth the Prophet the idolatries of the house of Israel.

And in the first yeere, in the first month, and in the first day of the month, as I late in mine house, and the Elders of Iudah late before me, the hand of the Lord God fell there vpon me.

2 Then I beheld, and loe, here was a likeness, as the appearance of fire to looke to, from his loynes downward, and from his loynes upward, as the appearance of brightness, and like vnto amber.

3 And he stretched out the likeness of an hand, and tooke mee by an hayzie locke of mine head, and the Spirit lift mee vp betwene the earth & the heauen, and brought me by a diuine vision to Ierusalem, into the entrie of the inner gate that lieth toward the North, where remained the idole of indignation, which prouoked indignation.

4 And behold, the glory of the God of Israel was there according to the vision, that I saw in the field.

5 Then said he vnto me, Sonne of man, lift up thine eyes now toward the North. So I lift up mine eyes toward the North, and behold, Northward at the gate of the altar, this idole of indignation was in the entry.

6 He said furthermore vnto me, Sonne of man, seest thou not what they doe? euen the great abominations that the house of Israel committeth here to cause me to depart from my Sanctuary? but yet turne thee and thou shalt see greater abominations.

7 And he caused me to enter at the gate of the court: and when I looked, behold, an hole was in the wall.

8 Then said he vnto me, Sonne of man, dig now in the wall. And when I had digged in the wall, behold, there was a doore.

9 And he said vnto mee, Goe in, and behold the wicked abominations that they doe here.

10 So I went in, and saw, and behold, there was euery similitude of creeping things and abominable beasts, and all the idoles of the house of Israel painted vpon the wall round about.

11 And there stood before them seuentie men of the Ancients of the house of Israel, and in the mids of them stood Jaazaniab, the sonne of Shaphan, with euery man his censur in his hand, and the vapour of the incense went by like a cloude.

12 Then said he vnto me, Sonne of man, hast thou seene what the Ancients of the house of Israel doe in the darke, euery one in the chamber of his imagerie? for they say, The Lord seeth vs not, the Lord hath forsaken the earth.

13 Againe he said also vnto me, Turne thee againe, and thou shalt see greater abominations that they doe.

14 And he caused me to enter into the entry of the gate of the Lords house, which was toward the North: and behold, there late women mourning for Tammuz.

15 Then said he vnto me, Hast thou seene this, O sonne of man? Turne thee againe, and thou shalt see greater abominations then these.

16 And he caused me to enter into the inner court of the Lords house, and behold at the doore of the Temple of the Lord, betwene the porch and the altar were about fise and twenty men with their backs toward the Temple of the Lord, and their faces toward the East, and they worshipped the sunne toward the East.

17 Then he said vnto me, Hast thou seene this, O sonne of man? Is it a small thing to the house of Iudah to commit these abominations which they doe here? for they haue filled the land with cruelty, and haue returned to prouoke mee: and loe, they haue cast out their stinke before their noses.

18 Therefore will I also execute my wrath: mine eye shall not spare them, neither will I haue pittie, and though they cry in mine eares with a loud voice, yet will I not heare them.

CHAP. IX.

1 The destruction of the citie. 4 They that shall be saued, are marked. 8 A complaint of the Prophet for the destruction of the people.

Hee cryed also with a loud voyce in mine eares, saying, The visitations of the citie draw neere, and euery man hath a weapon in his hand to destroy it.

2 And behold, fire men came by the way of the hie gate, which lyeth toward the North, and euery man a weapon in his hand to destroy it: and one man among them was clothed with linen, with a writers inkehorne by his side, and they went in and stood beside the brazen altar.

3 And the glory of the God of Israel was gone by from the Cherub, whereupon hee was, and stood on the doore of the house, and he called to the man clothed with linen, which had the writers inkehorne by his side.

4 And the Lord said vnto him, Goe thorow the mids of the citie, euen thorow the mids of Ierusalem, and set a marke vpon the foreheads of them that mourne and cry for all the abominations that be done in the mids thereof.

5 And to the other he said, that I might heare, Goe yee after him thorow the citie, and scribe: let your eye spare none, neither haue pittie.

6 Destroy utterly the old, and the pong, and the maides, and the children, and the women, but touch no man vpon whom is the marke, and begin at my Sanctuary. When they began at the Ancient men, which were before the house.

7 And hee said vnto them, Defile the house, and fill the courts with the statue, then goe forth: and they went out, and slew them in the citie.

8 Now when they had slaine them, and I had escaped, I fell downe vpon my face, and cryed, saying, Ah Lord God, wilt thou destroy all the residue of Israel, in pouring out thy wrath vpon Ierusalem?

9 Then said he vnto me, The iniquitie of the house of Israel, and Iudah is exceeding great, so that the land is full of blood, and the citie full of corrupt iudgement: for, they say, The Lord hath forsaken the earth, and the Lord seeth vs not.

10 As touching mee also, mine eye shall not spare them, neither will I haue pittie, but will recompense their wayes vpon their heads.

11 And behold, the man clothed with linen which had the inkehorne by his side, made report, and said, Lord, I haue done as thou hast commanded me.

And as I looked, behold, in the firmament that was above the head of the Cherubims, there appeared vpon them like vnto the similitude of a throne, as it were a Sapphire stone.

2 And he spake vnto the man clothed with linnen, and said, Goe in betwene the wheelles, euen vnder the Cherub, and sit thine hands with coales of fire from betwene the Cherubims, and scatter them ouer the city. And he went in my sight.

3 Now the Cherubims stood vpon the right side of the house when the man went in, and the cloud filled the inner court.

4 Then the glory of the Lord went vpon the Cherub, and stood ouer the doore of the house, and the house was filled with the cloud, & the court was filled with the brightness of the Lords glory.

5 And the sound of Cherubims wings was heard into the better court, as the voyce of the Almighty God when he speaketh.

6 And when he had commanded the man clothed with linnen, saying, Take fire from betwene the wheelles, and from betwene the Cherubims, then he went in and stood beside the wheeler.

7 And one Cherub stretched forth his hand from betwene the Cherubims vnto the fire, that was betwene the Cherubims, and tooke thereof, and put it into the hands of him that was clothed with linnen: who tooke it and went out.

8 And there appeared in the Cherubims the likenesse of a mans hand vnder their wings.

9 And when I looked vp, behold; foure wheelles were beside the Cherubims, one wheeler by one Cherub, and another wheeler by another Cherub, and the appearance of the wheelles was as the colour of a Chrysolite stone.

10 And their appearance (for they were all foure of one fashion) was as if one wheeler had bene in another wheeler.

11 When they went forth, they went vpon their foure sides, and they returned not as they went: but to the place whither the first went, they went after it, and they turned not as they went.

12 And their whole body, & their rings, and their handes and their wings, and the wheelles were full of eyes round about, euen in the same foure wheelles.

13 And the Cherub cryed to these wheelles in mine hearing, saying, O wheeler.

14 And euery beast had foure faces: the first face was the face of a Cherub, and the second face was the face of a man, & the third the face of a lyon, and the fourth the face of an Eagle.

15 And the Cherubims were lifted vp: this is the beast that I saw at the river Chebar.

16 And when the Cherubims went, the wheelles went by them: and when the Cherubims lift vp their wings to mount vp from the earth, the same wheelles also turned not from beside them.

17 When the Cherubims stood, they stood: and when they were lifted vp, they lifted themselves by also: for the spirit of the beast was in them.

18 Then the glory of the Lord departed from above the doore of the house, and stood vpon the Cherubims.

19 And the Cherubims lift vp their wings, & mounted vp from the earth in my sight: when they went out, the wheelles also were beside them: and euery one stood at the entry of the gate of the Lords house, at the East side, and the glory of the God of Israel was vpon them on high.

20 This is the beast that I saw vnder the God of Israel by the river Chebar, and I knew that they were the Cherubims.

21 Euery one had foure faces, and euery one foure wings, and the likenesse of mans hands was vnder their wings.

22 And the likenesse of their faces was the selfe same faces which I saw by the river Chebar, and the appearance of the Cherubims was the selfe same, and they went euery one straight forward.

CHAP. XL.

1 Who they were that seduced the people of Israel.

5 Against these hee prophesieth, shewing them how they shalbe dispersed abroad. 19 The renewing of the heart cometh of God. 21 Let them at neth them that leane vnto their owne counsels.

Moreover, the spirit lift me vp, & brought mee vnto the East gate of the Lords house, which lieth Eastward, and behold, at the entrie of the gate were foue and twentie men: among whom I saw Jaazaniab the sonne of Azur, & Delattah the sonne of Be-naiab, the princes of the people.

2 Then said he vnto me, Sonne of man, these are the men that imagine mischief, and deuile wicked counsell in this cite.

3 For they say, It is not neere, let vs build houses: this citie is the caldron, and we be the flesh.

4 Therefore prophesie against them, sonne of man, prophesie.

5 And the spirit of the Lord fell vpon me, and said vnto mee, Speake, Thus saith the Lord, O ye house of Israel, this haue ye sayd, and I know that which riseth vp of your mindes.

6 Many haue ye murdered in this cite, and ye haue filled the streets thereof with the flaine.

7 Therefore thus sayeth the Lord God, They that ye haue flaine, and haue layd in the mids of it, they are the flesh, and this citie is the caldron, but I will bring you forth of the mids of it.

8 Pee haue feared the sword, and I will bring a sword vpon you, saith the Lord God.

9 And I will bring you out of the mids thereof, and deliuer you into the hands of strangers, and will execute iudgments among you.

10 Pee shall fall by the sword, and I will iudge you in the border of Israel, and ye shall know that I am the Lord.

11 This citie shall not bee your caldron, neither shall ye be the flesh in the mids thereof, but I will iudge you in the border of Israel.

b Wee shall not be pulled out of Ierusalem, till the houre of our death come, as the flesh is not taken out of the caldron till it be sodde.

c Contrary to their vaine confidence, he sheweth in what sense this citie is the caldron: that is, because of the dead bodies that haue bene murdered therein, and so lie as flesh in the caldron.
d That is, of the Caldeans.

12 And ye shall know that I am the Lord: for ye have not walked in my statutes, neither executed my judgments, but have done after the manners of the heathen, that are round about you.

13 And when I prophesied, Belatiah the sonne of Benaiab died: then fell I downe vpon my face, and cried with a loud voyce, and sayd, O Lord God, wilt thou then utterly destroy all the remnant of Israel?

14 Again the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

15 Sonne of man, thy brethren, even thy brethren, the men of thy kindred, and all the house of Israel, wholly are they vnto whom the inhabitants of Ierusalem haue said, Depart ye farre from the Lord: for the land is giuen vs in possession.

16 Therefore say, Thus saith the Lord God, Although I haue cast them farre off among the heathen, and although I haue scattered them among the countreys, yet will I bee to them as a little Sanctuary in the countreys where they shall come.

17 Therefore say, Thus saith the Lord God, I will gather you againe from the people, and assemble you out of the countreys where ye haue bene scattered, and I will giue you the land of Israel.

18 And they shall come thither, and they shall take away all the idoles thereof, and all the abominations thereof from thence.

19 And I will giue them one heart, and I will put a new spirit within their bowels: and I will take the stonie heart out of their bodies, and I will giue them an heart of flesh.

20 That they may walke in my statutes, and keep my judgments, and execute them: and they shall bee my people, and I will bee their God.

21 But vpon them whose heart is toward their idoles, and whose affection goeth after their abominations, I will lay their way vpon their owne heads, sayth the Lord God.

22 Then did the Cherubims lift vp their wings, and the wheelles beside them, and the glory of the God of Israel was vpon them on high.

23 And the glory of the Lord went vp from the mids of the citie, and stood vpon the mountaine which is toward the East side of the citie.

24 Afterward the Spirit tooke me vp, and brought me in a vision by the Spirit of God into Caldea, to them that were led away captiues: so the vision that I had seene, went vp from me.

25 Then I declared vnto them that were led away captiues, all the things that the Lord had shewed me.

C. H. A. P. XII.

1 The parable of the captiuitie. 18 Another parable whereby the distresse of hunger and thirst is signified.

The word of the Lord also came vnto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, thou dwellest in the mids of a rebellious house, which haue eyes to see, and see not: they haue eares to heare, and heare not: for they are a rebellious house.

3 Therefore thou sonne of man, prepare thy stuffe to goe into captiuitie, go forth by day in their sight, and thou shalt passe from thy place to another place in their sight, if it be possible that they may consider it: for they are a rebellious house.

4 Then shalt thou bring forth thy stuffe by day in their sight, as the stuffe of him that goeth into captiuitie: and shalt thou goe forth at euen in their sight, as they that goe forth into captiuitie.

5 Digge thou thozow the wall in their sight, and carry out thereby.

6 In their sight shalt thou beare it vpon thy shoulders, and carry it forth in the darke thou shalt couer thy face, that thou see not the earth: for I haue set thee as a signe vnto the house of Israel.

7 And as I was comanded, so I brought forth my stuffe by day, as the stuffe of one that goeth into captiuitie: and by night I digged thozow the wal with mine hand, and brought it forth in the darke, and I bare it vpon my shoulder in their sight.

8 And in the morning came the word of the Lord vnto me, saying,

9 Sonne of man, hath not the house of Israel, the rebellious house sayd vnto thee, What doest thou?

10 But say thou vnto them, Thus sayth the Lord God, This burden concerneth the chiefe in Ierusalem, and all the house of Israel that are among them.

11 Say, I am your signe: like as I haue done, so shall it be done vnto them, they shall goe into bondage and captiuitie.

12 And the chiefe that is among them, shall beare vpon his shoulder in the darke, and shall goe forth: they shall digge thozow the wall, to carie out thereby: he shall couer his face, that he see not the ground with his eyes.

13 By net also will I spread vpon him, and hee shall be taken in my net, and I will bring him to Babel to the land of the Chaldeans, yet shall he not see it, though he shall die there.

14 And I will scatter toward every wind, all that are about him to helpe him, and all his garisons, and I will draw out the sword after them.

15 And they shall know that I am the Lord, when I shall scatter them among the nations, and disperle them in the countreys.

16 But I will leaue a little number of them from the sword, from the famine, and from the pestilence, that they may declare all these abominations among the heathen, where they come, and they shall know that I am the Lord.

17 Moreover the worde of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

18 Sonne of man, eat thy bread with trembling, and drinke thy water with trouble, and with carefulnesse.

19 And say vnto the people of the land, Thus sayeth the Lord God of the inhabitants of Ierusalem, and of the land of Israel, They shall eat their bread with care.

a That is, they receiue not the fruites of that which they see and heare.
 b Ebr. make thee vessels to goe into captiuitie.

f It seemeth that this noble man died of some terrible death, and therefore the Prophet feared some strange iudgment of God toward the rest of the people.

20 And the cities that are inhabited, shall be left voyd, and the land shall bee desolate, and ye shall know that I am the Lord.

21 ¶ And the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

22 Sonne of man, what is that prouerbe that you haue in the land of Israel, saying, The dayes are prolonged, and all visions shall faile?

23 Tell them therefore, Thus sayeth the Lord God, I will make this prouerbe to cease, and they shall no more vse it as a prouerbe in Israel: but say vnto them, The dayes are at hand, and the effect of euery vision.

24 For no vision shall bee any more in vaine, neither shall there be any flattering diuination within the house of Israel.

25 For I am the Lord: I will speake, and that thing that I shall speake, shall come to passe: it shall bee no more prolonged: for in your dayes, O rebellious house, wil I say the thing, and will perfourme it, saith the Lord God.

26 Again the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

27 Sonne of man, behold, they of the house of Israel say, The vision that he seeth is for many dayes to come, and hee prophesieth of the times that are farre off.

28 Therefore say vnto them, Thus saith the Lord God, All my words shall no longer be delayed, but that thing which I haue spoken, shall be done, saith the Lord God.

CHAP. XIII.

3 The word of the Lord against false Prophets, which teach the people the counsell of their owne hearts.

¶ And the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, prophesie against the prophets of Israel, that prophesie, and say thou vnto them, that prophesie out of their owne hearts, Heare the word of the Lord.

3 Thus saith the Lord God, Come vnto the foolish prophets that follow their owne spirit, and haue seene nothing.

4 O Israel, thy prophets are like the foxes in the waste places.

5 We haue not risen vp in the gaps, neither made vp the hedge for the house of Israel, to stand in the battell in the day of the Lord.

6 They haue seene vanitie, and lying diuination, saying, The Lord saith it, and the Lord hath not sent them: & they haue made others to hope that they would confirme the word of their prophesie.

7 Haue ye not seene a vaine vision? and haue ye not spoken a lying diuination? & ye say, The Lord saith it, albeit I haue not spoken.

8 Therefore thus sayeth the Lord God, Because yee haue spoken vanity, and haue seene lies, therefore behold, I am against you, saith the Lord God,

9 And mine hand shall be vpon the Prophets that see vanity, and dream lies: they shall not be in the assembly of my people, neither shall they be written in the writing of the house of Israel, neither shall they enter into the land of Israel: and ye shall knowe that I am the Lord God.

10 And therefore, because they haue de- ceived my people, saying, Peace, and there was no peace: and one built vp a wall, and beholde, the others daubed it with vntempered mortar.

11 Say vnto them which daube it with vntempered mortar, that it shall fall: for there shall come a great storme: and I will send ballestones, which shall cause it to fall, and a stormie winde shall breake it.

12 Lo, when the wall is fallen, shall it not be said vnto you, Where is the daubing wherewith ye haue daubed it?

13 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, I will cause a stormie winde to breake forth in my wrath, and a great storme shall bee in mine anger, and ballestones in mine indignation to consume it.

14 So I wil destroy the wall that ye haue daubed with vntempered mortar, and bring it downe to the ground, so that the foundation thereof shall be discouered, and it shall fall, and ye shall be consumed in the midst thereof, and ye shall know that I am the Lord.

15 Thus wil I accomplish my wrath vpon the wall, and vpon them that haue daubed it with vntempered mortar, and wil I say vnto you, The wall is no more, neither the daubers thereof.

16 To wit, the prophets of Israel, which prophesie vpon Jerusalem, and see billions of peace for it, and there is no peace, saith the Lord God.

17 Likewise thou sonne of man, set thy face against the daughters of thy people, which prophesie out of their owne heart: and prophesie thou against them, and say,

18 Thus saith the Lord God, Come vnto the women that sowe pillows vnder all arme-holes, and make bales vpon the head of euery one that standeth vp, to hunt soules: wil ye hunt the soules of my people, and wil ye giue life to the soules that come vnto you?

19 And wil ye pollute mee among my people for handfuls of barley, and for peeces of bread to slay the soules of them that should not die, and to giue life to the soules that should not liue, in lying to my people, that heare your lies?

20 Therefore thus sayeth the Lord God, Beholde, I will haue to doe with your pillows, wherewith yee hunt the soules to make them to flie, and I will teare them from your armes, and wil let the soules goe, euen the soules, that ye hunt to make them to flie.

21 Your bales also wil I teare, and deliuer my people out of your hand, and they shall be no more in your hands to be hunted, and ye shall know that I am the Lord.

22 Because with your lies yee haue made the heart of the righteous sad, whome I they should depart from the body, were godly, and vpholding the wicked.

g Whereas the true Prophets prophesied the destruction of the city to bring the people to repentance, the false prophets spake the contrary, and flattered them in their vanities, so that what one false prophet said, (which is here called the building of the wall) another false prophet would affirme though he had nethier occasion nor good ground to beare him. h Whereby is meant whatsoever man of himselfe setteth forth vnder the authority of Gods word.

i These superstitious women for lucre would prophesie and tell euery man his fortune, giuing them pillows to leane vpon, and kerchiefs to couer their heads, to the intent they might the more allure them and bewitch them. k Will ye make my word to serue your bellies?

4 The Lord sendeth false prophets for the ingratitude of the people. 23 Hee reserueth a small portion for his Church.

Then came certaine of the Elders of Israel vnto me, and saide before me.

2 And the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

3 Sonne of man, these men haue set by their idoles in their heart, and put the stumbling blocke of their iniquitie before their face: should I, being required, answer them?

4 Therefore speake vnto them, and say vnto them, Thus saith the Lord God, Every man of the house of Israel that setteth by his idoles in his heart, and putteth the stumbling blocke of his iniquitie before his face, and commeth to the Prophet, I the Lord will answer him that commeth, according to the multitude of his idoles:

5 That I may take the house of Israel in their owne heart, because they are all departed from me through their idoles.

6 Therefore say vnto the house of Israel, Thus saith the Lord God, Returne, and withdraw your selues, and turne your faces from your idoles, and turne your faces from all your abominations.

7 For every one of the house of Israel, or of the stranger that sojourneth in Israel, which departeth from me, and setteth by his idoles in his heart, and putteth the stumbling blocke of his iniquitie before his face, and commeth to a Prophet, for to enquire of him for mee, I the Lord will answer him for my selfe.

8 And I will set my face against that man, and will make him an example and prouerbe, and I will cut him off from the mids of my people, and ye shall know that I am the Lord.

9 And if the prophet be deceived, when he hath spoken a thing, I the Lord haue deceived that prophet, and I will stretch out mine hand vpon him, and will destroy him from the mids of my people of Israel.

10 And they shall beare their punishment: the punishment of the prophet shall be euery as the punishment of him that asketh.

11 That the house of Israel may goe no more astray from me, neither be polluted any more with all their transgressions, but that they may be my people, and I may be their God, saith the Lord God.

a He sheweth the hypocrisie of the Idolaters, who will dissemble to heare the Prophets of God though in their heart they follow nothing lesse then their admonitions, and also how by one meanes or other, God doeth discover them.

b They are not onely idolaters in heart, but also worship their filthy idoles openly, which leade them in blindness and cause them to stumble, and cast them out of Gods fauour, so that he will not heare them when they call vnto him, reade Ierem. 10. 15.

21 For thus saith the Lord God, How much more when I send my foure sorte iudgements vpon Ierusalem, even the sword, and famine, and the noysome beast, and pestilence, to destroy man and beast out of it?

22 Yet behold, therein shall be left a remnant of them that shall be carried away both sonnes & daughters: behold, they shall come forth vnto you, and ye shall see their way, and their enterpises: and ye shall be comforted, concerning the euill that I haue brought vpon Ierusalem, even concerning all that I haue brought vpon it.

23 And they shall comfort you, when ye see their way and their enterpises, and ye shall knowe that I haue not done without cause all that I haue done in it, saith the Lord God.

The Prophet declareth the benefits of God toward Ierusalem. 15 Their vnkindnesse. 46 He iustificeth the wickednesse of other people in comparison of the sinnes of Ierusalem. 49 The cause of the abominations into which the Sodomites fell. 60 Mercy is promised to the repentant.

Again the word of the Lord came vnto Aime, saying,

2 Some of man, cause Ierusalem to know her abominations, a Thou boastest to be of the seed of Abraham, but thou art degenerate, and followest the abominations of the wicked Canaanites, as children doe the manners of their fathers, Isa. 1.4 and 57.3.

3 And say, Thus saith the Lord God vnto Ierusalem, Thine habitation, & thy kinred is of the land of Canaan: thy father was an Amorite, and thy mother an Hittite.

d When I first brought thee out of Egypt, and planted thee in this land to be my Church.

4 And in thy nativity when thou wast borne, thy nappill was not cut: thou wast not washed in water to soften thee: thou wast not salted with salt, nor swaddled in clouts.

e Being thus in thy filthinesse & forsaken of all men, I took thee and gaue thee life, whereby is meant that before God was his Church, and giue life, there is nothing but filthinesse & death.

5 None eye pittied thee to do any of these vnto thee, for to haue compassion vpon thee, but thou wast cast out in the open field, to the contempt of thy person in the day that thou wast borne.

f These words, as blood, pollution, nakednesse, & filthinesse, are oftentimes repeated, to beate downe their pride, and to cause them to consider what they were before God received them to mercie, fauoured them, and covered their shame.

6 And when I passed by thee, I saw thee polluted in thine own blood, and I said vnto thee, when thou wast in thy blood, Thou shalt liue: euen when thou wast in thy blood, I said vnto thee, Thou shalt liue.

g I sanctified thee with mine holy Spirit.

7 I haue caused thee to multiply, as the bud of the field, and thou hast increased and waxen great, and thou hast gotten excellent ornaments: thy breasts are fashioned, thine haire is grown, whereas thou wast naked and bare.

8 Now when I passed by thee, and looked vpon thee, behold, thy time was as the time of loue, and I spread my skirts ouer thee, and covered^d thy filthinesse: yea, I sware vnto thee, and entred into a couenant with^e thee, saith the Lord God, and thou becamest mine.

9 Then washed I thee with^f water: yea, I washed away thy blood from thee, and I anoynted thee with oyle.

10 I clothed thee also with broydered worke, and shod thee with badgers skinne, and I girded thee about with fine linnen, and I covered thee with silke.

h Hereby hee sheweth how he saved his church, enriched it, and gaue it power and dominion to reigne.

11 I decked thee also with ornaments, and I put bracelets vpon thine hands, and a chaine on thy necke.

12 And I put a frontlet vpon thy face, and earetings in thine eares, and a beautifull^b crowne vpon thine head.

13 Thus wast thou deckt with gold and silver, and thy raiment was of fine linnen and silke and broydered worke: thou diddest eate fine flowre, and hony and oyle, and thou wast very beautifull, and thou diddest grow vp into a kingdome.

14 And thy name was spread among the heathen for thy beauty: for it was perfect through myⁱ beautie, which I had set vpon thee, saith the Lord God.

15 Now thou dost^k trust in thine owne beautie, and playedst the harlot, because of thy renowne, and hast powred out^l thy fornications on euery one that passed by, thy desire was to him,

16 And thou diddest take thy garments, and deckedst thine high places with diuers colours, and playedst the harlot thereupon: the like things shall not come, neither hath any done so.

17 Thou hast also taken thy faire Jewels made of my gold and of my silver, which I had giuen thee, and madest to thy selfe images of men, and diddest commit whoredome with them.

18 And tookest thy broydered garments and coueredst them: and thou hast set mine oyle and my perfume before them.

19 My meate also which I gaue thee, as fine flowre, oyle & hony wherewith I fed thee, thou hast euen set it before them: for a sweete sauour thus it was, saith the Lord God.

20 Whereouer, thou hast taken thy sonnes and thy daughters, whom thou hast borne vnto me, and these hast thou sacrificed vnto them, to^m bee deuoured: is this thy whoredome a small matter?

21 That thou hast slaine my children, and deliuered them to cause them to passe thorow fire for them.

22 And in all thine abominations and whoredomes, thou hast not remembered the dayes of thy youth, when thou wast naked, and bare, and wast polluted in thy blood.

23 And beside all thy wickednesse, (woe, woe vnto thee, saith the Lord God.)

24 Thou hast also built vnto thee an high place, and hast made thee an high place in euery street.

25 Thou hast built thine high place at euery corner of the way, and hast made thy beautie to be abhorred: thou hast opened thy feete to euery one that passed by, and multiplied thy whoredome.

26 Thou hast also committed fornication with the Egyptians thy neighbours, which haue great members, and hast increased thy whoredome to prouoke me.

27 Behold, therefore I did stretch out mine hand ouer thee, and wil diminish thine ordinarie, and deliuer thee vnto the will of them that hate thee, euen to the daughters of the Philistines, which are ashamed of thy wicked way.

28 Thou hast played the whore also with the Assyrians, because thou wast insatiable: yea, thou hast played the harlot with them, and yet couldst not be satisfied.

29 Thou hast moreouer multiplied thy fornication from the Land of Canaan vnto Caldea, and yet thou wast not satisfied herewith.

30 How weake is thine heart, saith the Lord God, seeing thou doest all these things, euen the worke of a presumptuous whorish woman?

31 In that thou buildest thine high place in the corner of every way, and makest thine high place in euery street, and hast not been as an harlot that despiseth a reward,

32 But as a wife that playeth the harlot and taketh others for her husband.

33 They giue gifts to all other whores, but thou giuest gifts vnto al thy louers, and rewardest them, that they may come vnto thee on euery side for thy fornication.

34 And the contrary is in thee from other women, in thy fornications, neither the like fornication shall bee after thee: for in that thou giuest a reward, and no reward is giuen vnto thee, therefore thou art contrary.

35 Wherefore, O harlot, heare the word of the Lord.

36 Thus saith the Lord God, Because thy shame was powred out, and thy filthinesse discovered through thy fornications with thy louers, and with all the idoles of thine abominations, and by the blood of thy children, which thou diddest offer vnto them,

37 Beholde, therefore I will gather all thy louers, with whom thou hast taken pleasure, and all them that thou hast loued, with all them that thou hast hated: I will euergather them round about against thee, and will discover thy filthinesse vnto them, that they may see all thy filthynesse.

38 And I will iudge thee after the manner of them that are harlots, and of them that shed blood, and I will giue thee the blood of wrath and ielousie.

39 I will also giue thee into their hands, and they shall destroy thine high place, and shall breake downe thine high places: they shall strip thee also out of thy clothes, & shall take thy faire jewels, and leaue thee naked and bare.

40 They shall also bring vp a company against thee, and they shall stone thee with stones, and thrust thee thorow with their swords.

41 And they shall burne by thine houses with fire, and execute iudgements vpon thee in the sight of many women: & I will cause thee to cease from playing the harlot, & thou shalt giue no reward any more.

42 So will I make my wrath toward thee to rest, and my ielousie shall depart from thee, and I will cease and be no more angry.

43 Because thou hast not remembered the dayes of thy youth, but hast promoued mee with all these things, beholde, therefore I also haue brought thy way vpon thine head, saith the Lord God: yet hast not thou had consideration of all thine abominations.

44 Beholde, all that vse proverbes, shall vse this proverbe against thee, saying, As is the mother, so is her daughter.

45 Thou art thy mothers daughter, that hath cast off her husband and her children, and thou art the sister of thy sisters, which forsooke their husbands and their children: your mother is an Imitite, and your father an Amorite.

46 And thine elder sister is Samaria, and her daughters that dwell at thy left hand, and thy younger sister that dwelleth at thy right hand is Sodom, and her daughters.

47 Yet hast thou not walked after their wayes, nor done after their abominations: but as it had bene a very little thing, thou wast corrupted more then they in all thy wayes.

48 As I liue, saith the Lord God, Sodom thy sister hath not done, neither shee nor her daughters as thou hast done and thy daughters.

49 Behold, this was the iniquitie of thy sister Sodom, pride, fulnesse of bread, and abundance of idleness was in her, and in her daughters: neither did she strengthen the hand of the poore and needy.

50 But they were haughty, and committed abomination before mee: therefore I toke them away, as pleased me.

51 Neither hath Samaria committed halfe of thy sinnes, but thou hast exceeded them in thine abominations, and hast justified thy sisters in all thine abominations, which thou hast done.

52 Therefore thou which hast justified thy sisters, beare thine owne shame for thy sinnes that thou hast committed more abominable then they which are more righteous then thou art: be thou therefore confounded also, and beare thy shame, seeing that thou hast justified thy sisters.

53 Therefore I will bring againe their captiuitie with the captiuitie of Sodom, and her daughters: and with the captiuitie of Samaria, and her daughters: euen the captiuitie of thy captiues in the mids of them.

54 That thou mayest beare thine owne shame, and mayest be confounded in all that thou hast done, in that thou hast comforted them.

55 And thy sister Sodom and her daughters shall returne to their former state: Samaria also and her daughters shall returne to their former state, when thou and thy daughters shall returne to your former state.

56 For thy sister Sodom was not heard of by thy report in the day of thy pride.

CHAP. XVII.

The parable of the two Eagles.

And the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, put forth a parable, and speake a pious word vnto the house of Israel,

3 And say, Thus saith the Lord God, The great Eagle with great wings, and long wings, and full of feathers, which had diuers colours, came vnto Lebanon, and tooke the highest branch of the cedar,

4 And brake off the top of his twigge, and carried it into the land of merchants, and set it in a citie of merchants.

5 He tooke also of the seed of the land, & planted it in a fruitful ground: he placed it by great waters, and set it as a willow tree.

6 And it budded up, & was like a spreading vine of low stature, whose branches turned toward it, and the roots thereof were under it: so it became a vine, and it brought forth branches, and shot forth buds.

7 There was also another great Eagle with great wings, and many feathers, and behold, this vine did turne her roots toward it, and spread forth her branches toward it, that she might water it by the trenches of her plantation.

8 It was planted in a good soyle by great waters, that it should bring forth branches, and beare fruit, and be an excellent vine.

9 Say thou, Thus saith the Lord God, Shall it prosper? Shall hee not pull vp the roots thereof, and destroy the fruite thereof, and cause them to dye: all the leaves of her bud shall wither without great power, or many people to plucke it up by the roots thereof.

10 Beholde, it was planted: but shall it prosper? Shall it not be pulled up by the roots thereof?

proper: shall it not be dried up, and wither? when the East winde shall touch it, it shall wither in the trenches where it grew.

11 Whereupon the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

12 Say now to this rebellious house, Know ye not what these things meane? tell them, Behold, the King of Babel is come to Jerusalem, and hath taken the King thereof, and the princes thereof, and led them with him to Babel,

13 And hath taken one of the kings seed, and made a covenant with him, and hath taken an oath of him: hee hath also taken the princes of the land,

14 That the kingdome might bee in subjection, and not lift it selfe up, but keepe their covenant, and stand to it.

15 But he rebelled against him, and sent his Ambassadors into Egypt, that they might giue him horses, and much people: shall he prosper? shall he escape, that doth such things? or shall he breake the covenant, and be delinquent?

16 As I liue, saith the Lord God, he shall die in the midst of Babel, in the place of the King, that had made him King, whose oath he despised: and whose covenant made with him he brake.

17 Neither shall Pharaoh with his mighty host, and great multitude of people, maintaine him in the war, when they haue cast up mounns, and builded ramparts to destroy many persons.

18 For he hath despised the oath and broken the covenant: (yet so, he had giuen his hand) because he hath done all these things, he shall not escape.

19 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, As I liue, I will surely bring mine oath that hee hath despised, and my covenant that he hath broken, vpon his owne head.

20 And I will spread my net vpon him, and he shall be taken in my net, and I will bring him to Babel, & will enter into iudgement with him there for the trespasser that he hath committed against me.

21 And all that flee from him with all his host, shall fall by the sword, and they that remaine, shall bee scattered toward all the windes: and ye shall knowe that I the Lord haue spoken it.

22 Thus saith the Lord God, I will also take of the top of this high cedar, and will set it, and cut off the top of the tender plant thereof, and I will plant it vpon an high mountaine and great.

23 Euen in the high mountaine of Israel will I plant it: and it shall bring forth boughs and beare fruite, and bee an excellent cedar, and vnder it shall remaine all birds, and every foule shall dwell in the shadow of the branches thereof.

24 And all the trees of the field shall know that I the Lord haue brought downe the high tree, and exalted the low tree: that I haue dried up the greene tree, and made the drie tree to flourish: I the Lord haue spoken it, and haue done it.

6 And hath not eaten vpon the mountaines, neither hath lift vp his eyes to the idoles of the house of Israel, neither hath defiled his neighbours wife, neither hath liyn with a * menstruous woman,

7 Neither hath oppressed any, but hath restozed the pledge to his debtoir: he that hath spoyled none by violence, * but hath giuen his bread to the hungry, and hath couered the naked with a garment,

8 And hath not giuen foorth vpon vsurie, neither hath taken any increase, but hath withdrawen his hande from iniquitie, and hath executed true iudgment betweene man and man,

9 And hath walked in my statutes, and hath kept my iudgements to deale truly, he is iust, he shall surely liue, saith the Lord God.

10 If he beget a sonne, that is a thiefe, or a shedder of blood, if he do any one of these things,

11 Though he doe not al these things, but either hath eaten vpon the mountaines, or defiled his neighbours wife,

12 Or hath oppressed the poore and needy, or hath spoyled by violence, or hath not restozed the pledge, or hath lift vp his eyes vnto the idoles, or hath committed abomination,

13 Or hath giuen foorth vpon vsurie, or hath taken increase, shall he liue: he shall not liue: seeing he hath done all these abominations, * he shall die the death, and his blood shall be vpon him.

14 But if he beget a sonne, that seeth all his fathers sinnes, which he hath done, and feareth, neither doeth such like,

15 That hath not eaten vpon the mountaines, neither hath lift vp his eyes to the idoles of the house of Israel, nor hath defiled his neighbours wife,

16 Neither hath oppressed any, nor hath withholden the pledge, neither hath spoyled by violence, but hath giuen his bread to the hungry, and hath couered the naked with a garment, 17 Neither hath withdrawen his hande from the afflicted, nor receiued vsurie nor increase, but hath executed my iudgements, and hath walked in my statutes, he shall not die in the iniquitie of his father, but hee shall surely liue.

18 His father, because hee cruelly oppressed and spoyled his brother by violence, and hath not done good among his people, for, euen he dieth in his iniquitie.

19 Yet say yee, Therefore shall not the sonne beare the iniquitie of the father: because the sonne hath executed iudgment and iustice, and hath kept all my statutes, and done them, he shall surely liue.

20 The same soule that sinneth, shall die: the sonne shall not beare the iniquitie of the father, neither shall the father beare the iniquitie of the sonne, but the righteous nestle of the righteous shall be vpon him, and the wickednesse of the wicked shall be vpon himselfe.

21 But if the wicked will returne from all his sinnes that hee hath committed; and keepe all my statutes, and doe that which is lawfull and right, he shall surely liue; and shall not die.

22 All his transgressions that hee hath committed, they shall not be mentioned vnto him, but in his righteoulnes that he hath done, he shall liue.

23 Have I any desire that the wicked should die, saith the Lord God? or shall hee not liue, if he returne from his wayes?

24 But if the righteous turne away from his righteoulnesse, and commit iniquitie, and doe according to all the abominations, that the wicked man doeth, shall hee liue? all his righteoulnesse that hee hath done, shall not be mentioned: but in his transgression that hee hath committed, and in his sinne that hee hath sinned, in them shall hee die.

25 Yet yee say, The way of the Lord is not equal: heare now, O house of Israel. Is not my way equal? or are not your waies vnequall?

26 For when a righteous man turneth away from his righteoulnesse, and committeth iniquitie, hee shall euen die for the same, he shall euen die for his iniquitie that he hath done.

27 Againe, when the wicked turneth away from his wickednes that he hath committed, and doeth that which is lawfull and right, he shall saue his soule aloue.

28 Because he considereth, and turneth away from all his transgressions that hee hath committed, he shall surely liue, and shall not die.

29 Yet saith the house of Israel, The way of the Lord is not equall. O house of Israel, are not my wayes equal? or are not your wayes vnequall?

30 Therefore I will iudge you, O house of Israel, every one according to his wayes, saith the Lord God: returne therefore, & cause others to turne away from al your transgressions: so iniquity shall not be your destruction.

31 Cast away from you al your transgressions, whereby yee haue transgressed, and make you a new heart and a new spirit: for why will ye die, O house of Israel?

32 For I desire not the death of him that dieth, saith the Lord God: cause therefore one another to returne, and liue yee.

4 The nations also heard of him, and he was taken in their nets, and they brought him in chaines vnto the land of Egypt.

5 Now when she saw that she had wasted, and her hope was lost, she tooke another of her whelpes, and made him a lion.

6 Which went among the lions and became a lion, and learned to catch the pray, and he deuoured men.

7 And he knew their widowes, and he destroyed their citie, and the land was wasted, and all that was therein by the noise of his roaring.

8 Then the nations set against him on euery side of the countreyes, and layd their nets for him, so he was taken in their pit.

CHAP. XX.

3 The Lord denieth that hee will answere them when they pray, because of their unkindnesse. 33 He promisseth that his people shall returne from captivity.

46 By the Forrest that should be burnt, is signified the burning of Ierusalem.

And in the seventh yeere, in the fifth month, the tenth day of the month, came certaine of the Elders of Israel to enquire of the Lord, and late before me.

2 Then came the word of the Lord vnto me, saying,

3 Sonne of man, speake vnto the Elders of Israel, and say vnto them, Thus saith the Lord God, Are ye come to enquire of me? as I live, sayeth the Lord God, when I am asked, I will not answere you.

4 Wilt thou iudge them, sonne of man, wilt thou iudge them? cause them to vnderstand the abominations of their fathers,

5 And say vnto them, Thus saith the Lord God, In the day when I chose Israel, and lift vp mine hand vnto the seede of the house of Iacob, and made my selfe knowne vnto them in the land of Egypt, when I lift vp mine hand vnto them, and sayd, I am the Lord your God,

6 In the day that I lift vp mine hand vnto them to bring them forth of the land of Egypt, into a land that I had promised for them, flowing with milke and hony, which is pleasant among all lands,

7 Then said I vnto them, Let euery man cast away the abominations of his eyes, and defile not your selues with the idoles of Egypt: for I am the Lord your God.

8 But they rebelled against me, & would not heare me: for none cast away the abominations of their eyes, neither did they forsake the idoles of Egypt: then I thought to powre out mine indignation vpon them, and to accomplish my wrath against them in the middelt of the land of Egypt.

9 But I had respect to my Name, that it should not be polluted before the heathen, among whom they were, and in whose sight I made my selfe knowne vnto them in bringing them forth of the land of Egypt.

10 Now I caried them out of the land of Egypt, and brought them into the wilderness.

11 And I gaue them my statutes, and declared my iudgements vnto them, which if a man doe, he shall liue in them.

12 Moreover, I gaue them also my Sabbaths to be a signe betwene mee and them, that they might know that I am the Lord, that sanctifie them.

13 But the house of Israel rebelled against me in the wilderness: they walked not in my statutes, and they cast away my iudgements, which if a man do, hee shall liue in them, and my Sabbaths haue they greatly polluted: then I thought to powre out mine indignation vpon them in the wilderness to consume them,

14 But I had respect to my Name, that it should not be polluted before the heathen in whose sight I brought them out.

15 Yet neuertheless I lift vp mine hand vnto them in the wilderness, that I would not bring them into the land, which I had giuen them, flowing with milke and hony, which was pleasant about all lands, 16 Because they cast away my iudgements, and walked not in my statutes, but haue polluted my Sabbaths: for their heart went after their idoles.

17 Neuertheless mine eye spared them, that I would not destroy them, neither would I consume them in the wilderness.

18 But I sayd vnto their children in the wilderness, Make ye not in the ordinances whereby take an occasion to blaspheme my Name, and to accuse me of lacke of ability, or els that I had sought a meane to destroy them more commodiously. That is, my true religion, which I ad commanded them, and gaue themselves to serue me according to their owne fantasies.

b This declareth the great lenitie and patience of God, which calleth sinners to repentance before hee condemne them.

c I sweare that I would bee their God, which manner of othe was obserued from all antiquitie where they vied to lift vp their hands toward heauen, acknowledging God to be the author of trueth and the defender thereof, and also the Iudge of the heart, wishing that he should take vengeance, if they concealed any thing which they knew to be trueth.

d God had forbidden them to make mention of the idoles, Exod. 23. 13. psal. 16. 4.

e Which thing declareth the wickednes of mans heart, which iudge

Gods seruice by their eyes and outward senses. f God had ever this respect to his glorie, that he would not haue his Name euill spoken of among the Gentiles for the punishment that his people deserued, in confidence whereof the godly euer prayed, as Exod. 32. 11. Num. 14. 13.

g Who might thereby take an occasion to blaspheme my Name, and to accuse me of lacke of ability, or els that I had sought a meane to destroy them more commodiously.

h That is, my true religion, which I ad commanded them, and gaue themselves to serue me according to their owne fantasies.

gion & example of your fathers, neither obserue their manners, nor defile your selues with their idoles.

19 I am the Lord your God: walke in my statutes, and keepe my iudgements and doe then,

20 And sanctifie my Sabbathes, and they shall be a signe betwene me and you, that ye may know that I am the Lord your God.

21 Notwithstanding the children rebelled against mee: they walked not in my statutes, nor kept my iudgements to doe them, which if a man doe he shall liue in them, but they polluted my Sabbathes: then I thought to powze out mine indignation upon them, and to accomplish my wrath against them in the wilderness.

22 Neuertheles, I withdrew mine hand, and had respect to my name, that it should not be polluted before the heathen, in whose sight I brought them forth.

23 Yet I lift up mine hand unto them in the wilderness, that I would scatter them among the heathen, & disperie them through the countries,

24 Because they had not executed my iudgements, but had cast away my statutes, and had polluted my Sabbathes, and their eyes were after their fathers idoles.

25 Wherefore I gaue them also statutes, that were not good, and iudgements, wherein they should not liue.

26 And I polluted them in their owne gifts, in that they caused to passe by the fire al that first opened the wombe, that I might destroy them, to the ende that they might know that I am the Lord.

27 Therefore some of man, speake vnto the house of Israel, and say vnto them, Thus saith the Lord God, Yet in this your fathers haue blasphemed me, though they had before griuously transgressed against me.

28 For when I had brought them into the land, for which I lifted up mine hand to giue it to them, then they saw euery high hill, and all the thicke trees, and they offered there their sacrifices, and there they presented their offering of pronunciation: there also they made their sweet saour, and powzed out there their dislike offerings.

29 Then I said vnto them, What is the high place wherunto ye goe? And the name thereof was called Bamah vnto this day.

30 Wherefore say vnto the house of Israel, Thus saith the Lord God, Are ye not polluted after the maner of your fathers? and committee not whoyedome after their abominations?

31 For when you offer your gifts, & make your soumes to passe through the fire, you pollute your selues with all your idoles vnto this day: shall I answer you when I am alked, O house of Israel? As I liue, saith the Lord God, I will not answer you when I am asked.

o Which signifieth an high place, declaring that they wanted themselues of their idolary, and were not ashamed thereof, though God had commanded them expressly that they should haue no altar lifted up on hie by staires, Exo. 10. 26. & Ebr. in the way. p He sheweth that the ingratitude of the people deserueth that God should cut them off, and that they should not haue comfort of his word.

32 Neither shall that bee done that commeth into your mindes: for ye say, We wil be as the heathen, and as the families of the countreys, and serue wood and stone.

33 As I liue, saith the Lord God, I will surely rule you with a mightie hand, and with a stretched out arme, and in my wrath powzed out,

34 And will bring you from the people, and will gather you out of the countreys, wherin ye are scattered, with a mighty hand and with a stretched out arme, and in my wrath powzed out.

35 And I will bring you into the wil-dernes of the people, and there will I pleade with you face to face.

36 Like as I pleaded with your fathers in the wilderness of the land of Egypt, so will I pleade with you, saith the Lord God.

37 And I will cause you to passe under the rod, and will bring you into the bond of the covenant.

38 And I will chuse out from among you the rebels, and them that transgresse against me: I wil bring them out of the land where they dwell, and they shall not enter into the land of Israel, and you shall know that I am the Lord.

39 As for you, O house of Israel, Thus saith the Lord God, Goe you, & serue eu-ery one his idole, seeing that ye wil not obey me, and pollute mine holy name no more with your gifts and with your idoles.

40 For in mine holy mountaine, even in the high mountaine of Israel, saith the Lord God, there shall all the house of Israel, and all in the land serue me: there will I accept them, and there wil I require your offerings, and the first frutes of your oblations, with all your holy things.

41 I will accept your sweet saour, when I bring you from the people, and gather you out of the countreys, wherin ye haue bene scattered, that I may be sanctified in you before the heathen.

42 And ye shall know that I am the Lord when I shall bring you into the land of Israel, into the land, for the which I lifted up mine hand to giue it to your fathers.

43 And there shall ye remember your wayes, and all your workes wherein ye haue bene defiled, and ye shall iudge your selues worthy to be cut off, for al your euils, that ye haue committed.

44 And ye shall know that I am the Lord, when I haue respect vnto you for my names sake, and not after your wicked wayes, nor according to your corrupt workes, O ye house of Israel, saith the Lord God.

45 Wherefore, the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying, the South, and prophesie toward the forrest of the field of the South.

CHAP. XXI.

3 He threateth the sword, and destruction to Ierusalem. 25 He sheweth the fall of King Zedekiah. 28 Hee is commanded to prophesie the destruction of the children of Ammon. 30 The Lord threateth to destroy Nebuchad-nezzar.

The word of the Lord came to me againe, saying,

2 Some of man, let thy face toward Ierusalem, and drop thy word toward the holy places, and prophesie against the land of Israel.

3 And say to the land of Israel, Thus sayth the Lord, Behold, I come against thee, and will draw my sword out of his sheath, and cut off from thee both the righteous and the wicked.

4 Seeing then that I will cut off from thee both the righteous and wicked, therefore shall my sword goe out of his sheath against all flesh from the South to the North,

5 That all flesh may know that I the Lord haue drawn my sword out of his sheath, and it shall not returne any more.

6 Moune therefore, thou sonne of man, as in the paine of thy reins, and moune bitterly before them.

7 And if they say vnto thee, Wherefore mounest thou? then answer, Because of the brute: for it cometh, and every heart shall melt, and all hands shall be weake, and all minds shall faint, and all knees shall fall away as waters: behold, it cometh, and shall be done, sayth the Lord God.

8 Againe, the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

9 Sonne of man, prophesie, & say, Thus sayth the Lord God, say, A sword, a sword both sharpe and furbished.

10 It is sharpened to make a sore slaughter, and it is furbished that it may glitter: how shall we reioyce? for it containeth the rod of my sonne, as all other trees.

11 And he hath giuen it to be furbished, that he may handle it: this sword is sharpe, and is furbished, that he may glue it into the hand of the slayer.

12 Cry, and howle, sonne of man: for this shall come to my people, and it shall come vnto all the Princes of Israel: the terrors of the sword shall be vpon my people: I will therefore vpon thy thigh.

13 For it is a staffe, and what shall this be, if the sword containe euen the rod? It shall be no more, sayth the Lord God.

14 Thou therefore, sonne of man, prophesie, and linte^m hand to hand, & let the sword be doubled: let the sword that hath killed, returne the third time: it is the sword of the great slaughter entering into their painy chambers.

15 I haue brought the feare of the sword into all their gates to make their heart to faint, and to multiply their ruines. As it is made bright, and it is dressed for the slaughter.

16 Get thee alone: go to the right hand, or get thy selfe to the left hand, whiche so euer thy face turneth.

17 I will also smite mine hands together, and will cause my wrath to craze. I the Lord haue sayd it.

18 The word of the Lord came vnto me againe, saying,

19 Also thou sonne of man, appoint thee two wayes, that the word of the King of Babel may come: both twaine shall come out of one land, and chuse a place, and chuse it in the corner of the way of the citie.

20 Appoint a way, that the sword may come to Rabbath of the Ammonites, and to Iudah in Ierusalem the strong citie.

21 And the King of Babel stood at the parting of the way, at the head of the two wayes, consulting by diuination, and made his arrowes bright: he consulted with idols and looked in the liuer.

22 At his right hand was the diuination for Ierusalem to appoint captaines, to open their mouth in the slaughter, and to lift vp their voyce with shouting, to lay engines of warre against the gates, to cast a mount, and to build a fortress.

23 And it shall be vnto them as a false diuination in their sight for the othes made vnto them: but he will call to remembrance their iniquitie, to the intent they should be taken.

24 Therefore thus sayth the Lord God, Because ye haue made your iniquity to be remembered, in discovering your rebellion, that in al your workes your sinnes might appeare: because, I say, that ye are come to remembrance, ye shall be taken with the hand.

25 And thou Prince of Israel polluted, and wicked, whole day is come, when iniquitie shall haue an end.

26 Thus sayeth the Lord God, I will take away the diademe, and take off the crowne: this shall be no more the same: I will exalt the humble, and will abase him that is hie.

27 I will ouerturne, ouerturne, ouerturne it, and it shall be no more vntill he come whose right it is, and I will giue it him.

28 And thou sonne of man, prophesie, and sayd, Thus sayeth the Lord God to the children of Ammon, and to their blasphemy: say thou, I say, The sword, the sword is drawn forth, and furbished to the slaughter to consume, because of the glittering:

CHAP. XXII.

1 Ierusalem is reprobued for cruelty, 25 Of the wicked doctrine of the false prophets and priests, and of their vnassailable couetousnesse. 27 The tyranny of their rulers. 29 The wickednesse of the people.

Discover the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

2 Now thou sonne of man, wilt thou iudge, wilt thou iudge this bloody citie? wilt thou shew her all her abominations?

3 Then say, Thus sayeth the Lord God, The citie sheddeth blood in the mids of it, that her time may come, and maketh idols against herselfe to pollute her selfe.

4 Thou hast offended in thy blood, that thou hast shed, and hast polluted thy selfe in thine idols, which thou hast made, and thou hast caused thy dayes to draw neere, and art come vnto thy terme: therefore haue I made thee a reproch to the heathen, and a mocking to all countreyes.

5 Those that bee neere, and those that be farre from thee, shall mocke thee, which are vile in name, and soze in affliction.

6 Beholde, the princes of Israel euerie one in the was ready to his power to shed blood.

7 In thee haue they despised father and mother: in the mids of thee haue they oppressed the stranger: in thee haue they vered the fatherlesse and the widow.

8 Thou hast despised mine holy things, and hast polluted my Sabbaths.

9 In thee are men that cary tales to shed blood: in thee are they that eate vpon the mountaines: in the mids of thee they commit abomination.

10 In thee haue they discovered their fathers shame: in thee haue they vered her that was polluted in her floures.

11 And euerie one hath committed abomination with his neighbours wife, and euerie one hath wickedly defiled his daughter in law, and in thee hath euerie man forced his owne sister, euen his fathers daughter.

12 In thee haue they taken gifts to shed blood: thou hast taken bribe, and the increase, and thou hast defrauded thy neighbours by extortion, and hast forgotten mee, sayth the Lord God.

13 Beholde, therefore I haue smitten mine hands vpon thy couetousnes, that thou hast used, and vpon the blood, which hath bene in the midst of thee.

14 Can thine heart endure, or can thine hands be strong in the dayes that I shall haue to doe with thee? I the Lord haue spoken it, and will doe it.

15 And I will scatter thee among the heathen, and disperse thee in the countreyes, and will cause thy filthinesse to cease from thee.

16 And thou shalt take thine inheritance in thy selfe in the sight of the heathen, & thou shalt know that I am the Lord.

17 And the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

18 Sonne of man, The house of Israel is vnto mee as dross: all they are brasie, and tinne, and yron, and lead in the mids of the forname: they are euen the dross of siluer.

19 Therefore thus sayth the Lord God, Because yee are all as dross, behold, therefore I will gather you in the mids of Ierusalem.

20 As they gather siluer and brasie, and yron, and lead, and tinne into the mids of the forname, to blow the fire vpon it to melt it, so will I gather you in mine anger, and in my wrath, and will put you there and melt you.

21 I will gather you, I say, and blow the fire of my wrath vpon you, and you shall be melted in the mids thereof.

22 As siluer is melted in the mids of the forname, so shall yee bee melted in the mids thereof, and yee shall know that I the Lord haue powred out my wrath vpon you.

23 And the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

24 Sonne of man, say vnto her, Thou art the land that is vncleane, and not rained vpon in the day of wrath.

25 There is a conspiracie of her prophets in the mids thereof like a roaring lion, rauening the pray: they haue deuoured soules: they haue taken the riches and precious things: they haue made her many widowes in the mids thereof.

26 Her priests haue broken my Law, and haue defiled mine holy things: they haue put no difference betweene the holy & prophane, neither discerned betweene the vncleane, and the cleane, and haue hid their eyes from my Sabbaths, and I am prophaned among them.

27 Her princes in the mids thereof, are like wolues, rauening the pray to shed blood, and to destroy soules for their owne couetous lucre.

28 And her prophets haue dabbed them with vntempered mortar, seeing vanities and diuining lies vnto them, saying, Thus sayth the Lord God, when the Lord hath not spoken.

29 The people of the land haue violently oppressed by swoyling and robbing, and haue vered the poore and the needy: yea, they haue oppressed the stranger against right.

CHAP. XXIII.

Of the idolatrie of Samaria and Ierusalem, vnder the names of Aholah and Aholibah.

The word of the Lord came againe vnto me, saying.

2 Some of man, their were two women, the daughters of one mother.

3 And they committed fornication^b in Egypt, they committed fornication in their youth: there were their breastes pressed, and there they bruised the teats of their virginities.

4 And the names of them were Aholah the elder, and Aholibah her sister: and they were mine, and they bare sonnes and daughters: thus were their names: Samaria is Aholah, and Ierusalem Aholibah.

5 And Aholah played the harlot: when she was mine, and she was set on fire with her sonnes, to wit, with the Assyrians her neighbours,

6 Which were clothed with blew silke, both captaines and princes: they were all pleasant yong men, and horsemen riding vpon horses.

7 Thus shee committed her whoredome with them, even with all them that were the chosen men of Asshur, and with all on whom she doted, and defiled her selfe with all their idoles.

8 Neither left she her fornications, learned of the Egyptians: for in her youth they lay with her, and they bruised the breasts of her virginities, and powred their whoredome vpon her.

9 Therefore I deliuered her into the hands of her sonnes, even into the hands of the Assyrians, vpon whom she doted.

10 These discouered her shame: they tooke away her sonnes and her daughters, and slew her with the sword, and she had an ewill name among women: for they had executed iudgement vpon her.

11 And when her sister Aholibah sawe this, shee married her selfe with inordinate loue, more then shee, and with her fornications more then her sister with her fornications.

12 Shee doted vpon the Assyrians her neighbours, both captaines and princes clothed with diuers lutes, horsemen riding vpon horses: they were all pleasant yong men.

13 Then I sawe that she was defiled, and that they were both after one sort,

14 And that shee increased her fornications: for when she sawe men painted vpon the wall, the images of the Caldeans painted with vermilion,

15 And girded with girdles vpon their loynes, and with dyed attyre vpon their heads (looking all like princes after the manner of the Babylonians in Caldea, the land of their nativity.)

16 Alsoone, I say, as she saw them, she doted vpon them, & sent messengers vnto them into Caldea.

17 Now when the Babylonians came to her into the bed of loue, they defiled her with their fornication, and she was polluted with them: and her lust departed from them.

18 So she discouered her fornication, and disclosed her shame: then mine heart forsooke her, like as mine heart had forsaken her sister.

19 Yet she increased her whoredome more, and called to remembrance the dayes of her youth, wherein she had played the harlot in the land of Egypt.

20 For shee doted vpon their seruants, whose members are as the members of asses, and whose issue is like the issue of horses.

21 Thou calledst to remembrance the wickednesse of thy youth, when thy teats were bruised by the Egyptians, therefore the paps of thy youth are thus.

22 Therefore, O Aholibah, thus saith the Lord God, Beholde, I will raise vpon thy iours against thee, from whom thine heart is departed, and I will bring them against thee on every side, 23 To wit, the Babylonians, and all the Caldeans, the Deke, and Shoah, and Roa, and all the Assyrians with them: they were all pleasant yong men, captaines and princes: all they were valiant and renowned, riding vpon horses.

24 Even these shall come against thee with charers, wagons & wheelers, and with a multitude of people, which shall set against thee buckler, and shield, and helmet round about: and I will leane the punishment vnto them, and they shall iudge thee according to their iudgements.

25 And I will lay mine indignation vpon thee, and they shall deale cruelly with thee: they shall cut off thy nose and thine eares, & thy remnant shall fall by the sword: they shall carrie away thy sonnes and thy daughters, and thy residue shall be deuoured by the fire.

26 They shall also stripp thee out of thy clothes, and take away thy faire Jewels.

27 Thus will I make my wickednesse to cease from thee, and thy fornication out of the land of Egypt: so that thou shalt not lift up thine eyes vnto them, nor remember Egypt any more.

28 For thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I will deliuer thee into the hand of them, whom thou hatest: even into the hands of them from whom thine heart is departed.

29 And they shall handle thee despitefully, and shall take away all thy labour, and shall leave thee naked and bare, and the shame of thy fornications shall be discouered, both thy wickednesse and thy whoredome.

30 I will doe these things vnto thee, because thou hast gone a whoring after the heathen, and because thou art polluted with their idoles.

31 Thou hast walked in the way of thy sister: therefore will I giue her cup into thine hand.

32 Thus

^h These were the names of certaine princes and captaines vnder Nebuchad nezzar.

ⁱ Ebr. I will giue iudgement before them.

ⁱ They shall destroy thy princes and priests with the rest of thy people.

^k All thy treasures and riches which thou hast gotten by labor. All the world shall see thy shamefull forsaking of God, to serue idoles.

^m I will execute the same iudgements and vengeance against thee, & that with greater severity.

^a Meaning Israel & Iudah, which came both out of one family.

^b They became idolaters after the manner of the Egyptians.

^c Aholah signifieth a mansion or dwelling in herself, meaning Samaria which was the royal city of Israel. And Aholibah signifieth a mansion in her, whereby is meant Ierusalem where Gods Temple was.

[†] Ebr. vnder me, d When the Israelites were named the people of God, they became idolaters, and forsooke God and put their trust in the Assyrians.

^e The holy ghost vseth these termes which seeme strange to chaste eares, to cause this wicked vice of idolatrie to be abhorred, that vnneth any should abide to heare the name thereof mentioned.

^f Meaning, the Assyrians. ^g This declareth that no words are able sufficiently to expresse the rage of idolaters, & therefore I holy ghost here compareth the to those which in their raging loue and filthy lusts doe vpon images & paintings of them after whom they lust, 32 Thus saith the Lord God, Thou shalt drinke of thy sisters cup, deepe & large: thou shalt bee laughed to scoone and had in derision, because it containeth much.

33 Thou shalt bee filled with drunkenness and sorow, even with the cup of destruction & desolation, with the cup of thy sister Samaria.

34 Thou shalt even drinke it, and wring it out to the dregges, and thou shalt breake the sheards thereof, and teare thine owne breastes: for I haue spoken it, saith the Lord God.

35 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Because thou hast forgotten mee, and cast mee behinde thy backe, therefore thou shalt also beare thy wickednesse and thy whoresome.

36 The Lord said mozeouer vnto mee, Sonne of man, wilt thou iudge Aholah, and Aholibah: and wilt thou declare to them their abominations?

37 For they haue played the whores, and blood is in their hands, and with their idols haue they committed adulterie, and haue also caused their sonnes, whom they bare vnto me, to passe by the fire to be their meat.

38 Mozeouer, thus haue they done vnto me: they haue defiled my Sanctuary in the same day, and haue prophaned my Sab-baths.

39 For when they had slaine their children to their idols, they came the same day into my Sanctuary to defile it: and so, thus haue they done in the mids of mine house.

40 And how much moze is it that they sent for men to come from far, vnto whom a messenger was sent, and loe, they came: for whom thou didst wash thy selfe, and paintedst thine eyes, and deckedst thee with ornaments.

41 And latest vpon a costly bed, and a table prepared before it, wherupon thou hast set mine incense, and mine oyle.

42 And a voyce of a multitude being at ease was with her: & with the men to make the company great, were broughe men of Saba from the wilderness, which put bracelets vpon their hands, & beautifull crownes vpon their heads.

43 Then I said vnto her that was old in adulteries, Now shall shee and her fornications come to an end.

44 And they went in vnto her as they go to a common harlot: so went they to Aholah and Aholibah the wicked woman.

45 And the righteous men they shal iudge them, after the manner of harlots, and after the maner of murderers: for they are harlots: and blood is in their hands.

46 Therefore thus sayth the Lord God, I wil bring a multitude vpon them, and wil giue them vnto the tumult, and to the spoile, 47 And the multitude shall stone them with stones, & cut them with their swords: they shall slay their sonnes and their daughters, and burne by their houses with fire.

48 Thus wil I cause wickednes to cease out of the land, that all women may bee taught, not to doe after your wickednesse.

49 And they shall lay your wickednesse vpon you, and yee shall beare the finnes of your idoles, and ye shall know that I am the Lord God.

C H A P. XXIIII.

1 He sheweth the destruction of Ierusalem by a parable of a seething pot. 16 The parable of Ezekiels wife being dead.

A Gaine in the ninth yere, in the tenth moneth, in the tenth day of the moneth came the word of the Lord vnto mee, saying,

2 Sonne of man, write thee the name of the day, even of this same day: for the King of Babel let himselfe against Ierusalem this same day.

3 Therefore speake a parable vnto the rebellious house, and say vnto them, Thus saith the Lord God, Prepare a pot, prepare it, and also putre water into it.

4 Gather the pieces thereof into it, euen every good piece, as the thigh and the shoulder, and fill it with the chiefe bones.

5 Take one of the best sheepe, and butne also the bones vnder it, and make it boyle well, and seethe the bones of it therein.

6 Because the Lord God saith thus, Vnto the bloody cite, euen to the pot, whose skynne is therein, and whose skynne is not gone out, of it: bring it out a piece by piece: let no lot all vpon it.

7 For her blood is in the mids of her: she let it vpon an high rocke, and powdered it not vpon the ground to couer it with dust.

8 That it might cause wrath to arise, and take vengeance: euen I haue set her blood vpon an high rocke that it should not be couered.

9 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Doe to the bloody cite, for I wil make the burning great.

10 Heape on much wood: kindle the fire, consume the flesh, and cast in spice, and let the bones be burnt.

11 Then let it emptie vpon the coales thereof, that the brasse of it may be hot, and may burne, and that the filthinesse of it may be molten in it, and that the skynne of it may be consumed.

12 She hath wearied her selfe with lies, and her great skynne went not out of her: therefore her skynne shall bee consumed with fire.

13 Thou remainest in thy filthines and wickednesse: because I would haue purged thee, and thou wast not purged, thou shalt not be purged from thy filthines, till I haue caused my wrath to light vpon thee.

14 I the Lord haue spoken it: it shall come to passe, and I will doe it: I will not goe backe, neither will I spare, neither will I repent: according to thy wayes, and according to thy workes shall they iudge thee, saith the Lord God.

15 The city hath flattered her selfe in vaine, sending my Prophets to call thee to repentance, but thou wouldst not.

h Signifying, that they should not be destroyed all at once, but by litle and litle.

i Spare none estate or condition. j The city shewd her crueltie to all the world, and was not ashamed thereof, neither yet hid it.

k Meaning, that the city should be utterly destroyed, and that hee would giue the enemies an appetite thereunto.

l Or, become. m I laboured by sending my Prophets to call thee to repentance, but thou wouldst not.

n Meaning, that the afflictions should be so great, that they should cause them to lose their senses and reason.

r Which should teach the maner of worshipping their gods.

f That is, worthy death, read Chap. 16. 38.

t Meaning, all other cities, and countreyes.

o Meaning, his wife in whom he delighted, as ver. 18.

p For in mourning, they went bareheaded and barefooted, and also covered their lips.

q That is, which the neighbours sent to them that mourned.

r Meaning, the morning following.

s By lending the Caldeans to destroy it, as Chap. 7. 21.

t Wherein you boast and delight.

15 Also the word of the Lord came unto me, saying,

16 Sonne of man, behold, I take away from thee the pleasure of thine eyes with a plague: yet shalt thou neither mourne nor weepe, neither shall thy teares runne downe.

17 Cease from fighting: make no mourning for the dead, and binde the type of thine head upon thee, and put on thy shoes upon thy feete, and cover not thy lips, and eat nor the bread of men.

18 So I spake unto the people in the morning, and at even my wife died: and I did in the morning, as I was commaunded.

19 And the people sayd unto me, Wilt thou not tell vs what these things meane toward vs, that thou doest so?

20 Then I answered them, The word of the Lord came unto me, saying, 21 Speake unto y^e house of Israel, Thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I will pollute my Sanctuary, even the pride of your power, the pleasure of your eyes, and your hearts desire, and your sonnes, and your daughters whom ye haue left, shall fall by the sword.

22 And ye shall doe as I haue done: ye shall not cover your lips, neither shall ye eat the bread of men.

23 And your fire shall be upon your heads, and your shoes upon your feete: ye shall not mourne nor weepe, but ye shall pine away for your iniquities, and mourne one toward another.

24 Thus Ezekiel is unto you a signe: according to all that he hath done, ye shall doe: and when this cometh, ye shall know that I am the Lord God.

25 Also, thou sonne of man, shall it not be in the day when I take from them their power, the top of their honour, the pleasure of their eyes, and the desire of their heart, their sonnes and their daughters, 26 That hee that escapeth in that day, shall come unto thee to tell thee that which he hath heard with his eares?

27 In that day shall thy mouth be opened to him which is escaped, and thou shalt speake and be no more dumbe, and thou shalt be a signe unto them, and they shall know that I am the Lord.

CHAP. XXV.

1 The word of the Lord against Ammon, which reioyced at the fall of Ierusalem. 2 Against Moab and Seir, Idumea and the Philistims.

The word of the Lord came againe unto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, set thy face against the Ammonites, and prophesie against them,

3 And say unto the Ammonites, Heare the word of the Lord God, Thus saith the Lord God, because thou saydest, a Pa, ha, against my Sanctuary, when it was polluted, and against the land of Israel, when it was desolate, and against the house of Iudah, when they went into captiuitie,

4 Behold, therefore I will deliuer thee to the men of the East for a possession, and they shall set their palaces in thee, and make their dwellings in thee: they shall eat thy fruit, and they shall drinke thy milke.

5 And I will make Rabbah a dwelling place for camels, and the Ammonites a sheepe coate, and ye shall know that I am the Lord.

6 For thus sayeth the Lord God, Because thou hast clapped the hands, and stamped with the feete, and reioyced in heart with all thy despite against the land of Israel,

7 Behold, therefore I will stretch out mine hand upon thee, and will deliuer thee to be spoiled of the heathen, and I will roote thee out from the people, and I will cause thee to be destroyed out of the countreys, and I wil destroy thee, and thou shalt know that I am the Lord.

8 Thus saith the Lord God, Because that Moab and Seir doe say, Behold, the house of Iudah is like unto all the heathen, 9 Therefore, behold, I will open the side of Moab, even of the cities of his cities, I say, in his frontiers with the pleasant countrey Beth-jeshimoth, Baal-meon, and Kir-iathaim.

10 I will call the men of the East against the Ammonites, and will giue them in possession, so that the Ammonites shall no more be remembered among the nations.

11 And I will execute iudgements upon Moab, and they shall know that I am the Lord.

12 Thus saith the Lord God, Because that Edom hath done euill by taking vengeance upon the house of Iudah, and hath committed great offence, and reuenged himselfe upon them, 13 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, I wil also stretch out mine hand upon Edom, and destroy man and beast out of it, and I wil make it desolate from Teman, and they of Dedan shall fall by the sword.

14 And I will execute my vengeance upon Edom, by the hand of my people Israel, and they shall doe in Edom according to mine anger, and according to mine indignation, and they shall know my vengeance, saith the Lord God.

15 Thus saith the Lord God, Because the Philistims haue executed vengeance, and reuenged themselves with a despitefull heart, to destroy it for the old hatred, 16 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I will stretch out mine hand upon the Philistims, and I will cut off the Cherethims, and destroy the remnant of the sea coast.

17 And I will execute great vengeance upon them with rebukes of mine indignation, and they shall know that I am the Lord, when I shall lay my vengeance upon them.

^f I will make thee so bare that thou shalt haue nothing to euer thee.

^g The gouernours and rulers of other countreyes that dwell by the sea, whereby he signifieth that her destruction should bee so horrible, that all the world should heare thereof, and be afraid.

And in the eleuenth yere, in the first day of the moneth, the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, because that Tyrus hath said against Ierusalem, Aha, the gate of the people is broken: it is turned vnto me: for seeing she is desolate, I shall be replenished,

3 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I come against thee, O Tyrus, and I will bring by many nations against thee, as the Sea mounteth vp with his waues.

4 And they shall destroy the walles of Tyrus, and breake downe her towers: I will also scrape her dust from her, and make her like the top of a rocke.

5 Thou shalt be for the spreading of nets in the mids of the sea: for I haue spoken it, saith the Lord God, and it shall be a spoile to the nations.

6 And her daughters which are in the field, shall be slaine by the sword, and they shall know that I am the Lord.

7 For thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I will bring vpon Tyrus Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel, a king of kings, from the North, with horses and with charrets, and with horsemen, with a multitude and much people.

8 He shall lay with the sword thy daughters in the field, and hee shall make a fort against thee, and cast a mount against thee, and lift vp the buckler against thee.

9 Hee shall set engines of warre before him against thy walles, and with his weapons breake downe thy towers.

10 The dust of his horses shall couer thee, for their multitude: thy walles shall shake at the noise of the horsemen, and of the wheelles, and of the charrets, when hee shall enter into thy gates, as into the entrie of a citie that is broken downe.

11 With the hoores of his horses shall hee tread downe all thy streets: he shall lay thy people by the sword, and the pillars of thy strength shall fall downe to the ground.

12 And they shall robbe thy riches, and spoile thy merchandise, and they shall breake downe thy walles, and destroy thy pleasant houses, and they shall cast thy stones and thy timber and thy dust into the middes of the water.

13 Thus will I cause the sound of thy songs to cease, and the sound of thine harpes shall be no more heard.

14 I will lay thee like the top of a rocke: thou shalt be for a spreading of nets: thou shalt bee built no more, for I the Lord haue spoken it, saith the Lord God.

15 Thus saith the Lord God to Tyrus, Thou shalt not the Isles tremble at the sound of thy fall, and at the cry of the wounded, when they shall be slaine and murdered in the mids of thee?

16 Then all the princes of the sea shall come downe from their thrones: they shall lay away their robes, and put off their broyered garments, and shall clothe themselves with astonishment: they shall sit vpon the ground, and be astonished at every moment, and be amazed at thee.

17 And they shall take by a lamentation for thee, and say to thee, How art thou destroyed, that wast inhabited of the sea men, the renowned citie which was strong in the sea, both thee and her inhabitants, which cause their feare to bee on all that haunt therein!

18 Now shall the Isles be astonished in the day of thy fall: yea, the Isles that are in the sea, shall be troubled at thy departure.

19 For thus saith the Lord God, When I shall make thee a desolate citie, like the cities that are not inhabited, and when I shall bring the deepe vpon thee, and great waters shall couer thee,

20 When I shall cast thee downe with them that descend into the pit, with the people of old time, and shall set thee in the low parts of the earth, like the olde ruines, with them, I say, which goe downe to the pit, so that thou shalt not be inhabited, and I shall shew my glory in the land of the liuing, 21 I will bring thee to nothing, and thou shalt be no more: though thou be sought for, yet shalt thou neuer bee found againe, sayth the Lord God.

4 Thy borders are in the mids of the sea, and thy builders haue made thee of perfect beaultie.

5 They haue made all thy ship boards of firre trees of Shemar: they haue brought cedars from Lebanon, to make maistes for thee.

6 Of the oaks of Bashan haue they made thine oars: the company of the Assyrians haue made thy bankes of yuozie, brought out of the Isles of Chittim.

7 Fine linnen with broydered worke, brought from Egypt, was spread over thee to be thy saile, blue like and purple brought from the Isles of Elisab, was thy couering.

8 The inhabitants of Sidon and Aruad were thy mariners, O Tyrus: thy wise men that were in thee, they were thy pilots.

11 The men of Arvad with thine armie were vpon thy walles round about, and the Gammadians were in thy towers: they hanged their shields vpon thy walles round about: they haue made thy beauty perfit.

12 They of Tarshish were thy merchants for the multitude of all riches, for silver, yron, tinne, and leade, which they brought to thy faires.

13 They of Iauan, Tubal and Meshech were thy merchants, concerning the lines of men, and they brought vessels of brasse for thy merchandise.

14 They of the house of Togarmah brought to thy faires horses, and horsemen, and mules.

15 The men of Dedan were thy merchants: and the merchandise of many ples were in thine hands: they brought thee for a present, honyes, teeth, and peacocks.

16 They of Aram were thy merchants for the multitude of thy wares: they occupied in thy faires with hemerands, purple, and brodered worke, and fine linnen, and corall, and pearle.

18 They of Damascus were thy merchants in the multitude of thy wares, for the multitude of all riches, as in the wine of Helbon, and white wooll.

19 They of Dan also and of Iauan, going to and fro, occupied in thy faires: yron worke, cassia and calamus were among thy merchandise.

20 They of Dedan were thy merchants in precious clothes for the charets.

21 They of Arabia, and all the princes of Redar occupied with thee in lambes, and rammes, and goats: in these were they thy merchants.

22 The merchants of Sheba, and Raamah were thy merchants: they occupied in thy faires with the chiefe of all spices, and with all precious stones and gold.

23 They of Hiram and Sanneh, and Eden, the merchants of Sheba, Albur, and Chilmad were thy merchants.

24 These were thy merchants in all sorts of things, in raiment of blue silke, and of brodered worke, and in coffers for the rich apparell, which were bound with cordes: chaines also were among thy merchandise.

25 The ships of Tarshish were thy chiefe in thy merchandise, and thou wast replenished, and made very glorious in the mids of the sea.

26 Thy robbers haue brought thee into great waters: the East winde hath broken thee in the mids of the Sea.

27 Thy riches and thy faires, thy merchandise, thy mariners and pilots, thy calkers, the occupiers of thy merchandise, and all thy men of warre that are in thee, and all thy multitude which is in the mids of thee, shall fall in the mids of the sea, in the day of thy ruine.

28 The suburbs shall shake at the sound of the cry of thy pilots.

26 And all that handle the oare, the mariners and all the pilots of the sea shall come downe from their ships, and shall stand vpon the land.

30 And shall cause their voyce to be heard against thee, and shall cry bitterly, and shall cast dust vpon their heads, & wallow themselves in the ashes.

31 They shall plucke off their haire for thee, and gird them with a sackcloth, and they shall weepe for thee, with sorrow of heart and bitter mourning.

32 And in their mourning they shall take by a lamentation for thee, saying, What citie is like Tyru, so destroyed in the middes of the sea!

33 When thy wares went forth of the seas, thou filledst many people, and thou diddest enrich the kings of the earth with the multitude of thy riches and of thy merchandise.

34 When thou shalt be broken by the seas in the depths of the waters, thy merchandise, and all thy multitude which was in the mids of thee, shall fall.

35 All the inhabitants of the Ples shall be astonishd at thee, and all their kings shall be sore afraid and troubled in their countenance.

36 The merchants among the people shall hiss at thee: thou shalt bee a terror, and neuer shalt be any more.

CHAP. XXVIII.

1 The word of God against the king of Tyru for his pride. 21 The word of the Lord against Zidon. 25 The Lord promisseth that he will gather together the children of Israel.

The word of the Lord came againe vnto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, say vnto the prince of Tyru, Thus saith the Lord God, Because thine heart is exalted, and thou hast sayd, I am a god, I sit in the seate of God in the mids of the sea, yet thou art but a man and not God, and I though thou diddest thinke in thine heart that thou wast equall with God,

3 Behold, thou art wiser then Daniel, there is no secret, that they can hide from thee.

4 With thy wisdom and thine understanding thou hast gotten thee riches, and hast gotten golde and silver into thy treasures.

5 By thy great wisdom, and by thine occupying, hast thou increased thy riches, and thine heart is lifted up because of thy riches.

6 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Because thou diddest thinke in thine heart, that thou wast equall with God,

7 Behold, therefore I will bring strangers vpon thee, even the terrible nations: and they shall draw their swordes against against the beauty of thy wisdom, and they shall defile thy brightness.

8 They shall cast thee downe to the pit, and thou shalt die the death of them, that are slaine in the midst of the sea.

9 Wilt thou say then before him that slayeth thee, I am a god? but thou shalt bee a man and no god, in the hands of him that slayeth thee.

10 Thou shalt die the death of the vncircumcised by the hands of strangers: for I haue spoken it, saith the Lord God.

11 Moreover, the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

12 Sonne of man, take vp a lamentation vpon the king of Tyrus, and say vnto him, Thus sayth the Lord God, Thou sealest vp the summe, and art full of wisdom and perfit in beautie, 13 Thou hast bene in Eden the garden of God: euery precious stone was in thy garment, the ruby, the topaze, and the diamond, the chrysolite, the onyx and the saphire, the saphir, the emeraude, and the carbuncle, and gold: the workmanship of thy rimbels, and of thy pipes was prepared in thee in the day that thou wast created.

14 Thou art the anointed Cherub, that couereth, & I haue set thee in honour: thou wast vpon the holy mountaine of God: thou hast walked in the mids of the stones of fire.

15 Thou wast perfect in thy wayes from the day that thou wast created, till iniquity was found in thee.

16 By the multitude of thy merchandise, they haue filled the mids of thee with cruelty, and thou hast sinned: Therefore I will cast thee as profane out of the mountaine of God, and I will destroy thee, O conering Cherub, from the mids of the stones of fire, 17 Thine heart was lifted vp, because of thy beauty, and thou hast corrupted thy wisdom by reason of thy brightness: I will cast thee to the ground: I will lay thee before kings, that they may behold thee.

18 Thou hast defiled thy sanctification by the multitude of thine iniquities, and by the iniquitie of thy merchandise: therefore will I bring forth a fire from the mids of thee, which shall deuoure thee: and I will bring thee to ashes vpon the earth, in the sight of all them that behold thee.

19 All they that know thee among the people, shall be astonished at thee: thou shalt be a terror, and neuer shalt thou be any more.

20 Again, the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

21 Sonne of man, set thy face against Zidon, and prophesie against it.

22 And say, Thus sayth the Lord God, Behold, I come against thee, O Zidon, and I will be glorified in the mids of thee: and they shall know that I am the Lord, when I shall haue executed iudgements in her, and shall be sanctified in her.

23 For I will send into her pestilence, and blood into her streets, and the slaine shall fall in the mids of her: the enimie shall come against her with the sword on euery side, and they shall know that I am the Lord.

24 And they shall be no more a pricking thorne vnto the house of Israel, nor any grievous thorne of all that are round about them, and despised them, and they shall know that I am the Lord God.

25 Thus saith the Lord God, When I shall haue gathered the house of Israel from the people where they are scattered, and shall be sanctified in them in the sight of the heathen, then shall they dwell in the land, that I haue giuen to my seruant Iacob.

26 And they shall dwell safely therein, and shall build houses, and plant vineyards: yea, they shall dwell safely, when I haue executed iudgements vpon all round about them that despise them, and they shall know that I am the Lord their God.

CHAP. XXIX,

Hee prophesieth against Pharaoh and Egypt. 13 The Lord promisseth that he will restore Egypt after fouretye yeeres. 18 Egypt is the reward of King Nebuchad-nezzar for the labour which hee tooke against Tyrus.

In the tenth yeere, and in the tenth moneth, in the twelfth day of the moneth, the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, set thy face against Pharaoh the king of Egypt, and prophesie against him, and against all Egypt.

3 Speake, and say, Thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I come against thee, Pharaoh king of Egypt, the great dragon, that lieth in the mids of his riuers, which hath said, The riuer is mine, and I haue made it for my selfe.

4 But I will put hookes in thy scales, and I will cause the fish of thy riuers to sticke vnto thy scales, and I will draw thee out of the mids of thy riuers, and all the fish of thy riuers shall sticke vnto thy scales.

5 And I will leaue thee in the wilderness, both thee and all the fish of thy riuers: thou shalt fall vpon the open field: thou shalt not be brought together, nor gathered: for I haue giuen thee for meate to the beasts of the field, and to the fowles of the heauen,

6 And all the inhabitants of Egypt shall know that I am the Lord, because they haue bene a staffe of reede to the house of Israel.

7 When they tooke holde of thee with their hand, thou diddest breake, and rent all their shoulder: and when they leaned vpon thee, thou brakest & madest all their loynes to stand vpright.

8 Therefore thus sayeth the Lord God, Behold, I will bring a sword vpon thee, and destroy man and beast out of thee, 9 And the land of Egypt shall bee desolate, and waste, and they shall know that I am the Lord: because he hath said, The riuer is mine, and I haue made it.

10 Behold, therefore I come vpon thee, and vpon thy riuers, and I will make the land of Egypt utterly waste and desolate from 12 And I will make the land of Egypt desolate in the middes of the countreys that are desolate, and her cities shall be desolate among the cities that are desolate, for fourty yeeres: and I will scatter the Egyptians among the nations, and will disperse them thorow the countreys.

13 Yet thus saith the Lord God, *At the end of fourty yeeres will I gather the Egyptians from the people, where they were scattered.

14 And I will bring againe the captiuitie of Egypt, and will cause them to returne into the land of Pathros, into the land of their habitation, and they shall be there a small kingdome.

15 It shall be the smallest of the kingdoms, neither shall it exalt it selfe any more aboue the nations: for I will diminish them, that they shall no more rule the nations.

16 And it shall be no more the confidence of the house of Israel, to bring their iniquitie to remembrance by looking after them, so shall they know, that I am the Lord God.

17 In the seuen and twentieth yeere also in the first moneth, and in the first day of the moneth, came the word of the Lord vnto me, saying,

18 Sonne of man, Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel caused his arme to serue a great seruice against Tyus: euery head was made balde, and euery shoulder was made bare: yet had hee no wages, nor his arme for Tyus: for the seruice that hee serued against it.

19 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I will giue the land of Egypt vnto Nebuchad-nezzar the king of Babel, and he shall take her multitude, & spoile her spoile, and take her pray, and it shall be the wages of his arme.

20 I haue giuen him the land of Egypt for his labour, that hee serued against it, because they wrought for mee, saith the Lord God.

21 In that day will I cause the home of the house of Israel to grow, and I will giue thee an open mouth in the middes of them, and they shall know that I am the Lord.

CHAP. XXX.

The destruction of Egypt, and the cities thereof.

The word of the Lord came againe vnto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, prophesie, & say, Thus saith the Lord God, Woulde, and cry, Woe be vnto this day.

3 For the day is neere, and the day of the Lord is at hand, a cloudy day, and it shall be the time of the heathen.

4 And the sword shall come vpon Egypt, and feare shall bee in Ethiopia, when the slaine shall fall in Egypt, when they shall take away her multitude, & when her foundations shall be broken downe.

5 Ethiopia, and Phur, and Lud, and all the common people, and Cush, and the men of the land, that is in league, shall fall with them by the sword.

6 Thus saith the Lord, They also that maintaine Egypt, shall fall, and the pride of her power shall come downe: from the tower of Beueneh shall they fall by the sword, saith the Lord God.

7 And they shall be desolate in the middes of the countreys that are desolate, and her cities shall bee in the middes of the cities that are wasted.

8 And they shall know that I am the Lord, when I haue set a fire in Egypt, and when all her helpers shall be destroyed.

9 In that day shall there messengers goe forth from me in ships, to make the careless Moyses afraid, and feare shall come vpon them as in the day of Egypt: for loe, it cometh.

10 Thus saith the Lord God, I will also make the multitude of Egypt to cease by the hand of Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel.

11 For hee and his people with him, enen the terrible nations, shall bee brought to destroy the land: and they shall draw their swordes against Egypt, and fill the land with the slaine.

12 And I will make the riuers dry, and sell the land into the handes of the wicked, and I will make the land waste, and all that therein is, by the handes of strangers: I the Lord haue spoken it.

13 Thus saith the Lord God, I will also destroy the idoles, & I will cause their idoles to cease out of Egypt, and there shall bee no more a Prince of the land of Egypt, and I will send a feare in the land of Egypt.

14 And I will make Pathros desolate, and will set fire in Soan, and I will execute iudgement in So.

15 And I will powre my wrath vpon Sin, which is the strength of Egypt: and I will destroy the multitude of Sin.

16 And will set fire in Egypt: Sin shall haue great sorrow, and So shall be destroyed, and Pathros shall haue sorowes dayly.

17 The pong men of Auen, & of Whi- beth shall fall by the sword, and these cities shall goe into captiuitie.

18 At Eaphnes the day shall re- straine his light, when I shall breake there the barres of Egypt: and when the pompe of her power shall cease in her, the cloud shall couer her, and her daughters shall goe into captiuitie.

19 Thus will I execute iudgements in Egypt, and they shall know, that I am the Lord.

20 And in the eleuenth yeere, in the first moneth, and in the seuenth day of the moneth, the word of the Lord came vnto mee, saying, 21 Sonne of man, I haue broken the arme of Pharaoh king of Egypt: and loe, it shall not bee bound vp to be healed, neither shall they put a roue to binde it, and so make it strong to hold the sword.

|| Or, thou wast lift up.
 e That is, of Nebuchad-nezzar, who afterward was the monarch and onely ruler of the world.

And in the eleuenth yere, in the third moneth, & in the first day of the moneth, the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, speake vnto Pharaoh King of Egypt, & to his multitude, Whom art thou like in thy greatnesse?

3 Behold, Asshur was like a cedar in Lebanon with faire branches, and with thicke shadowing boughes, and shot vp very high, and his top was among the thicke boughes.

4 The waters nourished him, and the deepe exalted him on high, with her riuers running round about his plants, and sent out her little riuers vnto all the trees of the field.

5 Therefore his height was exalted aboue all the trees of the field, and his boughs were multiplied, and his branches were long, because of the multitude of the waters, which the deepe sent out.

6 All the fowles of the heauen made their nests in his boughs, and vnder his branches did all the beastes of the fildes bring forth their yong, and vnder his shadow dwelt all mighty nations.

7 Thus was hee faire in his greatnesse, and in the length of his branches: for his root was neere great waters.

8 The cedars in the garden of God could not hide him: no firre tree was like his branches, and the chestnut trees were not like his boughs: all the trees in the garden of God were not like vnto him in his beautie.

9 I made him faire by the multitude of his branches: so that all the trees of Eden that were in the garden of God, envied him.

10 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Because he is lift vp on high, and hath shot vp his top among the thicke boughes, and his heart is lift up in his height,

11 I haue therefore deliuered him into the hands of the mightiest among the beastes: he shall handle him, for I haue cast him away for his wickednesse.

12 And the strangers haue destroyed him euen the terrible nations, and they haue left him vpon the mountaines, and in all the valleyes his branches are fallen, and his boughes are broken by all the riuers of the land: and all the people of the earth are departed from his shadow, and haue forsaken him.

13 Upon his raine shall all the fowles of the heauen remaine, and all the beastes of the field shalbe vpon his branches.

14 So that none of all the trees by the waters shall be exalted by their height, neither shall shoot vp their top among the thicke boughes, neither shall their leaues stand vp in their height, which drinke so much water: for they are all deliuered vnto death in the nether parts of the earth in the mids of the children of men, among them that go downe to the pit.

15 Thus saith the Lord God, In the day when he went downe to hell, I caused them to mourne, and I covered the deep for him, and I did restraine the floods thereof, and the great waters were stayed: I caused Lebanon to mourne for him, and at the trees of the field fainted.

16 I made the nations to shake at the sound of his fall, when I cast him downe to hel, with them that descend into the pit, and all the excellent trees of Eden, and the best of Lebanon: euen all that are nourished with waters, shall bee comforted in the nether parts of the earth.

17 They also went downe to hell with him vnto them that be slaine with the sword and his arme, and they that dwell vnder his shadow in the mids of the heathen.

18 To whom art thou thus like in glory and in greatnesse among the trees of Eden? yet thou shalt be cast downe with the trees of Eden vnto the nether parts of the earth, thou shalt sleepe in the mids of the vncircumcised, with them that be slaine by the sword: this is Pharaoh and all his multitude, saith the Lord God.

2 The Prophet is commanded to bewaile Pharaoh King of Egypt. 12 He prophesieth that destruction shall come vnto Egypt through the King of Babylon.

And in the twelfth yere in the twelfth moneth, & in the first day of the moneth, the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, take vp a lamentation for Pharaoh King of Egypt, and say vnto him, Thou art like a lyon of the nations, and art as a dragon in the Sea: thou castest out thy riuers, and troublest the waters with thy feet, and stampedst in their riuers.

3 Thus saith the Lord God, I will therefore spread my net over thee with a great multitude of people, and they shall make thee come vp into my net.

4 Then will I leaue thee vpon the land, and I will cast thee vpon the open fildes, and I will cause all the fowles of the heauen to remaine vpon thee, and I will fill sword of the King of Babel shall come vpon thee.

12 By the swords of the mighty will I cause thy multitude to fall: they all shall be terrible nations, and they shall destroy the pompe of Egypt, and all the multitude thereof shall be consumed.

13 I wil destroy also all the beasts thereof from the great water sides, neither shall the foote of man trouble them any more, nor the howes of beast trouble them.

14 Then will I make their waters deepe, and cause their riuers to runne like oyle, saith the Lord God.

15 When I shall make the land of Egypt desolate, and the countrey with all that is therein, shall bee layde waste: when I shall smite all them which dwell therein, then shall they know that I am the Lord.

16 This is the mourning wherewith they shall lament her: the daughters of the nations shall lament her: they shall lament for Egypt, and for all her multitude, saith the Lord God.

17 In the twelfth yere, also in the fifteenth day of the moneth, came the word of the Lord vnto me, saying,

18 Sonne of man, lament for the multitude of Egypt, and cast them downe, even them and the daughters of the mighty nations vnto the nether parts of the earth, with them that goe downe into the pit.

19 Whom dost thou passe in beauty? go downe and sleepe with the vncircumcised.

20 They shall fall in the mids of them that are slaine by the sword: there is deliue-red to the sword: draw her downe, and all her multitude.

21 The most mighty and strong shall speake to him out of the mids of hell with them that helpe her: they are gone downe and sleepe with the vncircumcised that bee slaine by the sword.

22 Asbur is there and all his company:

their graues are about him: all they are slaine and fallen by the sword.

23 Whose graues are made in the side of the pit, and his multitude are round about his graue: all they are slaine and fallen by the sword, which caused feare to be in the land of the liuing.

24 There is Elam and all his multitude round about his graue: all they are slaine and fallen by the sword, which are gone downe with the vncircumcised into the nether parts of the earth, which caused themselues to be feared in the land of the liuing, yet haue they borne their shame with them that are gone downe to the pit.

25 They haue made his bed in the mids of the slaine with all his multitude: their graues are round about him: all these vncircumcised are slaine by the sword: though they haue caused their feare in the land of the liuing, yet haue they borne their shame with them that goe downe to the pit: they are laide in the mids of them that be slaine.

26 There is Meshech, Tubal, and all their multitude: their graues are round about them: all these vncircumcised were slaine by the sword, though they caused their feare to be in the land of the liuing.

27 And they shall not lie with the balliant of the vncircumcised, that are fallen, which are gone downe to the graue, with their weapons of warre, and haue laide their swordes vnder their heads, but their iniquitie shall be vpon their bones: because they were the feare of the mighty in the land of the liuing.

28 Yea, thou shalt be broken in the mids of the vncircumcised, and lie with them that are slaine by the sword.

29 There is Edom, his kings, and all his princes, which with their strength are laide by them that were slaine by the sword: they shall sleepe with the vncircumcised, and with them that goe downe to the pit.

30 There be all the princes of the North, with all the Sidonians which are gone downe with the slaine, with their feare: they are ashamed of their strength, and the vncircumcised sleepe with them that be slaine by the sword, and beare their shame with them that goe downe to the pit.

31 Pharaoh shall see them, and he shall be comforted ouer all his multitude: Pharaoh and all his armie shall be slaine by the sword, saith the Lord God.

32 For I haue caused my feare to be in the land of the liuing: and he shall be laide in the mids of the vncircumcised with them that are slaine by the sword, euen Pharaoh and all his multitude, saith the Lord God.

I bring the sword vpon a land, if the people of the land take a man from among them, and make him their watchman.

2 If when he seeth the sword come vpon the land, hee blow the trumpet, and warne the people,

4 Then he that heareth the sound of the trumpet, and will not be warned, if the sword come, and take him away, his blood shall bee vpon his owne head.

5 For he heard the sound of the trumpet, and would not be admonished: therefore his blood shall be vpon him: but he that receiveth warning, shall saue his life.

6 But if the watchman see the sword come, and blow not the trumpet, and the people bee not warned: if the sword come, and take any person from among them, hee is taken away for his iniquitie, but his blood will I require at the watchmans hand.

7 So thou, O some of man, I haue made thee a watchman vnto the house of Israel: therefore thou shalt heare the word at my mouth, and admonish them from me.

8 When I shall say vnto the wicked, O wicked man, thou shalt die the death, if thou doest not speake, and admonish the wicked of his way, that wicked man shall die for his iniquitie: but his blood will I require at thine hand.

9 Nevertheless, if thou warne the wicked of his way, to turne from it, if he doe not turne from his way, hee shall die for his in-iquitie: but thou hast delivered thy soule.

10 Therefore, O thou some of man, speake vnto the house of Israel, Thus ye speake and say, If our transgressions & our sinnes be vpon vs, and wee are condemned because of them, how should we then liue?

11 Say vnto them, As I liue, saith the Lord God, I desire not the death of the wicked, but that the wicked turne from his way and liue: turne you, turne you from your euill wayes, for why will ye die, O ye house of Israel?

12 Therefore thou some of man, say vnto the children of thy people, The righteous-nesse of the righteous shall not deliuer him in the day of his transgression, nor the wickednesse of the wicked shall cause him to fall therein, in the day that he retuernes from his wickednesse, neither shall the righteous liue for his righteousness in the day that hee sinne.

13 When I shall say vnto the righteous, that he shall surely liue, if he trust to his own righteousnesse, and commit iniquitie, all his righteousnesse shall bee no more remembered, but for his iniquitie that he hath committed,
he shall die for the same.

14 Again, when I shall say vnto the wicked, Thou shalt die the death: if hee turne from his sinne, and do that which is lawfull and right,

15 To wit, if the wicked restore the pledge, and giue againe that he had robbed, & walke in the statutes of life, without committing iniquitie, he shall surely liue, and not die.

16 None of his sinnes that hee hath committed, shall be mentioned vnto him, because he hath done that which is lawfull & right, he shall surely liue.

17 Yet the children of thy people say, The way of the Lord is not equall: but their owne way is vnequall.

18 When the righteous turneth from his righteousnesse, and committeth iniquitie, he shall euen die thereby.

19 But if the wicked returne from his wickednesse, and doe that which is lawfull and right, he shall liue thereby.

20 Yet ye say, The way of the Lord is not equall. O ye house of Israel, I will iudge you euery one after his wayes.

21 Also in the twelfth yeere of our captivity, in the tenth moneth, and in the fift day of the moneth, one that had escaped out of Jerusalem, came vnto me, and said, The city is smitten.

22 Now the hand of the Lord had been vpon me in the euening afore he that had escaped, came, and had opened my mouth, untill he came to me in the morning: and when hee had opened my mouth, I was no more dumbe.

23 Againe the word of the Lord came vnto me, and said,

24 Some of man, these that dwell in the desolate places of the land of Israel, talke and say, Abraham was but one, and hee possessed the land: but we are many, therefore the land shall be giuen vs in possession,

25 Wherefore say vnto them, Thus saith the Lord God, Doe care with the blood, and lift up your eyes toward your idols, and shed blood: should ye then possesse the land?

26 Ye leane vpon your swordes: ye worke abomination, and ye defile euery one his neighbours wife: should ye then possesse the land?

27 Say thus vnto them, Thus saith the Lord God, As I liue, so surely they that are in the desolate places, shall fall by the sword:
and him that is in the open field, will I giue vnto the beastes to be deuoured: and they that be in the forts and in the caues, shall die of the pestilence.

28 For I will lay the land desolate and waste, and the pompe of her strength shall cease, and the mountaines of Israel shall be desolate, and none shall passe thorow.

29 Then shall they know that I am the Lord, when I haue laid the land desolate and waste because of all their abominations that they haue committed.

30 Also thou some of man, the children of thy people that talke of thee by the walles and in the doores of houses, and speake one to another, euery one to his brother, saying, Come, I pray you, and heare what is the word that cometh from the Lord.

31 For they come vnto thee, as the people used to come: and my people sit before thee, and heare thy wordes, but they will not doe them: for with their mouths they make vowes, and their heart goeth after their couising.

32 And for thou art vnto them, as a iesting song of one that hath a pleasant voice,

CHAP. XXXIII.

2 Against the shepherds that despised the flocke of Christ, and seeke their owne gaine. 7 The Lord saith that he will visit his dispersed flocke, and gather them together. 23 He promisseth the true Shepherd Christ, and with him peace.

And the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, prophesie against the shepherds of Israel, prophesie and say vnto them, Thus saith the Lord God vnto the shepherds, *Woe be vnto the shepherds of Israel, that feed themselves: should not the shepherds feed the flocks?

3 Ye eat the fat, and ye clothe you with the wool: ye kill them that are fed, but ye feed not the sheepe.

4 The weak have ye not strengthened: the sicke have ye not healed, neither have ye bound up the broken, nor brought again that which was driven away, neither have ye sought that which was lost, but with cruelty, and with rigour have ye ruled them.

5 And they were scattered without a shepherd: and when they were dispersed, they were denoured of all the beasts of the field.

6 My sheepe wandered thowow all the mountaynes, and vpon euery high hill: yea my flock was scattered thowow all the earth, and none did seeke or search after them.

7 Therefore pee shepherds, heare the word of the Lord.

8 As I live, saith the Lord God, surely because my flocke was spoiled, and my sheepe were denoured of all the beasts of the field, hauing no shepherd, neither did my shepherds seeke my sheepe, but the shepherds fed themselves, and fed not my sheepe, 9 Therefore heare pee the word of the Lord, O ye shepherds.

10 Thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I come against the shepherds, and will requite my sheepe at their handes, and cause them to cease from feeding the sheepe: neither shall the shepherds feede themselves any more: for I will deliuer my sheepe from their mouthes, and they shall no more deuoure them.

11 For thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I will search my sheepe, and seeke them out.

12 As a shepherd searcheth out his flock, when he hath bene among his sheepe that are scattered, so will I seeke out my sheepe, and will deliuer them out of all places, where they haue bene scattered in the cloudy and darke day.

13 And I will bring them out from the people, and gather them from the countries, and will bring them to their owne land, and feede them vpon the mountaynes of Israel, by the riuers, and in all the inhabited places of the country.

14 I will feede them in a good pasture, and vpon the hie mountaynes of Israel shall their folde be: there shall they lie in a good folde, and in fat pasture shall they feed vpon the mountaynes of Israel.

15 I will feed my sheepe, and bring them to their rest, saith the Lord God.

16 I will seeke that which was lost, and bring againe that which was driven away, and will binde up that which was broken, and will strengthen the weak, but I will destroy the fat and the strong, and I will feed them with iudgement.

17 Also you my sheepe, Thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I iudge betweene sheepe and sheepe, betweene the rammes and the goates.

18 Seemeth it a small thing vnto you to haue eaten of the good pasture, but ye must tread downe with your feete the residue of your pasture? & to haue drunken of the deepe waters, but ye must trouble the residue with your feet?

19 And my sheepe ate that which pee haue troden with your feet, and drinke that which pee haue troubled with your feet.

20 Therefore thus saith the Lord God vnto them, Behold, I will iudge betweene the fat sheepe and the leane sheepe.

21 Because pee haue thrust with side and with shoulder, and pushed all the weak with your hornes, till pee haue scattered them abroad, 22 Therefore will I helpe my sheepe, and they shall no more bee spoiled, and I will iudge betweene sheepe and sheepe.

23 And I will set vp a shepherd ouer them, and he shall feed them, even my seruant David, he shall feed them, and hee shall be their shepherd.

24 And I the Lord will be their God, and my seruant David shall be the prince among them, I the Lord haue spoken it.

25 And I will make with them a covenant of peace, and will cause the euill beasts to cease out of the land: and they shall dwell safely in the wilderness, and sleepe in the woods.

26 And I will set them, as a blessing, euen round about my mountaine: and I will cause raine to come downe in due season, and there shall be raine of blessing.

27 And the tree of the felde shall yeeld her fruit, and the earth shall giue her fruit, and they shall bee safe in their land, and shall know that I am the Lord, when I haue broken the yokes of their yoke, and deliuered them out of the handes of those that serued themselves of them.

28 And they shall no more bee spoiled of the heathen, neither shall the beasts of the land deuoure them, but they shall dwell safely, and none shall make them afraid.

29 And I will raise vp for them a plant of renowne, and they shall be no more consumed with hunger in the land, neither beare the reproch of the heathen any more.

30 Thus shall they understand, that I the Lord their God am with them, and that they, even the house of Israel, are my people, saith the Lord God.

31 And ye my sheepe, the sheepe of my pasture are men, and I am your God, saith the Lord God.

g Meaning, such as lift vp themselves about their brethren, and thinke they haue no need to be gouerned by me.

h That is, by putting difference betweene the good and the bad, and so giue to either as they deserue.

i By good pasture and deepe waters is meant the pure word of God, and the administration of Iustice, which they did not distribute to the poore till they had corrupted it.

k Meaning Christ, of whom Dauid was a figure, lera. 30. 9. hofe. 3. 5.

l This declareth that vnder Christ the flocke should be truly deliuered from sinne, and hell, and so be safely preserved in the Church where they should neuer perishe. m The fruits of Gods graces shall appeare in great abundance in his Church.

CHAP. XXXV.

^a The destruction that shall come on mount Seir, because they troubled the people of the Lord.

M recover the word of the Lord came unto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, set thy face against mount Seir, and prophesie against it,

3 And say unto it, Thus saith the Lord God, Beholde, I come against thee, and I will stretch out mine hand against thee, and I will make thee desolate and waste.

4 I will lay thy cities waste, and thou shalt be desolate, and thou shalt know that I am the Lord.

5 Because thou hast had a perpetual hatred, and hast put the children of Israel to flight by the force of the sword in the time of their calamitie, when their iniquitie had an ende,

^b When by their punishment I called them from their iniquitie.

6 Therefore as I live, saith the Lord God, I will prepare thee unto blood, and blood shall pursue thee: except thou hate blood, men blood shall pursue thee.

^c Except thou repent thy former crueltye.

7 Thus will I make mount Seir desolate and waste, and cut off from it him that passeth out, and him that returneth.

8 And I will fill his mountaines with his statue men: in thine hills, and in thy valleys, and in all thy rivers shall they fall, that are statue with the sword.

^d To wit, to their former estate.

9 I will make thee perpetuall desolations, and thy cities shall not returne, and ye shall know that I am the Lord.

^e Meaning, Israel and Iudah.

10 Because thou hast said, These two nations, and these two countreyes shall be mine, and wee will possesse them (saying the Lord was there.)

^f And so by fighting against Gods people, they should goe about to put him out of his owne possession.

11 Therefore as I live, saith the Lord God, I will do euen according to thy wrath, and according to thine indignation which thou hast used in thine hatred against them: and I will make my selfe known among them when I haue lodged thee.

^g As thou hast done cruelly, so shalt thou be cruelly handled.

12 And thou shalt know, that I the Lord haue heard all thy blasphemies which thou hast spoken against the mountaines of Israel, saying, They be waste, they are giuen vs to be deuoured.

^h Shewing, that when God punisheth the enemies, the godly ought to consider that hee hath a care ouer them, 13 Thus with your mouches ye haue boasted against mee, and haue multiplied your words against me: I haue heard them.

ⁱ As thou hast done cruelly, so shalt thou be cruelly handled.

14 Thus saith the Lord God, So shall all the world reioyce, when I shall make thee desolate.

^j As thou didst reioyce at the inheritance of the house of Israel, because it was desolate, so will I doe unto thee: thou shalt be desolate, O mount Seir, and all Idumea wholly; and they shall know that I am the Lord.

15 As thou didst reioyce at the inheritance of the house of Israel, because it was desolate, so will I doe unto thee: thou shalt be desolate, O mount Seir, and all Idumea wholly; and they shall know that I am the Lord.

Chap. 6. 2.

A s thou sonne of man, prophesie unto the mountaines of Israel, and say, Pee mountaines of Israel; heare the word of the Lord.

2 Thus saith the Lord God, Because the enemy hath said against you, Aha, euen the high places of the world are ours in possession,

^a That is, the Idumean.

3 Therefore prophesie & say, Thus saith the Lord God, Because that they haue made you desolate, and swallowed you by on euery side, that ye might bee a possession unto the residue of the heathen, and ye are come unto the lips and tongues of men, and unto the reproch of the people,

^b That is, Ierusalem, which for Gods promises was the chiefest of all the world.

4 Therefore ye mountaines of Israel, heare the word of the Lord God, Thus saith the Lord God to the mountaines and to the hills, to the rivers, and to the valleys, and to the waste and desolate places, and to the cities that are forsaken: which are spoiled and had in derision of the residue of the heathen that are round about.

^c Ye are made a matter of talke and derision to all the world.

5 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Surely in the fire of mine indignation haue I spoken against the residue of the heathen, and against all Idumea which haue taken my land for their possession, with the top of all their heart, and with despitefull minds to cast it out for a prey.

^d They appointed with themselves to haue it, and therefore came with Nebuchadnezzar against Ierusalem for this purpose, because you haue bene a laughing stocke vnto them.

6 Prophesie therefore vpon the land of Israel, and say vnto the mountaines, and to the hills, to the rivers, and to the valleys, Thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I haue spoken in mine indignation, & in my wrath, because ye haue suffered the shame of the heathen, ^e Because you haue bene a laughing stocke vnto them.

7 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, I haue lifted up mine hand, surely the heathen that are about you, shall beate their thame.

^f By making a solemn oath, see Chap. 20.

8 But you, O mountaines of Israel, ye shall sowe forth your branches, and bring forth your fruit to my people of Israel: for they are ready to come.

^g God declare his mercies and goodness toward his Church, who still preserveth his, euen when he destroyeth his enemies.

9 For behold, I come vnto you, and I will turne vnto you, and ye shall be filled and sown.

10 And I will multiply the men vpon you, euen all the house of Israel wholly, and the cities shall be inhabited, and the desolate places shall be builded.

11 And I will multiply vpon you man and beast, and they shall increase and bring forth, and I will cause you to dwell after your olde estate, and I will bestow benefits vpon you more then at the first, and ye shall know that I am the Lord.

^h Which was accomplished vnder Christ, to whom all these temporall deliuerances did direct them.

12 Yea, I will cause men to walke vpon you, euen my people Israel, and they shall possesse you, and ye shall be their inheritance, and ye shall no more henceforth deprime them of men.

ⁱ That is, vpon the mountaines of Ierusalem.

13 Thus saith the Lord God, Because they say vnto you, Thou land denourest vp men; and hast bene a waste of thy people, ^j Or, these.

14 Therefore thou shalt denoure men no more, neither waste thy people henceforth, saith the Lord God.

^k This the enemies imputed as the reproch of the land, which God did for the finnes of the people, according to his iudgements.

15 Neither will I cause men to beate in thee the shame of the heathen any more, neither shalt thou beate the reproch of the people any more, neither shalt thou cause thy folk to fall any more, saith the Lord God.

16 Chap.

16 Moreover, the word of the Lord came unto me, saying,

17 Sonne of man, when the house of Israel dwelt in their owne land, they defiled it by their owne wayes, and by their deeds: their way was before me as the uncleanness of the menstruous.

18 Therefore I poured my wrath vpon them, for the blood that they had shed in the land, and for their idoles, wherewith they had polluted it.

19 And I scattered them among the heathen, and they were dispersed thorow the countreys: for according to their wayes, and according to their deedes, I iudged them.

20 And when they entred vnto the heathen, whither they went, they polluted mine holy Name, when they said of them, These are the people of the Lord, and are gone out of his land.

21 But I favoured mine holy Name, which the house of Israel had polluted among the heathen, whither they went.

22 Therefore say vnto the house of Israel, Thus saith the Lord God, I doe not this for your sakes, O house of Israel, but for mine holy Names sake, which ye polluted among the heathen, whither ye went.

23 And I will sanctifie my great Name, which was polluted among the heathen, among whom you haue polluted it, and the heathen shall know that I am the Lord, saith the Lord God, when I shall be sanctified in you before their eyes.

24 For I will take you from among the heathen, and gather you out of all countreys, and will bring you into your owne land.

25 Then will I purifie cleane water vpon you, and ye shall be cleane: yea, from all your filthinesse, and from all your idoles will I cleanse you.

26 A new heart also will I giue you, and a new spirit will I put within you, and I will take away the stonie heart out of your body, and I will giue you an heart of flesh.

27 And I will put my spirit within you, and cause you to walke in my statutes, and ye shall keep my iudgements, and doe them.

28 And ye shall dwell in the land that I gaue to your fathers, and ye shall be my people, and I will be your God.

29 I will also deliuer you from all your filthinesse, and I will call for corne, and will increase it, and lay no famine vpon you.

30 For I will multiply the fruite of the trees, and the increase of the field, that ye shall beare no more the reproch of famine among the heathen.

31 Then shall ye remember your owne wicked wayes, and your deedes that were not good, and shall iudge your selues worthy to haue bene destroyed for your iniquities, and for your abominations.

32 Be it known vnto you that I doe not this for your sakes, saith the Lord God: therefore, O ye house of Israel, be ashamed and confounded for your owne wayes.

33 Thus saith the Lord God, What time as I shall haue cleansed you from all your iniquities, I will cause you to dwell in the cities, and the desolate places shall be builded.

34 And the desolate land shall be filled, whereas it lay waste in the sight of all that passed by.

35 For they said, This waste land was like the garden of Eden, and these waste and desolate and ruinous cities were strong, and were inhabited.

36 Then the residue of the heathen that are left round about you, shall know that I the Lord build the ruinous places, & plant the desolate places: I the Lord haue spoken it, and will doe it.

37 Thus saith the Lord God, I will yet for this be sought of the house of Israel, to performe it vnto them: I will increase them with men like a flocke.

38 As the holy flocke, as the flocke of Jerusalem in their solenne feasts, so shall the desolate cities be filled with flockes of men, and they shall know that I am the Lord.

CHAP. XXXVII.

1 He prophesieth the bringing againe of the people being in captiuitie. 16 He sheweth the union of the ten tribes with the two.

The hand of the Lord was vpon me, and he carried me out in the spirit of the Lord, and set me downe in the midst of the field, which was full of bones.

2 And hee led me round about by them, and behold, there were very many in the open field, and loe, they were very drie.

3 And he said vnto mee, Sonne of man, can these bones liue? And I answered, O Lord God, thou knowest.

4 Again he said vnto me, Prophecise vpon these bones, and say vnto them, O ye dry bones, heare the word of the Lord.

5 Thus saith the Lord God vnto these bones, Behold, I will cause breath to enter into you, and ye shall liue.

6 And I will lay sinewes vpon you, and make flesh grow vpon you, and couer you with skin, and put breath in you, that ye may liue, and ye shall know that I am the Lord.

7 So I prophesied as I was commanded: and as I prophesied, there was a noise, and behold, there was a shaking, & the bones came together, bone to his bone.

8 And when I beheld, loe, the sinewes, and the flesh grew vpon them, and aboue the skin couered them, but there was no breath in them.

9 Then said he vnto me, Prophecise vnto the winde: prophecise, sonne of man, and say to the winde, Thus saith the Lord God, Come from the foure windes, O breath, and breathe vpon these slaine, that they may liue.

10 So I prophesied as he had commanded me: and the breath came into them, and they liued, and stood vp vpon their feete, an exceeding great armie.

11 Then he said vnto me, Sonne of man, these bones are the whole house of Israel. Behold, they say, Our bones are dried, and our hope is gone, and we are cleane cut off.

12 Therefore prophecise, & say vnto them, Thus saith the Lord God, Behold, my people, I will open your graues, and cause ſhall be my people.

land of Israel.

foules of the heauen, and the beastes of the fielde, and all that moue and creepe vpon the earth, and all the men that are vpon the earth shall tremble at my presence, and the mountaines shall be ouerthrowen, and the statues shall fall, and euery wall shall fall to the ground.

21 For I will call for a sword against him throughout all my mountaines, saith the Lord God: euery mans sword shalbe against his brother.

stilence, and with blood, and I will cause to raine vpon him and vpon his bands, and vpon the great people, that are with him, a sore raine, and hailstones, fire, and brim-

1 He sheweth the destruction of Gog and Magog.
2 The graves of Gog and his hosts. 3 They shall be deuoured of birds and beasts. 4 Wherefore the house of Israel is captiue. 5 Their bringing againe from captiuitie is promised.

Wherefore thou sonne of man, prophesie against Gog, & say, Thus saith the Lord God, behold, I come against thee, O Gog, the chiefe prince of Meshech and Tubal.

2 And I will destroy thee: and leave but the first part of thee, and will cause thee to come vp from the North parts, & will bring thee vpon the mountaines of Israel:

3 And I will smite thy bow out of thy left hand, and I will cause thine arrowes to fall out of thy right hand.

4 Thou shalt fall vpon the mountaines of Israel, and all thy bands, and the people that is with thee: for I will giue thee vnto the birds, and to euery feathered fowle and beast of the fielde to be deuoured.

5 Thou shalt fall vpon the open field: for I haue spoken it, saith the Lord God.

6 And I will lend a fire on Magog, and among them that dwell safely in the ples, and they shall know that I am the Lord.

7 So will I make mine holy Name known in the middes of my people Israel, and I will not suffer them to pollute mine holy Name any more, and the heathen shall know that I am the Lord, the holy one of Israel.

8 Behold, it is come, and it is done, saith the Lord God: this is the day whereof I haue spoken.

9 And they that dwell in the cities of Israel, shall goe forth, and shall burne and set fire vpon the weapons, & on the shields, and bucklers, vpon the bowes, and vpon the ar-rowes, & vpon the stauies in their hands, and vpon the speares, and they shall burne them with fire seuen yeres.

10 So that they shall bring no wood out of the fielde, neither cut doune any out of the forests: for they shall burne the weapons with fire, and they shall robbe those that robbed them, and spoile those that spoiled them, saith the Lord God.

11 And at the same time will I giue vnto Gog, a place there for buriall in Israel, euen the valley whereby men goe toward the East part of the sea: and it shall cause them that passe by, to stoppe their noses, and there shall they bury Gog with all his multitude: and they shall call it the valley of Hamon-Gog.

12 And seuen moneths long shall the house of Israel be burying of them, that they may cleanse the land.

13 Yea, all the people of the land shall burie them, and they shall haue a name when I shalbe glorified, saith the Lord God.

14 And they shall chuse out men to go continually thowow the lande with them that trauaille to bury those that remaine vpon the ground, to cleanse it: they shall search to the end of seuen moneths.

15 And the travellers that passe thowow the land, if any see a mans bone, then shall he set vp a signe by it, till the buriers haue buried it in the valley of Hamon-Gog.

16 And also the name of the citie shall be Hamonah: thus shall they cleanse the land.

17 And thou sonne of man, thus saith the Lord God, Speake vnto euery feathered fowle, and to all the beasts of the fielde, Assemble your selues, and come: gather your selues on euery side to my sacrifice, for I doe sacrifice a great sacrifice for you vpon the mountaines of Israel, that ye may cate flesh and drinke blood.

and drinke the blood of the Princes of the earth, of the weathers, of the lambs, and of the goates, and of bullockes, euen of all fat beasts of Bashan.

24 According to their uncleannes, and according to their transgressions haue I done vnto them, and hid my face from them.

25 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Now will I bring againe the captiuitie of Iacob, & haue compassion vpon the whole house of Israel, and will be ielous for mine holy Name, 26 After that they haue borne their shame, and all their transgression, whereby they haue transgressed against mee, when they dwelt safely in their land, and without feare of any.

28 Then shall they know, that I am the Lord their God, which caused them to bee ledde into captiuitie among the heathen: but I haue gathered them vnto their owne lande, and haue left none of them any more there, 29 Neither will I hide my face any more from them: for I haue pouched out my Spirit vpon the house of Israel, saith the Lord God.

CHAP. XL.

The restoring of the Citie, and the Temple.

I In the five and twentieth yere of our being in captiuitie, in the beginning of the yere, in the tenth day of the moneth, in the fourteenth yere after that the citie was smitten, in the selfe same day, the hand of the Lord was vpon mee, and brought mee thither.

2 Into the land of Israel brought he me by a diuine vision, and let me vpon a very high mountaine, whereupon was as the building of a citie toward the South.

3 And he brought mee thither, & behold, there was a man, whose similitude was to looke to, like brasse, with a linnen thread in his hand, and a reede to measure with: and he stood at the gate.

4 And the man said vnto me, Sonne of man, behold with thine eyes, and heare with thine eares, and let thine heart vpon all that I shall shew thee: for to the intent that they might be shewed thee, art thou brought hither: declare all that thou seest, vnto the house of Israel.

5 And behold, I saw a wall on the outside of the house round about: and in the mans hand was a reede to measure with, of sixe cubites long by the cubite, and an hand breadth: so hee measured the breadth of the building with one reed, and the height with one reed.

6 Then came hee vnto the gate, which looketh towards the East, and went vp the staires thereof, and measured the || poste of the gate, which was one reede broad, and || the other poste of the gate, which was one reede broad.

|| Or, upper poste.

7 And euery chamber was one reed long, and one reed broad, and betweene the chambers were sixe cubites: and the poste of the gate by the porch of the gate within was one reede.

8 We measured also the porch of the gate within with one reede.

9 Then measured hee the porch of the gate of eight cubites, and the || postes thereof, of two cubites, and the porch of the gate was inward.

10 And the chambers of the gate Eastward, were three on this side, and three on that side: they three were of one measure, and the postes had one measure on this side, and one on that side.

11 And hee measured the breadth of the entrie of the gate ten cubites, and the height of the gate thirtene cubites.

12 The space also before the chambers, was one cubite on this side, and the space was one cubite on that side, and the chambers were sixe cubites on this side, and sixe cubites on that side.

13 Hee measured then the gate from the roofof a chamber to the top of the gate: the breadth was sixe and twentie cubites, downe against downe.

14 Wee made also postes of threescore cubites, and the postes of the court, and of the gate had one measure round about.

15 And vpon the forefront of the entrie of the gate vnto the forefront of the porch of the gate within were fiftie cubites.

16 And there were narrow windowes in the chambers, and in their postes within the gate round about, and likewise to the arches: and the windowes went round about within: and vpon the postes were palme trees.

17 Then brought he me into the outward court, and loe, there were chambers, and a pavement made for the court round about, and thirty chambers were vpon the pavement.

18 And the pavement was by the side of the gates ouer against the length of the gates, and the pavement was beneath.

19 Then he measured the breadth from the forefront of the lower gate without, vnto the forefront of the court within, an hundred cubites Eastward and Southward.

20 And the gate of the outward court, that looked toward the South, measured he after the length and breadth thereof.

21 And the chambers thereof were, three on this side, and three on that side, and the postes thereof and the arches thereof

23 And the gate of the inner court stood over against the gate toward the North, and toward the East, and hee measured from gate to gate an hundred cubites.

24 After that he brought me toward the South, and loe there was a gate toward the South, and he measured the postes thereof, and the arches thereof according to these measures.

25 And there were windows in it, and in the arches thereof round about like those windows: the height was fiftie cubites, and the breadth five and twentie cubites.

26 And there were seven steps to goe up to it, and the arches thereof were before them: and it had palme trees, one on this side, and another on that side vpon the poste thereof.

27 And there was a gate in the inner court toward the South, and he measured from gate to gate toward the South an hundred cubites.

28 And hee brought mee into the inner court by the South gate, and hee measured the South gate according to these measures.

29 And the chambers thereof, and the postes thereof, and the arches thereof according to these measures, and there were windows in it, and in the arches thereof round about, it was fiftie cubites long, and five and twentie cubites broad.

32 And againe he brought me into the inner court toward the East, and he measured the gate according to these measures.

33 And the chambers thereof, and the postes thereof, and the arches thereof were according to these measures, and there were windows therein, and in the arches thereof round about, it was fiftie cubites long, and five and twentie cubites broad.

34 And the arches thereof were toward the utter court, and palme trees were vpon the postes thereof, on this side and on that side, and the going up to it had eight steps.

35 And after he brought mee to the North gate, and measured it, according to these measures.

36 The chambers thereof, the postes thereof, and the arches thereof, and there were windows therein round about: the height was fiftie cubites, and the breadth five and twentie cubites.

37 And the postes thereof were toward the utter court, and palme trees were vpon the postes thereof, on this side, and on that side, and the going up to it had eight steps.

38 And every chamber, and the entrie, thereof was vnder the postes of the gates; there they washed the burnt offering.

39 And in the porch of the gate stood two tables on this side, and two tables on that side, vpon the which they slew the burnt offering, and the sinne offering, and the trespass offering.

40 And at the side beyond the steps, at the entrie of the North gate stood two tables, and on the other side, which was at the porch of the gate, were two tables.

41 Fourte tables were on this side, and fourte tables on that side by the side of the gate, euen eight tables wherupon they slew their sacrifice.

42 And the fourte tables were of beaten stone for the burnt offering, of a cubit and an halfe long, and a cubite and an halfe broad, and one cubite hie, wherupon also they laide the instruments wherewith they slew the burnt offering and the sacrifice.

43 And within were borders an hand broad, fastened round about, and vpon the tables lay the flesh of the offering.

44 And without the inner gate, were the chambers of the singers in the inner court, which was at the side of the North gate; and their prospect was toward the South, and one was at the side of the East gate, hauing the prospect toward the North.

45 And he said vnto me, This chamber whole prospect is toward the South, is for the Priests that haue charge to keepe the house.

46 And the chamber whole prospect is toward the North, is for the Priests that haue the charge to keepe the Altar: these are the sonnes of Zadok among the sonnes of Levi, which may come nere to the Lord to minister vnto him.

47 So he measured the court an hundred cubites long, and an hundred cubites broad, euen foure square: likewise the altar that was before the house.

48 And he brought me to the porch of the house, and measured the postes of the porch, five cubites on this side, and five cubites on that side: and the breadth of the gate was three cubites on this side, and three cubites on that side.

49 The length of the porch was twentie cubites, and the breadth eleuen cubites, and he brought me by the steps wherby they went up to it, and there were pillars by the postes, one on this side, and another on that side.

CHAP. XLII.

1 The disposition and order of the buildings of the Temple, and the other things thereto belonging.

Afterward he brought mee to the Temple, and measured the postes, five cubites broad on the one side, and five cubites broad on the other side, which was the breadth of the Tabernacle.

2 And the breadth of the entrie was ten cubites, and the sides of the entrie were five cubites on the one side, and five cubites on the other side, and hee measured the length thereof foure cubites, and the breadth twentie cubites.

3 Then went hee in, and measured the postes, postes of the entry two cubites, and the entry six cubites, and the breadth of the entry seven cubites.

4 So hee measured the length thereof twenty cubites, and the breadth twenty cubites before the Temple. And he said unto me, This is the most holy place.

5 After, hee measured the wall of the house, six cubites, and the breadth of every chamber four cubits round about the house on every side.

6 And the chambers were chamber upon chamber, three and thirtie foote high, and they entred into the wall made for the chambers which was round about the house, that the postes might be fastened therein, and not be fastened in the wall of the house.

7 And it was large, and went round mounting upward to the chambers, for the staire of the house was mounting upward round about the house: therefore the house was larger upward: so they went up from the lowest chamber to the highest by the mids.

8 I saw also the house by round about: the foundations of the chambers were a full reed of six cubits.

9 The thicknesse of the wall which was for the chamber without was five cubits, and that which remained, was the place of the chambers that were within.

10 And betweene the chambers was the widenesse of twenty cubites round about the house on every side.

11 And the doores of the chambers were toward the place that remained, one doore toward the North, and another doore toward the South, and the breadth of the place that remained, was five cubites round about.

12 Now the building that was before the separate place towards the West corner, was seven cubites broad, and the wall of the building was five cubites thicke, round about, and the length ninetie cubits.

13 So he measured the house an hundred cubites long, and the separate place, and the building with the walls thereof were an hundred cubites long.

14 Also the breadth of the forefront of the house, and of the separate place toward the East was an hundred cubites.

15 And hee measured the length of the building over against the separate place, which was behinde it, and the chambers on the one side, and on the other side an hundred cubites with the Temple within, and the arches of the court.

16 The postes of the narrow windowes, and the chambers round about, on thye sides over against the postes, sieled with cedar wood round about, and from the ground up to the windowes, and the windowes were sieled.

17 And from above the doore unto the inner house and without, and by all the wall round about within and without it was sieled according to the measure.

18 And it was made with Cherubims and palme trees, so that a palme tree was betwene a Cherub and a Cherub: and every Cherub had two faces.

19 So that the face of a man was toward the palme tree on the one side, and the face of a lion toward the palme tree on the other side: thus was it made thorow all the house round about.

20 From the ground unto above the doore were Cherubims and palme trees made as in the wall of the Temple.

21 The postes of the Temple were squared, and thus to looke unto, was the similitude and forme of the Sanctuary.

22 The altar of wood was three cubites hie, and the length thereof two cubites, and the corners thereof, and the length thereof, and the sides thereof were of wood. And he said unto me, This is the table that shall be before the Lord.

23 And the Temple and the Sanctuary had two doores.

24 And the doores had two wickets, even two turning wickets, two wickets for one doore, and two wickets for another doore.

25 And upon the doores of the Temple there were made Cherubims, and palme trees, like as was made upon the walles, and there were thicke planks upon the forefront of the porch without.

26 And there were narrow windowes and palme trees on the one side, and on the other side by the sides of the porch, and upon the sides of the house, and thicke planks.

CHAP. XLII.

Of the chambers of the Temple for the Priests, and the holy things.

Then brought hee me into the utter court by the way toward the North, and hee brought me into the chamber that was over against the separate place, and which was before the building toward the North.

2 Before the length of an hundred cubites was the North doore, and it was fiftie cubites broad.

3 Over against the twenty cubits which were for the inner court, and over against the pavement, which was for the utter court, was chamber against chamber in three rows.

4 And before the chambers was a gallerie of ten cubites wide, and within was a way of one cubite, and their doores toward the North.

5 Now the chambers above were narrower: for those chambers seemed to eate up these, to wit, the lower, and those that were in the mids of the building.

6 For they were in three rows, but had not pillars as the pillars of the court: therefore there was a difference from them beneath and from the middlemost, even from the ground.

7 And the wall that was without over against the chambers, toward the utter court on the forefront of the chambers, was fiftie cubites long.

8 For the length of the chambers that were in the utter court, was fiftie cubites: and loe, before the Temple were an hundred cubites.

9 And

9 And vnder these chambers was the entrie on the East side, as one goeth into them from the outward court.

10 The chambers were in the thicknesse of the wall of the court toward the East ouer against the separate place, and ouer against the building.

11 And the way before them was after the maner of the chambers, which were toward the North, as long as they, and as broad as they: and all their entries were like, both according to their fashions, and according to their doores.

12 And according to the doores of the chambers that were toward the South, was a doore in the corner of the way, euen the way directly before the wall toward the East, as one entreth.

13 Then said he vnto me, The North chambers, and the South chambers which are before the separate place, they be holy chambers, wherein the Priests that approach vnto the Lorde shall eate the most holy things: there shall they lay the most holy things, and the meat offering, and the sinne offering, and the trespass offering: for the place is holy.

14 When the Priests enter therein, they shall not goe out of the holy place into the vnder court, but there they shall lay their garments wherein they minister: for they are holy, and shall put on other garments, and so shall approach to those things which are for the people.

15 Now when he had made an end of measuring the inner house, he brought me forth toward the gate whose prospect is toward the East, and measured it round about.

16 He measured the East side with the measuring rodde, five hundred reedes, euen with the measuring reed round about.

17 He measured also the North side, five hundred reedes, euen with the measuring reed round about.

18 And he measured the South side, five hundred reedes with the measuring reed.

19 We turned about also to the West side, and measured five hundred reedes with the measuring reed.

20 We measured it by the foure sides: it had a wall round about, five hundred reedes long, and five hundred broad to make a separation betwene the Sanctuarie and the profane place.

CHAP. XLII.

2 He seeth the glory of God going into the Temple, from whence it had before departed. 7 He mentioneth the idolatry of the children of Israel, for the which they were consumed and brought to nought. 9 He is commanded to call them againe to repentance.

Afterward hee brought mee to the gate, euen the gate that turneth toward the East.

2 And behold, the glory of the God of Israel came from out of the East, whose voice was like a noyse of great waters, and the earth was made light with his glory.

3 And the vision which I saw was like the vision, euen as the vision that I saw when I came to destroy the citie: and the visions were like the vision that I saw by the river Chebar: and I fell vpon my face.

4 And the glory of the Lord came into the house by the way of the gate, whose prospect is toward the East.

5 So the Spirit tooke me by, & brought me into the inner court, and behold, the glory of the Lord filled the house.

6 And I heard one speaking vnto me, out of the house: and there stood a man by me,

7 Which sayd vnto me, Sonne of man, this place is my throne, and the place of the soles of my feete: whereas I will dwell among the children of Israel for ever, and the house of Israel shall no more defile mine holy Name, neither they, nor their kings by their fornication, nor by the carkeiles of their kings in their high places.

8 Albeit they set their thresholds by my thresholds, and their posts by my postes (for there was but a wall between me and them) yet haue they defiled mine holy Name with their abominations, that they haue committed: wherefore I haue consumed them in my wrath.

9 Now therefore let them put away their fornication, and the carkeiles of their kings farre from me, and I will dwell among them for ever.

10 Thou sonne of man, shew this house to the house of Israel, that they may be ashamed of their wickednesse, and let them measure the paterne.

11 And if they be ashamed of all that they haue done, shew them the forme of the house, and the paterne thereof, and the going out thereof, and the coming in thereof, and the whole fashion thereof, and all the ordinances thereof, and all the figures thereof, and all the lawes thereof: and write it in their sight, that they may keepe the whole fashion thereof, and all the ordinances thereof, and doe them.

12 This is the description of the house, It shall bee vpon the toppe of the mount: all the limits thereof round about shall be most holy. Behold, this is the description of the house.

13 And these are the measures of the Altar, after the cubites: the cubite is a cubite and an handbreadth, euen the bottome shall be a cubite, and the breadth a cubite, and the border thereof by the edge thereof, round about shall be a spanne: and this shall bee the height of the Altar.

14 And from the bottome which toucheth the ground to the lower piece shall be two cubites, and the breadth one cubite, and from the little piece to the great piece shall be foure cubites, and the breadth one cubite.

15 So the altar shall be foure cubites, and from the altar vnto the house shall be foure cubites.

16 And the altar shall be twelue cubites long and twelue broad, and foure square in the foure corners thereof.

17 And the frame shall be foure cubites long, and foure cubites broad in the foure square corners thereof, and the border about it shall be halfe a cubite, and the bottome thereof shall be a cubite about, and the steps thereof shall be turned toward the East.

a When I prophesied the destruction of the citie by the Caldeans.

18 And he said unto me, Sonne of man, thus saith the Lord God, These are the ordinances of the altar in the day when they shall make it to offer the burnt offering thereon, and to sprinkle blood thereon.

19 And thou shalt give to the Priests, and to the Levites, that be of the seede of Zadok, which approach unto me, to minister unto me saith the Lord God, a young bullocke for a sinne offering.

20 And thou shalt take of the blood thereof, and put it on the foure hornes of it, and on the foure corners of the frame, and vpon the border round about: thus shalt thou cleanse it and reconcile it.

21 Thou shalt take the bullocke also of the sinne offering, & burne it in the appointed place of the house without the Sanctuarie.

22 But the second day thou shalt offer an hee goate without blemish for a sinne offering, and they shall cleanse the Altar, as they did cleanse it with the bullocke.

23 When thou shalt make an end of cleansing it, thou shalt offer a yong bullocke without blemish, and a ramme out of the flocke without blemish.

24 And thou shalt offer them before the Lord, and the Priests shall cast salt vpon them, and they shall offer them for a burnt offering vnto the Lord.

25 Seuen dayes shalt thou prepare every day an hee goate for a sinne offering: they shall also prepare a yong bullocke and a ram out of the flocke without blemish.

26 Thus shall they seuen dayes purifie the altar, and cleanse it, and shall consecrate it.

27 And when these dayes are expired, vpon the eight day and so forth, the Priests shall make your burnt offerings vpon the altar, and your peace offerings, and I will accept you, saith the Lord God.

CHAP. XLIIII.

He reproveth the people for their offences. 7 The uncircumcised in heart and in the flesh. 9 Who are to be admitted to the service of the Temple, and who to be refused.

Then hee brought me toward the gate of the outward Sanctuarie, which turneth toward the East, and it was shut.

2 Then said the Lord vnto me, This gate shall be shut, and shall not be opened, and no man shall enter by it, because the Lord God of Israel hath entered by it, and it shall be shut.

3 It appertaineth to the prince: the prince himselfe shall sit in it to eat bread before the Lord: he shall enter by the way of the porch of that gate, and shall goe out by the way of the same.

4 Then brought hee me toward the North gate before the house: & when I looked, behold, the glory of the Lord filled the house of the Lord, and I fell vpon my face.

5 And the Lord said vnto me, Sonne of man, I marke well, and behold with thine eyes, and heare with thine eares, all that I say vnto thee, concerning all the ordinances of the House of the Lord, and all the lawes thereof, and marke well the entering in of the House with every going forth of the Sanctuarie.

6 And thou shalt say to the rebellious, even to the house of Israel, Thus saith the Lord God, O house of Israel, ye haue enough of all your abominations,

7 Seeing that yee haue brought into my Sanctuarie strangers, vncircumcised in heart, and vncircumcised in flesh, to be in my Sanctuarie, to pollute mine House, when yee offer my bread, euen fat and blood: and they haue broken my covenant, because of all your abominations.

8 For ye haue not kept the ordinances of mine holy things: but you your selues haue let other to take the charge of my Sanctuarie.

9 Thus saith the Lord God, No stranger vncircumcised in heart, nor vncircumcised in flesh, shall enter into my Sanctuarie, of any stranger that is among the children of Israel,

10 Neither yet the Levites that are gone backe from me, when Israel went astray, which went astray from me after their idols, but they shall beare their iniquitie.

11 And they shall stand in my Sanctuarie, and keepe the gates of the House, and minister in the House: they shall stay the burnt offering and the sacrifice for the people, and they shall stand before them to serue them.

12 Because they serued before their idols, and caused the house of Israel to fall into iniquitie: therefore haue I lift vp mine hand against them, saith the Lord God, and they shall beare their iniquitie.

13 And they shall not come neere vnto me to do the office of the Priest vnto me, neither shall they come neere vnto any of mine holy things in the most holy place, but they shall beare their shame and their abominations, which they haue committed.

14 And I will make them keepers of the watch of the house, for all the seruice thereof, and for all that shall be done therein.

15 But the Priests of the Levites, the sonnes of Zadok, that kept the charge of my Sanctuarie, when the children of Israel went astray from me, they shall come neere to me to serue me, and they shall stand before me to offer mee the fat and the blood, saith the Lord God.

16 They shall enter into my Sanctuarie, and shall come neere to my table to serue me, and they shall keepe my charge.

17 And when they shall enter in at the gates of the inner court, they shall be clothed with linnen garments, and no wooll shall come vpon them, while they serue in the gates of the inner court, and within.

18 They shall haue linnen bonnets vpon their heads, and shall haue linnen breeches vpon their loynes: they shall not gird themselves in the sweating places.

19 But when they goe forth into the vter court, even to the vter court to the people, they shall put off their garments, where in they ministered, and lay them in the holy chambers, and they shall put on other garments: for they shall not sanctifie the people

CHAP. XLV.

1 Out of the land of promise are there separate foure portions, of which the first is giuen to the Priests and to the Temple, the second to the Leuites, the third to the citie, the fourth to the Prince. 9 An exhortation vnto the heads of Israel. 10 Of iust weights and measures. 13 Of the first fruits, &c.

M Deuour, when yee shall diuide the land for inheritance, ye shall offer an oblation vnto the Lord, an holy portion of the land, five and twenty thousand reedes long, and ten thousand broad: this shall be holy in all the borders thereof round about.

2 Of this there shall be for the Sanctuary five hundredeth in length, with five hundredeth in breadth, all square round about, and fifty cubites round about for the suburbs thereof.

3 And of this measure shalt thou measure the length of five and twenty thousand, and the breadth of ten thousand: and in it shall be the Sanctuary, and the most holy place.

4 The holy portion of the land shall be the Priests, which minister in the Sanctuary, which come neere to serue the Lord: and it shall be a place for their houses, and an holy place for the Sanctuary.

5 And in the five and twenty thousand of length, and the ten thousand of breadth, shall the Leuites that minister in the house, haue their possession for twenty chambers.

6 Also ye shall appoint the possession of the citie five thousand broad, and five and twenty thousand long ouer against the oblation of the holy portion: it shall be for the whole house of Israel.

7 And a portion shall be for the prince on the one side, and on that side of the oblation of the holy portion, and of the possession of the citie, even before the oblation of the holy portion, and before the possession of the citie from the West corner Westward, and from the East corner Eastward, and the length shall be by one of the portions from the West border vnto the East border.

8 In this land shall be his possession in Israel: and my princes shall no more oppress my people, and the rest of the land shall they giue to the house of Israel according to their tribes.

9 Thus saith the Lord God, Let it suffice you, O princes of Israel: leaue off cruelty and oppression, and execute iudgement and iustice: take away your exactions from my people, saith the Lord God.

10 Ye shall haue iust balances, and a true Ephah, and a true Bath.

11 The Ephah and the Bath shall be equal: a Bath shall containe the tenth part of an Homer, and an Ephah the tenth part of an Homer: the equalitie thereof shall be after the Homer.

12 And the Shekel shall be twenty gerahs, and twenty shekels, and a five and twenty shekels, and fiftene shekels shall be your Maneh.

13 This is the oblation that ye shall offer, the first part of an Ephah of an Homer of wheate, and ye shall giue the first part of an Ephah of an Homer of barley.

14 Concerning the ordinance of the oyle, even of the Bath of oyle, ye shall offer the tenth part of a Bath out of the Oze, (tenne Baths are an Homer, for ten Baths fill an Homer.)

15 And one lambe of two hundred sheepe out of the fat pastures of Israel for a meate offering, and for a burnt offering, & for peace offerings, to make reconciliation for them, saith the Lord God.

16 All the people of the land shall giue this oblation for the prince in Israel.

17 And it shall be the princes part to giue burnt offerings, and meate offerings, and drinke offerings in the solemne feasts, and in the new moones, and in the Sabbaths, and in all the high feasts of the house of Israel: he shall prepare the sinne offering, and the meate offering, and the burnt offering, and the peace offerings to make reconciliation for the house of Israel.

CHAP. XLVI.

1 The sacrifices of the Sabbath and of the newe Moones. 8 Therow which doores they must goe in, or come out of the Temple, &c.

Thus saith the Lord God, The gate of the inner court, that turneth toward the East, shall bee shut the sixe working dayes: but on the Sabbath it shall bee opened, and in the day of the new moone it shall bee opened.

2 And the prince shall enter by the way of the porch of that gate without, and shall stand by the post of the gate, and the Priests shall make his burnt offering, and his peace offerings, and hee shall worship at the threshold of the gate, after hee shall goe forth, but the gate shall not bee shut till the evening.

3 Likewise the people of the land shall worship at the entry of this gate before the Lord on the Sabbaths, and in the newe Moones.

4 And the burnt offering that the prince shall offer vnto the Lord on the Sabbath day shall be sixe lambes without blemish, and a ramme without blemish.

a That is, as much as he will.

5 And the meat offering shall be an Ephah for a ramme: and the meat offering for the lambes a gift of his hand, and an Hin of oyle for an Ephah.

6 And in the day of the new moone it shall be a yong bullocke without blemish, and sixe lambes and a ramme: they shall be without blemish.

b Meaning, as he shall thinke good.

7 And he shall prepare a meate offering euen an Ephah for a bullocke, and an Ephah for a ramme, and for the lambes according as his hand shall bring, and an Hin of oyle to an Ephah.

8 And when the prince shall enter, he shall goe in by the way of the porch of that gate, and he shall goe forth by the way thereof.

9 But when the people of the land shall come before the Lord in the soleinne feasts, hee that entereth in by the way of the North gate to worship, shall goe out by the way of the South gate: and hee that entereth by the way of the South gate, shall goe forth by the way of the North gate: hee shall not returne by the way of the gate whereby hee came in: but they shall goe forth ouer against it.

10 And the prince shall be in the mids of them: he shall goe in when they goe in, and when they goe forth, they shall goe forth together.

11 And in the feasts, and in the solemnities, the meate offering shall be an Ephah to a bullocke, and an Ephah to a ramme, and to the lambes, the gift of his hand, and an Hin of oyle to an Ephah.

12 Now when the prince shall make a free burnt offering or peace offerings freely vnto the Lord, one shall then open him the gate, that turneth toward the East, and he shall make his burnt offering, and his peace offerings as he did on the Sabbath day: after, he shall goe forth, and when he is gone forth, one shall shut the gate.

13 Thou shalt dayly make a burnt offering vnto the Lord of a lambe of one yeere without blemish: thou shalt doe it euery morning.

14 And thou shalt prepare a meat offering for it euery morning, the first part of an Ephah, and the third part of an Hin of oyle, to mingle with the fine flour: this meate offering shall be continually by a perpetuall ordinance vnto the Lord.

15 Thus shall they prepare the lambe, and the meate offering, and the oyle euery morning, for a continuall burnt offering.

16 Thus saith the Lord God, If the Prince giue a gift of his inheritance vnto any of his sonnes, it shall be his sonnes, and it shall be their possession by inheritance.

17 But if he giue a gift of his inheritance to one of his seruants, then it shall be his to the yeere of libertie: after, it shall returne to the prince, but his inheritance shall remaine to his sonnes for them.

c Which was at the iubile, Leuit. 25. 9.

18 Moreover, the prince shall not take of the peoples inheritance, nor thrust them out of their possession: but he shall cause his sonnes to inherit of his owne possession, that my people be not scattered euery man from his possession.

d But be content with that portion that God hath assigned him, as Chap. 45. 8.

19 After, he brought me through the entry, which was at the side of the gate, into the holy chambers of the Priestess, which stood toward the North: and behold, there was a place at the West side of them.

20 Then sayd hee vnto me, This is the place where the Priests shall leaue the trespasse offering, and the sinne offering, where they shall bake the meate offering, that they should not beare them into the inner court, to sanctifie the people.

e That the people should not haue to do with those things which appertaine to the Lord, & thinke it lawfull for the to eate them.

21 Then he brought me forth into the outer court, and caused me to goe by the foure corners corners of the court: and beholde, in every corner of the court, there was a court.

22 In the foure corners of the court there were courts toynded of forty cubites long, and thirty broad: these foure corners were of one measure.

23 And there went a wall about them, even about these foure, and kitchins were made under the walles round about.

24 Then said he vnto mee, This is the kitchin where the ministers of the house shall see the sacrifice of the people.

CHAP. XLVII.

1 The vision of the waters, that came out of the Temple. 13 The coasts of the land of promise, and the diuision thereof by tribes.

Afterward he brought me vnto the dore of the house: and beholde, waters issued out from vnder the threshold of the house Eastward: for the forefront of the house stood toward the East, and the waters ran down from vnder the right side of the house, at the South side of the Altar.

2 Then brought he mee out toward the North gate, and led mee about by the way without vnto the vpper gate, by the way that turneth Eastward: and beholde, there came forth waters on the right side.

3 And when the man that had the line in his hand, went forth Eastward, he measured a thousand cubites, and he brought me through the waters: the waters were to the ancles.

4 Againe hee measured a thousand, and brought me through the waters: the waters were to the knees: againe hee measured a thousand, and brought me through: the waters were to the loynes.

5 Afterward he measured a thousand, and it was a river that I could not passe over: for the waters were risen, and the waters did flow as a river that could not be passed over:

6 And he said vnto me, Son of man, hast thou seene this? Then he brought me, & caused me to returne to the brinke of the river.

7 Now when I returned, beholde, at the brinke of the river were very many trees on the one side, and on the other.

8 Then said he vnto me, These waters issue out toward the East countrey, and run downe into the plaine, and shall goe into one sea: they shall runne into another sea, and the waters shall be wholesome.

9 And every thing that liueth, which moueth where soeuer the rivers shall come, shall liue, and there shall bee a very great multitude of fish, because these waters shall come thither: for they shall bee wholesome, and every thing shall liue, whither the river cometh.

10 And then the fishers shall stand upon it, and from En-gedi euen vnto En-eglain, they shall spread out their nets: for their fish shall be according to their kinds, as the fish of the maine sea exceeding many.

11 But the myrie places thereof, and the marishes thereof shall not be wholesome: they shall be made saltpits.

12 And by the border of Dan from the East side vnto the West side, a portion for Aser.

13 And by the border of Aser from the East part euen vnto the West part, a portion for Naphtali.

12 And by this river vpon the brinke thereof on this side, and on that side shall grow all fruitfull trees, whose leafe shall not fade, neither shall the fruit thereof faile: it shall bring forth new fruit according to his moneths, because their waters runne out of the Sanctuary: and the fruit thereof shall bee meate, and the leafe thereof shall bee for medicine.

13 Thus saith the Lord God, This shall be the border, whereby ye shall inherit the land according to the twelve tribes of Israel: Joseph shall haue two portions.

14 And ye shall inherit it, one as well as another: concerning the which I lift vp mine hand to giue it vnto your fathers, and this land shall fall vnto you for inheritance.

15 And this shall be the border of the land toward the North side, from the maine Sea toward Berthon as men goe to Zedadah:

16 Hamath, Berochah, Sibraim, which is betweene the border of Damascus, and the border of Hamath, and Hazar, Particon, which is by the coast of Hauran.

17 And the border from the Sea shall be Hazar, Chan, and the border of Damascus, and the residue of the North, Northward, and the border of Hamath: so shall bee the North part.

18 But the East side shall ye measure from Hauran, and from Damascus, and from Gilead, and from the land of Israel by Jordan, and from the border vnto the East sea: and so shall be the East part.

19 And the South side shall bee toward Teman from Camar to the waters of Beriboth in Kadesh, and the river to the maine sea: so shall be the South part toward Teman.

20 The West part also shall be the great sea from the border, till a man come over against Hamath: this shall be the West part.

21 So shall ye diuide this land vnto you, according to the tribes of Israel.

22 And you shall diuide it by lot for an inheritance vnto you, and to the strangers that dwell among you, which shall beget children among you, and they shall be vnto you as borne in the countrey among the children of Israel, they shall part inheritance with you in the middes of the tribes of Israel.

23 And in what tribe the stranger dwelleth, there shall ye giue him his inheritance, saith the Lord God.

CHAP. XLVIII.

11 It shall be for the Priests, that are sanctified of the sonnes of Zadok, which haue kept my charge, which went not astray, when the children of Israel went astray, as the Levites went astray.

12 Therefore this oblation of the land that is offered, shall be theirs, as a thing most holy by the border of the Levites.

13 And over against the border of the Priests, the Levites shall haue five and twenty thousand long, and ten thousand broad: all the length shall be five and twenty thousand, and the breadth ten thousand.

14 And they shall not sell of it, neither change it, nor abalienate the first fruits of the land: for it is holy unto the Lord.

15 And the five thousand that are left in the breadth over against the five and twenty thousand, shall be a prophane place for the citie, for housing, and for suburbs, and the citie shall be in the midst thereof.

16 And these shall be the measures thereof, the North part five hundred and foure thousand, and the South part five hundred and foure thousand, and the East part five hundred and foure thousand, and the West part five hundred and foure thousand.

17 And the suburbs of the citie shall be toward the North two hundred and fiftie, and toward the South two hundred and fiftie, and toward the East two hundred and fiftie, and toward the West two hundred and fiftie.

18 And the residue in length over against the oblation of the holy portion shall bee ten thousand Eastward, and ten thousand Westward, and it shall be over against the oblation of the holy portion, and the increase thereof shall be for food unto them that serue in the citie.

19 And they that serue in the citie, shall bee of all the tribes of Israel that shall serue therein.

20 All the oblation shall be five and twenty thousand with five and twenty thousand: you shall offer this oblation foure square for the Sanctuary, and for the possession of the citie.

21 And the residue shall bee for the prince on the one side and on the other of the oblation of the Sanctuary, and of the possession of the citie, ouer against the five and twenty thousand of the oblation toward the East border, and Westward ouer against the five and twenty thousand toward the West border, ouer against shall be for the portion of the prince: this shall be the holy oblation, and the house of the Sanctuary shall be in the midst thereof.

22 Moreover, from the possession of the Levites, and from the possession of the citie, that which is in the midst shall bee the Princes: betweene the border of Judah, and betweene the border of Benjamin shall bee the Princes.

23 And the rest of the tribes shall be thus: from the East part unto the West part, Benjamin shall be a portion.

24 And by the border of Benjamin, from the East side unto the West side, Simeon a portion.

25 And by the border of Simeon from the East part unto the West part, Issachar a portion.

28 And by the border of Gad at the South side, toward Tamar, the border shall be euen from Tamar unto the waters of Beribath in Kadesh, and to the riuer that runneth into the maine Sea.

29 This is the land, which ye shall distribute unto the tribes of Israel for inheritance, and these are their portions, saith the Lord God.

30 And these are the bounds of the citie, on the North side five hundred, and foure thousand measures.

31 And the gates of the citie shall be after the names of the tribes of Israel, the gates Northward, one gate of Reuben, one gate of Judah, and one gate of Levi.

THE ARGUMENT.

THe great providence of God, and his singular mercy toward his Church are most liuely here set forth, who neuer leaueth his destitute, but now in their greatest miseries and afflictions giueth them Prophets, as Iezekiel, and Daniel, whom he adorned with such graces of his holy Spirit, that Daniel aboue all other had most speciall reuelations of such things as should come to the Church, euen from the time that they were in captiuitie, to the last end of the world, and to the general resurrection, as of the foure monarchies and Empires of all the world, to wit, of the Babylonians, Persians, Grecians and Romaines. Also of the certaine number of the times euen vnto Christ, when all ceremonies and sacrifices should cease, because he should be the accomplishment thereof: moreover, he sheweth Christs office and the cause of his death, which was by his sacrifice to take away sinnes, and to bring euerlasting life. And as from the beginning God euer exercised his people vnder the crosse, so he teacheth here, that after that Christ is offered, hee will still leaue this exercise to his Church vntill the dead rise againe, and Christ gather his into his kingdome in the heauens.

14 So he consented to them in this matter, and proued them ten dayes.

15 And at the ende of ten dayes, their countenances appeared fairer, and better liker then all the childrens, which did eate the portion of the kings meat.

16 Thus Belzar took away the portion of their meat, and the wine that they should drinke, and gaue them pulle.

17 As for these four children, God gaue them knowledge, and understanding in all learning and wisdom: also he gaue Daniel understanding of all visions and dreames.

18 Now when the time was expired, that the king had appointed to bring them in, the chiefe of the eunuches brought them befoze Nebuchad-nezzar.

19 And the king communed with them, and among them all was found none like Daniel, Hananiah, Mishael, and Azariah: therefore stood they befoze the king.

3 But if ye declare the dreame, and the interpretation thereof, ye shall receiue of me gifts and rewards, and great honour: therefore shew me the dreame and the interpretation of it.

4 They answered againe, and saide, Let the king shew his seruantes the dreame, and we will declare the interpretation thereof.

5 Then the king answered, and saide, I know certainly that ye would gaue the time, because ye see the thing is gone from mee.

6 But if ye will not declare mee the dreame, there is but one iudgement for you: for ye haue prepared lying & corrupt wordes, to speake befoze me till the time be changed: therefore tell me the dreame, that I may know, if ye can declare the interpretation thereof.

7 Then the Chaldeans answered befoze the king, and saide, There is no man vpon earth, that can declare the kings matter: yea, there is neither king nor prince nor lord that asketh such things as an enchanter or astrologian, or Chaldean.

8 For it is a rare thing that the king requirerh, and there is none other that can declare it befoze the king, except the gods whose dwelling is not with flesh.

9 For this cause the king was angry, and in great fury, and commanded to destroy all the wise men of Babel.

10 And when sentence was giuen the wise men were slaine, and they sought Daniel and his fellowes to be put to death.

11 Then Daniel answered with counsel and wisdom to Arioch the kings steward, which was gone forth to put to death the wisemen of Babel.

12 Yea, he answered and said vnto Arioch the kings captaine, Why is the sentence so hastie from the king? Then Arioch declared the thing to Daniel.

13 So Daniel went, and desired the king that he would giue him leasure, and that he would shewe the king the interpretation thereof.

14 Then Daniel went to his house and shewed the matter to Hananiah, Mishael, and Azariah his companions, 15 That they should beseech the God of heauen for grace in this secret, that Daniel and his fellowes should not perish with the rest of the wise men of Babel.

16 Then was the secret reuealed vnto Daniel in a vision by night: therefore Daniel praised the God of heauen.

17 And Daniel answered and said, The name of God be praised for ever and euer: for wisdom and strength are his.

18 And he changed the times and seasons: he taketh away kings: he setteth vp kings: he giveth wisdom vnto the wise, and

1 The dreame of Nebuchad-nezzar. 13 The King commandeth all the wise men of Babylon to be slaine, because they could not interpret his dreame.

16 Daniel requireth time to solute the question. 24 Daniel is brought vnto the King, and sheweth him his dreame, and the interpretation thereof. 44 Of the everlasting Kingdome of Christ.

And in the second yeere of the reigne of Nebuchad-nezzar, Nebuchad-nezzar dreamed dreames wherewith his spirit was troubled, and his sleepe was vpon him.

2 Then the king commanded to call the enchanterers, and the astrologians, & the sorcerers, and the Chaldeans, for to shew the king his dreames: so they came and stood befoze the king.

3 And the king said vnto them, I haue dreamed a dreame, and my spirit was troubled to know the dreame.

4 Then spake the Chaldeans to the king in the Aramites language, O king, line for euer: shew thy seruantes thy dreame, and we will declare the interpretation thereof.

5 He was so heauie with sleepe that he began to sleepe againe. Some reade, and his sleepe was broken from him.

6 For all these Astrologers and forcerers called themselves by this name of honor, as though all the wisdom & knowledge of the countrey depended vpon them, and that all other countreys were void of the same. So that is, in the Syrian tongue, which differed not much from the Chaldeans, saue it seemed to be more eloquent, and therefore he learned vnto to speake it: as the Iewish writers doe to this day.

25 Then Arioch brought Daniel before the King in all haste, & said thus vnto him, I haue found a man of the children of Iudah that were brought captiues, that will declare vnto the King the interpretation.

26 Then answered the king, and said vnto Daniel, whose name was Belteshazzar, Art thou able to shew mee the dreame which I haue seene, and the interpretation thereof?

27 Daniel answered in the presence of the King, and said, The secret which the King hath demanded, can neither the wise, the astrologians, the enchanters, nor the sooth-sayers declare vnto the King.

28 But there is a God in heauen that reuealeth secrets, and sheweth the King Beluchad-nezzar what shall bee in the latter dayes. Thy dreame, and the things which thou hast seene in thine head vpon thy bed, is this.

29 O King, when thou wast in thy bed, thoughts came into thy minde, what should come to passe hereafter, and he that reuealeth secrets, telleth thee what shall come.

30 As for mee, this secret is not shewed mee for any wisdomme that I haue, more then any other thing; but onely to shew the king the interpretation, and that thou might-est know the thoughts of thine heart.

31 O King, thou sawest, and beheld, there was a great image: this great image whose glory was so excellent, stood before thee, and the forme thereof was terrible.

32 This images head was of fine gold, his breast and his armes of siluer, his belly and his thighes of brasse,

33 His legs of yron, and his feet were part of yron, and part of clay.

34 Thou beheldest it till a stone was cut without hands, which smote the image vp-on his feet, that were of yron and clay, and broke them to peeces.

35 Then was the yron, the clay, the brasse, the flint and the golde broken altogether, and became like the chaffe of the Summer flowers, and the winde caried them away, that no place was found for them: and the stone that smote the image, became a great mountaine, and filled the whole earth.

36 This is the dreame, and we will declare before the King the interpretation thereof.

37 O King, thou art a king of kings:
for the God of heauen hath giuen thee a kingdome, power, and strength, and glory.

38 And in all places where the children of men dwell, the beastes of the field, and the fowles of the heauen hath he giuen into thine hand, and hath made thee ruler over them all: thou art this head of gold.

39 And after thee shall rise another kingdome, inferior to thee, of siluer, and another third kingdome shall bee of brasse, which shall beare rule over all the earth.

40 And the fourth kingdome shall bee strong as yron: for as yron breaketh in pieces, and subdueth all things, and as yron bruisseth all these things, so shall it breake in pieces, and bruiseth all.

41 Whereas thou sawest the feete and toes, part of potters clay, and part of yron:
the kingdome shall bee diuided: but there shall be in it of the strength of the yron, as thou sawest the yron mixt with the clay, and earth.

42 And as the toes of the feet were part of yron, and part of clay, so shall the kingdome be partly strong, and partly broken.

43 And whereas thou sawest yron mixt with clay and earth, they shall mingle themselues with the seed of men: but they shall not ioyne one with another, as yron cannot be mixt with clay.

44 And in the dayes of these kings, shall the God of heauen set vp a kingdome, which shall neuer bee destroyed: and this kingdome shall not bee giuen to another people, but it shall breake and destroy all these king-domes, and it shall stand for euer.

45 Whereas thou sawest that the stone was cut off the mountaine without handes, and that it brake in peeces the yron, the brasse, the clay, the siluer and the gold: so shall be of brasse, not alluding to the hardnesse thereof, but the vilenesse in respect of siluer. u That is, the Rowane Empire shall subdue all these other aforenamed, which after Alexander were diuided into the Macedonians, Greci-ans, Syrians, and Egyptians. x They shall haue ciuill warres, and continual discords among themselves. y They shall by marriages and affinities thinke to make themselves strong, yet shall they neuer bee ioynd in hearts. z His purpose is to shew that all the king-domes of the world are transitory, and that the kingdome of Christ shall onely remaine for euer. a Meaning Christ, who was sent of God, and not set vp by man, whose kingdome at the beginning should be small and without beauty to mans iudgement, but should at length grow and fill the whole earth, which hee calleth a great mountaine, as verse 35. And his kingdome which is not onely referred to the person of Christ, but also to the whole body of his Church, and to euery member thereof shall be eternall: for the Spirit that is in them is life eternall, Rom. 8. 10.

^b Though this humbling of the king seemed to deserve commendation, yet because he joyed Gods honour with the Prophets, it is to be reprobued, and Daniel herein erred if he suffered it: but it is credible that Daniel admonished him of his fault and did not suffer it.

^c This confession was but a sudden morion, as it was also in Pharaoh, Exod. 9. 37, 38. but his heart was not touched, as appeared soone afterward. ^d Not that the Prophet was desirous of gifts or honour, but because by this meanes he might relieue his poore brethren which were grievously oppressed in this their captiuitie, and also he received them, lest hee should offend this cruell king, which willingly gaue them. ^e He did not this for their private profits, but that the whole Church which was then there in affliction, might haue some reliefe and ease by this benefit. ^f Meaning, that either he was a Iudge, or that he had the whole authoritie, so that none could bee admitted to the Kings presence but by him.

CHAP. III.

¹ The king setteth up a golden image. ⁸ Certaine are accused because they despised the kings commandment, and are put into a burning oven. ¹⁵ By beleefe in God they are deliuered from the fire. ²⁶ Nebuchad-nezzar confesseth the power of God after the sight of the miracle.

^a Vnderpretence of religion & holines in making an image to his idle Bel, he sought his owne ambition and vaine glory: & this declarerh, that he was not touched with the true feare of God before, but that he confessed him on a sudden motion, as the wicked, when they are overcome with the greatnesse of his works. The Greeke interpreters write that this was done eightene yeeres after the dreame, and as may appeare, the king feared lest the Iewes by their Religion should haue altered the state of his common wealth, and therefore he meant to bring all to one kinde of religion, and so rather sought his own quietnesse then Gods glory. ^b Shewing that the idle is not known for an idle so long as he is with the workman: but when the ceremonies and customes are recited and vsed, and the consent of the people is there, then of a blocke they thinke they haue made a god. ^c This was sufficient with the wicked at all times to prooue their religion, if the kings authoritie were alleaged for the establishment thereof, not considering in the meane season what Gods word did permit.

the great God hath shewed the King: what shall come to passe hereafter, and the dreame is true, and the interpretation thereof is sure.

46 ¶ Then the King Nebuchad-nezzar fell upon his face, and ^b bowed himselfe vnto Daniel, and commanded that they should offer meat offerings, and sweet odours vnto him.

47 Also the King answered vnto Daniel, and said, I know of a trueth that your God is a God of gods, and the Lord of kings, and the reuealer of secrets, seeing thou couldst open this secret.

48 So the King made Daniel a great man, and gaue him many and great gifts. He made him gouernor ouer the whole prouince of Babel, and chiefe of the rulers, and aboue all the wise men of Babel.

49 Then Daniel made request to the King, and hee set Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego ouer the charge of the prouince of Babel: but Daniel late in the gate of the King.

Iudges, the receiues, the counsellors, the officers, and all the gouernours of the prouinces were assembled vnto the dedicating of the image, that Nebuchad-nezzar the king had set vp: and they stood before the image, which Nebuchad-nezzar had set vp.

4 ¶ Then an herald cryed aloud, Bee it knowne to you, O people, nations, and languages,

5 That when ye heare the sound of the cornet, trumpet, harpe, sackbut, psalterie, dulcimer, and all instruments of musike, ye fall downe and worship the golden image that Nebuchad-nezzar the king hath set vp.

6 And whosoever falleth not downe and worshippeth, shall the same houre be cast into the mids of an hote fierie fornaice.

7 Therefore as soone as all the people heard the sound of the cornet, trumpet, harp, sackbut, psalterie, and all instruments of musike, all the people, nations, and languages fell downe, and worshipped the golden image, that Nebuchad-nezzar the king had set vp.

8 ¶ By reason wherof at that same time came men of the Caldeans, and grievously accused the Iewes.

9 For they spake and saide to the king Nebuchad-nezzar, O king, liue for euer.

10 Thou, O king, hast made a decree, that euery man that shall heare the sound of the cornet, trumpet, harpe, sackbut, psalterie, and dulcimer, and all instruments of musike, shall fall downe and worship the golden image.

11 And whosoever falleth not downe, and worshippeth, that hee should be cast into the mids of an hote fierie fornaice.

12 There are certaine Iewes whom thou hast set ouer the charge of the Prouince of Babel, Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego: these men, O king, haue not regarded thy commandment, neither will they serue thy gods, nor worship the golden image that thou hast set vp.

13 ¶ Then Nebuchad-nezzar in his anger and wrath commanded that they should bring Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego: so these men were brought before the king.

14 And Nebuchad-nezzar spake and said vnto them, What disorder? will not you, Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego serue my god, nor worship the golden image that I haue set vp?

15 ¶ Now therefore are ye ready when ye heare the sound of the cornet, trumpet, harpe, sackbut, psalterie, and dulcimer, and all instruments of musike, to fall downe and worship the image, which I haue made: for if ye worship it not, ye shall be cast immediately into the mids of an hote fierie fornaice, for who is that God that can deliuer you out of mine hands?

16 Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego answered, and said to the king, O Nebuchad-nezzar, we are not carefull to answer thee in this matter, 17 Behold, our God whom we serue, is God, if they should haue doubted in this holy cause, and therefore they say that they are resolu'd to die for Gods cause.

^d These are the two dangerous weapons wherewith Satan vseth to fight against the children of God, the consent of the multitude, and the cruelty of the punishment: for though some feared God, yet the multitude which consented to the wickednesse, astonished them: and here the king required not an inward consent, but an outward gesture, that the Iewes might by little and little learne to forget their true Religion.

^e It seemeth that they named not Daniel, because he was greatly in the kings fauour, thinking if these three had bene destroyed, they might haue had better occasion to accuse Daniel: and this declarerh that this policie of erecting this image, was inuented by the malicious flatterers, which sought nothing but the destruction of the Iewes, whom they accused of rebellion and ingratitude.

^f Signifying, that he would receive them to grace, if they would now at the length obey his decree.

^g For they should haue done iniurie to God, if they should haue doubted in this holy cause, and therefore they say that they are resolu'd to die for Gods cause.

h They ground on two points, first on the power & providence of God over them, and secondly on their cause, which was Gods glory, and the testifying of his true religion with their blood, and so make open confession, that they will not so much as outwardly consent to idolatry.

i This declareth that y more that tyrants rage, and the more wittie they shew themselves in inuenting strange and cruell punishments, the more is God glorified by his seruantes, to whom he giueth patience & constancie to abide the cruelty of their punishment: for either hee deliuereth them fro death, or els for this life giueth them a better.

k For the Angels were called the sonnes of God because of their excellency: therefore the King called this Angel, whom God sent to comfort his in these great torments, the Sonne of God.

l This commendeth their obedience vnto God, that they would not for any feare depart out of this furnace, till the time appointed, as Noah remained in the Arke till the Lord called him forth.

m He was moued by the greatnesse of the miracle to praise God, but his heart was not touched. And here wee see that miracles are not sufficient to conuert men to God, but that doctrine must chiefly be adioyned without the which there can be no faith.

h able to deliuer vs from the hote fierie furnace, and hee will deliuer vs out of thine hand, O King.

18 But if not, be it known vnto thee, O King, that wee will not serue thy gods, nor worship the golden image, which thou hast set vp.

19 ¶ Then was Nebuchad-nezzar full of rage, and the forme of his visage was changed against Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego: therefore hee charged and commaunded that they should heate the furnace at once seuen times more then it was wont to be heat.

20 And he charged the most valiant men of warre that were in his armie, to binde Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego, and to cast them into the hote fierie furnace.

21 So these men were bound in their coates, their holts, and their clokes, with their other garments, and cast into the mids of the hote fierie furnace.

22 Therefore, because the Kings commaundement was strait, that the furnace should be exceeding hote, the flame of the fire slew those men that brought forth Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego.

23 And these three men, Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego fell downe bound into the mids of the hote fierie furnace.

24 ¶ Then Nebuchad-nezzar the King was astonied and rose vp in halte, and spake, and sayd vnto his counsellors, Did not wee cast these men bound into the middes of the fire? who answered, and said vnto the king, It is true, O King.

25 And hee answered, and sayd, Lor, I see foure men loose, walking in the middes of the fire, and they haue no hurt, and the forme of the fourth is like the Sonne of God.

26 ¶ Then the King Nebuchad-nezzar came neere to the mouth of the hote fierie furnace, and spake and sayd, Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego, the seruantes of the high God, goe forth and come hither: so Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego came forth of the middes of the fire.

27 ¶ Then the nobles, princes, and dukes, and the Kings counsellors came together to see these men, because the fire had no power ouer their bodies: for not an haire of their head was burnt, neither were their coates changed, nor any smell of fire came vpon them.

28 Wherefore Nebuchad-nezzar spake and sayd, Blessed bee the God of Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego, who hath sent his Angel, and deliuered his seruantes, that put their trust in him, and haue changed the Kings commaundement, and reelded their bodies rather then they would serue or worship any god, save their owne God.

29 Therefore I make a decree, that euery people, nation, and language, which speake any blasphemie against the God of Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego, shall bee drawn in pieces, and their houses shall bee made a iakes, because there is no God that can deliuer after this sort.

30 ¶ Then the King promoted Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego, in the province of Babel.

31 Nebuchad-nezzar King vnto all people, nations and languages, that dwell in all the world, Peace be multiplied vnto you:

32 I thought it good to declare the signes & wonders, that the high God hath wrought toward me.

33 ¶ How great are his signes, and how mighty are his wonders! his Kingdome is an euermlasting Kingdome, and his dominion is from generation to generation.

CHAP. liii.

2 Another dreame of Nebuchad-nezzar, which Daniel declareth. 29 The Prophet declareth how of a proud king he should become as a beast. 31 After hee confesseth the power of God, and is restored to his former dignitie.

1 Nebuchad-nezzar being at rest in mine house, and flourishing in my palace,

2 Saw a dreame, which made mee a fralde, and the thoughts vpon my bed, and the visions of mine head troubled me.

3 Therefore made I a decree, that they should bring all the wise men of Babel before me, that they might declare vnto me the interpretation of the dreame.

4 So came the inchanters, the astrologians, the Caldeans and the soothsayers, to whom I tolde the dreame, but they could not shew me the interpretation thereof.

5 Till at the last Daniel came before me, whose name was Belteshazzar, according to the name of my god, which hath the spirit of the holy Gods in him: and before him I tolde the dreame, saying,

6 O Belteshazzar, chiefe of the inchanters, because I know that the spirit of the holy Gods is in thee, and no secret troubleth thee, tell me the visions of my dreame, that I haue seene, and the interpretation thereof.

7 ¶ This were the visions of mine head in my bed. And behold, I saw a tree in the mids of the earth, and the height thereof was great:

8 A great tree and strong, and the height thereof reached vnto heauen, and the sight thereof to the ends of all the earth.

9 The boughes thereof were faire, and the fruite thereof much, and in it was meate for all: it made a shadow vnder it for the beasts of the field, and the d This no doubt was a great grieve to Daniel, not onely to haue his name changed, but to bee called by the name of a vile idole, which thing Nebuchad-nezzar did, to make him forget the true religion of God. e Which also was a great grieve to the Prophet, to be numbred among the sorcerers, and men whose practises were wicked and contrary to Gods word. f By the tree, is signified the dignity of a King, whom God ordeineth to be a defence for all kind of men, and whose state is profitable for mankind.

g Meaning, the Angel of God, which neither eateth nor sleepeth, but is euer ready to do Gods will, and is not infected with mans corruption, but is euer holy: and in that that he commandeth to cut down this tree, he knew that it should not be cut downe by man, but by God. h Hereby hee meaneth that Nebuchad-nezzar should not only for a time lose his kingdom, but be like a beast. i God hath decreed this iudgement, and the whole army of heauen haue as it were subscribed vnto it, like as also they desire the execution of his decree against all them that lift vp themselves against God. k He was troubled for the great iudgment of God which he saw ordained against the King: and so the prophets vsed on the one part to denounce Gods iudgements for the zeale they bare to his glory, and on the other part to haue compassion vpon man, and also to consider that they should be subiect to Gods iudgements, if hee did not regard them with pity. l Whereby hee meaneth a long space, as seuen yeeres. Some interpret seuen moneths, and others seuen weekes: but it seemeth hee meant of yeeres, foules of the heauen dwell in the boughes thereof, and all fleshy fed of it.

10 I saw in the visions of mine head, by on my bed, and behold, a watchman, and an holy one came downe from heauen, 11 And cryed aloud, and said thus, Hew downe the tree, and shake off his branches: shake off his leaues, and scatter his fruite, that the beasts may see from vnder it, and the foules from his branches.

12 Neuertheless leaue the stumpe of his roots in the earth, and with a band of yron and brasse binde it among the grasse of the field, and let it be wet with the dew of heauen, and let his portion bee with the beasts among the grasse of the field.

13 Let his heart be changed from mans nature, and let a beasts heart bee giuen vnto him, and let seuen times be passed ouer him.

14 The sentence is according to the decree of the watchmen, and according to the word of the holy ones: the demand was answered, to the intent that living men may know, that the most High hath power ouer the kingdom of men, and giueth it to whomsoever hee will, and appoynteth ouer it the most abiect among men.

15 This is the dreame, that I King Nebuchad-nezzar haue seene: therefore thou, O Belteshazzar, declare the interpretation thereof: for all the wise men of my kingdom are not able to shew mee the interpretation: but thou art able, for the spirit of the holy gods is in thee.

16 Then Daniel (whose name was Belteshazzar) held his peace by the space of one houre, and his thoughts troubled him, and the King spake and sayd, Belteshazzar, let neither the dreame, nor the interpretation thereof trouble thee. Belteshazzar answered, and said, My lord, the dreame be to them that hate thee, and the interpretation thereof to thine enemies.

17 The tree that thou sawest, which was great and mighty, whose height reached vnto the heauen, and the sight thereof throughe all the world,

18 Whose leaues were faire, and the fruit thereof much, and in it was meat for all, vnder the which beasts of the field dwell, and vpon whose branches the foules of the heauen did sit,

19 It is thou, O King, that art great and mighty: for thy greatnesse is growen, and reacheth vnto heauen, and thy dominion to the ends of the earth.

20 Whereas the king saw a watchman, and a holy one that came downe from heauen, and sayd, Hew downe the tree, and destroy it, yet leaue the stumpe of the roots thereof in the earth, and with a band of yron and brasse binde it among the grasse of the field, and let it be wet with the dew of heauen, and let his portion bee with the beasts of the field, till seuen times passe ouer him,

21 This is the interpretation, O King, and it is the decree of the most High, which is come vpon my lord the King,

22 That they shall driue thee from men, and thy dwelling shall be with the beasts of the field: they shall make thee to eate grasse as the oxen, and they shall wet thee with the dew of heauen: & seuen times shall passe ouer thee, till thou know, that the most High beareth rule ouer the kingdom of men, and giueth it to whomsoever he will.

23 Whereas they sayd, that one should leaue the stumpe of the tree rootes, thy kingdom shall remaine vnto thee: after that, thou shalt know that the heauens haue the rule.

24 Wherefore, O King, let my counsell be acceptable vnto thee, and breake off thy finnes by righteousness, and chine iniquities by mercie toward the poore: loe, let there be an healing of thine errour.

25 All these things shall come vpon the King Nebuchad-nezzar.

26 At the end of twelue moneths, he walked in the royall palace of Babel.

27 And the King spake and sayd, Is not this great Babel, that I haue built for the house of the kingdom by the might of my power, and for the honour of my majesty?

28 While the worde was in the Kings mouth, a voyce came downe from heauen, saying, O king Nebuchad-nezzar, to thee he is spoken, Thy kingdom is departed from thee, 29 And they shall driue thee from men, and thy dwelling shall be with the beasts of the field: they shall make thee to eate grasse, as the oxen, and seuen times shall passe ouer thee, vntill thou knowest, that the most High beareth rule ouer the kingdom of men, and giueth it vnto whomsoever he will.

30 The very same houre was this thing fulfilled vpon Nebuchad-nezzar, and hee was driven from men, and did eate grasse as the oxen, and his body was wet with the dew of heauen, till his haire was growen as Eagles feathers, and his nayles like birdes claws.

31 And at the end of these dayes I Nebuchad-nezzar lift by mine eyes vnto heauen, and mine vnderstanding was restored vnto me, and I gaue thanks vnto the most High, and I praised and honoured him that liueth for euer, whose power is an everlasting power, and his kingdom is from generation to generation.

32 And all the inhabitants of the earth are reputed as nothing: and according to his will he worketh in the armie of heauen, and in the inhabitants of the earth: and none can stay his hand, nor say vnto him, What dost thou?

33 At the same time was mine vnderstanding restored vnto me, and I returned to the honour of my kingdom: my glory and my beauty was restored vnto mee, and my counsellers, and my princes sought vnto mee, and I was established in my kingdom, and my glory was augmented toward me.

24 Now therefore, I Nebuchad-nezzar stand content there with, and giue him the glory. I seemeth that he had bene put from his kingdom before.

24 Now therefore, I Nebuchad-nezzar stand content there with, and giue him the glory. I seemeth that he had bene put from his kingdom before.

m Not that his shape or forme was changed into a beast, but that he was either stricken mad, and so auoied mans company, or was cast out for his tyranny, and so wandred among beasts, and ate herbes and grasse.

n Daniel sheweth the cause why God thus punished him.

o Ceaseth from prouoking God to anger any longer by thy finnes, that he may mitigate his punishment, if thou shew by thine vpright life that thou hast true faith and repentance.

p Suffer the errors of thy former life to be redressed.

q After that Daniel had declared this vision: and this his pride declarath that it is not in man to conuert to God except his Spirit moue him, seeing that these terrible threatenings could not moue him to repent.

CHAP. V.

5 Belshazzar King of Babylon seeth an hand writing on the wall. 8 The soothsayers called of the King cannot expound the writing. 25 Daniel readeth it, and interpreteth it also. 30 The King is slaine. 31 Darius enjoyeth the kingdome.

a Daniel reciteth this history of king Belshazzar Builmerodachs sonne, to shew Gods iudgements against the wicked, for the deliuerance of his Church, & how the prophetic of Ieremiah was true, that they should be deliuered after seenty yeeres.

b The kings of the East parts then vsed to sit alone commonly, and disdained that any should sit in their company: and now to shew his power, and how little he set by his enemy, which then besieged Babylon, he made a solenne banquet, and vsed excess in their company, which is meant here by drinking wine: thus the wicked are most dissolute and negligent when their destruction is at hand.

Or, overcome with wine.

c Meaning, his grandfather.

d In contempt of the true God they praised their idoles, not that they thought that the gold or siluer were gods, but that there was a certain vertue and power in them to doe them good, which is also opinion of all idolaters. e That it might be better borne. f So he that before contemned God, was moued by this sight to tremble for feare of Gods iudgements. g Thus the wicked in their troubles seeke many meanes, who draw them fro God, because they seeke not to him who is the only comfort in all afflictions. h To wit, his grandmother Nebuchad-nezzars wife, which for her age was not before at the feast, but came thither when she heard of these strange newes.

King Belshazzar made a great feast to a thousand of his princes, and dranke wine before the thousand.

2 And Belshazzar while he tasted the wine, commaunded to bring him the golden and siluer vessels, which his father Nebuchad-nezzar had brought from the Temple in Ierusalem, that the king and his princes, his wines, and his concubines might drinke therein.

3 Then were brought the golden vessels, that were taken out of the Temple of the Lords house at Ierusalem, and the king and his princes, his wines, and his concubines dranke in them.

4 They dranke wine, and prayled the gods of gold and of siluer, of brasse, of yron, of wood and of stone.

5 At the same houre appeared fingers of a mans hand, which wrote ouer against the candlesticke upon the playster of the wall of the kings palace, & the king saw the palme of the hand that wrote.

6 Then the kings countenance was changed, and his thoughts troubled him, so that the foynts of his loynes were loosed, and his knees smote one against the other.

7 Wherefore the king cryed lowde, that they should bring the Astrologians, the Chaldeans & the soothsayers. And the King spake, and sayd to the wise men of Babel, Whosoever can read this writing, and declare mee the interpretation thereof, shall be clothed with purple, and shall haue a chaine of gold about his necke, and shall bee the third ruler in the kingdome.

8 Then came all the kings wise men, but they could neither reade the writing, nor shew the King the interpretation.

9 Then was King Belshazzar greatly troubled, and his countenance was changed in him, and his princes were astonished.

10 Now the Queene by reason of the talke of the King and his princes, came into the banquet house, and the Queene spake, and said, O King, line for euer: let not thy thoughts trouble thee, nor let thy countenance be changed.

11 There is a man in thy kingdome, in whom is the spirit of the holy gods, and in the dayes of thy father, light and understanding and wisdom like the wisdom of the gods, was found in him: whom the King Nebuchad-nezzar thy father, the King, I say, thy father, made chiefe of the Inchanters, Astrologians, Chaldeans, and Soothsayers, i Reade Chap. 4.

12 Because a more excellent spirit, and knowledge, and understanding (for hee did expound dreames, and declare hard sentences, and dissolued doubts) were found in him, even in Daniel, whom the king named Belshazzar: now let Daniel be called, and he will declare the interpretation.

13 Then was Daniel brought before the king, and the king spake, and sayd vnto Daniel, Art thou that Daniel, which art of the children of the captiuitie of Iudah, whom my father the King brought out of Iurie?

14 Now I haue heard of thee, that the spirit of the holy gods is in thee, and that light and understanding, and excellent wisdom is found in thee.

15 Now therefore, wise men and Astrologians haue bene brought before mee, that they should reade this writing, and shew mee the interpretation thereof, but they could not declare the interpretation of the thing.

16 Then heard I of thee, that thou couldest shewe interpretations, and dissolue doubts: now if thou canst reade the writing, and shew me the interpretation thereof, thou shalt be clothed with purple, & shalt haue a chaine of golde about thy necke, and shalt be the third ruler in the kingdome.

17 Then Daniel answered, and sayd before the king, Keepe thy rewards to thy selfe, and giue thy gifts to another: yet I will reade the writing vnto the king, and shew him the interpretation.

18 O king, heare thou, The most High God gaue vnto Nebuchad-nezzar thy father a kingdome, and maiestie, and honour, and glory.

19 And for the maiestie that he gaue him, all people, nations, and languages trembled and feared before him: hee put to death whom he would: he smote whom he would: whom hee would he set vp, and whom hee would he put downe.

20 But when his heart was puffed up, and his mind hardened in pride, he was deposed from his kingly throne, and they tooke his honour from him.

21 And he was driuen from the sonnes of men, & his heart was made like the beasts, and his dwelling was with the wilde asses: they fedde him with grasse like oxen, and his body was wet with the dew of the heauen, till hee knew that the most High God bare rule ouer the kingdome of men, and that he appointeth ouer it, whomsoever hee pleaseth.

22 And thou his sonne, O Belshazzar, hast not humbled thine heart, though thou knewest all these things, k For the idolaters thought, that the Angels had power as God, and therefore had them in like estimation, as they had God, thinking that the spirit of prophetic and vnderstanding came of them.

l Before he reade the writing, he declareth to the king his great ingratitude toward God, who could not be moued to giue him the glory, considering his wonderfull worke toward his grandfather, and so sheweth that he doth not shewe of ignorance, but of malice.

23 But

23 But hast lift up thy selfe against the Lord of heauen, & they haue brought the vessels of his house before thee, and thou & thy princes, thy wines and thy concubines haue drunke wine in them, and thou hast prayed the gods of silver and golde, of brasse, yron, wood, and stone, which neither see, neither heare, nor vnderstand: and the God in whose hand thy breath is and all thy wayes, him hast thou not glorified.

m After that God had so long time deferred his anger, and patiently waited for thine amendment.

n This word is twise written for the certaintie of the thing: shewing that God had most surely counted: signifying also that God hath appointed a terme for all kingdomes, and that a miserable end shall come on all that raise themselves against him.

Or, wanting. o Cyrus his sonne in law gaue him this title of honour, although Cyrus in effect had the dominion.

24 Then was the palme of the hand sent from him, & hath written this writing.

25 And this is the writing that hee hath written, MENE, MENE, TEKEL VP HARSIN.

26 This is the interpretation of the thing, MENE, God hath numbred thy kingdom, and hath finished it.

27 TEKEL, thou art weighed in the ballance, and art found || too light.

28 PERES, thy kingdom is diuided, and giuen to the Medes and Persians.

29 Then at the commandement of Belshazzar, they clothed Daniel with purple, and put a chaine of golde about his necke, and made a proclamation concerning him, that he should be the third ruler in the kingdom.

30 The same night was Belshazzar the king of the Chaldeans slaine.

31 And Darius of the Medes took the kingdom, being threescore & two yeere olde.

CHAP. VI.

1 Daniel is made ruler ouer the gouernours. 5 An act against Daniel. 16 He is put into a denne of lions by the commandement of the King. 23 He is deliuered by faith in God. 24 Daniels accusers are put vnto the lions. 25 Darius by a decree magnifieth the God of Daniel.

a Reade Ester, Chap. 1. 1.

Or, not be troubled.

b This heathen King preferred Daniel a stranger to all his nobles and familiars, because the graces of God were more excellent in him then in others.

c Thus the wicked cannot abide the graces of God in others, but seeke by all occasions to deface them: therefore against such assaults there is no better remedie then to walke vprightly in the feare of God, and to haue a good conscience.

I pleased Darius to set ouer the kingdom an hundred and twentie gouernours, which should be ouer the whole kingdom.

2 And ouer these, three rulers (of whom Daniel was one) that the gouernours might giue accoupts vnto them, and the King should haue no damage.

3 Now this Daniel was preferred aboue the rulers and gouernours, because the spirit was excellent in him, and the King thought to set him ouer the whole Realme.

4 Therefore the rulers and gouernours sought an occasion against Daniel concerning the kingdom: but they could finde none occasion nor fault: for he was so faithfull that there was no blame nor fault found in him.

5 Then said these men, Wee shall not finde an occasion against this Daniel, except we finde it against him concerning the Law of his God.

6 Therefore the rulers and these gouernours went together to the King, and sayd thus vnto him, King Darius, liue for euer.

7 All the rulers of thy kingdom, the officers and gouernours, the counsellors, and dukes haue consulted together to make a decree for the King, and to establish a statute, that whosoever shall aske a petition of any god or man for thirtie dayes saue of thee, O king, he shall be cast into the den of lions.

8 Now, O king, confirme the decree, and seale the writing, that it be not changed, according to the law of the Medes and Persians, which altereth not.

9 Therefore king Darius sealed the writing and the decree.

10 Now when Daniel vnderstood that he had sealed the writing, hee went into his house, and his window being open in his chamber toward Jerusalem, he kneeled vpon his knees three times a day, and prayed, and praised his God, as he did aforetime.

11 Then these men assembled, and found Daniel praying, and making supplication vnto his God.

12 So they came, and spake vnto the king concerning the kings decree, Hast thou not sealed the decree, that euery man that shall make request to any God or man within thirtie dayes, saue to thee, O king, shall be cast into the denne of lions? The king answered, and said, The thing is true, according to the Law of the Medes and Persians, which altereth not.

13 Then answered they, and said vnto the king, This Daniel which is of the children of the captiuitie of Iudah, regardeth not thee, O King, nor the decree that thou hast sealed, but maketh his petition three times a day.

14 When the king heard these words, he was sore displeased with himselfe, and set his heart on Daniel to deliuer him: and he laboured till the Sunne went downe, to deliuer him.

15 Then these men assembled vnto the king, and said vnto the king, Understand, O King, that the Law of the Medes and Persians is, that no decree nor statute which the king confirmeth, may be altered.

16 Then the king commanded, and they brought Daniel, and cast him into the denne of lions: now the king spake, and said vnto Daniel, Thy God, whom thou alway seruest, euen he will deliuer thee.

17 And a stone was brought, and layde vpon the mouth of the denne, and the king sealed it with his owne signet, and with the signet of his princes, that the purpose might not be changed, concerning Daniel.

18 Then the king went vnto his palace, and remained fasting, neither were the instruments of musike brought before him, and his sleepe went from him.

19 Then the King arose early in the morning, and went in all haste vnto the den of lions.

20 And when hee came to the denne, hee cried with a lamentable voyce vnto Daniel:

and

d Herein is condemned the wickednesse of the king, who would be set vp as a god, and passed not what wicked lawes he approved for the maintenance of the same.

e Because hee would not by his licence shew that he consented to this wicked decree, he set open his windowes toward Jerusalem, when hee prayed: both to stirre vp himselfe with the remembrance of Gods promises to his people whē they should pray toward that Temple, and also that other might see, that he would neither consent in heart nor deed for these few dayes to any thing that was contrary to Gods glory.

f Thus the wicked maintaine euill lawes by constancie and authority, which is oft times either lightnesse, or stubbornnesse, when as the innocents thereby perish, & therefore gouernours neither ought to feare nor be ashamed to breake such.

g This declareth that Darius was not touched with the true knowledge of God, because he doubted of his power. h My iust cause and vprightnesse in this thing, wherein I was charged, is approved of God. i For he did disobey the kings wicked commandement, to obey God, and so did no injury to the king, who ought to command nothing, whereby God should be dishonoured.

k Because he committed himself wholly vnto God, whose cause he did defend, he was assured that nothing but good could come vnto him: wherein we see the power of faith, as Heb. 11. 33. l This is a terrible example a gainst all the wicked, which doe against their conscience make cruell lawes to destroy the children of God, and also admonisheth Princes how to punish such, when their wickednes is come to light; though not in euery point, or with like circumstances, yet to execute true iustice vpon them.

m This proueth not that Darius did worship God aright, or els was conuerted: for then hee would haue destroyed all superstition and idolatry, and not only giuen God the chiefe place, but also haue set him vp, and caused him to be honoured according to his word: but this was a certaine confession of Gods power, whereunto hee was compelled by this wonderfull miracle. n Which hath not onely life in himselfe, but is the onely fountaine of life, and quickeneth all things, so that without him there is no life.

o And the king spake, and said to Daniel, O Daniel, the seruant of the liuing God, is not thy God (whom thou alway seruest) able to deliuer thee from the lions? 21 Then said Daniel vnto the King, O King, liue for euer.

22 My God hath sent his Angel, and hath shut the Lyons mouths, that they haue not hurt mee, for my iustice was found out before him, and vnto thee, O King, I haue done no hurt.

23 Then was the king exceeding glad for him, and commanded that they should take Daniel out of the den: so Daniel was brought out of the den, and no manner of hurt was found vpon him, because hee belieued in his God.

24 And by the commaundement of the king, these men which had accused Daniel, were brought, and were cast into the den of lions, even they, their children, & their wiues: and the lions had the masterye of them, and brake all their bones a pices, or euer they came at the ground of the den.

25 Afterward king Darius wrote, vnto all people, nations and languages, that dwell in all the world: Peace be multiplied vnto you.

26 I make a decree, that in all the dominion of my kingdom, men tremble and feare before the God of Daniel: for he is the liuing God, and remaineth for euer: and his kingdom shall not perith, and his dominion shall be euerslasting.

27 He rescuerth & deliuereth, and he worketh signes and wonders in heauen and in earth: who hath deliuered Daniel from the power of the Lyons.

28 So this Daniel prospered in the reigne of Darius, and in the reigne of Cyrus of Persia.

CHAP. VII.

3 A vision of foure beasts is shewed vnto Daniel. 8 The ten hornes of the fourth beast. 27 Of the euerglasting kingdome of Christ.

I n the first yere of Belshazzar king of Babylon, Daniel saw a dreame, and there were visions in his head, vpon his bed: then hee looked for a continuall quietnesse after these seuentie yeeres, as Jeremiah had declared, he sheweth that this rest shall not be a deliuerance from all troubles, but a beginning, and therfore encouraged them to looke for a continuall affliction till the Messiah be vttered and reuealed, by whom they should haue a spirituall deliuerance, and all the promises fulfilled: whereof they should haue a certaine token in the destruction of the Babylonicall kingdome, wrote the dreame, and declared the summe of the matter.

2 Daniel spake and sayd, I saw in my vision by night, and beholde, the foure windes of the heauen stroue vpon the great sea:

3 And foure great beasts came up from the sea, one diuers from another.

4 The first was as a lion, and had egles wings: I beheld, and the wings thereof were plucked off, & he was lifted, vp from the earth, and set vpon his feete as a man, and a mans heart was giuen him.

5 And behold, another beast which was the second, was like a beare, and stood vpon the one side: and he had three ribbes in his mouth betwene his teeth, & and they laid thus vnto him, Arise, and deuoure much flesh.

6 After this, I beheld, and loe, there was another like a leopard, which had vpon his backe foure wings of a foule: the beast had also foure heads, and dominion was giuen him.

7 After this, I sawe in the visions by night, and beholde, the fourth beast, was fearefull, and terrible, and very strong: It had great iron teeth: it deuoured, and brake in pices, and stamped the residue vnder his feete: and it was vniuersall to the beasts that were before it: for it had tenne hornes.

8 As I considered the hornes, beholde, there came up among them another little horne, before whom there were three of and cruell. e They were smal in the beginning, and were shut vp in their mountaines, and had no bruit, f That is, destroyed many kingdomes, and was insatiable: g To wit, the Angels by Gods commandement, who by this means punished the ingratitude of the world. h Meaning Alexander the king of Macedonie. i That is, his foure chiefe captaines, which had the empire among them after his death. Seleucus had Asia the great, Antigonus the lesse, Cassander, and after him Antipater was king of Macedonia, & Ptolemus had Egypt. k It was not of himselfe, nor of his own power that he gate all these countreyes: for his army contained but thirty thousand men, and he ouercame in one battell Darius, which had ten hundred thousand when he was so heauy with sleepe, that his eyes were scarce open, as the stories report: therefore this power was giuen him of God. l That is, the Romane Empire, which was a monster, and could not bee compared to any beast, because the nature of none was able to expresse it. m Signifying the tyrannie and greedinesse of the Romanes. n That which the Romanes could not quietly enioy in other countreys, they would giue it to other kings and rulers, that at all times when they would, they might take it againe: which liberality is here called the stamping of the rest vnder the feete. o That is, sundry and diuers prouinces, which were gouerned by the Deputies and Proconsuls, wherof euery one might bee compared to a King. p Which is meant of Iulius Caesar, Augustus, Tiberius, Caligula, Claudius & Nero, &c. who were as kings in effect, but because they could not rule, but by the consent of the Senate, their power is compared to a little horne. For Mahomet came not of the Romane Empire, and the Pope hath no vocation of gouernment: therefore this cannot be applied vnto them. And also in this prophecie the Prophets purpose is chiefly to comfort the Iewes vnto the reuelation of Christ. Some take it for the whole body of Antichrist. q Meaning, a certaine portion of the tenne hornes: that is, a part from the whole estate was plucked away. For Augustus tooke from the Senate the libertie of chusing the Deputies to send into the prouinces, and tooke the gouernment of certayne countreys to himselfe.

b Which signified that there should be horrible troubles and afflictions in the world, in all corners of the world, and at sundry times. c Meaning, the Assyrian & Caldean Empire which was most strong and fierce in power and most soone come to their authoritie, as though they had had their wings were pulled by the Persians, & they went on their feete, and were made like other men, which is here meant by mans heart.

d Meaning, the Persians, which were barbarous

r These Romane Emperors at the first vsed a certaine humanitie, and gentilenesse, & were content that others as the Consuls and Senate should beare the name of dignitie, so that they might haue the profite, and therefore in elections and counsels would behaue themselves according as did other Senators: yet against their enemies, and those that would resist them, they were fierce and cruell, which is here meant by the proud mouth. f Meaning, the places where God and his Angels should come to iudge these Monarchies, which iudgement should begin at the first coming of Christ. t That is, God which was before all times, & is here described as mans nature is able to comprehend some portion of his glory.

u That is, an infinite number of Angels, which were ready to execute his commandement. x This is meant of the first coming of Christ, when as the will of God was plainly reuealed by his Gospel. y Meaning, that he was astonished when he saw these Emperours in such dignitie and pride, and so suddenly destroyed at the coming of Christ, when this fourth Monarchy was subiect to men of other nations. z As the three former Monarchies had an end, at the time that God appointed, although, they flourished for a time, so shall this fourth haue, and they that patiently abide Gods appointment, shall enioy the promises. a Which is meant of Christ, who had not yet taken vpon him mans nature, neither was the son of David according to the flesh, as he was afterward: but appeared then in a figure, and that in the cloudes: that is, being separate from the common sort of men by manifest signes of his diuinity. b To wit, when he ascended into the heauen, and his diuine Maiestie appeared, and all power was given vnto him in respect of that that he was our Mediatour. c This is meant of the beginning of Christs kingdome, when God the Father gaue vnto him all dominion, as to the Mediatour to the intent that hee should gouerne heere his Church in earth continually, till the time that he brought them to eternall life. d Through the strangeness of the vision. e Meaning, of the Angels, as verse 10.

the first hornes pluckt away: and beholde, in this horne were eyes like the eyes of man, and a mouth speaking presumptuous things.

9 I beheld, till the thrones were set by, and the Ancient of daies did sit, whose garment was white as snow, and the haire of his head like the pure wooll: his throne was like the fiery flame, and his feet as burning fire.

10 A fiery streame issued, and came forth from before him: thousand thousand ministered vnto him, and ten thousand thousand stood before him: the iudgement was set, and the bookes opened.

11 Then I beheld, & because of the voyce of the presumptuous words, which the horne spake: I behelde, euen till the beast was slaine, and his body destroyed, and given to the burning fire.

12 As concerning the other beasts, they had taken away their dominion, yet their liues were prolonged for a certaine time and season.

13 As I beheld in visions by night, behold, one like the sonne of man came in the cloudes of heauen, and approached vnto the Ancient of daies, and they brought him before him.

14 And hee gaue him dominion, and honour, and a kingdome, that all people, nations and languages should serue him: his dominion is an everlasting dominion, which shall neuer bee taken away: and his kingdome shall neuer be destroyed.

15 I Daniel was troubled in my spirit in the middes of my body, and the visions of mine heade made mee afraid.

16 Therefore I came vnto one of them that stood by, and asked him the truth of all this: so hee tolde mee, and shewed mee the interpretation of these things.

17 These great beasts which are four, are four kings, which shall arise out of the earth.

18 And they shall take the kingdome of the Saints of the most High, which shall possesse the kingdome for euer, euen for euer and euer.

19 After this I would know the truth of the fourth beast, which was so unlike to all the others, very fearefull, whose teeth were of yron, and his nailes of brasie, which deuoured, brake in pices, and stamped the residue vnder his feet.

20 Also to know of the tenne hornes that were in his head, & of the other which came by, before whom they fell, and of the horne that had eyes, and of the mouth that spake presumptuous things, whose looke was more stout then his fellows.

21 I behelde, and the same horne made battell against the Saints, yea and preuailed against them, 22 Untill the Ancient of daies came, and iudgement was given to the Saints of the most High: and the time approached, that the Saints possessed the kingdome.

23 Then he said, The fourth beast shall be the fourth kingdome in the earth, which shall be unlike to all the kingdomes, and shall deuoure the whole earth, and shall treade it downe and breake it in pices.

24 And the tenne hornes out of this kingdome are ten kings that shall rise: & another shall rise after them, and he shall be unlike to the first, and he shall subdue three kings,

25 And shall speake words against the most High, and shall consume the Saints of the most High, and thinke that hee may change times and lawes, and they shall be giuen vnto his hand, untill a time, & times, and the diuiding of time.

26 But the iudgement shall sit, and they shall take away his dominion, to consume and destroy it vnto the end.

27 And the kingdome, and dominion, retained them for terme of life: also the Romans were the strongest of all the other, and were neuer quiet among themselves. i Reade verse 7. k This is meant of the fourth beast, which was more terrible then the other. l Meaning, the Roman Emperors, who were most cruel against the Church of God both of the Iewes and of the Gentiles. m Til God shewed his power in the person of Christ, & by the preaching of the Gospel gaue vnto his sonne rest, & so obtained a famous name in the world, & were called the Church of God, or the kingdome of God. n Reade the exposition hereof vers 8. o That shall make wicked decrees & proclamations against Gods word & send thorowout all their dominion, to destroy all that did professe it. p These Emperours shall not consider that they haue their power of God, but thinke it is in their owne power to change Gods Lawes and mans, and as it were the order of nature, as appeareth by Octavius, Tiberius, Caligula, Nero Domitianus, &c. q God shall suffer the thus to rage against his Saints for a long time, which is meant by the time and times, but at length he will awaige these troubles, and shorten the times for his elects sake, Matth. 24. 22. which is here meant by the diuiding of time. r God by his power shall restore things that were out of order, and so destroy this little horne that it should neuer rise vp againe. s He sheweth wherefore the beast should be destroyed, to wit, that his Church might haue rest and quietnesse, which though they do not fully enioy here, yet they haue it in hope, and by the preaching of the Gospel enioy the beginning thereof, which is meant by these words, Under the heauen: and therefore he here speaketh of the beginning of Christs kingdome in this world, which kingdome the faithfull haue by the participation that they haue with Christ their head.

and

a That is, some of euery fort that beare rule.

u Though hee had many motions in his heart which moued him to and fro to seeke out this matter curiously;

yet was hee content with that which God reuealed, and kept it in memorie, and wrote it for the vse of the Church.

CHAP. VIII.

1 A vision of a battell betwene a ramme and a goat. 20 The understanding of the vision.

a After the generall vision he commeth to certaine particular visions, as touching the destruction of the monarchy of the Persians & Macedonians: for the ruine of the Babylonians was at hand, and also he had sufficiently spoken thereof.

b That is, of Persia.

c Which represented the kingdom of the Persians and Medes, which were ioyned together.

d Meaning, Cyrus, which after grew greater in power then Darius his vncle & farther in law.

e That is, no kings or nations.

f Meaning Alexander that came from Grecia with great speede and expedition.

g Though hee came in the name of all Grecia, yet he bare the title and dignitie of the generall captain.

h Alexander overcame Darius in two severall battels, and so had the two kingdoms of the Medes and Persians. i Alexanders great power was broken: for when he had overcome all the East, he thought to returne toward Grecia, to subdue them that there had rebelled, and so died by the way. k That is, which were famous: for almost in the space of fiftene yeere there were fiftene diuers successors before this monarchy was diuided to these foure, whereof Cassander had Macedonia, Seleucus Syria, Antigonus Asia the lesse, and Ptolemeus Egypt. l Which was Antiochus Epiphanes, who was of a ferocie and flattering nature, and also there were other betwene him and the kingdoms: and therefore is here called the little horne, because neither princely conditions, nor any other thing was in him, why he should obtaine this kingdom.

and the greatnesse of the kingdom under the whole heauen shall bee giuen to the holy people of the most high, whose kingdom is an euermourning kingdom, and all powers shall serue and obey him.

28 Euen this is the end of the matter, I Daniel had many cogitations which troubled mee, and my countenance changed in me; but I kept the matter in my heart.

yet was hee content with that which God reuealed, and kept it in memorie, and wrote it for the vse of the Church.

1 A vision of a battell betwene a ramme and a goat. 20 The understanding of the vision.

1 Belshazzar, a vision appeared unto mee, euen vnto mee Daniel, after that which appeared vnto mee at the first.

2 And I saw in a vision, and when I saw it, I was in the palace of Shushan, which is in the prouince of Elam, and in a vision me thought I was by the river of Elai.

3 Then I looked up, and saw, and behold, there stood before the river a ramme, which had two hornes: and these two hornes were his: but one was higher then another, and the highest came vp last.

4 I saw the ramme pushing against the West, & against the North, and against the South: so that no beasts might stand before him; nor could deliver out of his hand, but he did what he listed, and became great.

5 And as I considered, behold, a goat came from the West over the whole earth, and touched not the ground: and this goat had an horn that appeared betwene his eyes.

6 And he came vnto the ramme that had the two hornes, whom I had seene standing by the river, and ranne vnto him in his fierce rage.

7 And I saw him come vnto the ramme, and being moued against him, hee smote the ramme, and brake his two hornes, and there was no power in the ramme to stand against him, but hee cast him downe to the ground, and stamped vpon him, and there was none that could deliver the ramme out of his power.

8 Therefore the goat waxed exceeding great, and when he was at the strongest, his great horn was broken: and for it came vp foure that appeared toward foure windes of the heauen.

9 And out of one of them came forth a litle horne, which waxed very great toward the South, and toward the East, and toward the pleasant land.

10 And it grew vp vnto the hoste of heaven, and it cast downe some of the hoste, and of the starres to the ground, and trode vpon them.

11 And extolled himselfe against the prince of the hoste, from whom the dayly sacrifice was taken away, and the place of his sanctuary was cast downe.

12 And a time shall bee giuen him ouer the dayly sacrifice for the iniquity: and it shall cast downe the truth to the ground, and thus shall it doe and prosper.

13 Then I heard one of the Saints speaking, & one of the Saints spake vnto a certaine one, saying, How long shall endure the vision of the dayly sacrifice, and the iniquitie of the desolation to tread both the Sanctuary and the yarmie under foote?

14 And hee answered mee, Vnto the evening, and the morning, two thousand and three hundred, then shall the Sanctuary be cleansed.

15 Now when I Daniel had seene the vision, and sought for the meaning, behold, there stood before me like the similitude of a man.

16 And I heard a mans voyce betwene the banks of Elai, which called and sayd, Gabriel, make this man to understand the vision.

17 So he came where I stood: and when he came, I was afraid, and fel vpon my face: but he said vnto me, Understand, O sonne of man: for in the last time shall be the vision.

18 Now as he was speaking vnto me, I being asleep fell on my face to the ground: but he touched me, & set me vp in my place.

19 And he said, Behold, I will shew thee what shall be in the last wrath: for in the end of the time appointed it shall come.

20 The ramme which thou sawest hauing two hornes, are the kings of the Medes and Persians.

21 And the goat is the king of Grecia, and the great horn that is betwene his eyes, is the first king.

22 And that that is broken, and foure stood vp for it, are foure kingdoms, which shall stand vp of that nation, but not in his strength.

23 And in the ende of these kingdomes, when the rebellious shall be consumed, a king of fierce countenance, and understanding a certaine one, or a secret one, or a marueilous one.

x That is, the Lewes sinnes, which were cause of this destruction.

y That is, which suppresseth Gods religion, and his people.

z Christ answered me for the comfort of his Church.

a That is, vntill so many naturall dayes be past, which make fixe yeeres, three moneths, and a halfe: for so long vader Antiochus was the Temple prophaned.

b Which was Christ, who in this maner declared himselfe to the old Fathers, how he would be God manifested in flesh.

c This power to command the Angel declared that he was God.

d The effect of this vision shall not yet appeare, but a long time after.

e Meaning that great rage which Antiochus should shew against the Church.

f That is, out of Grecia.

g They shall not haue like power as had Alexander.

h Noting that this Antiochus was inpatient and cruell, and also craftie, that he could not be deceived.

m That is, toward Egypt.

n Whereby he meaneth Ptolemais.

o That is, Iudea.

p Antiochus ragged against the elect of God, and trode his precious statutes vnder foote, which are so called, because they are separated from the world.

3 And I turned my face vnto the Lord God, and I sought by prayer and supplications, with fasting, and sackcloth and ashes.

4 And I prayed vnto the Lord my God, and made my confession, saying, O Lord God, which art great and fearefull, and keepest covenant & mercie toward them which loue thee, and toward them that keepe thy commandments,

5 We haue sinned, and haue committed iniquitie, and haue done wickedly, yea, wee haue rebelled, and haue departed from thy precepts, and from thy iudgements.

9 For wee would not obey thy seruants the Prophets, which spake in thy name to our kings, to our princes, and to our fathers, and to all the people of the land.

this day vnto every man of Iudah, and to the inhabitants of Ierusalem: yea, vnto all Israel, both nere and farre off, through all the countreys, whither thou hast driuen them, because of their offences, that they haue committed against thee.

8 O Lord, vnto vs appertaineth open shame, to our kings, to our princes, and to our fathers, because wee haue sinned against thee.

9 Yet compassion and forgiveness is in the Lord our God, albeit we haue rebelled against him.

10 For we haue not obeyed the voyce of the Lord our God, to walke in his Lawes, which hee had said before vs by the ministration of his seruants the Prophets.

11 Yea, all Israel haue transgressed thy law, and are turned backe, & haue not heard thy voyce: therefore the curse is powred vpon vs, and the oath that is written in the Law of Moses thy seruant of God, because wee haue sinned against him.

12 And hee hath confirmed his wordes, which he spake against vs, and against our Judges that iudged vs, by bringing vpon vs a great plague: for vnder the whole heauen hath not bene the like, as hath bene brought vpon Ierusalem.

13 All this plague is come vpon vs, as it is written in the law of Moses: yet made we not our prayer before the Lord our God, that we might turne from our iniquities, and vnderstand thy truth.

14 Therefore hath the Lord made ready the plague, and brought it vpon vs: for the Lord our God is righteous in all his workes which hee doeth: for wee would not heare his voyce.

15 And now, O Lord our God, that hast brought thy people out of the land of Egypt with a mightie hand, and hast gotten thee renowne, as appeareth this day, we haue sinned, we haue done wickedly.

16 O Lord, according to all thy righteousness, I beseech thee, let thine anger & thy wrath be turned away from thy cite Ierusalem thine holy mountaine: for because of our sinnes, and for the iniquities of our fathers, Ierusalem and thy people are a reproch to all that are about vs.

17 Now therefore, O our God, heare the prayer of thy seruant and his supplications, and cause thy face to shine vpon thy Sanctuary, that lieth waste for the Lords sake.

18 O my God, incline thine eare, and heare: open thine eyes, and behold our desolations, and the cite where vpon thy name is called: for wee doe not present our supplications before thee for our owne righteousness, but for thy great tender mercies.

19 O Lord heare, O Lord forgive, O Lord consider and doe it, deferre not, for thine owne sake, O my God: for thy name is called vpon thy cite, and vpon thy people.

the holy mountaine of my God,

21 Then, while I was speaking in prayer, even the man Gabriel whom I had scene before in the vision, came flying, and touched mee about the time of the evening oblation.

22 And he informed me, and talked with mee, and said, O Daniel, I am now come forth to giue thee knowledge and vnderstanding.

23 At the beginning of thy supplications the commandement came forth, and I am come to shew thee, for thou art greatly beloved: therefore vnderstand the matter and consider the vision.

24 Seuentie & weekes are determined by-on thy people, and vpon thine holy cite, to finish the wickednesse, and to seale up the skinner, and to reconcile the iniquity, and to bring in euerslasting righteousness, & to seale by the vision and prophetic, and to annoynt the most holy.

25 Know therefore and vnderstand, that from the going forth of the commandement to bring againe the people, and to build Jerusalem vnto Messiah the Prince, shall be seuen & weekes, and & therscore & two weekes, and the streete shall be built againe, and the wall euen in a & troublous time.

26 And after therscore and two & weekes, shall Messiah be slaine, and shall & haue nothing, and the people of the prince that shall come, shall destroy the city and the Sanctuary, and the end thereof shall be with a flood:
and vnto the end of the battell it shall be destroyed by desolations.

27 And he shall & confirme the couenant with many for one weeke: and in the mids of the weeke he shall cause the sacrifice and the oblation to cease, & & for the ouerspreading of the abominations, hee shall make it desolate, euen vntill the consummation determined shall be powred vpon the desolate.

hend the time from the building of the Temple, vnto the baptism of Christ. f Ebr. in straits of time. x In this last weeke of the se-

There appeareth vnto Daniel a man clothed in linen. 1. which sheweth him wherefore he is sent.

a He noteth this third yeere, because at this time the building of the temple began to be hindered by Cambyses Cyrus

sonne, when the father made warre in Asia minor against the Scy-thians, which was a discouraging to the godly, and a great feare to Daniel. b Which is to declare that the godly should not hasten too much, but patiently to abide the issue of Gods promise.

2 At the same time I Daniel was in bea-uities for three weekes of dayes.

3 I ate no pleasant bread, neither came flesh, nor wine in my mouth, neither did I anoint my selfe at all till three weekes of dayes were fulfilled.

4 And in the four and twentieth day of the first moneth, as I was by the side of that great river, euen Tigris,

5 And I lift up mine eyes, and looked, and behold, there was a man, clothed in linen, whose loynes were girded with fine gold of Tyrus.

6 His body also was like the Chrysolite, and his face (to looke vpon) like the lightening, and his eyes as lampes of fire, and his armes and his feete were like in colour to polished brass, and the voyce of his words was like the voyce of a multitude.

7 And I Daniel alone saw the vision: for the men that were with me, saw not the vision: but a great feare fel vpon them, so that they fled away and hid themselves.

8 Therefore I was left alone, & saw this great vision, and there remained no strength in me: for my strength was turned in mee into corruption, and I retained no power.

9 Yet heard I the voyce of his wordes, and when I heard the voyce of his wordes, I slept on my face: and my face was toward the ground.

10 And behold, an hand & touched mee, which set mee vpon my knees, and vpon
the palmes of my hands,

11 And he said vnto me, O Daniel, a man greatly beloved, vnderstand the wordes that I speake vnto thee, and stand in thy place:
for vnto thee am I now sent. And when he had said this word vnto mee, I stood trembling.

12 Then said he vnto me, Feare not Daniel: for from the first day that thou diddest set thine heart to vnderstand, and to humble thy selfe before thy God, thy wordes were heard, and I am come for thy wordes.

13 But the Prince of the kingdome of Persia withstood me one and twenty dayes:
but loe, Michael one of the chiefe Princes, came to helpe mee, and I remained there by the kings of Persia.

14 Now I am come to shew thee what shall come to thy people in the latter dayes:
for yet the vision is for many dayes.

15 And when he spake these wordes vnto mee, I set my face toward the ground, and held my tongue.

16 And behold, one like the similitude of the sonnes of man touched my lips: then I opened my mouth, and spake, and said vnto him, that stood before mee, O my Lord, by the vision my sorowes are returned vpon me, and I haue retained no strength.

17 For how can the seruant of this my Lord talke with my Lord being such a one:
for as for mee, straightaway there remained no strength in me, neither is there breath left in me.

comming of Christ for the comfort of his Church. 1 This was the same Angel that spake with him before in the similitude of a man. m I was ouercome with feare and sorrow, when I saw the vision.

18 Then

ⁿ He declareth hereby, that God would be merciful vnto the people of Israel.

^o Which declareth when God smiteth down his children, he doth not immediately lift them vp at once (for now the Angel had touched him twice) but by little and little.

^p Meaning, he would not onely himself bridle the rage of Cambyles, but also the other kings of Persia by Alexander the king of Macedonia. ^q For this Angel was appointed for the defence of the Church vnder Christ, who is the head thereof.

C H A P. XI.

^r A prophetic of the kingdoms which should be enemies to the Church of God, in of Persia, ^s of Greece, ^t of Egypt, ^u of Syria, ^v and of the Romanes.

^a The Angel assured Daniel that God hath giuen him power to performe these things, feeling he appointed him to assist Darius when he ouercame ^b Caldeans, ^c Wherof Cambyles that now reigned, was the first, the second Smerdes, the third Darius the son of Hystaspis, & the fourth Xerxes, which all were enemies to the people of God, & stood against them.

^d For he raised vp all the East countreys to fight against the Grecians: and albeit he had in his army nine hundred thousand men, yet in foure battels he was discomfited, and fled away with shame. ^e That is, Alexander the great. ^f For when his state was most flourishing, hee ouercame himselfe with drink, and so fell into a disease: or as some write, was poisoned by Cassander. ^g For his twelue chiefe Princes first diuided his kingdome among themselves. ^h After this his monarchie was diuided into foure: for Seleuchus had Syria, Antigonus Asia minor, Cassander the kingdome of Macedonia, and Ptolemus Egypt. ⁱ Thus God reuenged Alexanders ambition & cruelty, in causing his posterity to be murdered partly of the fathers chiefe friends, & partly one of another. ^j None of these foure shall be able to bee compared to the power of Alexander. ^k That is, his posterity hauing no part thereof. ^l To wit, Ptolemus the king of Egypt. ^m That is, Antiochus the sonne of Seleuchus, & one of Alexanders princes shall be more mighty: for he should haue both Asia & Syria. ⁿ That is, Berenice the daughter of Ptolemus Philadelphus shall be giuen in marriage to Antiochus Theos, thinking by this affinity, that Syria and Egypt should haue a continuall peace together.

¹⁸ Then there came againe, and touched me, one like the appearance of a man, and he strengthened me.

¹⁹ And said, O man, greatly beloued, feare not: peace bee vnto thee: bee strong and of good courage. And when he had spoken vnto me, I was strengthened, and said: Let my Lord speake for thou hast strengthened me.

²⁰ Then said he, Knowest thou wherefore I am come vnto thee? but now will I returne to fight with the Prince of Persia: and when I am gone forth, loe, the Prince of Grecia shall come.

²¹ But I wil shew thee that which is decreed in the Scripture of truth: and there is none that holdeth with me in these things, but Michael your Prince.

²² And when he had said thus, hee was taken away from my sight, and I lay vpon my face vnto the ground.

²³ And when I arose, I was toward the North: and hee stood vnto the East, with his face toward the North.

²⁴ And hee said vnto me, Stand vp now, and shew these words to the people: for they shall be fulfilled.

²⁵ And now will I shew thee the truth. Behold, there shall stand vp yet three kings in Persia, and the fourth shall be farre richer then they all: and by his strength, and by his riches he shall stir vp all against the realm of Grecia.

²⁶ But a mighty king shall stand vp, that shall rule with great dominion, and doe according to his pleasure.

²⁹ And in the end of years they shall be coupled together: for the kings daughter of the South shall come to the king of the North, to make an agreement, but she shall not re-aine the power of the arme, neither shall she continue, nor his arme: but he shall be deliuered to death, and they that brought her and he that begate her, and he that comforted her in these times.

³² So the king of the South shall come into his kingdome, and shall returne into his owne land.

³⁵ Then the multitude shall be proud, and their hearts shall be lifted vp: for he shall cast downe thousands: but he shall not still preuaile.

³⁶ For the king of the North shall returne, and shall set forth a greater multitude then afore, and shall come forth (after certaine yeeres) with a mighty army, and great riches.

³⁷ And at the same time there shall many stand vp against the king of the South: also the rebellious children of thy people, shall exalt themselves to stablish the vision, but they shall fall.

³⁹ But he that shall come, shall doe vnto him as hee list, and none shall stand afixe and fourtie yeeres. ^x Meaning, Seleucus and Antiochus the great, the sonnes of Calinicus, shall make warre against Ptolemus Philopater the sonne of Philadelphus. ^y For his elder brother Seleucus died, or was slaine while the warres were preparing. ^z That is, Philopater, when hee shall see Antiochus to take great dominions from him in Syria, and also ready to inuade Egypt. ^a For Antiochus had fixe thousand horsemen, and threescore thousand footmen. ^b After the death of Ptolemus Philopater, who left Ptolemus Epiphanes his heire. ^c For not onely Antiochus came against him, but also Philip king of Macedonia, and these two brought great power with them. ^d For vnder Onias which falsly alledged that place of Isaiah 19. 19. certaine of the Iewes reuired with him into Egypt to fulfill this prophetic: also the Angel sheweth that all these troubles which are in the Church, are by the prouidence and counsell of God. ^e The Egyptians were not able to resist Stopas Antiochus captaine.

^o That force and strength shall not continue: for soone after, Berenice and her yong sonne after her husbands death, was slaine of her stepsonne Seleucus Calinicus the son of Laodice, the lawfull wife of Antiochus, but put away for this womans sake. ^p Neither Ptolemus, nor Antiochus.

^q Some reade scede, meaning the childe begotten of Berenice.

^r Some reade, she that begate her, and thereby vnderstand her nurse, which brought her vp: so that all they that were occasion of this marriage, were destroyed.

^s Meaning, that Ptolemus Euergetes, after the death of his father Philadelphus, should succede in the kingdome, being of the same stock that Berenice was.

^u For this Ptolemus reigned f Hee sheweth that he shall not onely afflicke the Egyptians, but also the Iewes, and shall enter into their countrey, whereof he admonisheth them before, that they may know that all these things come by Gods providence.

g This was the second battell that Antiochus fought against Ptolemy Epiphanes.

h To wit, a beautiful woman, which was Cleopatra Antiochus daughter. i For he regarded not the life of his daughter, in respect of the kingdom of Egypt.

k She shall not agree to his wicked counsell, but shall loue her husband, as her dutie requirerth, and not seeke his destruction.

l That is, toward Asia, Grecia, and those yles which are in the sea called Mediterraneum: for the Iewes called all countreys yles, which were diuided from them by sea. m For whereas Antiochus was wont to contemne the Romanes, and put their ambassadours to shame in all places, Attilius the Consul, or Lucius Scipio put him to flight, and caused his shame to turne on his owne head.

n By his wicked life, and obeying of foolish counsell. o For feare of the Romanes hee shall flee to his holds.

p For when as vnder the pretence of pouerrie he would haue robbed the Temple of Iupiter Dodoneus, the countrey men slew him.

q That is, Seleucus shall succeed his father Antiochus. r Not by forreine enemies, or battell, but by treason. (Which was Antiochus Epiphanes, who as is thought, was the occasion of Seleucus his brothers death, and was of a vile, cruel, and flattering nature, and defrauded his brothers sonne of the kingdom, and vsurped the kingdom without consent of the people. s Hee sheweth that great forreine powers shall come and helpe the young sonne of Seleucus against his vnckle Antiochus, and yet shall bee ouerthrowen.

u Meaning Ptolemy Philometor, Philopaters sonne, who was this childes cousin germane, and is here called the prince of the covenant, because he was the chiefe, and all other followed his conduct.

x For after the battell, Philometor and his vnckle Antiochus made a league. y For hee came vpon him at vnawares, and when he suspected his vnckle Antiochus nothing. z Meaning, in Egypt.

a Hee will content himselfe with the small holds for a time, but euer labour by craft to attaine to the chiefe.

b Hee shall be ouercome with treason.

against him: and he shall stand in the place of the land, which by his hand shall bee consumed.

17 Again hee shall set his face to enter with the power of his whole kingdom, and his confederates with him: thus shall he doe, and hee shall giue him the daughter of women, to destroy her: but he shall not stand on his side, neither be for him.

18 After this shall he turne his face vnto the yles, and shall take many: but a prince shall cause his shame to light vpon him, beside that hee shall cause his owne shame to turne vpon himselfe.

19 For he shall turne his face toward the parts of his owne land: but he shall be ouerthrowen, and fall, and be no more found.

20 Then shall stand vp in his place in the glory of the kingdom, one that shall raise rayes, but after fewe dayes hee shall bee destroyed, neither in wrath, nor in battell.

21 And in his place shall stand vp a wise person, to whom they shall not giue the honour of the kingdom: but hee shall come in peaceably, and obtaine the kingdom by flatteries.

22 And the arme shall be ouerthrowen with a flood before him, and shall be broken: and also the prince of the covenant.

23 And after the league made with him, he shall worke deceitfully: for he shall come vp, and ouercome with a small people.

24 He shall enter into the quiet and plentifull prouince, and he shall doe that which his fathers haue not done, nor his fathers fathers: he shall diuide among them the pray and the spoyle, and the substance, yea, and he shall forecast his deuices against the strong holds, euen for a time.

25 Also he shall stirre by his power & his courage against the king of the South with a great army, and the king of the South shall be stirred vp to battell with a very great and mighty arme: but he shall not stand:

for they shall forecast and practise against him.

26 Yea, they that feede of the portion of his meate, shall destroy him: and his armie shall ouerflow: and many shall fall, and be slaine.

27 And both these kings hearts shall bee to doe mischief, and they shall talke of deceit at one table: but it shall not auail: for yet the end shall bee at the time appointed.

28 Then shall hee returne into his land with great substance: for his heart shall be against the holy covenant: so shall hee do and returne to his owne land.

29 At the time appointed he shall returne, and come toward the South: but the last shall not be as the first.

30 For the ships of Chittim shall come against him: therefore hee shall be sorow and returne, and fret against the holy Covenant: so shall hee do, he shall euen returne and haue intelligence with them that forsake the holy Covenant.

31 And armes shall stand on his part, and they shall pollute the Sanctuary of strength, and shall take away the dayly sacrifice, and they shall set vp the abominable desolation.

32 And such as wickedly breake the covenant, shall hee cause to sinne by flatteries: but the people that doe know their God, shall preuaile and prosper.

33 And they that vnderstand among the people, shall instruct many: yet they shall fall by sword, and by flame, by captiuitie and by spoyle, many dayes.

34 Now when they shall fall, they shall be holpen with a little help: but many shall cleane vnto them faintly.

35 And some of them of vnderstanding, shall fall to trie them, and to purge, and to make them white till the time bee out: for there is a time appointed.

by Gods providence. h That is, the Romane power shall come against him: for P. Popilius the ambassadour appointed him to depart in the Romanes name: to which thing hee obeyed, although with griefe, and to reuenge his rage, hee came against the people of God the second time. i With the Iewes which shall forsake the covenant of the Lord: for first hee was called against the Iewes by Iason the hie Priest, and this second time by Menelaus. k A great faction of the wicked Iewes shall hold with Antiochus. l So called because the power of God was nothing diminished, although this tyrant set vp in the Temple the image of Iupiter Olympius, and so began to corrupt the pure seruice of God. m Meaning, such as bare the name of Iewes, but indeede were nothing lesse: for they sold their soules, and betrayed their brethren for gaine. n They that remaine constant among the people, shall teach others by their example, and edifie many in the true religion. o Whereby hee exhorteth the godly to constancie, although they should perish a thousand times, and though their miseries endure neuer so long. p As God will not leave his Church destitute, yet will hee not deliuer it all at once, but in helpe, as they may still seeme to fight vnder the crosse, as hee did in the time of the Maccabees, whereof hee here prophesieth. q That is, there shall be euen of this small number many hypocrites. r To wit, of them that feare God, and will lose their life for the defence of true Religion, signifying also, that the Church must continually be tried & purged, and ought to look for one persecution after another: for God hath appointed the time, therefore we must obey.

g Who ruleth the kings by a secret bridle, that they cannot doe what they list themselves.

h Which hee shall take of the Iewes in spoiling Ierusalem & the Temple, and this is told them before, to moue them to patience, knowing that all things are done

f Because the Angels purpose is to shew the whole course of the persecutions of the Iewes vnto the coming of Christ, he now speaketh of the Monarchy of the Romanes, which he noteth by the name of a king, who were without all religion, and condemned the true God.

t So long the tyrants shall preuaile as God hath appointed to punish his people: but he sheweth that it is but for a time.

u The Romanes shall obserue no certaine forme of religion as other nations, but shall chage their gods at their pleasures, yea, contemne them and prefer themselves to their gods.

x Signifying, they should be without all humanity: for the loue of women is taken for singular or great loue, as 2. Sam. 1. 26.

y That is, the god of power and riches: they shall esteeme their owne power abou: all their gods, and worship it. z Vnder pretence of worshipping the gods, they shall enrich their citie with the most precious iewels of all the world, because that hereby all men should haue them in admiration for their power & riches. a Although in their hearts they had no religion, yet they did acknowledge the gods, and worshipped them in their temples, lest they should haue bene despised as Atheists: but this was to increase their fame and riches: and when they gate any countrey they so made others the rulers therof, that the profit euer came to the Romanes. b That is, both the Egyptians and Syrians shall at length fight against the Romanes, but they shall be ouercome. c The Angel forewarneth the Iewes, that when they should see the Romans inuade them, and that the wicked should escape their hands, that then they should not thinke but that all this was done by Gods providence, forasmuch as hee warned them of it so long afore, and therefore he would still preferue them. d Hearing that Crassus was slaine & Antonius discomfited. e For Augustus ouercame the Parthians, and recovered that which Antonius had lost. f The Romanes after this reigned quietly through all countreys, and from sea to sea, and in Iudea: but at length for their cruelty God shall destroy them.

36 And the king shall doe what him list, he shall exalt himselfe, and magnifie himselfe against all, that is God, and shall speake maruellous things against the God of gods, and shall prosper til the wrath be accomplished: for the determination is made.

37 Neither shall hee regard the God of his fathers, nor the desires of women, nor care for any god: for he shall magnifie himselfe aboue all.

38 But in his place shall hee honour the god Bauzzim, and the god whom his fathers knew not shall hee honour with gold and with siluer, and with precious stones, and pleasant things.

39 Thus shall hee doe in the holdes of Bauzzim with a strange god whom he shall acknowledge: he shall increase his glory, and shall cause them to rule ouer many, and shall diuide the land for gaine.

40 And at the end of time shall the King of the South push at him, and the King of the North shall come against him like a whirlewinde, with charrets and with horsemen, and with many shippes, and hee shall enter into the countreys, and shall ouerflow and passe thozow.

41 Hee shall enter also into the pleasant land, & many countreys shall be ouerthzowen: but these shall escape out of his hand, even Edom and Moab, and the chief of the children of Ammon.

42 He shall stretch forth his hands also vpon the countreys, and the land of Egypt shall not escape.

43 But hee shall haue power ouer the treasures of gold and of siluer, and ouer all the precious things of Egypt, and of the Libyans, and of the blacke Moyses where hee shall passe.

44 But the tidings out of the East and the North shall trouble him, therefore hee shall goe forth with great wrath to destroy and root out many.

45 And hee shall plant the tabernacles of his palace between the Seas in the glorious and holy mountaine, yet hee shall come to his end, and none shall helpe him.

CHAP. XII.
Of the deliuerance of the Church by Christ.

And at that time shall Michael stand by the great prince, which standeth for the children of thy people, and there shall be a time of trouble, such as neuer was since there began to be a nation, vnto that same time: and at that time thy people shall be deliuered, every one that shall be found written in the booke.

2 And many of them shall sleepe in the dust of the earth shall awake, some to euermoring life, & some to shame & perpetuall contempt.

3 And they that be wise, shall shine as the brightness of the firmament: and they that turne many to righteousness, shall shine as the starres, for euer and euer.

4 But thou, O Daniel, shut vp the wordes, and seale the booke till the end of the time: many shall runne to and fro, and knowledge shall be increased.

5 Then I Daniel looked, and beheld, there stood other two, the one on this side of the brinke of the riuer, and the other on that side of the brinke of the riuer.

6 And one said vnto the man clothed in linen, which was vpon the waters of the riuer, When shall be the end of these wonders?

7 And I heard the man clothed in linen, which was vpon the waters of the riuer, when he held vp his right hand and his left hand vnto heauen, and sware by him that liueth for euer, that it shall be for a time, two times and an halfe: and when hee shall haue accomplished to scatter the power of the holy people, all these things shall be finished.

8 Then I heard it, but I understood it not: then said I, My Lord, what shall be the end of these things?

9 And he said, Goe thy way, Daniel: for the wordes are closed vp, and sealed, till the end of the time.

10 Many shall be purified, made white and tried: but the wicked shall doe wickedly, and none of the wicked shall haue understanding: but the wise shall understand.

11 And from the time that the dayly sacrifice shall be taken away, and the abominable desolation set vp, there shall be a thousand two hundred and ninety dayes.

12 Blessed is hee that waiteth and cometh to the thousand three hundredth & a five and thirty dayes.

13 But goe thou thy way til the end be: for thou shalt rest and stand vp in thy lot, at the end of the dayes.

a The Angel here noteth two things: first, that the Church shall be in great affliction & trouble at Christs coming, & next that God will send his Angel to deliuer it, who here he calleth Michael, meaning Christ, which is published by the preaching of the Gospel. b Meaning, all shall rise at the generall resurrection, which thing here he nameth, because the faithful should haue euer their respect to that: for in the earth there shall be no sure comfort. c Who haue kept the true feare of God and his religion. d He chiefly meaneth y ministers of Gods word, & next all y faithful which instruct the ignorant, and bring them to the true knowledge of God. e Though the most part despise this prophetic, yet keepe thou it sure, and esteeme as a treasure. f Till the time that God hath appointed for the full reuelation of these things, and then many shall run to and fro to search the knowledge of these Hosea.

THE ARGUMENT.

AFTER that the ten tribes had fallen away from God by the wicked & subtil counsel of Ieroboam the sonne of Nebat, and in stead of his true seruice commanded by his word, worshipped him according to their owne fantasies & traditions of men, giuing themselves to most vile idollatry and superstition, the Lord from time to time sent them prophets to call them to repentance: but they grew euer worse and worse, and still abused Gods benedictions. Therefore now when their prosperitie was at the highest vnder Ieroboam the sonne of Ioash, God sent Hosea and Amos to the Israelites (as hee did at the same time Isaiah and Micah to them of Iudah) to condemne them of their ingratitude: and whereas they thought themselves to be greatly in the fauour of God, and to be his people, the Prophet calleth them bastards and children borne in adulterie: and therefore sheweth them that God would take away their kingdome, and giue them to the Assyrians to be led away captiues. Thus Hosea faithfully executed his office for the space of seuentie yeres, though they remained still in their wickednes & vices, and derided the Prophets, and contemned Gods iudgements. And because they should neither be discouraged with threatnings onely, nor yet flatter themselves by the sweetness of Gods promises, he setteth before them the two principall parts of the Law, which are the promise of saluation, and the doctrine of life: for the first part he directeth the faithful to Messiah, by whom onely they should haue true deliuerance: and for the second, he vseth threatnings and menaces to bring them from their wicked maners and vices: and this is the chiefe scope of all the Prophets, either by Gods promises to allure them to be godly, or else by threatnings of his iudgements to feare them from vice: and albe it that the whole Law containe these two points, yet the Prophets moreouer note peculiarly, both the time of Gods iudgements, and the manner.

CHAP. I.

1 The time wherein Hosea prophesied. 2 The idolatry of the people. 3 The calling of the Gentiles. 4 Christ is the head of all people.

HOSEA the sonne of Beeri, in the dayes of Oziah, Iotham, Ahaz, and Hezekiah kings of Iudah, and in the dayes of Ieroboam the sonne of Ioash king of Israel.

2 At the beginning the Lord spake by Hosea, and the Lord saide vnto Hosea, Goe, take vnto thee a wife of fornications, and children of fornications: for the land hath committed great whoredom, departing from the Lord.

3 So he went and tooke Gomer the daughter of Diblaim, which conceived and bare him a sonne.

4 And the Lord said vnto him, Call his name Israel: for yet a little, and I will visite the blood of Israel vpon the house of Iehu, and will cause to cease the kingdome of the house of Israel.

5 And at that day will I also breake the bow of Israel, in the valley of Jezreel.

6 She conceived yet againe, and bare a daughter, and God said vnto him, Call her a Called also Azariah, who being a leper was deposed from his kingdome.

b So that it may be gathered by the reigne of these foure kings that he preached about three score yeere.

c That is, one that of long time hath accustomed to play the harlot: not that the Prophet did this thing in effect, but he saw this in a vision, or else was commanded by God to set forth vnder this parable or figure the idolatry of the Synagogue, and of the people her children. d Gomer signifieth a consumption or corruption, and Diblaim clusters of figs, declaring that they were all corrupt like rotten figs. e Meaning, that they should bee no more called Israelites, of the which name they boasted, because Israel did preuaile with God: but that they were as bastards, and therefore should be called Izreelites, that is, scattered people alluding to Izreel, which was the chiefe citie of the ten tribes vnder Ahab, where Iehu shed so much blood, 2. King. 10. 8, 11. f I will be reuenged vpon Iehu for the blood that he shed in Izreel: for albe it God stirred him vp to execute his iudgements, yet he did them for his owne ambition, and not for the glory of God, as the end declared: for he builded vp that idolatry, which hee had destroyed. g When the measure of their iniquitie is full, and I shall take vengeance and destroy all their policie and force, name, Lo-ruhamah: for I will no more haue pittie vpon the house of Israel: but I will utterly take them away.

7 Yet I will haue mercy vpon the house of Iudah, and will saue them by the Lord their God, and will not saue them by bow, nor by sword, nor by battell, by horses, nor by holmen.

8 Now when she had weaned Lo-ruhamah, she conceived and bare a sonne.

9 Then said God, Call his name I Ammi: for ye are not my people: therefore will I not be yours.

10 Yet the number of the children of Israel shall be as the sand of the sea, which cannot be measured nor tolde: and in the place where it was said vnto them, Ye are not my people, it shall be said vnto them, Ye are the sonnes of the living God.

11 Then shall the children of Iudah, and the children of Israel be gathered together, and appoint themselves one head, and they shall come vp out of the land: for great is the day of Jezreel.

cept he had preserued them, he declareth that though they were destroyed, yet the true Israelites, which are the sonnes of the promise, should be without number, which stand both of the Iewes, and the Gentiles, Rom. 9. 26. 11 To wit, after the captiuitie of Babylon when the Iewes were restored: but chiefly this is referred to the time of Christ, who should be the head both of the Iewes and Gentiles. 12 The calamitie and destruction of Izreel shall be so great, that to restore them shall be as a miracle.

CHAP. II.

1 The people is called to repentance. 2 He sheweth their idolatry, and threatneth them except they repent.

3 He sheweth that I haue promised your sisters, Rubamah,

4 He sheweth that I haue promised your mother: please you, deliuerance, it remaineth that you encourage one another to embrace the same, considering that ye are my people on whom I will haue mercie. b God sheweth that the fault was not in him but in their Synagogue, & their idolatry, that hee sought them, Isa. 50. 1.

c Meaning, that their idolatry was so great, that they were not ashamed, but boasted of it, Ezek. 16. 25.
d For though this people were as an harlot for their idolatries, yet he had left them with their apparell & dowrie and certaine signes of his fauor, but if they continued still, he would vterly destroy them. e When I brought her out of Egypt, Ezek. 16. 4.
f That is, bastards, & begotten in adultery.
g Meaning the idoles which they serued, and by whom they thought they had wealth and abundance h I will punish thee, that then thou maist trie whether thine idoles can helpe thee and bring thee into such straitnesse, that thou shalt haue no lust to play the wanton.
i This he speaketh of the faithfull which are truly conuerted, and also sheweth the vse and profit of Gods rods.
k This declareth fraud God of his honour when they attribute his benefits to their idoles. l Signifying, that God wil take away his benefits, when man by his ingratitude doeth abuse them. m That is, all her seruice, ceremonies and inuentions, wherby she worshipped her idols. n I will punish her for her idolatry. o By shewing how harlots trim themselves to please others, he declareth how the superstitious idolaters set a great part of their religion in decking themselves on their holy dayes. p By my benefits in offering her grace and mercie, euen in that place where she shall thinke herselfe destitute of al helpe and comfort. q Which was a plentiful valley, and wherein they had great comfort when they came out of the wilderness, as Iosh. 7. 26. and is called the dore of hope, because it was a departing from death, and an entry into life. r Shee shall then praise God as she did when she was deliuered out of Egypt.

with her: for she is not my wife, neither am I her husband: but let her take away her fornications out of her sight, & her adulteries from betweene her breasts.

3 Let I strip her naked, and let her as in the day that she was borne, and make her as a wilderness, and leaue her like a dry land, and slay her for thirst.

4 And I will haue no pittie vpon her children: for they be the children of fornications.

5 For their mother hath played the harlot: shee that conceived them, hath done shamefully: for she said, I will goe after my louers that giue me my bread and my water, my wooll and my flaxe, mine oyle & my drinke.

6 Therefore behold, I will stopp thy way with thornes, and make an hedge, that shee shall not finde her paths.

7 Though she follow after her louers, yet shall she not come at them: though shee seeke them, yet shall she not finde them: then shall she say, I will goe and returne to my first husband: for at that time was I better than now.

8 Now she did not know that I gaue her come and wine, and oyle and multiplied her siluer and gold, which they bestowed vpon Baal.

9 Therefore I will returne, & take away my come in the time thereof, and my wine in the season thereof, and will recouer my wooll and my flaxe lent to couer her shame.

10 And now will I discouer her lewdnesse in the sight of her louers, and no man shall deliuer her out of mine hand.

11 I wil also cause all her mirth to cease, her feast dayes, her newe moones, and her Sabbathes, and all her solenne feasts.

12 And I will destroy her vines, and her fig trees, whereof she hath saide, These are my rewards that my louers haue giuen mee: and I will make them as a forest, and the wilde beasts shall eate them.

13 And I wil visit vpon her the dayes of Baalim, wherein she burnt incense to them: and she decked her selfe with her eare rings, and her Jewels, and she followed her louers, and forgate me, saith the Lord.

14 Therefore behold, I will allure her, and bring her into the wilderness, and speake friendly vnto her.

15 And I will giue her her vineyards from thence, and the valley of Achor for the dome of hope, and she shall sing there as in the dayes of her youth, and as in the day when she came vp out of the land of Egypt.

16 And at that day, saith the Lord, thou shalt call me Ihsu, and shalt call me no more Baali.

17 For I will take away the names of Baalim out of her mouth, and they shall bee no more remembered by their names.

18 And in that day will I make a covenant for them, with the wilde beasts, and with the fowles of the heauen, and with that that creepeth vpon the earth, & I will breake the bow and the sword, and the battell out of the earth, and will make them to sleepe safely.

19 And I will marry thee vnto mee for euer: yea, I will marry thee vnto me in righteousness, and in iudgement, and in mercie and in compassion.

20 I will euen marry thee vnto me in faithfulness, and thou shalt know the Lord.

21 And in that day I wil heare, saith the Lord, I will euen heare the heauens, and they shall heare the earth.

22 And the earth shall heare the come, and the wine, and the oyle, and they shall heare Izsrael.

23 And I will sowe her vnto mee in the earth, and I will haue mercie vpon her, that was not pittied, & I will say to them which were not my people, Thou art my people. And they shall say, Thou art my God.

CHAP. III.

1 The Lewes shall be cast off for their idolatry. 5 Afterward they shall returne to the Lord.

Then said the Lord to me, See yet, and loue a woman (beloued of her husband, and was an harlot) according to the loue of the Lord toward the children of Izsrael: yet they looked to other gods, and loued the wine bottles.

2 So I bought her to me for fifteene pieces of silver, and for an homer of barley, and an halfe homer of barley.

3 And I said vnto her, Thou shalt abide with me many dayes: Thou shalt not play the harlot, and thou shalt be to none other man, and I will be so vnto thee.

4 For the children of Izsrael shall remaine many dayes without a king, and without a prince, and without an offering, and without an image, and without an Ephod, and without Teraphim.

5 Afterward shall the children of Izsrael conuert, and seeke the Lord their God, and Dauid their king, and shall feare the Lord, and his goodnesse in the latter dayes.

perceiuing the greatnesse of my loue should haue abused mee, and not bene vnder duetic: for fifteene pieces of silver were but halfe the price of a slave, Exod. 21. 32. d I will try thee a long time as in thy widowhood whether thou wilt be mine or no. e Meaning, not onely all the time of their captiuitie, but also vnto Christ. f That is, they should neither haue pollicie nor Religion, and their idoles also wherein they put their confidence should bee destroyed. g This is meant of Christs kingdome, which was promised to Dauid to be eternall, Psal. 73. 17.

CHAP. IIII.

A complaint against the people, and the Priests of Izsrael.

Heare

That is, mine husband, knowing that I am ioyned to thee by an inuolable covenant.

That is, my master: which name was applied to their idoles.

No idolatry shall once come into their mouth but they shall serue me purely according to my word.

Meaning, that he will so blefite them, that all creatures shall fauour them.

With a covenant that neuer shall bee broken.

Then shall the heauen desire rain for the earth which shall bring forth for the vse of man.

^q I will not correct your shame to bring you to amendment, but let you runne headlong to your owne damnation.

Hear the word of the Lord, yee children of Israel: for the Lord hath a controuersie with the inhabitants of the land, because there is no truth, nor mercy, nor knowledge of God in the land.

² By swearing and lying, and killing, and stealing, and whozing, they breake out, and blood toucheth blood.

⁴ Yet let none rebuke, nor reprove another: for thy people are as they that rebuke the Priest.

⁵ Therefore shalt thou fall in the day, and the Prophet shall fall with thee in the night, and I will destroy thy mother.

⁶ My people are destroyed for lacke of knowledge: because thou hast refused knowledge, I will also refuse thee, that thou shalt be no Priest to mee: and seeing thou hast forgotten the Law of thy God, I will also forget thy children.

⁷ As they were increased, so they sinned against me: therefore wil I change their glory into shame.

⁸ They eate vp the finnes of my people and lift vp their minds in their iniquitie.

⁹ And there shall bee like people, like Priest: for I will visite their wayes vpon them, and reward them their deedes.

¹⁰ For they shall eate, and not haue enough: they shall commit adulterie, & shall not increase, because they haue left off to take heed to the Lord.

¹¹ Whoredome, and wine, and new wine take away their heart.

¹² My people aske counsell at their stocks, and their staffe teacheth them: for the spirit of fornications hath caused them to erre, and they haue gone a whozing from vnder their God.

¹⁴ I will not visit your daughters when they are harlots, nor your spouses when they are whores: for they themselves are separated with harlots; and sacrifice with whores: therefore the people that are separated with harlots; and sacrifice with whores: therefore the people that are separated with harlots; and sacrifice with whores: therefore the people that are separated with harlots; and sacrifice with whores: therefore the people that are separated with harlots; and sacrifice with whores: therefore the people that are separated with harlots; and sacrifice with whores: therefore the people that are separated with harlots; and sacrifice with whores: therefore the people that doth not vnderstand, shall fall.

¹⁵ Though thou, Israel, play the harlot, yet let not Judah sinne: come not yee vnto Gilgal, neither goe yee vp to Beth-auen, nor swear, The Lord lieth.

¹⁶ For Israel is rebellious as an unruly heifer. Now the Lord will feede them as a lambe in a large place.

¹⁷ Ephraim is toynd to idols: let him alone.

¹⁸ Their drunkenesse stincketh: they haue committed whoredome: their rulers loue to say with shame, Bring ye.

CHAP. V.

¹ Against the Priests and rulers of Israel. ² The helpe of man is vaine.

O Priests, heare this, and hearken yee, O house of Israel, and giue yee care, O house of the King: for iudgement is toward you, because yee haue bene a snare on Ephraim, and a net spread vpon Laboz.

² Yet they were profound, to decline to slaughter, though I haue bene a rebuker of them all.

³ I know Ephraim, and Israel is not hid from me: for now, Ephraim, thou art become an harlot, and Israel is defiled.

⁵ And the pride of Israel doeth tellifie to his face: therefore shall Israel & Ephraim fall in their iniquitie: Judah also shall fall with them.

⁶ They shall goe with their sheepe, and with their bullockes to seeke the Lord: but they shall not finde him: for hee hath withdrawn himselfe from them.

⁷ They haue transgressed against the Lord: for they haue begotten strange children: now shall a moner deuoure them with their portions.

⁸ Blow yee the trumpet in Sibeah, and the shawme in Ramah: crye out at Beth-auen, after thee, O Benjamin.

⁹ Ephraim shall be desolate in the day of rebuke: among the tribes of Israel haue I caused to know the trueth.

¹⁰ The princes of Judah were like them that remoueth the bound: therefore wil I powre out my wrath vpon them like water.

¹¹ Ephraim is oppressed, and broken in generate, so that there is no hope in them. ^g Their destruction is not farre off. ^h That is, all Israel comprehended vnder this part, signifying, that the Lords plagues should pursue them from place to place till they were destroyed. ⁱ By the successe they shall know that I haue surely determined this: ^k They haue turned vpside downe all political order, and all manner of Religion.

U b 3 iudgement,

^r God complaineth that Iudah is infected, and willett them to learne by their example to returne in time.

^s For albeit the Lord had honoured this place in times past by his presence, yet because it was abused by their idolatry, he would not that his people should resort thither.

^t He calleth Beth-el, that is, the house of God, Beth-auen that is, the house of iniquitie, because of their abomination set vp there, signifying that no place is holy where God is not purely worshipped.

^u God will so disperse them that they shall not remaine in any certaine place.

^x They are so impudent in receiving bribes, that they will command men to bring them vnto them.

^y To carry them suddenly away.

^a The Priests & princes carched the poore people in their snares, as the fowles did the birds, in these two hie mount-taines.

^b Notwithstanding they seemed to be giuen altogether to holiness, and to sacrifices, which here he calleth slaughter in contempt.

^c Though I had admonished them continually by my Prophets.

^d They boasted themselves, not onely to be Israelites, but also Ephraimites, because their king Ieroboam came of that tribe contemning of all admonitions.

^f That is, their children are degenerate, so that there is no hope in them.

The Lord woundeth and healeth.

iudgement, because he willingly walked after the¹ commandment.

12 Therefore will I be vnto Ephraim as a moth, and to the house of Iudah as a rottennesse.

13 When Ephraim saw his sicknesse, and Iudah his wound, then went Ephraim vnto Asihur, and sent vnto king Iareb: yet could he not heale you, nor cure you of your wound.

14 For I will be vnto Ephraim as a lyon, and as a Lyons whelp to the house of Iudah: I, euen I will spoile, and goe away: I will take away, and none shall rescue it.

15 I will goe, and returne to my place, till they acknowledge their fault, and seeke me: in their affliction they will seeke me diligently.

CHAP. VI.

1 Affliction causeth a man to turne to God. 9 The wickednesse of the Priests.

a He sheweth the people how they ought to turne to the Lord that he might call back his plagues.

b Though he correct vs from time to time, yet his helpe will not be farre off, if we returne to him.

c You seeme to haue a certaine holinesse, and repentance, but it is vpon the sudden and as a morning cloud.

d I haue still laboured by my Prophets: and as it were framed you to bring you to amendment, but all was in vaine: for my words was not meate to feede them, but a sword to slay them.

e My doctrine which I taught eche was most euident.

f He sheweth to what scope his doctrine tended, that they should ioyne the obedience of God, and the loue of their neighbour with outward sacrifice.

g That is, like light and weak persons. h Which was the place where the Priests dwelt, and which should haue bene best instructed in my word. i That is, doeth imitate thine idolatrie, and hath taken grafts of thy trees.

2 After two dayes will^b hee reuine vs, and in the third day he will raise vs vp, and we shall line in his sight.

3 Then shall we haue knowledge, and indouour our selues to know the Lord: his going forth is prepared as the morning, and he shall come vnto vs as the raine, and as the latter raine vnto the earth.

4 O Ephraim, what shall I doe vnto thee? O Iudah, how shall I intreate thee? for your goodnesse is as a morning cloude, and as the morning dew it goeth away.

5 Therefore haue I^a cut downe by the Prophets: I haue slaine them by the words of my mouth, and^b thy iudgements were as the light that goeth forth.

6 For I desired^c mercie, and not sacrifice, and the knowledge of God more then burnt offerings.

7 But they like^d men haue transgressed the covenant: there haue they trespassed against me.

8^e Gilead is a citie of them that worke iniquitie, and is polluted with blood.

9 And as they wait for a man, so the company of Priests murder in the way by consent: for they worke mischief.

10 I haue seene villanie in the house of Israel: there is the whoredome of Ephraim: Israel is defiled.

11 Beh, Iudah hath set aⁱ plant for thee, whiles I would returne the captiuitie of my people.

CHAP. VII.

1 Of the vices and wantonnesse of the people 12. Of their punishment.

When I would haue healed Israel, then the iniquitie of Ephraim was discovered, and the wickednesse of Samaria: for they haue dealt falsely: and the^a thiefe cometh in, and the robber spoyleth without.

2 And they consider not in their hearts, that I remember all their wickednesse: now their owne inuentions haue beset them about: they are in my sight.

3 They make the^b king glad with their wickednesse, and the princes with their lies.

4 They are all adulterers, and as a very^c ouen heated by the baker, which ceaseth from raising vp, & from kneading the dough vntill it be leauened.

5 This is the^d day of our king: the princes haue made him sicke with flagons of wine: he stretcheth out his hand to the corners.

6 For they haue made ready their heart like an ouen whiles they lie in wait: their baker sleepeth all the night: in the morning it burneth as a flame of fire.

7 They are all hote as an ouen, and haue^e deuoured their Judges: all their kings are fallen: there is none among them that cal- leth vnto me.

8 Ephraim hath^f mixt himselfe among the people. Ephraim is as a cake on the hearth not turned.

9 Strangers haue deuoured his strength, and he knoweth it not: yea, & gray haire are here and there vpon him, yet hee know- eth not.

10 And the pride of Israel testifieth to his face, and they doe not returne to the Lord their God, nor seeke him for all this.

11 Ephraim also is like a dowe deceived, without^g heart: they call to Egypt: they go to Asihur.

12 But when they shall goe, I will spread my net vpon them, and draw them downe as the fowles of the heauen: I will chastise them as their^h congregation hath heard.

13 Doe vnto them: for they haue fled away from me: destruction shalbe vnto them, becau^e they haue transgressed against mee: though I haueⁱ redeemed them, yet they haue spoken lies against me.

14 And they haue not cryed vnto me with their hearts, when they howled vpon their beds: they assemble themselves for corne and wine, and they rebell against me.

15 Though I haue bound, and strength- ned their arme, yet doe they imagine mis- chief against me.

16 They returne, but not to the most high: they are like a deceitfull bow: their princes shall fall by the sword, for the rage^j of their tongues: this shalbe their derision in the land of Egypt.

it is better to cleave onely to God, or to seeke the helpe of man. i According to my curses made to the whole Congregation of Israel. k That is, diuers times redeemed them, and deliuered them from death. l When they were in affliction, and cried out for paine, they sought not vnto mee for helpe. m They onely seeke their owne commoditie and wealth, and passe not for me their God. n Becau^e they boast of their owne strength, and passe not what they speake against me and my seruant, Psal. 73. 9.

CHAP. VIII.

1 The destruction of Iudah and Israel, because of their idolatrie.

a Meaning, that there was no one kind of vice among them, but that they were subiect to all wickednesse, both secret and open. b They esteeme their wicked king Ieroboam aboue God, and seeke but how to flatter and please him. c He compareth the rage of the people to a burning ouen which the baker heareth still till his dough bee leauened and raised. d They vsed all riot and excesse in their feastes & solemnities, whereby their king was overcome with surfer, and brought into diseases, and delighted in flatteries. e By their occasion God hath deprived them of all good rulers. f That is, hee counterfeiteth the religion of the Gentiles, yet is but as a cake baked on the one side, and raw on the other: that is, neither through hot nor through cold, but partly a Iew, and partly a Gentile. g Which are a token of his manifold afflictions. h That is, without al iudgment, as they that cannot tell whether a God encourageth the Prophet to signifie the speedy coming of the enemy against Israel, which was once the people of God.

b They shall cry like hypocrites, but not from the heart, as their deeds declare.

c That is, I reboam by whom they sought their own liberty, and not to obey my will.

d That is, upright iudgement and godly life.

e Meaning, the calfe was inuented by themselves and of their Fathers in the wilderness.

f Shewing that their religion hath but a shew, and in it selfe is but vanitie.

g They neuer cease but run to and fro to seeke helpe.

h That is, for the tribute which the king and the princes shall lay vpon the: which meanes the Lord vseth to bring them to repentance.

i Thus the idolaters count the word of God as strange in respect of their owne inuentions. k Saying, that they offer it to the Lord, but he accepteth no seruice, which hee himselfe hath not appointed.

As the trumpet to thy mouth: he shall come as an Eagle against the house of the Lord, because they haue transgressed my couenant, and trespassed against my Law.

2 Israel shall cry vnto mee, My God, we know thee.

3 Israel hath cast off the thing that is good: the enemies shall pursue him.

4 They haue set vp a King, but not by me: they haue made princes, and I knew it not: of their silver and their gold haue they made them idoles: therefore shall they be destroyed.

5 Thy calfe, O Samaria, hath cast thee off: mine anger is kindled against them: how long will they be without innocencie.

6 For it came euen from Israel: the workman made it, therefore it is not God: but the calfe of Samaria shall be broken in pieces.

7 For they haue fowen the wind, & they shall reape the whirlwind: it hath no stalk: the bud shall bring forth no meale: it shall be as chaff, the strangers shall deuoure it.

8 Israel is deuoured, now shall they be among the Gentiles as a vessel wherein is no pleasure.

9 For they are gone vp to Asshur: they are as a wild ass alone by himselfe: Ephraim hath hired louers.

10 Yet though they haue hired among the nations, now will I gather them, and they shall sorrow a little, for the burthen of the king, and the princes.

11 Because Ephraim hath made many Altars to sinne, his altars shall be to sinne.

12 I haue written to them the great things of my Law: but they were counted as a strange thing.

13 They sacrifice flesh for the sacrifices of mine offerings, and eate it: but the Lord accepteth them not: now will hee remember their iniquitie, and visite their sinnes: they shall returne to Egypt.

14 For Israel hath forgotten his maker, and buildeth Temples, and Judah hath increased strong cities: but I will send a fire vpon his cities, and it shall deuoure the palaces thereof.

CHAP. IX.

Of the hunger and captiuitie of Israel.

Reioyce not, O Israel for ioi, as other people: for thou hast gone a whozing from thy God: thou hast loued a reward vpon every comers foote.

2 The flore and the winepresse shall not feed them, and the new wine shall faile in her.

3 They will not dwell in the Lords land, but Ephraim will returne to Egypt, and they will eate vncleane things in Asshur.

4 They shall not offer wine to the Lord, a For although all other people should escape, yet thou shalt be punished.

b Thou hast committed idolatrie in hope of reward, and to haue thy barnes filled, (er 44. 17. as an harlot that had rather liue by playing the whore, then to be entertained of her owne husband.

c These outward things that thou seekest, shall be taken from thee. d All their doings both touching policie and religion, shall be reiected as things polluted,

c These outward things that thou seekest, shall be taken from thee. d All their doings both touching policie and religion, shall be reiected as things polluted, neither shall their sacrifices be pleasant vnto him: but they shall be vnto them as the bread of mourners: all that eate thereof, shall be polluted: for their bread for their soules shall not come into the house of the Lord.

5 What wilt ye doe then in the solempne day, and in the day of the feast of the Lord?

6 For loe, they are gone from a destruction: but Egypt shall gather them vp, & Memphis shall burie them: the nettle shall possesse the pleasant places of their silver, and the thorne shall be in their tabernacles.

7 The dayes of visitation are come: the dayes of recompense are come: Israel shall know it: the prophet is a foole: the spiritual man is mad, for the multitude of thine iniquitie: therefore the hatred is great.

8 The watchman of Ephraim should be with my God: but the prophet is the snare of a fouler in all his wayes, and hatred in the house of his God.

9 They are deeply set: they are corrupt as in the dayes of Sibeah: therefore hee will remember their iniquitie, he will visite their sinnes.

10 I found Israel like grapes in the wilderness: I saw your fathers as the first ripe in the figtree at her first time: but they went to Baal peor, and separated themselves vnto that shame, and their abominations were according to their louers.

11 Ephraim their glory shall flee away like a bird: from the birth and from the wombe, and from conception.

12 Though they bring vp their children, yet I will depine them from being men: yea, woe to them, when I depart from them.

13 Ephraim, as I sawe, is as a tree in Cyprus planted in a cottage: but Ephraim shall bring forth his children to the murderer.

14 O Lord, giue them: what wilt thou giue them? giue them a barren wombe and drie breasts.

15 All their wickednes is in Gilgal: for there doe I hate them: for the wickednes of their inuentions, I will cast them out of mine house: I will loue them no more: all their princes are rebels.

16 Ephraim is smitten, their roote is dried vp: they can bring no fruit: yea, though they bring forth, yet will I slay euen the dearest of their body.

17 My God will cast them away because they did not obey him: and they shall wander among the nations.

lousers the idoles. n Signifying, that God would destroy their children by these sundry meanes, and so consume them by little and little. o As they kept tender plants in their houses in Tyrus, to preserve them from the colde ayre of the Sea, so was Ephraim at the first vnto me, but now wil I giue him to the slaughter. p The Prophet seeing the great plagues of God toward Ephraim, prayeth to God to make them barren rather then that this great slaughter should come vpon their children. q The chiefe cause of their destruction is, that they commit idolatrie, and corrupt my religion in Gilgal.

f When the Lord shall take away all the occasions of seruuing him, which shall be the most grievous point of your captiuitie, when you shall see your selues cut off from God.

g Though they thinke to escape by fleeing the destruction that is at hand, yet shall they be destroyed in the place whither they flee for succour.

h Then they shall know that they were deluded by them who challenged to themselves to be their Prophets and spirituall men.

i The Prophets daetic is to bring men to God, and not to be a snare to pull them from God.

k This people is so rooted in their wickednesse, that Gilbeah which was like to Sodome, was neuer more corrupt, Iudg. 19. 22.

^d The day shall come, that God shall take away their King, and then they shall feeble the fruit of their sinnes, and how they trusted in him in vaine, ^f Thus their integritie & fidelitie which they pretended was nothing but bitterness and griefe.

^g When the calfe shall be carried away.

^h Chemarims were certaine idolatrous priests which did weare blacke apparell in their sacrifices and cried with a lowde voyce: which superstition Elijah derided, 1. King. 18.

Israel is an ^a empty vine, yet hath it brought forth fruit vnto it selfe, and according to the multitude of the fruit thereof he hath increased the Altars: according to the ^b goodness of their land they haue made faire images.

² Their heart is ^c diuided: now shall they be found faultie: he shall breake downe their Altars: he shall destroy their images.

³ For now they shall say, We haue no ^d King because we feared not the Lord: and what should a King doe to vs?

⁴ They haue spoken wordes, swearing falsely in making a ^e covenant: thus ^f indgement groweth as wormewoods in the furrowes of the field.

⁶ It shall be also brought to Asshur, for a present vnto King Narch: Ephraim shall receiue shame, and Israel shall bee ashamed of his owne counsell.

⁷ Of Samaria, the King thereof is destroyed as the founte vpon the water.

⁹ O Israel, thou hast ^k sinned from the dayes of Gibeah: there they ^l stood: the battell in Gibeah against the children of iniquitie did not ^m touch them.

¹⁰ It is my desire ⁿ that I should chastise them: and the people shall bee gathered against them, when they shall gather themselves in their two ^o furrowes.

¹² Show to your selues in righteousness: reape after the measure of mercie: ^r breake vpon your fallow ground: for it is time to seeke the Lord, till he come and raine righteousness vpon you.

¹³ But you haue plowed wickednesse: ye haue reaped iniquitie: you haue eaten the fruit of lies: because thou didst trust in thine ^s owne wayes, and in the multitude of thy strong men,

¹⁵ So shall Beth-el do vnto you, because of your malicious wickednesse: in a morning shall the King of Israel be destroyed.

CHAP. XI.

^When Israel ^a was a childe, then I loved him, and called my sonne out of Egypt.

² They called them, but ^b they went thus from them: they sacrificed vnto Baalim and burnt incense to images.

³ I led Ephraim also, as one should beare them in his armes: but they knew not that I healed them.

⁴ I led them with cords ^c of a man, euen with bands of loue, and I was to them, as he that taketh off the yoke from their iawes, and I laid the meat vnto them.

⁵ We shall no more returne into the land of Egypt, but Asshur shall be his ^d King, because they refused to conuert.

⁶ And the sword shall fall on his cities, and shall consume his barres, and deuoure them because of their owne counsels.

⁷ And my people are bent to rebellion against mee: though ^e they called them to the most high, yet none at all would exalt him.

⁸ ^f How shall I giue thee by Ephraim? how shall I deliuer thee, Israel? how shall I make thee, as ^g Admah? how shall I set thee as Zebodim? mine heart is turned within me: ^h my repentings are rolled together.

⁹ I will not execute the fiercenes of my wrath: I will not returne to destroy Ephraim: for I am God, and not man, the Holy one in the mids of thee, and I will not ⁱ enter into the citie.

¹⁰ They shall walke after the Lord: hee shall roare like a lyon: when hee shall roare, then the children of the West shall feare.

CHAP. XII.

Hee admonisheth by Iacobus example to trust in God and not in man.

^Ephraim is fed ^a with the wind, and fol- loweth after the East wind: hee increaseth dayly lies and destruction, and they doe make a covenant with Asshur, and ^b oile is carryed into Egypt.

² The Lord hath also a controuersie friendship, with ^c Judah, and will visite Iacob, according to his wayes: according to his workes will he recompense him.

^a Whiles the Israelites were in Egypt, and did not prouoke my wrath by their malice and ingratitude.

^b They rebelled and went a contrary way when the Prophets called them to repentance.

^c That is, friendly and not as beasts or slaues.

^k The Egyptians and Assyrians shall be afraid when the Lord maintaineth his people.

^l Governeth their state according to Gods word, and doth not degenerate.

^a That is, flattereth himself with vain confidence.

^b Meaning, presents to get friendship.

^c Which in these points was like to Ephraim, but ³ He not in idolatrie.

d Seeing that God did thus preferre Iakob their father, Iudahsingratiude was the more to be abhorred.
e Reade Gen. 32.31.

f God found Iakob as he lay sleeping in Beth-el, Gen. 28.12. & so spake with him there, that the fruite of that speech appertained to the whole body of the people, whereof we are.

g As for Ephraim, hee is more like the wicked Canaanites, then godly Abraham or Iakob.

h Thus the wicked measure Gods fauour by outward prosperitie, and like hypocrites cannot abide that any should reprove their doings.

i Seeing thou wilt not acknowledge my benefits, I will bring thee againe to dwell in tents as in the feast of Tabernacles, which thou doest now continue. k The people thought that no man durst haue spoken against Gilead that holy place, and yet the Prophet saith, that all their religion was but vanitie. l If you boast of your riches and nobilitie, yee seeme to reproch your father who was a poore fugitive and servant. m Meaning Moses, whereby appeareth, that whatsoeuer they haue, it cometh of Gods free goodnesse.

3 We tooke his brother by the heele in the wombe, and by his strength hee had power with God.

4 And had power over the Angel, and preuailed: hee wept and prayed vnto him: he found him in Beth-el, and there he spake with vs.

5 Yea, the Lord God of hostes, the Lord is himselfe his memorialis.

6 Therefore turne thou to thy God: keepe mercy and iudgement, and hope still in thy God.

7 Hee is Canaan: the balances of deceit are in his hand, he souereth to oppress.

8 And Ephraim said, Notwithstanding I am rich, I haue found me out riches in all my labours: they shall find none iniquitie in me, that were wickednesse.

9 Though I am the Lord thy God from the land of Egypt, yet will I make thee to dwell in the tabernacles, as in the dayes of the solemne feast.

10 I haue also spoken by the Prophets, and I haue multiplied visions, and vsed similitudes by the ministry of the Prophets.

11 Is there iniquitie in Gilead: surely they are vannie: they sacrifice bullockes in Gilgal, and their altars are as heapes in the furrowes of the field.

12 And Iakob fled into the countrey of Aram, and Israel serued for a wife, and for a wife he kept sheepe.

13 And by a Prophet the Lord brought Israel out of Egypt, and by a Prophet was he rescued.

14 But Ephraim prouoked him with his places, therefore shall his blood be poured vpon him, and his reproch shall his Lord reuward him.

4 Yet I am the Lord thy God: from the land of Egypt, and thou shalt know no God but me: for there is no Saviour beside me.

5 I did know thee in the wilderness, in the land of drought.

6 As in their pastures, so were they filled: they were filled, and their heart was exalted: therefore haue they forgotten mee.

7 And I will be vnto them as a very lyon, and as a leopard in the way of Ashur.

8 I will meet them as a Beare that is robbed of her whelpes, and I will breake the kail of their heart, and there will I denounce them like a lyon: the wilde beast shall teare them.

9 O Israel, one hath destroyed thee, but in me is thine helpe.

10 I am: where is thy king that should helpe thee in all thy cities: and thy Iudges of whom thou saidest, Giue me a King, and Princes?

11 I gaue thee a king in mine anger, and I tooke him away in my wrath.

12 The iniquitie of Ephraim is bound by: his sinne is hid.

13 The sorowes of a traouailing woman shall come vpon him: he is an vnwise sonne, else would he not stand still at the time, even at the breaking forth of the children.

14 I will redeeme them from the power of the graue: I will deliuer them from death: death I will be thy death: O graue, I will be thy destruction: repentance is hid from mine eyes.

Joel.

THE ARGUMENT.

The Prophet Joel first rebuketh them of Iudah, that being now punished with a great plague of famine, remaine still obstinate. Secondly, he threatneth greater plagues, because they grew dailie to a more hardnesse of heart, & rebellion against God, notwithstanding his punishments. Thirdly, he exhorteth them to repentance, shewing that it must be earnest, and proceed from the heart, because they had grievously offended God. And so doing, he promisseth that God will be merciful, and not forget his covenant that he made with their fathers: but will send his Christ, who shall gather the scattered sheepe, and restore them to life and libertie, though they seemed to be dead.

CHAP. I.

1 A prophetic against the Iewes. 2 He exhorteth the people to prayer and fasting, for the miserie that was at hand.

The word of the Lord that came to Joel the sonne of Pethuel.

2 Heare yee this, O Elders, and hearken yee all inhabitants of the land, whether such a thing hath bene in your dayes, or yet in the dayes of your fathers.

3 Tell you your children of it, and let your children shew to their children, and their children to another generation.

4 That which is left of the palmer worme, hath the grasshopper eaten, and the residue of the grasshopper hath the canker worme eaten, and the residue of the canker worme hath the caterpillar eaten.

5 Awake ye drunkards, and weepe and howle all ye drinkers of wine, because of the new wine: for it shall bee pulled from your mouth.

6 Ven, a nation commeth vpon my land, mighty, and without number, whose teeth are like the teeth of a lion, and he hath the talowes of a great lion.

7 He makerh my vine waste, and pillet off the barke of my figge tree: hee makerh it bare, and casteth it downe, the branches thereof are made white.

8 Mourne like a virgine girded with sackloth for the husband of her youth.

9 The meate offering, and the drinke offering is cut off from the house of the Lord: the priests the Lords ministers mourne.

10 The field is wasted: the land mourneth: for the corne is destroyed: the new wine is dried vp, and the oyle is decayed.

11 Bee yee ashamed, O husbandmen: howle, O ye vine dressers, for the wheat, and for the barley, because the harvest of the field is perished.

12 The vine is dried vp, and the fig tree is decayed: the pomegranate tree, and the palme tree, and the apple tree, euen all the trees of the field are withered: surely the ioy is withered away from the sonnes of men.

13 Gird your selues and lament, ye priests, howle yee ministers of the altar: come, and lie all night in sackcloth, ye ministers of my God: for the meate offering and the drinke offering is taken away from the house of your God.

14 Sanctifie you a fast: call a solemne assembly: gather the Elders, and all the inhabitants of the land into the house of the Lord your God, and cry vnto the Lord, 15 Alas for the day, for the day of the Lord is at hand, and it commeth as a destruction from the Almighty.

16 Is not the meate cut off before our eyes? and ioy, and gladnesse from the house of our God?

17 The seed is rotten vnder their clods: the garners are destroyed: the barnes are broken downe, for the corne is withered.

18 How did the beastes mourne? the herds of cattell pine away, because they haue no pasture, and the flockes of sheepe are destroyed.

19 O Lord, to thee will I cry: for the fire hath deuoured the pastures of the wilderness, and the flame hath burnt vp all the trees of the field.

20 The beastes of the field cry also vnto thee: for the riuers of waters are dried vp, and the fire hath deuoured the pastures of the wilderness.

3 A fire deuoureth before him, and behind him a flame burneth vp: the land is as the garden of Eden before him, & behind him a desolate wilderness, so that nothing shall escape him.

4 The beholding of him is like the sight of horses, & like the horsemen, so that they run.

5 Like the noise of charrets in the toppes of the mountaines shall they leape, like the noise of a flame of fire that deuoureth the stubble, and as a mighty people prepared to the battell.

6 Before his face shall the people tremble: all faces shall gather blackenesse.

7 They shall runne like strong men, and goe vp to the wall like men of warre, and every man shall goe forward in his wayes, and they shall not stay in their pathes.

8 Neither shall one thrust another, but every one shall walke in his path: and when they fall vpon the sword, they shall not be wounded.

9 They shall runne to and fro in the city: they shall runne vpon the wall: they shall cline vp vpon the houses, and enter in at the windowes like the theefe.

10 The earth shall tremble before him, the heauens shall shake, the sunne and the moone shall be darke, and the starres shall withdraw their shining.

11 And the Lord shall utter his voice before his hoste: for his hoste is very great: for he is strong that doeth his word: for the day of the Lord is great and very terrible, and who can abide it?

12 Therefore also now the Lord sayeth, Turne you vnto me with all your heart, and with fasting, and with weeping, and with mourning.

13 And rent your heart, and not your clothes: and turne vnto the Lord your God, for he is gracious and mercifull, slow to anger, and of great kindnes, and repenteth him of the euill.

14 Who knoweth, if he will returne and repent and leaue a blessing behind him, even a meate offering, and a drinke offering vnto the Lord your God?

15 Blow the trumpet in Zion, sanctifie a fast, call a solemne assembly.

16 Gather the people: sanctifie the Congregation, gather the Elders: assemble the children, and those that sucke the breasts: let the bridegrome go forth of his chamber, and the bride out of her bride chamber.

17 Let the Priests the ministers of the Lord wepe betwene the porch and the Altar, and let them say, Spare thy people, O Lord, and giue not thine heritage into reproch that the heathen should rule ouer them. Wherefore should they say among the people, Where is their God?

18 Then will the Lord be zealous ouer his land, and spare his people.

19 Yea, the Lord will answer and say vnto his people, Behold, I will send you come, and wine, and oile, and you shall be satisfied therewith: and I will no more make you a reproch among the heathen.

20 But I will remove farre off from you the Neighbouring armie, and I will bring him into a land, barren and desolate, with his face toward the East sea, and his ende to the vtmost sea, and his stinke shall come vp, and his corruption shall ascend, because he hath exalted himselfe to doe this.

21 Feare not, O land, but be glad and reioyce: for the Lord will doe great things.

22 Bee not afraid ye beasts of the field: for the pastures of the wilderness are Greene: for the tree beareth her fruit: the figge tree and the vine doe giue their force.

23 Be glad then ye children of Zion, and reioyce in the Lord your God: for hee hath giuen you the raine of righteousness, and he will cause to come down for you the raine, even the first raine, and the latter raine in the first moneth.

24 And the barnes shall be full of wheate and the presses shall abound with wine & oile.

25 And I will render you the yeeres that the grasshopper hath eaten, the canker worm, and the caterpillar, and the palmer worme, my great hoste which I sent among you.

26 So you shall eate and bee satisfied, and praye the Name of the Lord your God, that hath dealt marueilously with you: and my people shall neuer be ashamed.

27 Ye shall also know that I am in the mids of Israel, and that I am the Lord your God, and none other, and my people shall neuer be ashamed.

28 And afterward will I powre out my Spirit vpon all flesh: and your sonnes and your daughters shall prophesie: your old men shall dreame dreames, and your young men shall see visions, 29 And also vpon the seruants, and vpon the maydes in those dayes will I powre my Spirit.

30 And I wil shew wonders in the heauens and in the earth: blood and fire, and pillars of smoke.

31 The sunne shall be turned into darkness, and the moone into blood, before the great and terrible day of the Lord come.

Of the iudgement of God against the enemies of his people.

Jehoshaphat, and will please with them there for my people, and for mine heritage Israel, whom they haue scattered among the nations, and parted my land.

3 And they haue cast lots for my people & haue giuen the child for the harlot, & sold the girle for wine, that they might drinke.

4 Yea, and what haue you to doe with me, O Tyus and Sidon, and all the coasts of Palestina? will ye render me a recompense? and if ye recompense me, swiftly and speedily wil I render your recompense vpon your head.

5 For ye haue taken my siluer and my gold, and haue caried into your temples my goodly and pleasant things.

6 The children also of Iudah and the children of Ierusalem haue you solde vnto the Grecians, that ye might send them farre from their border.

7 Beholde, I will raise them out of the place where ye haue sold them, and will render your reward vpon your owne head.

8 And I will sell your sonnes and your daughters into the hande of the children of Iudah, and they shall sell them to the Sabaeans, to a people farre off: for the Lord hath spoken it.

9 Publish this among the Gentiles: prepare warre, wake vp the mighty men: let all the men of warre draw neere and come vp.

10 Breake your plowshares into swords, and your sitches into speares: let the weak say, I am strong.

11 Assemble your selues, and come all ye heathen, and gather your selues together round about: there shal the Lord cast downe thy mightie men.

12 Let the heathen be wakened, and come vp to the valley of Jehoshaphat: for there will I sit to iudge all the beathen round about.

13 But in your sitches, for the harvest is ripe: come, get you downe, for the winepresse is full: yea, the wine-presses runne ouer, for their wickednesse is great.

14 O multitude, O multitude, come into the valley of threshing: for the day of the Lord is neere in the valley of threshing.

15 The sunne & moone shal be darkened, and the starres shal withdraw their light.

16 The Lord also shal roare out of Zion, and utter his voyce from Ierusalem, and the heauens and the earth shal shake, but the Lord will be the hope of his people, and the strength of the children of Israel.

17 So shall ye know that I am the Lord your God dwelling in Zion, mine holy mountaine: then shal Ierusalem bee holy, and there shal no strangers go thorow her any more.

18 And in that day shal the mountaines drop downe new wine, and the hilles shal flow with milke, and all the riuers of Iudah shal run with waters, and a fountaine shal come forth of the house of the Lord, and shal water the valley of Shittim.

19 Egypt shalbe waite, & Edom shalbe a desolate wilderness, for the iniuries of the children of Iudah, because they haue shed innocent blood in their land.

20 But Iudah shal dwell for ever, and Ierusalem from generation to generation.

h Thus he shall encourage the enemies, when their wickednes is full ripe, to destroy one another, which he calleth the valley of Gods iudgement.

i God assureth his against all troubles, that when he destroyeth his enemies, his children shal be deliuered.

k The strangers shal no more destroy his church: which if they do, it is the people which by their sinnes make the breach for the enemy.

THE ARGUMENT.

Among many other Prophets that God raised vp to admonish the Israelites of his plagues for their wickednesse & idolatrie, he stirred vp Amos, who was an herdman or shepherd of a poore towne and gaue him both knowledge and constancie to reprove all estates and degrees, and to denounce Gods horrible iudgements against them, except they did in time repent: shewing them that if God spare not the other nations about them, who had liued as it were in ignorance of God in respect of them, but for their sinnes will punish them, that they could looke for nothing, but an horrible destruction, except they turned to the Lord by vsfained repentance. And finally he comforteth the godly with hope of the comming of the Messiah, by whom they should haue perfect deliuerance and saluation.

Lord.

CHAP. II.

Against Moab, Iudah, and Israel.

Thus saith the Lord, For three transgressions of Moab, and for foure, I will not turne to it, because it burnt the * bones of the king of Edom into lime.

2 Therefore will I send a fire vpon Moab, & it shall deuoure the palaces of Kerioth, and Moab shall die with tumult, with shouting, and with the sound of a trumpet.

3 And I will cut off the Judge out of the midst thereof, and will slay all the Princes thereof with blood, saith the Lord.

4 Thus saith the Lord, For three transgressions of Iudah, and for foure, I will not turne to it, because they haue cast away the Law of the Lord, and haue not kept his commandments, and their lies caused them to erre after the which their fathers haue walked.

5 Therefore will I send a fire vpon Judah, and it shall deuoure the palaces of Jerusalem.

6 Thus saith the Lord, For three transgressions of Israel, and for foure, I will not turne to it, because they solde the righteous for silver, and the pious for * horses.

7 They gaue ouer the head of the pease in the dust of the earth, and peruert the wayes of the merke: and a man and his father will goe in to a maid, to dishonour mine holy Name.

8 And they lie downe vpon clothes layd to pledge: by euery altar: and they drinke the wine of the condemned in the house of their God.

9 Yet destroyed I the * Amorite before them, whose height was like the height of the cedars, and he was strong as the oakes:
notwithstanding I destroyed his fruit from aboue, and his roote from beneath.

10 Also I brought you vp from the land of Egypt, and led you fourtie yeeres thorow the wilderness, to possesse the land of the A-morite.

11 And I rayled vp of your sonnes for Prophets, and of your yong men for sazarites. Is it not euen thus, O ye children of Israel, saith the Lord?

12 But yee gaue the Nazarites wine to drinke, and commanded the Prophets, saying, Prophecie not.

13 Behold, I am * pressed vnder you, as a cart is pressed that is full of sheaues.

14 Therefore the slight shall perish from the swift, and the strong shall not strengthen his force, neither shall the mighty saue his life.

15 For hee that handleth the bow, shall stand, and he that is swift of foote, shall not escape, neither shall he that rideth the horse, saue his life.

16 And he that is of a mighty courage as mongit the strong men, shall flee away naked in that day, saith the Lord.

i Yee contemned my benefits, and abused my graces, and craftily went about to stoppe the mouthes of my Prophets. k You haue weariet me with your sinnes, Isa 1. 14. l None shall be deliue-red by any meanes.

CHAP. III.

He reprooueth the house of Israel of ingratitude, 11 for the which God will punish them.

Heare this word that the Lord pronoun-seth against you, O children of Israel, euen against y whole family which I brought vp from the land of Egypt, saying,

2 You only haue I known of all the families of the earth: therefore I will visit you for all your iniquities.

3 Can two walke together except they be agreed.

4 Will a lion roare in the Forrest, when he hath no praye? or will a lions whelp cry out of his den if he haue taken nothing?

5 Will God threaten by his Prophets, except there be some great occasion?
6 Can

c If he spare not Iudah vnto whom his promises were made,
much more he will not spare this degenerate kingdome.

d They esteemed most vile bribes more then men-lives.

e When they haue spoiled him and throwen him
ro the ground, they gape for his life.

f Thinking by these ceremonies, that is, by sacrificing, and being neere mine altar, they may excuse
all their other wickednesse.

g They spoyle others and offer
therof vnto God, thinking that he will dispense with them, when he is made partaker of their iniquity.

h The destrution of their enemies, & his mercy toward them,
should haue caused their hearts to melt for loue toward him.

a I haue onely chosen you to be mine among all other people, and yet you haue forsaken me.

b Hereby the Prophet signifi-eth that he speaketh not of himselfe, but as God guideth and mooueth him, which is called the agreement betweene God and his Prophets.

c Will God threaten by his Prophets, except there be some great occasion?

5 Can

a For the Moabites were so cruell against the King of Edom, that they burnt his bones after that he was dead:
which declared their barbarous rage, seeing they would reuenge themselues of the dead.
b Seeing the Gerites that had not so farre
knowledge, were thus punished, Iudah, which was so fully instructed of the Lords will, might not thinke to escape.

d Can any thing come without Gods prouidence?

e Shall his threatnings be in vaine?

f Shall the Prophets threaten Gods iudgements, and the people not be afraid?

g Doeth any aduersitie come without Gods appointment? Isa. 45. 7

h God dealeth not with the Israelites as hee doth with other people: for hee euer warneth them before of his plagues, by his Prophets. i Because the people euer murmured against the Prophets, he sheweth that Gods Spirit moued them so to speake as they did.

k He calleth the strangers, as the Philistines and Egyptians to be witnesses of Gods iudgements against the Israelites for their crueltie and oppression.

l The fruit of their cruelty and theft appeareth by their great riches which they haue in their houses. m When the Lion ha-h satiate his hunger, the shepherd findeth a legge, or a tip of an eare, to shew that the sheepe haue bene worked. n Whereby they thought to haue had a sure bolde, and to haue bene in safetie.

CHAP. IIII.

Against the gouernours of Samaria.

a Thus he calleth the princes and gouernours, which being ouerwhelmed with the great abundance of Gods benefites, forgot God, and therefore he calleth them by the name of beasts, and not of men.

b They encourage such as haue authority ouer the people, to powle them, so that they may haue profit by it. c He alludeth to fishers which catch fish by hookes and thornes.

5 Can a bird fall in a snare vpon the earth where no fowler is? or will he take vp the snare from the earth, and haue taken nothing at all?

6 Or shall a trumpet be blowen in the citie, and the people bee not afraid? or shall there be euill in a citie, and the Lord hath not done it?

7 Surely the Lord God will doe nothing, but hee reuealeth his secret vnto his seruants the Prophets.

8 The lion hath roared: who wil not be afraid? The Lord God hath spoken: who can but prophesie?

9 Proclaime in the palaces at Ashdod, and in the palaces in the land of Egypt, and say, Assemble your selues vpon the mountaines of Samaria: so behold the great tumultes in the mids thereof, and the oppressed in the mids thereof.

10 For they know not to doe right, saith the Lord: they stole by violence, and robbery in their palaces.

11 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, An aduersary shall come euen round about the countrey, and shall bring downe thy strength from thee, and thy palaces shall be spoyled.

12 Thus saith the Lord, As the shepherd taketh out of the mouth of the Lyon two legs, or a piece of an eare: so shall the children of Israel be taken out that dwel in Samaria in the corner of a bed, and in Damascus, as in a couch.

13 Heare and testifie in the house of Jaakob, saith the Lord, the God of hosts.

14 Surely in the day that I shall visit the transgressions of Israel vpon him, I will also visit the altars of Beth-el, and the hornes of the altar shall be broken off, and fall to the ground.

15 And I wil limite the winter house with the summer house, and the houses of yuorie shall perish, and the great houses shall be consumed, saith the Lord.

16 The fruit of their cruelty and theft appeareth by their great riches which they haue in their houses. m When the Lion ha-h satiate his hunger, the shepherd findeth a legge, or a tip of an eare, to shew that the sheepe haue bene worked. n Whereby they thought to haue had a sure bolde, and to haue bene in safetie.

4 Come to Beth-el, and transgresse: to Gilgal, and multiply transgression, eying your sacrifices in the morning, & your tithes after three yeeres.

5 And offer a thanksgiving of leauen, publish and proclaime the free offerings: for this liketh you, O ye children of Israel, saith the Lord God.

6 And therefore haue I giuen you cleanness of teeth in all your citites, and scarcenesse of bread in all your places, yet haue ye not returned vnto me, saith the Lord.

7 And also I haue withholden the raine from you, when there were yet three moneths to the harvest, and I caused it to raine vpon one citie, and haue not caused it to raine vpon another citie: one piece was rained vpon, and the piece whereupon it rained not, withered.

8 So two or three citites wandered vnto one citie, to drinke water, but they were not satisfied: yet haue ye not returned vnto me, saith the Lord.

9 I haue smitten you with blasting, and mildew: your great gardens and your vineyards, and your fig trees, & your olive trees did the palmer worme deuoure: yet haue ye not returned vnto me, saith the Lord.

10 Pestilence haue I sent among you, after the manner of Egypt: your young men haue I slain with the sword, and haue taken away your horses: and I haue made the stinke of your tents to come vp euen into your nostrils: yet haue ye not returned vnto me, saith the Lord.

11 I haue ouerthrowen you, as God ouerthrew Sodome and Gomorah: and ye were as a firebrand pluckt out of the burning, yet haue ye not returned vnto me, saith the Lord.

12 Therefore thus will I doe vnto thee, O Israel: and because I will doe this vnto thee, prepare to meete thy God, O Israel.

13 For loe, hee that formeth the mountaines, and createth the winds, and declarerh vnto man what is his thought: which maketh the morning darkenesse, and walkerh vpon the high places of the earth, the Lord God of hosts is his Name.

CHAP. V.

A lamentation for the captiuitie of Israel.

Heare ye this word, which I lift vp vpon you, euen a lamentation of the house of Israel.

2 The virgin Israel is fallen, and shall no more rise: shee is left vpon her land, and there is none to raise her vp.

3 For thus saith the Lord God, The citie which went out by a thousand, shall leaue an hundred: and that which went forth by an hundred, shall leaue ten to the house of Israel.

4 For thus saith the Lord vnto the house of Israel, Seeke ye me, and ye shall liue.

5 But seeke not Beth-el, nor enter into Gilgal, and goe not to Beer sheba: for Gilgal shall goe into captiuitie, and Beth-el shall come to nought.

6 Seeke the Lord, and ye shall liue, lest hee shal take away your honour of God: therefore hee saith that these shall not saue them.

d He speakeh this in contempt of them which resorted to these places, thinking that their great deuotion and good intention had bene sufficient to haue bowed God vnto them. e Reade Deut. 14. 28.

f As Leuit. 7. 13.

g You onely delight in these outward ceremonies, and haue none other respect.

h That is, lacks of bread and meate.

i I stayed the rain till the fruits of the earth were destroyed with droughe, and yet you would not consider it to returne to me by repentance.

k They could not find water enough where they had hear I say it had rained. l As I plagued the Egyptians, Exod. 9. 10.

m You were almost all consumed, and a few of you wonderfully preserued, 2. King. 14. 26.

n Turne to him by repentance.

a He so calleth them, because they so boasted of themselves, or because they were giuen to wantonnesse and daintinesse.

b Meaning, that the tenth part should scarcely be saued.

c In these places they worshipped new idols, which aforetime serued for the true honour of God: therefore hee saith that these shall not saue them.

plague them, that they shall open their mouthes to admonish them of grees shall haue matter of lamentation for the breake out like fire in the house of Ioseph, and deuoure it, and there bee none to quench

it in Beth-el.

7 They turne iudgement to wornewood, & leaue off righteousnesse in the earth.
8 He maketh Pleiades, and Orion, and he turneth the shadow of death into the morning, and hee maketh the day darke as night: hee calleth the waters of the sea, and powreth them out vpon the open earth: the Lord is his Name.

9 He strengtheneth the destroyer against the mightie: and the destroyer shall come against the fortress.

10 They haue hated him, that rebuked in the gate: and they abhorred him that spake vprightly.

11 Forasmuch then as your treading is vpon the poore, and ye take from him burdens of wheat, ye haue built houses of hewen stone, but ye shall not dwell in them: ye haue planted pleasant vineyards, but ye shall not drinke wine of them.

12 For I knowe your manifold transgressions, and your mighty sinnes: they afflict the iust, they take rewards, and they op-presse the poore in the gate.

13 Therefore the prudent shall keepe silence in that time, for it is an euill time.

14 Seeke good and not euill, that ye may liue: and the Lord God of hostes shall be with you, as you haue spoken.

15 Hate the euill and loue the good, and establishe iudgement in the gate: it may bee that the Lord God of hostes wil be mercifull vnto the remnant of Ioseph.

16 Therefore the Lord God of hostes, the Lord sayeth thus: Mourning shall bee in all streetes: and they shall say in all the high wayes, Alas, alas: and they shall call the husbandman to lamentation, and such as can mourne, to mourning.

17 And in all the vines shall be lamentation: for I will passe & growe thee, sayeth the Lord.

18 Woe vnto you, that desire the day of the Lord: what haue you to doe with it? the day of the Lord is darkenes and not light.

19 As if a man did flee from a Lyon, and a beare met him: or went into the house, and leaned his hand on the wall, and a serpent bit him.

20 Shall not the day of the Lord bee darkenesse, and not light? euen darkenesse and no light in it?

21 I hate & abhorre your feast dayes, and I will not sing in your solemne assemblies.

22 Though you offer me burnt offerings and meate offerings, I will not accept them: neither will I regard the peace offerings of your fat beasts.

23 Take thou away from me the multitude of thy songs: for I will not heare the melodie of thy viols.

24 And let iudgement runne downe as waters, & righteousnes as a mighty riuer.

25 Haue ye offered vnto me sacrifices and offerings in the wilderness forty yeeres, O
house of Israel?

26 But you haue borne a Shicnth your king, & Chiun your images, and the starre of your gods, which ye made to your selues.

27 Therefore will I cause you to go into captiuitie beyond Damascus, saith the Lord, whose Name is the God of hostes.

Against the princes of Israel lining in pleasure.

Woe to them that are at ease in Zion, a The Prophet maria, b which were famous at the begin- wealth, which ning of the nations: and the house of Israel regarded not came to them. Gods plagues

2 Goe you vnto Calneh, and see: and from thence goe you to Hamath the great: then goe downe to Gath of the Philistines: b These two cities were famous by their first inhabitants the Canaanites: and seeing before time they did nothing auaile them that were there born,
why should you looke that they should saue you ons?

3 Ye that put farre away the euill day, and approach to the seate of iniquitie?

4 They lie vpon beds of yuorie, & stretch themselves vpon their beds, and eate the lambs of the flocke, and the calves out of the stall.

5 They sing to the sound of the viole:
they inuent to themselves instruments of mullicke like Dauid.

6 They drinke wine in bowles, & anoint themselves with the chiefe oymments, but no man is sorow for the affliction of Ioseph.

7 Therefore now shall they goe captiue with the first that goe captiue, and the sorrow of them that stretched themselves, is at hand.

8 The Lord God hath sworn by himselfe, sayeth the Lord God of hostes, I abhorre the excellencie of Iacob, and hate his palaces: therefore will I deliuer vp the city with all that is therein.

9 And if there remaine ten men in one house, they shall die.

10 And his vnckle k shall take him by and burne him to carry out the bones out of the house, and shall say vnto him that is by the sides of the house, Is there yet any with thee? And he shall say, None. Then shall he say, m Hold thy tongue: for we may not remember the Name of the Lord.

11 For behold, the Lord commaundeth, and he will smite the great house with breaches, and the little house with clefts.

12 Shall holles n runne vpon the rocke?
or will one plowe there with oxen? for yet haue turned iudgement into gall, and the idlenesse, wantonnesse and ryot. e As he caused diuers kinds of instruments to be made to serue Gods glory, so these did contend to inuent as many to serue their wanton affections and lustes. f They pitied not their brethren, whereof now many were slaine, & caried away cap-tiue. g Sometime, the ioy of them that stretch themselves, shall depart. h Reade Ierem. 51. 14. i That is, the riches and pompe.
k The destruction shall be so great, that none almost shall be left to bury the dead: and therefore they shall burne them at home, to carrie out the burnt ashes with more ease. l That is, some neighbour that dwelleth round about. m They shall be so affonied at this destruction, that they shall no more boast of the Name of God, and that they are his people: but they shall bee dumbe when they heare Gods Name, and abhorre it, as they that are desperate or reprobate. n He compareth them to barren rocks, wherupon it is in vaine to bestow labour: shewing that Gods benefis can haue no

CHAP. VII.

God sheweth certaine visions, whereby he signifieth the destruction of the people of Israel. 10 The false accusation of Amaziah. 12 His craftie counsell.

Thus hath the Lord God shewed vnto me, and beholde, hee formed y^e grasshoppers in the beginning of the shooting vp of the latter growth: and loe, it was in the latter growth b after the Kings mowing.

2 And when they had made an end of eating the grasse of the land, then I saide, O Lord God, spare, I beseech thee: who shall raise vp Iakob? for he is small.

3 So the Lord repented for this. It shall not be, saith the Lord.

4 ¶ Thus also hath the Lord God shewed vnto me, and behold, the Lord God called to iudgement by fire: d and it deuoured the great deepe, and did eat vp a part.

5 Then said I, O Lord God, cease, I beseech thee: who shall raise vp Iakob? for he is small.

6 So the Lord repented for this. This also shall not be, saith the Lord God.

7 ¶ Thus againe he shewed me, and beholde, the Lord stood vpon a wall made by line: with a line in his hand.

8 And the Lord said vnto mee, Amos, what seest thou? And I said, A line. Then said the Lord, Behold, I will set a line in the middes of my people Israel, and will passe by them no more.

9 And the hie places of Ithak shall be desolate, and the Temples of Israel shall bee destroyed: and I will rise against the house of Ieroboam with the sword.

10 ¶ Then Amaziah the Priest of Bethel sent to Ieroboam King of Israel, saying, Amos hath conspired against thee in the middes of the house of Israel: the land is not able to beare all his words.

11 For thus Amos saith, Ieroboam shall die by the sword, and Israel shall be led away captiue out of their owne land.

12 Also Amaziah saide vnto Amos, O thou the Seer, goe, flee thou away into the land of Iudah, and there eate thy bread and prophesie there.

13 But prophesie no more at Beth-el: for it is the kings chappell, and it is the kings kramer of Satan court.

14 ¶ Then answered Amos, and said to Amaziah, I was no b Prophet, neither was pose by the king, I a Prophets sonne, but I was an heard-he assaid by another practise, that was, to seare the Prophet, that he might depart, & not reprove there idolatry there openly, and so hinder his profit. h Thus he sheweth b. his extraordinary vocat on, that God had giuen him a charge which he must needs execute.

Amos.

Famine of the word.

15 And the Lord took me as I followed the flocke, and the Lord saide vnto me, Soe, prophesie vnto my people Israel.

16 Now therefore heare thou the word of the Lord. Thou saiest, prophesie not against Israel, and spake nothing against the house of Ithak.

17 Therefore thus saith the Lord, I Thy wife shall be an harlot in the citie, and thy sonnes and thy daughters shall fall by the sword, and thy land shall be divided by line: and thou shalt die in a polluted land, and Israel shall surely goe into captiuitie forth of his land.

1 Against the rulers of Israel. 7 The Lord sweareth. 11 The famine of the word of God.

Thus hath y^e Lord God shewed vnto mee, and behold, a basket of summer fruit.

2 And he saide, Amos, what seest thou? And I said, a basket of summer fruit. Then said the Lord vnto me, The end is come vpon my people of Israel, I will passe by them no more.

3 And the songs of the Temple shall be howlings in that day, saith the Lord God: many dead bodies shall be in every place: they shall cast them forth with silence.

4 Heare this, O ye that swallow vp the poore, that yee may make the needie of the land to faile,

5 Saying, When will the new moneth be gone, that we may sel coine, and the Sabbath, that we may set forth wheate, & make the Ephah small, and the shekel great, and falsifie the weights by deceit?

6 That we may buy the poore for silver, and the needie for shooes: yea, and sell the refuse of the wheate.

7 The Lord hath sworn by the excellencie of Iakob, Surely I will neuer forget a ny of their workes.

8 Shall not the land tremble for this: and euery one mourne, that dwelleth therein? and it shall rise vp wholly as a flood, and it shall be cast out, and y^e drowned as by the flood of Egypt.

9 And in that day, saith the Lord God, I will euene cause the sunne to goe downe at noone: and I will darken the earth in the cleare day.

10 And I will turne your feastes into mourning, and all your songs into lamentation: and I will bring sackcloth vpon all loynes, and baldnesse vpon euery head: and I will make it as the mourning of an onely sonne, and the end thereof as a bitter day.

11 Behold, the dayes come, saith the Lord God, that I will send a famine in the land, not a famine of bread, nor a thirst for water, but of hearing the word of the Lord.

12 And they shall wander from sea to sea, and from the North euen vnto the East shall they run to and fro to seeke the word of the Lord, and shall not finde it.

13 In that day shall the faire virgins and they shall not onely perish in body, but also in soule for lacke of Gods word, which is the foode thereof.

i Thus God yfed to approue the autoritie of his Propnets by his plagues & iudgements against the which were malicious enemies, Ier. 28. 12. & 29 21, 25. as this day he doth against them that persecute the minister of his Gospel.

a Which signified the ripenesse of their sinnes, & the readinesse of Gods iudgments.

b There shall be none left to mourne for them.

3 And though they hide themselves in the toppes of Carmel, I will leache and take them out thence: and though they be hidde from my sight in the bottome of the Sea, thence will I command the serpent, and he shall bite them.

4 And though they goe into captiuitie before their enemies, thence will I command the sword, and it shall slay them: and I will set mine eyes vpon them for euill, and not for good.

THE ARGUMENT.

The Idumeans which came of Esau, were morrall enemies alwayes to the Israelites, which came of Iacob: and therefore did not onely vexe them continually with sundry kinds of cruelty, but also stirred vp other to fight against them. Therefore when they were now in their greatest prosperitie, and did most triumph against Israel, which was in great affliction and miserie, God raised vp his Prophet to comfort the Israelites, forasmuch as God had now determined to destroy their aduersaries, which did so fore vexe them, and to send them such as should deliuer them, and set vp the Kingdome of Messiah, which he had promised.

The vision of Obadiah. Thus saith the Lord God against Edom. We haue heard a rumoz from the Lord, and an ambassadour is sent among the heathen: arise, and let vs rise vp against her to battell.

2 Beholde, I haue made thee small among the heathen: thou art utterly despised.

3 The pride of thine heart hath deceiued thee: thou that dwellest in the clefts of the rockes, whose habitation is high, that saith in his heart, Who shall bring me downe to the ground?

4 Though thou exalt thy selfe as the eagle, and make thy nest among the starres, thence will I bring thee downe, saith the Lord.

a God hath certainly reuealed to his Prophets that hee wil raise vp the heathen to destroy the Edomites, whereof the rumour is now published, Ier 49.14. b Thus the heathen encourage themselves to rise against Edom.

c Which despiseth all others in respect of thy selfe, & yet are but an handfull in comparison of others, and art thus vp among the hills as separate from the rest of the 6 How are the things of Esau sought by, and his treasures searched?

e They in whom thou didst trust, for to haue helpe and friendship of them, shall bee thine enemies and destroy thee.

f That is, thy familiar friends & guests haue by secret practises destroyed thee.

g He sheweth the cause why the Edomites were so sharpy punished, to wit, because they were enemies to his Church, whom now he comforteth by punishing their enemies.

h When Nebuchad-nezzar came against Ierusalem, thou ioynedst with him, and hadst part of the spoile, and so diddest reioyce, when my people, that is, thy brother were afflicted, whereas thou shouldest haue pitied and holpen thy brother. i When the Lord deprived them of their former dignitie, and gaue them to be caried into captiuitie.

7 All the men of thy confederacie haue driuen thee to the borders: the men that were at peace with thee, haue decciued thee, and preuailed against thee: they that eate thy bread, haue laid a wound vnder thee: there is none vnderstanding in him.

8 Shall not I in that day, saith the Lord, euen destroy the wise men out of Edom, and vnderstanding from the mount of Esau?

9 And thy strong men, O Teman, shall be afraid, because euery one of the mount of Esau shall be cut off by slaughter.

10 For thy crueltie against thy brother Iacob, shame shall couer thee, and thou shalt be cut off for euer.

11 When thou stoodst on the other side, in the day that the strangers caried away his substance, and strangers entred into his gates, and cast lots vpon Ierusalem, euen thou wast as one of them.

12 But thou shouldest not haue beholden the day of thy brother, in the day that he was made a stranger, neither shouldest thou haue reioyced ouer the children of Iudah, in the day of their destruction: thou shouldest not haue spoken proudly in the day of affliction.

13 Thou shouldest not haue entred into the gate of my people in the day of their destruction, neither shouldest thou haue once looked on their affliction in the day of their destruction, nor haue laid handes on their substance in the day of their destruction.

14 Neither shouldest thou haue stood in vnder Christ, when as the faithfull are made heires and lords of all things by him which is their head. p By the Canaanites the Iewes meane the Dutch men, and by Zarephath, France, and by Sepharad, Spaine. q Meaning, that God will raise vp in his Church such as shall rule and gouerne for the defence of the same, and destruction of his enemies vnder Messiah, whom the Prophet calleth here the Lord and head of this Kingdome.

15 For the day of the Lord is nere vpon all the heathen: as thou hast done, it shall be done to thee: thy reward shall retorne vpon thine head.

16 For as ye haue drunk vpon mine holy mountaine, so shall all the heathen drinke continually: yea, they shall drinke and swallow vp, and they shall bee as though they had not bene.

17 But vpon mount Zion shall be deliuerance, and it shall bee holy, and the house of Iacob shall possesse their possessions.

18 And the house of Iacob shall bee a fire, and the house of Ioseph a flame, and the house of Esau as stubble, and they shall kindle in them, and deuoure them: and there shall be no remnant of the house of Esau: for the Lord hath spoken it.

19 And they shall possesse the South side of the mount of Esau, and the plaine of the Philistims: and they shall possesse the fields of Ephraim and the fields of Samaria, and Benjamin shall haue Gilcad.

20 And the captiuitie of this hoste of the children of Israel, which were among the Canaanites, shall possesse vnto Zarephath, and the captiuitie of Ierusalem, which is in Sepharad, shall possesse the cities of the South.

21 And they that shall saue, shall come by to mount Zion to iudge the mount of Esau, and the Kingdome shall be the Lords.

When he will summon all the heathen, and send them to destroy thee. l That is, reioyced and triumphed. m The Edomites shall be utterly destroyed, and yet in despite of all the enemies, I will reuerue my Church, and restore it. n God attributeth this power to consume his enemies to his Church, which power is onely proper to himselfe, as Isa. 10. 17. deut. 4. 24. hebr. 12. 29. o He describeth how the Church shall be enlarged and haue great possessions, but this chiefly is accomplished

Jonah.

THE ARGUMENT.

When Jonah had long prophesied in Israel, and had little profited, God gaue him expresse charge to goe and denounce his iudgements against Nineueh the chiefe citie of the Assyrians, because hee had appointed, that they which were of the heathen, should conuert by the mightie power of his word, and that within three dayes preaching, that Israel might see how horribly they had prouoked Gods wrath. which for the space of so many yeeres, had not conuerted to the Lord for so many Prophets, and so diligent preaching. Hee prophesied vnder Iosiah and Ieroboam, as 2. Kings 14. 25.

CHAP. I.

3 Jonah fled when he was sent to preach. 4 A tempest ariseth, and he is cast into the sea for his disobedience.

a After that he had preached a long time in Israel: and so Ezekiel, after that for a time hee had prophesied in Iudah. hee had visions in Babylon. Ezek. 1. 1. b For seeing the great obstination of the Israelites, he sent his Prophet to the Gentiles, that they might prouoke them to repentance, or at least make them inexcusable, for Nineue was the chiefe city of the Assyrians.

f From that vocation whereunto God had called him, and wherein he would have afflicted him.

g As one that would haue cast off this care and solicitude, by seeking rest and quietnesse.

h As they had called on their idols: which declareth that idolaters haue no stay nor certaintie, but in their troubles seeketh they cannot tell to whom.

i Which declareth that the matter was in great extremity & doubt, which thing was Gods motion in them for the tryall of the cause: and this may not be done but in matters of great importance.

k This declareth that very wicked in their necessities flee vnto God for succour, and so that they are touched with a certaine feare to shed mans blood, whereas they know no manifest signe of wickednesse.

l They were touched with a certaine repentance of their life past, and began to worship the true God by whom they saw themselves so wonderfully deliuered: but this was done for feare, and not of a pure heart and affection, neither according to Gods word. m Thus the Lord would chastise his Prophet with a most terrible spectacle of death, and hereby also confirmed him of his fauour and support in this his charge which was enioyned him.

fare thereof, and went downe into it, that he might goe with them vnto Tarshish, from the presence of the Lord.

4 But the Lord sent out a great winde into the Sea, and there was a mighty tempest in the Sea, so that the ship was like to be broken.

5 Then the mariners were afraid, and cryed euery man vnto his god; and cast the wares that were in the ship, into the Sea, to lighten it of them: but Jonah was gone downe into the sides of the ship, and he lay downe, and was fast asleepe.

6 So the Shipmaster came to him, and said vnto him, What meanest thou, O Heeper? Arise, call vpon thy God, if so bee that God will thinke vpon vs, that we perish not.

7 And they said euery one to his fellow, Come, and let vs cast lots, that wee may know, for whose cause this euill is vpon vs. So they cast lots, and the lot fell vpon Jonah.

8 Then said they vnto him, Tell vs for whose cause this euill is vpon vs: What is thine occupation? & whence comest thou? which is thy countrey? and of what people art thou?

9 And he answered them, I am an Ebrew, and I feare the Lord God of heauen, which hath made the sea, and the dry land.

10 Then were the men exceedingly afraid, and said vnto him, Why hast thou done this? (for the men knew that he fled from the presence of the Lord, because he had told them.)

11 Then said they vnto him, What shall we doe vnto thee, that the sea may be calme vnto vs? (for the sea wrought and was troublous.)

12 And he said vnto them, Take me, and cast me into the sea: so shall the sea be calme vnto you: for I know, that for my sake this great tempest is vpon you.

13 Neuertheless, the men rowed to bring it to the land, but they could not: for the sea wrought and was troublous against them.

14 Wherefore they cryed vnto the Lord, and said, We beseech thee, O Lord, we beseech thee, let vs not perish for this mans life, and lay not vpon vs innocent blood: for thou, O Lord, hast done as it pleased thee.

15 So they tooke vp Jonah, and cast him into the sea, & the sea ceased from her raging.

16 Then the men feared the Lord exceedingly, and offered a sacrifice vnto the Lord, and made vowes.

17 Now the Lord had prepared a great fish to swallow vp Jonah: and Jonah was in the belly of the fish three dayes and three nights.

CHAP. II.

1 Jonah is in the fishes belly. 2 His prayer. 10 He is deliuered.

Then Jonah prayed vnto the Lord his God out of the fishes belly,

2 And saide, I cryed in mine affliction vnto the Lord: and he heard me: out of the belly of hell cryed I, and thou heardst my voyce.

3 For thou hadst cast me into the bottem in the mids of the sea, and the floods compassed me about: all thy surges, and all thy waues passed ouer me.

4 Then I said, I am cast away out of thy sight: yet wilt thou look againe toward thine holy Temple.

5 The waters compassed me about vnto the soule: the depth closed me round about, and the weedes were wrapt about mine head.

6 I went downe to the botteme of the mountaines: the earth with her barres was about mee for ever, yet hast thou brought vp my life from the pit, O Lord my God.

7 When my soule fainted within mee, I remembered the Lord, and my prayer came vnto thee, into thine holy Temple.

8 They that wait vpon lying vanities, forsake their owne mercy.

9 But I will sacrifice vnto thee with the voyce of thanksgiving, and will pay that thou hast vowed: saluation is of the Lord.

10 And the Lord spake vnto the fish, and it cast out Jonah vpon the dry land.

11 And all these dangers, as it were raising me from death to life.

12 They that depend vpon any thing sue on God alone. f They refuse their owne felicity, and that goodness which they should els receiue of God.

CHAP. III.

1 Jonah is sent againe to Nineueh. 5 The repentance of the King of Nineueh.

And the word of the Lord came vnto Jonah the second time, saying,

2 Arise, goe vnto Nineueh that great citie, and preach vnto it the preaching which I bid thee.

3 So Jonah arose, and went to Nineueh according to the word of the Lord: Now Nineueh was a great and excellent citie of three dayes iourney.

4 And Jonah began to enter into the citie a dayes iourney, and he cryed and said, Yet forty dayes, and Nineueh shall be overthrown.

5 So the people of Nineueh beleued God, and proclaimed a fast, and put on sackcloth from the greatest of them euen to the least of them.

6 For word came vnto the king of Nineueh, and he arose from his throne, and he layed his robe from him, and couered him with sackcloth, and sat in ashes.

7 And he proclaimed and said through Nineueh, (by the counsel of the king and his nobles) saying, Let neither man nor beast, nor bullocke nor sheepe taste any thing, neither feede nor drinke water.

8 But let man and beast put on sack-was able to deliuer him.

b For he was new in the fishes belly, as in a c This declared what his prayer was, and how he laboured be-

Prophet, which had before shewed so great infirmitie.

b Reade Chap. 1. 2.

c He went forward one day in the citie, and preached, and so he continued till the citie was conuerted.

d For he declared that he was a Prophet sent to them from God to denounce his iudgements against them.

CHAP. IIII.

The great goodnesse of God toward his creatures.

a Because hereby he should be taken as a false Prophet, and to the Name of God which hee preached, should be blasphemed.

b Reade Chap. 1. 3.

c Thus he prayed of griefe, fearing lest Gods Name by this forgiveness might be blasphemed, as though hee sent his Prophets forth to denounce his iudgements in vaine. d Wilt thou be iudge when I doe things for my glory, and when I doe not?

Therefore it displeased a Jonah exceedingly, and he was angry.

2 And he prayed vnto the Lord, and said, I pray thee, O Lord, was not this my saying, when I was yet in my country: therefore I prevented it to flee vnto b Tarshish: for I knew that thou art a gracious God, and mercifull, slow to anger, and of great kindnesse, and repentest thee of the euill.

3 Therefore now, O Lord, take, I beseech thee, my life from me: for it is better for me to die then to liue.

4 Then said the Lord, Dost thou well to be angry?

a Borne in Marreshah a citie of Iudah.

b Because of the malice and obstinacie of the people whom he had so oft exhorted to repentance, he summoned them to Gods iudgements, taking all creatures and

God himselfe to witnesse, that the preaching of his Prophets, which they haue abused, shall be reuenged. c Meaning hereby, that God will come to iudgement against the strong cities and holds,

Micah.

5 So Jonah went out of the citie, and sat on the east side of the citie, and there made him a boote, and sat vnder it in the shadow: till hee might see what should be done in the citie.

6 And the Lord God prepared a f gourd, and made it to come vp ouer Jonah, that it might be a shadow ouer his head, and deliver him from his griefe. So Jonah was exceeding glad of the gourd.

7 But God prepared a worme when the morning rose the next day: and it smote the gourd that it withered.

8 And when the Sunne did arise, God prepared also a feruent East winde: and the Sunne beat vpon the head of Jonah, that hee fainted, and wished in his heart to die, and said, It is better for me to die then to liue.

9 And God said vnto Jonah, Dost thou well to be angry for the gourd? And he said, I doe well to be angry vnto the death.

10 Then said the Lord, Thou hast had pittie on the gourd for the which thou hast not laboured, neither made it growe, which came vp in a night, and perished in a night.

11 And should b not I spare Nineuch that great citie, wherein are life score thousand perions, that cannot discern betweene their right hand and their left hand, and also much cattell?

h Thus God mercifully reproveth him which would pittie himselfe and this gourd, and yet would restraîne God to shew his compassion to so many thousand people. i Meaning, that they were children and infants, e For he doubted as yet whether God would shew them mercie or no: and therefore after forty dayes, he departed out of the citie, looking what the Lord should send. f Which was a further meanes to couer him from the heat of the Sunne, as he remained in his boote.

g This declareth the great inconueniences whereinto Gods seruants doe fall when they giue place to their owne affections, and do not in all things willingly submit themselves to God.

Micah

THE ARGUMENT.

Micah the Prophet of the tribe of Iudah, serued in the worke of the Lord, concerning Iudah and Israel, at the least thirtie yeeres, at what time Iſaiah prophesied. He declareth the destruction, first of the one kingdome and then of the other, because of their manifold wickednes, but chiefly for their idolatry. And to this end he noteth the wickednes of the people, the crueltie of the princes and gouernours, and the permission of the faise prophets, and the delighting in them. Then he setteth forth the comming of Christ, his kingdome and the felicitie therof. This Prophet was not that Micah, which resisted Ahab and all his false Prophets, as 1. King. 22. 8. but another of the same name.

4 And the mountaines shall melt vnder him (so shall the halleys cleaue) as waxe before the fire, and as the waters that are powdered downeward.

5 For the wickednesse of Iacob is all this, and for the finnes of the house of Israel: what is the wickednesse of Iacob? Is not d Samaria? and which are the high e places of Iudah? is not Ierusalem?

6 Therefore I will make Samaria as an heape of the steide, and for the planting of a vineyard, and I will cause the stones thereof to tumble downe into the valley, and I will discouer the foundations thereof.

burnt with the fire, and all the thols thereof, will I destroy: for he gathered it of the hire of an harlot, and they shall returne to the wages of an harlot.

8 Therefore will I mourne and howle: I will goe without clothes, and naked: I will make lamentation like the dragons, and mourning as the ostriches.

9 For her plagues are grievous: for it is come into Iudah: the enemy is come vnto the gate of my people, vnto Ierusalem.

10 Declare yee it not at Gath, neither wepe yee: for the house of Ephraim shalbe selfe in the dust.

11 Thou that dwellest at Shaphir, goe together naked with shame: shee that dwelleth at Zaanan, shall not come forth in the mourning of Beth-ezel: the enemy shall receiue of you for his standing.

12 For the inhabitant of Maroth waited for good, but euill came from the Lord vnto the gate of Ierusalem.

13 O thou inhabitant of Lachish, binde the chariot to the beastes of pauce: shee is the beginning of the sinne to the daughter of Zion: for the transgressions of Israel were found in thee.

14 Therefore shalt thou giue presents to Moresheth Gath: the houses of Achizib shall be as a lie to the kings of Israel.

15 Yet will I bring an heire vnto thee, O inhabitant of Marehab, hee shall come vnto Adullam, the glory of Israel.

1 Threatnings against the wanton and dainty people. 6 They would teach the Prophets to preach.

VV De vnto them that imagine iniquitie, and worke wickednes vpon their beds: when the morning is light, they practise it, because their hand hath power.

2 And they couet fields, and take them by violence, and houses, and take them away: so they oppresse a man and his house, even man and his heritage.

3 Therefore thus saith the Lord, Behold, against this family haue I deuised a plague, wherewith yee shall not plucke your neckes, and ye shall not goe so proudly, for this time is euill.

4 In that day shall they take vp a parable against you, and lament with a dolefull lamentation, and say, We be venterly wasted: hee hath changed the portion of my people, how hath he taken it away to restore it vnto me: he hath diuided our fields.

a As soon as they rise, they execute their wicked deuices of the night, and according to their power hurt others. b Ebr. is in power. c Thus the Iewes lament, and say, that there is no hope of restitution, seeing their possessions are diuided among the enemies.

5 Therefore thou shalt haue none that shall cast a cord by lot, in the congregation of the Lord.

6 They that prophesied, Prophesie yee not: they shall not prophesie to them, neither shall they take shame.

7 O thou that art named the house of Iacob, is the spirit of the Lord shortened: are these his workes? are not my wordes good vnto him that walketh uprightly?

8 But hee that was yesterday my people, is risen vpon the other side, as against an enemy: they spoile the beautiful garment from them that passe by peaceably, as though they returned from the warre.

9 The women of my people haue ye cast out from their pleasant houses, and from their children haue ye taken away my glory continually.

10 Arise and depart, for this is not your rest: because it is polluted, it shall destroy you, euen with a sore destruction.

11 If a man walke in the spirit, and would be falsely, saying, I will prophesie vnto thee of wine, and of strong drinke, hee shall euen be the prophet of this people.

12 I will surely gather thee wholly, O Iacob: I will surely gather the remnant of Israel: I will put them together as the sheepe of Bozrah, euen as the flocke in the mids of their fold: the cities shall be full of fruit of the men.

13 The breaker vp shall come vp before them: they shall breake out and passe by the gate, and goe out by it, and their king shall goe before them, and the Lord shall be vpon their heads.

k That is, their substance and liuing, which is Gods blessing, and as it were part of his glory. l Ierusalem shall not be your safeguard, but the cause of your destruction. m That is, shew himselfe to be a Prophet. n He sheweth what Prophets they delight in: that is, in flatterers, which tell them pleasant tales, and speake of their commodities. o To destroy thee. p The enemy shall breake their gates and walles, and leade them into Caldea. q To driue them forward, and to helpe their enemies.

CHAP. III.

1 Against the tyrannie of princes and false prophets.

A nd I sayd, Heare, I pray you, O heads of Iacob, and ye painces of the house of Israel: should not ye know iudgement?

2 But they hate the good: and loue the euill: they plucke off their skins from them, and their flesh from their bones.

3 And they eate also the flesh of my people, and flay off their skinne from them, and they breake their bones, and choppe them in pieces as for the pot, and as flesh within the caldron.

4 Then shall they cry vnto the Lord, but he will not heare them: he will euen hide his face from them at that time, because they haue done wickedly in their workes.

c That is, when I shall visite their wickednesse: for though I heare the godly before they cry, Iai. 65. 24. yet I will not heare these though they cry, Iai. 1. 5. ezek. 8. 18. ian. 2. 1. 3. pet. 3. 11, 12.]

c Ye shall haue no more lands to diuide, as you had in time past, and as you vied to measure them in the lubile. d Thus the people warne y Prophets that they speake to them no more: for they cannot abide their threatnings. e God saith, that they shall not prophesie, nor receiue no more of their reukes nor taunts. f Are these your workes according to his law? g Doe not the godly finde my words comfortable? h That is, aforetime. i The poore can haue no commodity by them, but they spoile them as though they were enemies.

d They deuoure all their substance and then flatter them, promising that all shall goe well: but if one reſtraine from their bellies, then they inuent all wayes to miſchiefe.

e As you haue loued to walke in darkeneſſe and to prophesie lies, ſo God ſhall reward you with groſſe blindneſſe and ignorance, ſo that when all others ſhall ſee the bright beams of Gods graces, ye ſhall as blinde men grope as in the night.

f When God ſhall diſcouer them to the world, they ſhall bee affrayde to ſpeake: for all ſhall know that they were but false prophets, & did belie the word of God.

g The Prophet being aſſured of his vocation by the Spirit of God, ſeteth himſelfe alone againſt all the wicked, ſhewing how God both gaue him gifts, abilitie and knowledge to diſcerne betwene good and euill, and alſo conſtancie to reprove the finnes of the people, and not to flatter them. h They build them houſes by briberie, which hee calleth blood and iniquitie. i They will ſay, that they are the people of God, & abuſe his name, as a pretence to cloke their hypocriſie. k Reade Iere. 23. 18.

5 Thus ſaith the Lord, Concerning the prophets that deceiue my people, and bite them with their teeth, and cry, Peace, but if a man put not into their mouths, they prepare warre againſt him.

6 Therefore a night ſhall be vnto you for a viſion, and darkeneſſe ſhall be vnto you for a diuination, and the ſunne ſhall goe downe ouer the prophets, and the day ſhall be darke ouer them.

7 Then ſhall the ſeers be aſhamed, and the ſoothſayers confounded: yea, they ſhall all couer their liſſes, for they haue none anſwere of God.

8 Yet notwithstanding, I am full of power by the Spirit of the Lord, and of iudgement, and of ſtrength to declare vnto Iacob his tranſgreſſion, and to Iſrael his ſinne.

9 Heare this, I pray you, yee heads of the houſe of Iacob, and princes of the houſe of Iſrael: they abhorre iudgement, and peruert all equitie.

10 They build vp Zion with blood, and Ieruſalem with iniquitie.

11 The heads thereof iudge for rewards, and the Priests thereof teach for hire, and the Prophets thereof prophesie for money: yet will they leane vnto the Lord, and ſay, Is not the Lord among vs? no euill can come vpon vs.

12 Therefore ſhall Zion for your ſake bee plowed as a field, and Ieruſalem ſhalbe an heape, and the mountaine of the Houſe, as the high places of the foreſt.

C H A P. IIII.

1 Of the kingdom of Chriſt, and felicitie of his Church.

At in the laſt daies it ſhal come to paſſe, Be that the mountaine of of the Houſe of the Lord ſhalbe prepared in the top of the mountaines, and it ſhalbe exalted aboue the hills, and people ſhall flow vnto it.

2 Yea, many nations ſhall come and ſay, Come, and let vs goe up to the mountaine of the Lord, and to the houſe of the God of Iacob, and hee will teach vs his wayes, and wee will walke in his pathes: for the Law ſhall goe forth of Zion, and the word of the Lord from Ieruſalem.

3 And hee ſhall iudge among many people, and rebuke mighty nations aſſure off, and they ſhall breake their ſwords into mattocks, and their ſpeares into ſitches: nation ſhall not liſe vp a ſword againſt nation, neither ſhall they learne to fight any more.

4 But they ſhall ſit every man vnder his vine, and vnder his figge tree, and none ſhall ſtaine from all euil doings, and exerciſe themſelues in godlineſſe, and in well doing to others. f Reade Iſa. 2. 4.

make them afraid: for the mouth of the Lord of hoſtes hath ſpoken it.

5 For all people will walke: & every one in the name of his god, and wee will walke in the name of the Lord our God, for euer and euer.

6 At the ſame day, ſaith the Lord, will I gather her that halreth, and I will gather her that is caſt out, and her that I haue aſſicted.

7 And I will make her that halreth, a remnant, and her that was caſt farre off, a mighty nation: and the Lord ſhall reigne ouer them in mount Zion, from henceforth, euen for euer.

8 And thou, D i cower of the ſlocke, the ſtrong hold of the daughter Zion, vnto thee ſhall it come, euen the firſt dominion, and kingdom ſhall come to the daughter of Ieruſalem.

9 Now why doeſt thou cry out with lamentation? is there no King in thee? is thy counſeller perished? for ſorrow hath taken thee as a woman in trauaile.

10 Sorrow & mourne, O daughter Zion, like a woman in trauaile: for now ſhalt thou goe forth of the citie, and dwell in the field, and ſhalt go into Babel, but there ſhalt thou bee deliuered: there the Lord ſhall redeeme thee from the hand of thine enemies.

11 Now alſo many nations are gathered againſt thee, ſaying, Zion ſhalbe condemned, and our eye ſhall looke vpon Zion.

12 But they know not the thoughts of the Lord: they vnderſtand not his counſell, for he ſhall gather them as the ſheaves in the barne.

13 Ariſe, and theſe, O daughter Zion: for I will make thee home yron, and I will make thine bowes braſſe, and thou ſhalt breake in pieces many people: and I will conſecrate their riches vnto the Lord, and their ſubſtance vnto the ruler of the whole world.

m He ſheweth that the faithfull ought not to meaſure Gods iudgements by the brags and threatnings of the wicked, but thereby are admoniſhed to liſt vp their hearts to God to call for deliuerance. n God giueth his Church this victory, ſo oft as hee ouercommeth their enemies: but the accompliſhment hereof ſhall bee at the laſt comming of Chriſt.

C H A P. V.

1 The deſtruction of Ieruſalem. 2 The exultation of Beth-lehem.

Now aſſemble thy garriſons, O daughter of garriſons: he hath laid ſiege againſt vs: they ſhall ſmite the ridge of Iſrael with a rod vpon the cheek.

2 And thou Beth-lehem, Ephrathah, art little to bee among the thouſands of Iudah, yet out of thee ſhall bee come that ſhall ſubdue Ieruſalem, and thou ſhalt bee the ruler in her garriſons to trouble others, the Lord would now cauſe other garriſons to vex her, and that her rulers ſhould bee ſmitten on the face moſt contemptuously. b For ſo the Iewes diuided their countrey, that for every thouſand there was a chiefe captain: and becauſe Beth-lehem was not able to make a thouſand, he calleth it little, but yet God wil raile vp his captaine and gouernor therein: and thus it is not the leaſt by reaſon of this benefit, as Matt. 2. 6.

Iſrael:

g He ſheweth that the people of God ought to remaine conſtant in their religion, albeit all the world ſhould giue themſelues to their ſuperſtition and idolatry. h I wil cauſe that Iſrael, which is now as one lame and halting, and ſo almoſt deſtroyed, ſhall liue againe, and grow into a great people.

i Meaning Ieruſalem, where the Lords ſlocke was gathered.

k The flouriſhing ſtate of the kingdom, as it was vnder Dauid and Salomon, which thing was accompliſhed to the Church by the comming of Chriſt.

l In the meane ſeaſon he ſheweth that they ſhould endure great troubles and tentations, when they ſaw themſelues neither to haue king nor counſell.

c He sheweth that the coming of Christ and all his wayes were appointed of God from all eternitie.

d He compareth the Jewes to women with child, who for a time should haue great sorowes, but at length they should haue a comfortable deliuerance, Ioh. 16. 21.

e That is, Christ, kingdome shall be stable and everlasting, and his people, as wel the Gentiles as the Jewes shall dwell in safetie.

f This Messiah shall be a sufficient safeguard for vs, and though the enemy invade vs for a time, yet shall God stir vp many which shall be able to deliuer vs.

g These whom God shall raise vp for the deliuerance of his Church, shall destroy all the enemies thereof, which are meant here by the Assyrians & Babylonians which were the chiefe at that time.

h By these gouernors God wil deliuer vs when the enemy commeth into our land.

i This remnant or Church which God shall deliuer, shall onely depend on Gods power and defence, as doeth the grasse of the field, and not on the hope of man. k I will destroy all things wherein thou puttest thy confidence, as thy vaine confidence and idolatry, and so will helpe thee. l It shall be so terrible, that the like hath not bene heard of.

CHAP. VI.

An exhortation to the dumbe creatures to heare the iudgement against Israel being unkinde. 6 What manner of sacrifices doe please God.

Hearken ye now what the Lord saith, Arise thou, and contend before the mountaines, and let the hills heare thy voyce.

a He taketh the high mountaines and hard rocks to witnesse against the obstinacie of his people.

Israel: whose goings forth haue bene from the beginning and from everlasting.

3 Wherefore will he giue them vp, untill the time that he which shall beare, shall trauaile: then the remnant of their brethren shall returne vnto the children of Israel.

4 And he shall stand and feede in the strength of the Lord, and in the maiestie of the flame of the Lord his God, and they shall dwell still: for now shall he be magnified vnto the ends of the world.

5 And he shall be our peace when Asshur shall come into our land: when he shall tread in our palaces, then shall wee raise against him seuen sheepehearers and eight principall men.

6 And they shall destroy Asshur with the sword, and the land of Nimrod with their swords: thus shall he deliuer vs from Asshur, when he commeth into our land, and when he shall treade within our borders.

7 And the remnant of Iacob shall bee among many people: as a dewe from the Lord, and as the showers vpon the grasse, that waiteth not for man, nor hopeth in the sonnes of Adam.

8 And the remnant of Iacob shall be among the Gentiles, in the middes of many people, as the lyon among the beasts of the forest, and as the lyons whelp among the flocks of sheepe, who when he goeth thow, treadeth downe and teareth in pieces, and none can deliuer.

9 Thine hand shall be lift vp vpon thine aduersaries, and all thine enemies shall bee cut off.

10 And it shall come to passe in that day, saith the Lord, that I will cut off thine hopes out of the middes of thee, and I will destroy thy charers.

11 And I will cut off the cities of thy land, and overthrow all thy strong holds.

12 And I will cut off thine enchanterers out of thine hand, and thou shalt haue no more soothsayers.

13 Thine idoles also will I cut off, and thine images out of the middes of thee: and thou shalt no more worship the worke of thine hands.

14 And I will plucke by thy groues out of the middes of thee: so will I destroy thine enemies.

15 And I will execute a vengeance in my wrath and indignation vpon the heathen, which they haue not heard.

2 Heare ye, O mountaines, the Lords quarrell, and ye mighty foundations of the earth: for the Lord hath a quarrell against his people, and he wil pleade with Israel.

3 O my people, what haue I done vnto thee? or wherein haue I grieved thee? testifie against me.

4 Surely I brought thee vp out of the land of Egypt, and redeemed thee out of the house of seruants, and I haue sent before thee Moses, Aaron, and Miriam.

5 O my people, remember now what Balak king of Moab had desired, and what Balaam the sonne of Beor answered him, from Shittim vnto Gilgal, that pee may know the righteousness of the Lord.

6 Wherewith shall I come before the Lord, and bow my selfe before the hie God? shall I come before him with burnt offerings, and with calues of a yere old?

7 Will the Lord bee pleased with thousands of rammes, or with ten thousand fivers of oyle? shall I giue my first borne for my transgression, euen the fruite of my body for the sinne of my loue?

8 He hath shewed thee, O man, what is good, and what the Lord requirerh of thee: surely to doe iustly, and to loue mercie, and to humble thy selfe, to walke with thy God.

9 The Lords voyce cryeth vnto the citie, and the man of wisdom shall see thy name: Heare the rod, and who hath appointed it.

10 Are yet the treasures of wickednesse in the house of the wicked, and the scant measure that is abominable?

11 Shall I iustifie the wicked ballances, and the bag of deceitfull weights?

12 For the rich men thereof are full of cruelty, and the inhabitants thereof haue spoken lyes, and their tongue is deceitful in their mouth.

13 Therefore also will I make thee sicke in smiting thee, and in making thee desolate, because of thy sinnes.

14 Thou shalt eate and not be satisfied, and thy casting downe shall be in the mids of thee, and thou shalt take hold, but shalt not deliuer: and that which thou deliuerest, wil I giue vp to the sword.

15 Thou shalt sowe, but not reape: thou shalt tread the olives, but thou shalt not anoynt thee with oyle: and make sweete wine, but shalt not drinke wine.

16 For the statutes of Omri are kept, the second table, to know if they will obey God aright or no, saying that God hath prescribed them to doe this. h Meaning, that when God speaketh to any citie or nation, the godly will acknowledge his Maiestie, and consider not the mortall man that bringeth the threatening, but God that sendeth it. i That is, of Ierusalem. k Thou shalt be consumed with inward griefe and euils. l Meaning, that the citie should go about to saue her men, as they that lay hold on that which they would preserve. m You haue receiued all the corruption and idolatry, wherewith the ten tribes were infected vnder Omri and Ahab his sonne: and to excuse your doings, you alledge the kings authoritie by his statutes, and also wisdom and police in so doing, but you shall not escape punishment, but as I haue shewed you great fauour, and taken you for my people, so shall your plagues be accordingly, Luke, 12. 47.

b I haue not hurt thee, but bestowed infinite benefits vpon thee.

c That is, remember my benefits from the beginning, how I deliuered you from Balaams curse, and also spared you from Shittim, which was in the plaine of Moab, till I brought you into the land promised.

d That is, the truth of his promise, and his manifold benefits toward you.

e Thus the people by hypocrisie aske how to please God, & are content to offer sacrifices, but will not change their liues.

f There is no thing so deare to man but the hypocrites will offer it vnto God, if they thinke thereby to avoid his anger: but they will neuer be brought to mortifie their owne affections, & to giue themselves willingly to serue God as he commandeth.

g The Prophet in few words calleth them to the obseruation of and all the manner of the house of Ahab, and ye walke in their countailes, that I should make thee waste, and the inhabitants thereof an hissing: therefore ye shall beare the reproch of my people.

CHAP. VII.

¹ A complaint for the small number of the righteous, ⁴ The wickednesse of those times, ¹⁴ The prosperitie of the Church.

a. The prophet taketh vpon him the person of the earth, which complayneth that all her fruits are gone, so that none is left: that is, that there is no godly man remaining: for all are given to cruelty and deceit, so that none spareth his owne brother.

b. He sheweth that the Prince, the iudge, and rich man are linked together all to doe euill and to cloke the doings one of another.

c. That is, the rich man that is able to giue money, abstaineth from no wickednes, nor iniury.

d. These men agree among themselves, and conspire with one consent to doe euil.

e. They that are of most estimation, and are counted most honest among them, are but thornes and bryers to pricke.

f. Meaning, of the Prophets and gouernours.

g. The Prophet sheweth that the onely remedy for the godly in desperate euils is to flee vnto God for succour.

h. This is spoken in the person of the Church, which calleth the malignant Church her enemy.

VV De is me, for I am as the Summer-gatherings, and as the grapes of the vintage: there is no cluster to eate: my soule desired the first ripe fruits.

2 The good man is perished out of the earth, and there is none righteous among men: they all lie in waite for blood: euery man hunteth his brother with a net.

3 To make good for the euill of their hands, the prince asked, and the iudge iudgeth for a reward: therefore the great man bespeaketh out the corruption of his soule: so they waite it by.

4 The best of them is as a hyer, and the most righteous of them is sharper then a thorne hedge: the day of thy watchmen and thy visitation cometh: then shall bee their confusio.

5 Trust ye not in a friend, neither put ye confidence in a counsellor: keepe the bowes of thy mouth from her that lyeth in thy bosome.

6 For the sonne reuileth the father: the daughter riseth up against her mother: the daughter in law against her mother in law, and a mans enemies are the men of his owne house.

7 Therefore I wil looke vnto the Lord: I will waite for God my Saviour: my God will heare me.

8 Reioyce not against me, O mine enemy: though I fall, I shall arise: when I shall sit in darknesse, the Lord shall be a light vnto me.

9 I will beare the wrath of the Lord, because I haue sinned against him, until he pleade my cause, and execute iudgement for me: then will he bring me forth to the light, and I shall see his righteousness.

10 Then she that is mine enemy, shall among them, are but thornes and bryers to pricke. f. Meaning, of the Prophets and gouernours. g. looke vpon it, and shame shall couer her, which saide vnto me, Where is the Lord thy God? mine eyes shall behold her: now shall shee bee troden downe as the mire of the streets.

11 This is the day that thy walles shall be built: this day shall thine farre away the decree.

12 In this day also they shall come vnto thee from Ashur, and from the strong cities and from the strong holds euen vnto the river, and from sea to sea, and from mountaine to mountaine.

13 Notwithstanding, the land shall be desolate because of them that dwel therein, and for the fruites of their inuentions.

14 Feede thy people with thy rodde, the flocke of thine heritage (which dwell solitary in the wood) as in the mids of Carmel: let them feede in Bashan and Gilead, as in olde time.

15 According to the dayes of the coming out of the land of Egypt will I shew vnto him marueilous things.

16 The nations shall see, and be confounded for all their power: they shall lay their hand vpon their mouth: their eares shall be deafe.

17 They shall like the dust like a serpent: they shall moue out of their holes like wormes: they shall be afraid of the Lord our God, and shall feare because of thee.

18 Who is a God like vnto thee, that taketh away iniquitie, and passeth by the transgression of the remnant of his heritage? He retaineth not his wrath for euer, because mercy pleaseh him.

19 Hee will turne againe, and haue compassion vpon vs: he will subdue our iniquities, and cast all their sinnes into the bottom of the sea.

k Meaning, the cruell empire of the Babylonians.

l When the Church shall be restored, they that were enemies afore, shall come out of all the corners of the world vnto her, so that neither holds, riuers, seas, nor mountaines shall be able to let them.

m Afore this grace appeare, he sheweth how grieuously the hypocrites themselves shall be punished, seeing that the earth it selfe, which cannot sinne, shall be made wast because of their wickednesse.

Nahum.

THE ARGUMENT.

As they of Nineueh shewed themselves prompt and ready to deceiue the word of God at Ionahs preaching, and so turned to the Lord by repentance: so after a certaine time rather giuing them selues to worldly meanes to increase their dominion, then seeking to continue in the feare of God, and trade wherein they had begun, they cast off the care of Religion, and so returned to their vomite, and prouoked Gods iust iudgement against them in afflicting his people. Therefore their citie Nineueh was destroyed, and Meroch baladan King of Babel (or as some thinke Nebuchad-nezzar) enjoyed the Empire of the Assyrians. But because God hath continuall care of his Church, he stirreth vp his Prophet to comfort the Godly, shewing that the destruction of their enemies should bee for their consolation. And as it seemeth he prophesied about the time of Hezekiah, and not in the time of Manasse his sonne, as the Iewes write.

C H A P. I.

Of the destruction of the Assyrians, and of the deliverance of Israel.

a Reade Isa. 13. 1 b The vision or reuelation which God commanded Nahum to write concerning the Nineuities.

c That is, borne in a poore village in the tribe of Simeon.

d Meaning, of his glory.

e With his he is but angry for a time, but his anger neuer asswageth toward the reprobate, though for a time he deferre it.

f Thus the wicked would make Gods mercie an occasion to sinne, but the Prophet willett them to consider his force and iustice.

g If all creatures be at Gods commaundement, and none is able to resist his wrath, shall man flatter himselfe, and thinke by any meanes to escape when he prouoketh his God to anger?

h Left the faithfull should be discouraged by hearing the power of God, hee sheweth them that his mercies appertaine vnto them, and that he hath care ouer them. i Signifying, that God will suddenly destroy Nineueh, and the Assyrians in such sort, as they shall lie in perpetuall darkness, and neuer recover their strength againe. k He sheweth that the enterprises of the Assyrians against Iudah and the Church, were against God, and therefore he would so destroy them at once, that hee should not neede to returne the second time. l Though the Assyrians thinke themselves like thornes that pricke on all sides, yet the Lord will set fire on them, and as drunken men are not able to stand against any force, so they shall be nothing able to resist him.

m Which may be vnderstood either of Saneherib, or of the whole body of the people of Nineueh n Though they thinke themselves in most safetie, and of greatest strength, yet when God shall passe by, he will destroy them: notwithstanding hee comforteth his Church, and promiseth to make an ende of punishing them by the Assyrians.

N he burden of Nineueh. b The booke of the vision of Nahum the Elkeshite.

2 God is ^d ielous, and the Lord reuengeth: The Lord reuengeth: euen the Lord of anger, the Lord will take vengeance on his aduersaries, and he reserueth wrath for his enemies.

3 The Lord is slow to anger, but he is great in power, and will not surely cleare the wicked: the Lord hath his way in the whirlewinde, and in the storme, and the cloudes are the dust of his feete.

4 He rebuketh the sea, and drieth it, and he drieth vp all the riuers: Bashan is wasted and Carmel, and the floure of Lebanon is wasted.

5 The mountaines tremble for him, and the hilles melt, and the earth is burnt at his sight, yea, the world and all that dwell therein.

6 Who can stand before his wrath? or who can abide in the fiercenesse of his wrath? his wrath is powred out like fire, and the rocks are broken by him.

7 The Lord is good, and as a strong hold in the day of trouble, and hee knoweth them that trust in him.

8 But passing ouer as with a flood, hee will utterly destroy the place thereof, and Darknesse shall pursue his enemies.

9 What doe yee imagine against the Lord? he will make an better destruction: affliction shall not rise vp the second time.

10 For he shall come as vnto thornes solden one in another, and as vnto drunkards in their drunkenesse: they shall be deuoured as stubble fully dried.

11 There commeth one out of thee that imagineth euill against the Lord, euen a wicked counsellour.

12 Thus sayeth the Lord, Though they be quiet, and also many, yet thus shall they bee cut off when he shall passe by: though I haue afflicted thee, I will afflict thee no more.

13 For now I will breake his yoke from thee, and will burst thy bonds in sunder.

14 And the Lord hath giuen a commandment concerning thee, that no more of thy name be sown: out of the house of thy gods will I cut off the grauen and the molten image: I will make it thy graue for thee, for thou art vile.

15 Behold, vpon the mountaines the feete of him that declareth and publisheth peace: O Iudah, keepe thy solemne feasts, performe thy vowes: for the wicked shall no more passe through thee: he is utterly cut off.

p Which peace the Iewes should enioy by the death of Saneherib.

C H A P. II.

Hee describeth the victories of the Caldeans against the Assyrians.

The destroyer is come before thy face: a That is, Nebuchad-nazzar make thy loynes strong: increase thy strength mightily.

2 For the Lord hath turned away the glory of Iacob, as the glory of Israel: for the emptiers haue emptied them out, and marred their vine branches.

3 The shield of his mighty men is made red: the valiant men are in scarlet: the charrets shall be as in the fire and flames in the day of his preparation, and the fire trees shall tremble.

4 The charrets shall rage in the streets: they shall runne to and fro in the hie wayes: they shall seme like lampes: they shall shoot like the lightning.

5 Wee shall remember his strong men, they shall stumble as they goe: they shall make haste to the walles thereof, and the defence shall be prepared.

6 The gates of the riuers shall be opened, and the palace shall melt.

7 And Huzzab the Queene shall be led away captiue, and her maids shall leade her as with the voyce of doves smiting vpon their breasts.

8 But Nineueh is of olde like a poole of water: yet they shall flee away. Stand, stand, shall they crie: but none shall looke backe.

9 Spoile yee the silver, spoile the gold: for there is none end of the store, and glory of all the pleasant vessels.

10 She is emptie and voyde, and waste, and the heart melteth, and the knees smite together, and sorrow is in all loynes, and the faces of them all gather blacknesse.

c He compareth Nineveh to an harlot, which by her beautie and subtilty enticeth young men, and bringeth them to destruction.

d Meaning, Alexandria, which was in a league with so many nations, and yet was now destroyed.

13 Behold, I come vnto thee, sayth the Lord of hostes, and I will burne her charrets in the smoke, and the sword shall deuoure thy yong sons, and I will cut off thy spoile from the earth, and the voice of thy messengers shall no more be heard.

Bloddy city, it is all full of lies, and robbery: the pray departeth not:

2 The noise of the whet, and the noise of the moving of the wheelles, and the beating of the hoes, and the leaping of the charrets.

3 The horsman lifteth vp both the bright sword, and the glittering speare, and a multitude is slaine, and the dead bodies are many: there is no ende of their corpses, they stumble vpon their corpses.

6 And I will cast filth vpon thee, & make thee vile, and will set thee as a gazing stocke.

13 Behold, thy people within thee are women: the gates of thy land shall be opened vnto thine enemies, and the fire shall deuoure thy barres.

14 Draw thee waters for the siege: fortifie thy strong holds: goe into the clay, and temper the mortar: make strong wycke.

15 There shall the fire deuoure thee: the sword shall cut thee off: it shall eate thee vp like the locusts, though thou be multiplied like the locusts, and multiplied like the grasshopper.

16 Thou hast multiplied thy merchants about the starres of heauen: the locust spyleth and flieth away.

THE ARGUMENT.

THE Prophet complaineth vnto God, considering the great felicity of the wicked, and the miserable oppression of the godly, which endure all kind of affliction and cruelty, and yet can see none end. Therefore he had this reuelation shewed him of God, that the Caldeans should come and take them away captiues, so that they could looke for none end of their troubles as yet, because of their stubbornnesse and rebellion against the Lord. And lett the godly should despaire, seeing this horrible confusion, he comforteth them by this, that God wil punish the Caldeans their enemies, when their pride and crueltie shall be at heighe: wherefore he exhorreth the faithfull to patience by his owne example, and sheweth them a forme of prayer, wherewith they should comfort themselves.

C H A P. I.

2 A complaint against the wicked that persecute the iust.

a The Prophet complaineth vnto God, and bewaileth that among the Iewes is left none equitie nor brotherly loue: but in stead hereof reigneth crueltie, theft, contention & strife.

The burden which Habakkuk the Prophet did see.

2 O Lord, how long shall I cry, and thou wilt not heare! even cry out vnto thee: for violence, and thou wilt not helpe!

3 Why dost thou shew me iniquity, and cause me to behold sorrow? for spoiling, and violence are before mee: and there are that raise vp strife and contention.

4 Therefore the Law is dissolved, and iudgement doth neuer goe forth: for the wicked doeth compassie about the righteous: therefore wrong iudgement proceedeth.

5 Behold among the heathen, and regard, and wonder, and maruill: for I will worke a worke in your dayes: yet will not beleue it, though it be told you.

6 For loe, I raise vp the Caldeans, that bitter and furious nation, which shall goe vpon the breadth of the land to possesse the dwelling places, that are not theirs.

10. 38. e He compareth the proud and couetous man to a drunkard that is without reason and sense, whom God will punish, and make him a laughing stocke to all the world: and this he speaketh for the comfort of the godly, and against the Caldeans,

7 They are terrible and fearefull: their iudgement and their dignitie shall proceed of themselves.

8 Their horses also are swifter then the leopards, and are more fierce then the wolus in the evening, and their horsemen are many: and their horsemen shall come from farre, they shall sle as the Eagle hasting to meat.

9 They come all to spoile: before their faces shall bee an East wind, and they shall gather the captiuitie as the land.

10 And they shall mocke the kings, and the Princes shall be a scoorne vnto them: they shall deride every strong hold: for they shall gather dust, and take it.

11 Then shall they take a courage, and transgresse and doe wickedly, imputing this their power vnto their God.

12 Art not thou of old, O Lord my God, mine holy one? we shall not die: O Lord, thou hast ordeined them for iudgement, & O
God, thou hast established them for correctio.

13 Thou art of pure eyes, & canst not see euil:
thou canst not behold wickednes: wherefore doest thou looke vpon the transgressors, and holdest thy tongue, when the wicked deuou-reth the man that is more righteous then he?

14 And makest men as the fishes of the sea, and as the creeping things that haue no ruler ouer them?

15 They take vp all with the angle: they catch it in their net, and gather it in their parne, whereof they reioyce and are glad.

16 Therefore they sacrifice vnto their net, and burne incense vnto their parne, because by them their portion is fatte, and their meat plentious.

17 Shall they therefore stretch out their net & not spare continually to slay the nations?

that transgresseth by wine: therefore shall he not endure, because he hath enlarged his fire as the hell, and is as death, and cannot

6 Shall not all these take vp a parable against him, & a taunting prouerbe against him, and say, Wo, hee that increaseth that which is not his? how long? and he that laderth himselfe with thicke clay?

7 Shall they not rise vp suddenly, that

A prayer for the faithfull.

^a The Prophet instructeth his people to pray vnto God not onely for their great sinnes, but also for such as they had committed of ignorance.

^b Thus the people were afraid when they heard Gods threatnings, & praised.

^c That is, the state of thy Church which is now ready to perish before it come to halfe a perfect age, which should be vader Christ.

^d Teman & Paran were neere Sinai where the Law was giuen: whereby is signified that his deliuerance was as present now as it was then.

^e Whereby is meant a power that was ioyned with his brightnes, which was hid to the rest of the world, but was revealed in mount Sinai to his people, Psal. 31. 16. ^f Signifying that God hath wonderfull meanes, and euer had a maruailous power when he would deliuer his Church. ^g The iniquitie of this king of Syria in vexing thy people, was made manifest by thy iudgement, to the comfort of thy Church, Iudg. 3. 10. and also of the Midianites, which destroyed themselves, Iudg. 7. 25. ^h Meaning that God was not angry with the waters, but that by this meanes hee would destroy his enemies and deliuer his Church. ⁱ And so diddest vse all the elements as instruments for the destruction of thine enemies. ^k That is, thy power. ^l For he had not onely made a covenant with Abraham, but renewed it with his posteritie.

A Prayer of Habakkuk the Prophet for the ignorantnes.

2 ^b Lord, I haue heard thy voyce, and was afraid: Lord, reuiue thy worke in the mids of the people, in the mids of the peeres make it knownen: in wrath remember mercy.

3 God commeth from ^d Teman, and the Holy one from mount Paran, Selah, his glory conereth the heauens, and the earth is full of his praise,

4 And his brightnesse was as the light: hee had hornes comming out of his hands, and there was the hiding of his power.

5 Before him went the pestilence, and burning coales went forth before his feet.

6 He stood and measured the earth: hee beheld and dissolued the nations, and the everlasting mountaines were broken, and the ancient hilles did bow: his wayes are euerslasting.

7 ^g For his iniquitie I sawe the tents of Cushan, and the curtaynes of the land of Midian did tremble.

8 Was the Lord angry against the bruiers: or was thine anger against the floods: or was thy wrath against the sea, that thou diddest ride vpon thine horses: thy charrets brought saluation.

9 Thy bowe was manifestly reuealed, and the lothes of the tribes were a sure word, Selah, thou diddest cleaue the earth with riuers.

10 The mountaines saw thee, and they trembled: the fresshe of the water passed by: the deepe made a noyse, and lift by his hand on high.

11 The Sonne and Moone stood still in their habitation: at the light of thine arrows they went, and at the bright shining of thy speares.

12 Thou trodest downe the land in anger, and diddest thresh the heathen in displeasure.

13 Thou wentest forth for the saluation of thy people, euen for saluation with thine Anointed: thou hast wounded the head of the house of the wicked, and discoveredst the foundations vnto the necke, Selah.

14 Thou diddest strike thozow with his owne stauess the heads of his villages: they came out as a whirlwind to scatter mee: their reioycing was as to deuoure the poore secretly.

15 Thou diddest walke in the Sea with thine horses vpon the heape of great waters.

16 When I heard, my belly trembled: my lips shooke at the voyce: rottennesse entered into my bones, and I trembled in my selfe, that I might rest in the day of trouble: for when he commeth vnto the people, he shall destroy them.

17 For the fig tree shall not flourish, neither shall fruit bee in the vines: the labour of the Olive shall faile, and the fields shall yeelde no meate: the sheepe shall bee cut off from the fold, and there shall be no bullocke in the stalles.

18 But I will reioyce in the Lord: I will ioy in the God of my saluation.

19 The Lord God is my strength: he will make my feet like hinds feet, and hee will make mee to walke vpon mine high places.

THE ARGUMENT.

SBeing the great rebellion of the people, and that there was now no hope of amendment, he denounceth the great iudgement of God which was at hand, shewing that their country should be utterly destroyed, and they caried away captiues by the Babylonians. Yet for the comfort of the faithfull, he prophesied of Gods vengeance against their enemies, as the Philistines, Moabites, Assyrians and others, to assure them that God had a continuall care ouer them. And as the wicked should be punished for their sinnes and transgressions: so he exhorteth the godly to patience, and to trust to finde mercy by reason of the free promise of God made vnto Abraham: and therefore quietly to abide till God shew them the effect of that grace, whereby in the end they should be gathered vnto him, and counted as his people and children.

Haggai.

Haggai.

THE ARGUMENT.

When the time of the seuentie yeeres captiuitie, prophesied by Ieremiah, was expired, God raised vp Haggai, Zechariah and Malachi to comfort the Iewes, & to exhort them to the building of the Temple, which was a figure of the spirituall Temple and Church of God, whose perfection and excellencie stood in Christ. And because that all were given to their owne pleasures and commodities, he declareth that that plague of famine, which God sent them among them, was a iust reward of their ingratitude, in that they contemned Gods honour, who had deliuered them. Yet he comforteth them, if they will returne to the Lord, with the promise of greater felicitie, forasmuch as the Lord will finish the worke that hee hath begun, and send Christ whom hee had promised, and by whom they should attaine to perfect ioy and glory.

CHAP. I.

1 The time of the prophesie of Haggai. 8 An exhortation to build the Temple againe.

a Who was the sonne of Histaspis, and the third king of the Persians as some thinke.

b Because the building of the Temple began to cease by reason that the people were discouraged by their enemies: and if these two notable men had need to be stirred vp, and admonished of their duties, what shal we thinke of other gouernours, whose doings are either against God, or very cold in his cause?

c Not that they condemned the building therof, but they preferred policie, and priuate profite to religion, being content with small beginnings.

d Shewing that they sought not onely their necessities, but their very pleasures before Gods honour.

e Consider the plagues of God vpon you for preferring your policies to his religion, and because yee seeke not him first of all: Meaning, that they should leaue off their owne commodities, and goe forward in the building of Gods Temple; and in the setting forth of his religion, g. That is, I will heare your prayers according to my promise, 1. King 8. 11, 29. h That is, my glory shall be set forth by you. i And so bring it to nothing.

In the second yere of King Darius, in the first moneth, the first day of the moneth, came the word of the Lord (by the Ministerie of the Prophet Haggai) vnto Zerubbabel the sonne of Shealtiel, a Prince of Iudah, and to Jehoshua the sonne of Jehozadak, the hie Priest, saying,

2 Thus speaketh the Lord of hostes, saying, This people say, The time is not yet come, that the Lords house should be builded.

3 Then came the word of the Lord by the ministry of the Prophet Haggai saying,

4 Is it time for your selues to dwell in your fielded houses, and this house lie wast?

5 Now therefore, thus saith the Lord of hostes, Consider your owne wayes in your hearts.

6 Ye haue sown much, and bring in little: yee eate, but yee haue not enough: yee drinke, but yee are not filled: yee clothe you, but yee be not warme: and he that earneth wages, putteth the wages into a broken bag.

7 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, Consider your owne wayes in your hearts.

8 Goe vp to the mountaine, and bring wood, and build this house, and I will be fauourable in it, and I will be glorified, saith the Lord.

9 Ye looked for much, and loe, it came to little, and when ye brought it home, I did blow vpon it. And why, saith the Lord of hostes, because of mine house that is waste, and yee runne euery man vnto his owne house.

10 Therefore the heauen ouer you stayed it selfe from dew, and the earth stayed her fruit.

11 And I called for a drought vpon the land, and vpon the mountaines, and vpon the coyne, and vpon the wine, and vpon the oyle, vpon all that the ground bringeth forth k This declared both vpon men, and vpon cattell, and vpon all the labour of the hands.

12 When Zerubbabel the sonne of Shealtiel, and Jehoshua the sonne of Jehozadak the hie Priest with all the remnant of the people, heard the voyce of the Lord their God, and the words of the Prophet Haggai, (as y Lord their God had sent him) then the people did feare before the Lord.

13 Then spake Haggai the Lords messenger in the Lords message vnto the people, saying, I am with you, saith the Lord.

14 And the Lord stirred by the Spirit of Zerubbabel the sonne of Shealtiel, a prince of Iudah, and the Spirit of Jehoshua the son of Jehozadak the hie Priest, and the Spirit of all the remnant of the people, and they came, and did the worke in the house of the Lord of hostes their God.

CHAP. II.

Hee sheweth that the glory of the second Temple shall exceede the first.

In the foure and twentieth day of the first moneth, in the second yere of King Darius,

2 In the seuenth moneth, in the one and twentieth day of the moneth, came the word of the Lord by the ministry of the Prophet Haggai, saying,

3 Speake now to Zerubbabel the sonne of Shealtiel prince of Iudah, and to Jehoshua the sonne of Jehozadak the hie Priest, and to the residue of the people, saying,

4 Who is left among you, that saw this house in her first glory, and how see you it now? is it not in your eyes, in comparison of it, as nothing?

5 Yet now be of good courage, O Zerubbabel, saith the Lord, and be of good comfort, O Jehoshua, sonne of Jehozadak the hie Priest: and be strong all yee people of the land, saith the Lord, and doe it: for I am with you, saith the Lord of hostes.

6 According to the word that I covenanted with you, when yee came out of Egypt: so my spirit shall remaine among you, feare ye not.

7 For thus saith the Lord of hostes, Get a little while, and I will shake the heauens, and the earth; and the sea, and the dry land:

k This declared that God was the author of the doctrine, & that he was but the minister, as Exo. 14. 31. iud. 7. 20. Acts. 15. 28.

l Which declareth that men are vnapt & dull to serue the Lord, neither can they obey his word or his messengers before God reforme their hearts, and giue them new spirits, Iohn 6. 44.

a For the people according as Isa. 32. 11. and Ezek. 41. 1. had prophesied, though this Temple should haue bin more excellent then Salomons Temple, which was destroyed by the Babylonians, but the Prophets meant the Spirituall Temple, the church of Christ.

b That is, goe forward in building the Temple: c He exhorteth them to patience, though they see not as yet this Temple so glorious as the Prophets had declared: for this should be accomplished in Christ, by whom all things should be renewed.

d Meaning Christ, whom all ought to looke

ous things, as like.

his time commeth, hee can sures of y world pose: but the glory of this second sings and felicity

g That is, the fices: whereby he signifieth that that thing which of it selfe is good,

cannot make an other thing so:

and therefore they ought not to iustifie themselves by their sacrifices and ceremonies: but contrary, hee that is vncleane and not pure of heart, doeth corrupt those things, and make them detestable vnto God, which els are good and godly. h Consider how God did plague you with famine afore you began to build the Temple.

8 And I will moue all nations, and the desire of all nations shall come, and I will fill this house with glory, saith the Lord of hostes.

9 The silver is mine, & the gold is mine, saith the Lord of hostes.

10 The glory of this last house shall bee greater then the first, saith the Lord of hostes:
and in this place will I giue peace, saith the Lord of hostes.

11 In the foure and twentieth day of the ninth moneth, in the second yere of Darius, came the word of the Lord vnto the Prophet Haggai, saying,

12 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, Alke now the Priests concerning the Law, and say,

13 If one beare a holy flesh in the skirt of his garment, and with his skirt do touch the bread, or the pottage, or the wine, or oyle, or any meat, shall it be holy? And the Priests answered, and said, No.

14 Then said Haggai, If a polluted person touch any of these, shall it bee vncleane?
And the Priests answered, and said, It shall bee vncleane.

15 Then answered Haggai, and said, So is this people, & so is this nation before mee, saith the Lord: and so are all the workes of their hands, and that which they offer here, is vncleane.

16 And now I pray you, consider in your minds: from this day, and afore, even afore a stone was laid vpon a stone in the Temple of the Lord:

17 Before these things were, when one came to an heape of twentie measures, there were but tenne: when one came to the wine presse for to draw out fiftie vessels out of the presse, there were but twenty.

18 I smote you with blasting, and with mildew, and with haile, in all the labours of your hands: yet you turned not to mee, saith
the Lord.

19 Consider I pray you, in your mindes, from this day, and afore from the foure and twentieth day of the ninth moneth, even from the day that the foundation of the Lords temple was laid: consider it in your mindes.

20 Is the seed yet in the barn? as yet the vine, and the fig tree, and the pomegranate, and the Olive tree hath not brought forth: from this day will I blesse you.

21 And againe the word of the Lord came vnto Haggai in the foure and twentieth day of the moneth, saying,

22 Speake to Zerubbabel the prince of Judah, and say, I will shake the heauens and the earth.

23 And I will ouerthrow the throne of kingdomes, and I will destroy the strength of the kingdomes of the heathen, and I will ouerthrow the charrets, and those that ride in them, and the horse and the riders shall come downe, euery one by the sword of his brother.

24 In that day, saith the Lord of hostes, will I take thee, O Zerubbabel my seruant the sonne of Shealtiel, saith the Lord, and will make thee as a signet: for I haue chosen thee, saith the Lord of hostes.

that his dignitie should be most excellent, which thing was accomplished in Christ.

i That is, before the building was begun.

k From the time they began to build the Temple, he promisseth that God would blesse them: and albeit as yet the fruite was not come forth, yet in the gathering they should haue plentie.

l He exhorteth them to patience and to abide till the harvest came and then they should see Gods blessings.

m I will make a change, and renew all things in Christ, of whom Zerubbabel here is a figure.

n Hereby he sheweth that there shalbe no
let or hinderance when God will make this won-derfull restitution of his Church.

Zechariah.

THE ARGUMENT.

Two moneths after that Haggai had begun to prophesie Zechariah was also sent of the Lord to helpe him in the labour, and to confirme the same doctrine. First therefore he putteth them in remembrance for what cause God had so fore punished their fathers: and yet comforteth them, if they will repent vnfainedly, and not abuse this great benefit of God in their deliuerance, which was a figure of that true deliuerance, that all the faithfull should haue from death and sinne, by Christ.
But because they still remained in their wickednesse and coldnesse to set forth Gods glory, and were not yet made better by their long banishment, hee rebuketh them most sharply: yet for the comfort of the repentant, he euer mixeth the promise of grace, that they might by this meanes be prepared to receiue Christ, in whom all should be sanctified to the Lord.

CHAP. I.

1 He exhorteth the people to returne to the Lord, and to eschew the wickednesse of their fathers. 16
Hee signifieth the restitution of Jerusalem and the Temple.

a Who was the

tion, 2. Chro. 24. 20. but had the same name, and is called the sonne of Berechiah, as he was, because he came of those progenitors, as of Jojada or Berechias and Iddo.

In the eight moneth of the second yere of Darius came the word of the Lord vnto Zechariah the sonne of Berechiah, the sonne of Iddo the Prophet, saying,

2 The Lord hath bene sore displeased with your fathers.

3 Therefore say thou vnto them, Thus h Which containeth part of January and part of February.

i This vision signifieth the restoration of the Church, but as yet it should not appear to mans eyes, which is here meant by the night, by the bottom, and by the myrrhe trees, which are blacke and giue a darke shadow: yet he compareth God to a King, who hath his postes and messengers abroad, by whom he will worketh his purpose, and bringeth his matters to passe. k Who was the chiefe among the rest of the horsemen. l These signified the diuers offices of Gods Angels, by whom God sometime punisheth and sometime comforteth and bringeth forth his works in diuers sorts. m That is, Christ the Mediatour prayed for the saluation of his Church, which was now troubled, when all the countreys about them were at rest. n Though for a time God deferre his helpe and comfort from his Church, yet this declared that hee loved them still most dearly, as a most mercifull Father his children, or an husband his wife, and when it is expedient for them, his helpe is ever ready. o In destroying the reprobate, I shewed my selfe but a little angry toward my Church, but the enemy would haue destroyed them also, and considered not the end of my chastisements.

the * former Prophets haue cryed, saying, Thus sayth the Lord of hostes, Turne you now from your euill wayes, and from your wicked workes: but they would not heare nor hearken vnto mee, saith the Lord.

5 Your fathers, where are they? and do the Prophets liue for euer?

6 But did not my wordes and my statutes, which I commaunded by my seruants the Prophets, take holde of your fathers? And they returned, and said, As the Lord of hostes hath determined to doe vnto vs according to our own wayes, and according to our workes, so hath hee dealt with vs.

7 Upon the foure and twentieth day of the eleuenth moneth, which is the moneth Shebat, in the second yeere of Darins, came the word of the Lord vnto Zechariah the sonne of Berechiah, the sonne of Iddo the Prophet, saying,

8 I saw by night, and behold, a man riding vpon a red horse, and he stood among the myrrhe trees that were in a bottom, and behinde him were there red horses speckled and white.

9 Then said I, O my Lord, What are these? And the Angel that talked with mee, said vnto mee, I will shew thee what these be.

10 And the man that stood among the myrrhe trees, answered and said, These are they whom the Lord hath sent to go thorow the world.

11 And they answered the Angel of the Lord, that stood among the myrrhe trees, and said, We haue gone thorow the world: and behold, all the world lieth still, and is at rest.

12 Then the Angel of the Lord answered, and said, O Lord of hostes, how long wilt thou be vnmmercifull to Ierusalem, and to the cities of Iudah, with whom thou hast bene displeased now these threescore and ten yeeres?

13 And the Lord answered the Angel that talked with me, with good wordes, and comfortable wordes.

14 So the Angel that communed with mee, said vnto mee, Cry thou, and speake, Thus sayeth the Lord of hostes, I am zealous ouer Ierusalem and Zion with a great zeale, 15 And am greatly angry against the careless heathen: for I was angry but a little, and they helped forward the affliction.

16 Therefore thus saith the Lord, I will returne vnto Ierusalem with tender mercy: mine house shall bee builded in it, sayth the Lord of hostes, and a line shall be stretched vpon Ierusalem.

17 Crye yet, and speake, Thus sayth the Lord of hostes, My cities shall yet be builded with plenty: the Lord shall yet comfort Zion, and shall yet chuse Ierusalem.

18 Then lift I vp mine eyes, and sawe, and behold, foure homes.

19 And I said vnto the Angel that talked with mee, What be these? And he answered me, These are the homes which haue scattered Iudah, Israel, and Ierusalem.

20 And the Lord shewed me foure carpenters.

21 Then said I, What come these to do? And hee answered and said, These are the homes, which haue scattered Iudah so, that a man durst not lift vp his head: but these are come to fray them, and to cast out the homes of the Gentiles, which lift vp their home ouer the land of Iudah to scatter it.

The restoring of Ierusalem and Iudah.

I lift vp mine eyes againe and looked, and behold, a man with a measuring line in his hand.

2 Then said I, Whither goest thou? And he said vnto mee, To measure Ierusalem, that I may see what is the breadth thereof, and what is the length thereof.

3 And beholde, the Angel that talked with mee, went forth: and another Angel went out to meet him,

4 And said vnto him, Runne, speake to this yong man, and say, Ierusalem shall be inhabited without walles, for the multitude of men and cattell therein.

5 For I, saith the Lord, will be vnto her a wall of fire round about, and will be the glory in the mids of her.

6 Ho, ho, come forth, and flee from the land of the North, saith the Lord: for I haue scattered you into the foure windes of the heauen, saith the Lord.

CHAP. III.

A prophesie of Christ, and of his Kingdome.

a He prayed to Christ the Mediator for the state of the Church. b Which declarereth that the faithfull haue not onely warre with flesh and blood, but with Satan himselfe and spirituall wickednesses, Ephel. 6. 12. c That is, Christ speaketh to God as the mediator of his Church, that he would rebuke Satan: and here hee sheweth himselfe to be the continuall preseruer of his Church. d Meaning, that Iehoshua was wonderfully preserued in the captiuitie, and now Satan sought to afflict and trouble him, when he was doing his office. e In respect of the glorious garments, and precious stones that the Priests did weare before the captiuitie: and by this contemptible state the Prophet signifieth that these small beginnings should be made excellent when Christ shall make the full restitution of his Church. f He sheweth of what apparel he speaketh, which is, when our filthy sinnes are take away, and we are clad with Gods mercies, which is meant of the spirituall restitution. g The Prophet prayeth that besides the raiment, the Priest might also haue fire for his head accordingly, that is, that the dignity of the Priesthood might be perfect, and this was fulfilled in Christ, who was both Priest and King: and here all such are condemned, that can content themselves with any meane reformation in religion, seeing the Prophet desired the perfection, and obtaineth it. h That is, haue rule and government in my Church, as thy predecessors haue had. i Whereby he meaneth, to haue the whole charge and ministry of the Church.

gine thee place among these that stand by. 8 Heare now, O Iehoshua the high Priest, thou and thy fellows that sit before thee: for they are monstrous persons: but behold, I will bring forth the Branch my seruant. 9 For loe, the stone that I haue laid before Iehoshua: vpon one stone shall be seuen eyes: behold, I will cut out the ° granting thereof, saith the Lord of hostes, and I will take away the iniquitie of this land in one day. 10 In that day, saith the Lord of hostes, shall ye call every man his neighbour vnder the vine, and vnder the figge tree.

m That is, Christ, who did so humble himselfe, that not onely hee became the seruant of God, but also the seruant of men: and therefore in him they should haue comfort, although in the world they were contemned, Isa. 11. 1. ier. 23. 5. and 33. 14, 15. n He sheweth that the ministers cannot build, before God lay the first stone, which is Christ, who is full of eyes, both because he giueth light vnto all others, and that all ought to seeke light at him, Chap. 4. 10. o That is, I will make it perfect in all points, as a thing wrought by the hand of God. p Though I haue punished this land for a time, yet I will euen now be pacified, and visit their sinnes no more. q Yee shall then liue in peace and quietnesse, that is, in the Kingdome of Christ Isa. 2. 2. micah 4. 4. hag. 2. 10.

CHAP. IIII.

The vision of the golden Candlestick, and the exposition thereof.

And the Angel that talked with mee, came againe and waked mee, as a man that is raised out of his sleepe, 2 And said vnto mee, What seest thou? and I said, I haue looked, and beholde, a candlestick all of gold with a bowle vpon the top of it, and his seuen lampes therein, and seuen pipes to the lampes which were vpon the top thereof. 3 And two olive trees out it, one vpon the right side of the bowle, and the other vpon the left side thereof. 4 So I answered and spake to the Angel that talked with mee, saying, What are these, my Lord? 5 Then the Angel that talked with mee, answered and said vnto me, Knowest thou not what these bee? And I said, No, my Lord. 6 Then he answered and spake vnto me, saying. This is the word of the Lord vnto Zerubbabel, saying, Neither by an armie nor strength, but by my Spirit, saith the Lord of hostes. 7 Who art thou, O great mountaine, before Zerubbabel? thou shalt bee a plaine, and hee shall bring forth the head stone k That is, the Angels, who represented the whole number of the faithfull: signifying, that all the godly should willingly receiue him. l Because they follow my word, they are contemned in the world and esteemed as monsters, Isa. 8. 18.

a Which was euer in the mids of the Temple, signifying that the graces of Gods Spirit should shine there in most abundance, and in all perfection. b Which conueyed the oyle that dropped from the trees into the lampes, so that the light neuer failed: and this vision was to confirme the faithfull that God had sufficient power in himselfe to continue his graces, and to bring his promise to passe, though he had no helpe of man.

c Who was a figure of Christ, and therefore this doctrine was directed to all the Church who are his body and members. d Hee sheweth that Gods power only is sufficient to preserue his Church, though he vset mans help thereunto. e He comparerh the power of the aduersaries to a great mountaine, who thought the Iewes nothing in respect of them, and would haue hindered Zerubbabel, who represented Christ, whom the enemies daily labour to let in the building of his Spirituall Temple, but all in vaine. f Though the enemies thinke to stay this building, yet Zerubbabel shall lay the highest stone thereof, and bring it to perfection, so that all the godly shall reioyce, and pray vnto God that hee would continue his grace and fauour toward the Temple.

thereof,

g Meaning, the Prophet, that I am Christ, sent of my Father for the building and preferuation of my spirituall Temple.

h Signifying, that al were discouraged at the small and poore beginnings of the Temple.

i Whereby he signifieth the plummet & line, that is, that Zerubbabel which represented

Christ, should go forward with his building to the ioy and comfort of the godly though I would be against him, and though his for a while he discouraged; because they see not things pleasant to the eye. k That is, God hath seuen eyes: meaning, a continuall providence, so that neither Satan nor any power in the world can go about or bring any thing to passe to hinder his worke, Chap. 3. 9. l Which were cuer Greene and full of oyle, so that still they powred forth oyle into the lampes: Signifying, that God wil continually maintaine & preferue his Church, and endue it still with abundance and perfection of graces.

C H A P. V.

1 The vision of the flying booke, signifying the curse of theewes, and such as abuse the Name of God. 6 By the vision of the measure is signified the bringing of Iudahs afflictions into Babylon.

a Because the Iewes had provoked Gods plagues by condemning his word, and casting off all iudgement and equitie, he sheweth that Gods curses written in this booke had iustly light both on them & their fathers: but now if they would repent, God would send the same among the Caldeans their former enemies.

b That is, vsch any iniury toward his neighbour,

c Meaning, wheresoeuer

he bee in the world. d He that transgresseth the first Table, and serueth not God aright, but abuseth Gods name. e Which was a measure in dry things, containing about ten portells, therof, with shoutings, crying, Grace, grace vnto it.

8 Moreover, the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

9 The hands of Zerubbabel have layed the foundation of his house: his hands shall also finish it, and thou shalt know that the Lord of hosts hath sent me vnto you.

10 For who hath despised the day of the small things? but they shall reioyce, and shall see the stone of time in the hand of Zerubbabel: these seuen are the eyes of the Lord, which goe thorow the whole world.

11 Then answered I, and said vnto him, What are these two Olive trees vpon the right and vpon the left side thereof?

12 And I spake moreover, and said vnto him, What be these two Olive branches, which thorow the two golden pipes empye themselves into the gold?

13 And he answered me, and said, Knowest thou not what these be? And I said, No my Lord.

14 Then said he, These are the two Olive branches, that stand with the ruler of the whole earth.

said moreover, this is the sight of them, f That is, all the wickednesse of the vngodly is in Gods sight, which he keepeth in a measure, and can shut it, or open it at his pleasure.

7 And behold, there was lift up a stalent of leader: and this is a woman that sitteth in the mids of the Cyphah.

8 And he said, This is wickednes, and hee cast it into the mids of the Cyphah, and hee cast the weight of lead vpon the mouth thereof.

9 Then lift I vp mine eyes, and looked; and behold, there came out two women, and the winde was in their wings (for they had wings like the wings of a stork) and they lift vp the Cyphah between the earth and the heauen.

10 Then said I to the Angel that talked with me, Whither doe these beare the Cyphah?

11 And he said vnto me, To build it an house in the land of Shinar, and it shall bee established and set there vpon her owne place.

vp iniquitie in a measure as in a prison. k Which declared that God would execute his iudgements by the meanes of weake and infirme meanes. l To remoue the iniquitie and afflictions that came for the same from Iudah, to place it for euer in Babylon.

C H A P. VI.

By the foure charets hee describeth the foure Monarchies.

A Gaine, I turned and lift vp mine eyes, and looked: & behold, there came foure charets out from betweene two mountaines, and the mountaines were mountains of brasse.

2 In the first charet were red hoxses, and in the second charet blacke hoxses.

3 And in the third charet white hoxses, and in the fourth charet hoxses of diuers colours, and reddish.

4 Then I answered, and saide vnto the Angel that talked with me, What are these my Lord?

5 And the Angel answered and said vnto me, These are the foure spirits of the heauen, which goe forth from standing with the Lord of all the earth.

6 That with the blacke horse went forth into the land of the North, and the white went out after them, and they of diuers colours went forth toward the South country.

7 And the reddish went out, and required to goe and passe through the world. And he said, Goe passe thorow the world: So they went thorowout the world.

8 Then cryed he vpon me, and spake vnto me, saying, Behold, these that goe toward d Signifying, that they had endured great afflictions vnder the Babylonians. e These represented thair state vnder the Persians, which restored them to libertie. f Which signified that God would sometime giue his Church rest, and power his plagues vpon their enemies, as he did in destroying Nineueh and Babylon, and other their enemies. g Meaning, all the actions and morions of Gods Spirit; which according to his vchangeable counsell he causeth to appeare through all the world. h That is, toward Egypt, and other countreys thereabout. i That is, they of diuers colours, which a keeleue, to signify that Satan hath no power to hurt or afflict, till God giue it him, Job. 1. 12.

The Branch.

k By punishing the Caldeans, mine anger ceased, & you were deliuered.

which were men of great authority among the Iewes, and doubted of the restitution of the Kingdome and of the Priesthood, and hurt others by their example.

m Because this could not be attributed to any one according to the Law, therefore it followeth that Iehoshua must represent the Messiah, who was both Priest and king.

Iehoshua was the figure: for in Greeke, they were both called Iesus. o That is, of himselfe, without the helpe of man. p Which declareth that none could build this Temple, whereof Haggai speaketh, but onely Christ: and therefore it was spirituall, and not materiall, Haggai. 2. 10. q Whereof Iehoshua had but a shadow. r The two offices of the Kingdome and Priesthood shall be so ioyned together, that they shall be no more diuidered. s Who was also called Heldai. t He was also called Ioshiah. u That they may acknowledge their infirmities, which looked that all things should haue bene restored incontinently: and of this their infidelity these two crownes shall remaine as tokens, A&S 1. 6. x That is, the Gentiles by the preaching of the Gospell shall helpe toward the building of this spirituall Temple. y If ye will beleue and remaine in the obedience of faith.

b That is, the rest of the people that remained yet in Caldea, sent to 3 Church at Ierusalem, for the resolution of these questions,

9 And the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

10 Take of them of the captiuitie, euen of Heldai, and of Tobiah, and Jedaiah, which are come from Babel, and come thou the same day, and goe vnto the house of Ioshiah the sonne of Zephaniah.

11 Take euen siluer and gold, and make crownes, and set them vpon the head of Iehoshua, the sonne of Iehozadak the high Priest.

12 And speake vnto him, saying, Thus speaketh the Lord of hostes, and saith, Behold the man whose name is the Branch, and he shall grow out of his place, and he shall build the Temple of the Lord.

13 Euen he shall build the Temple of the Lord, and he shall beare the glory, and shall sit and rule vpon his throne, and he shall be a Priest vpon his throne, and the counsell of peace shall be betwene them both.

14 And the crownes shall be to Helem, and to Tobiah, and to Jedaiah, & to Iehoshua the sonne of Zephaniah, for a memoriall in the Temple of the Lord.

15 And they that are farre off, shall come and build in the Temple of the Lord, and ye shall know that the Lord of hostes hath lent me vnto you. And this shall come to passe, if ye will obey the voyce of the Lord your God.

15 And they that are farre off, shall come and build in the Temple of the Lord, and ye shall know that the Lord of hostes hath lent me vnto you. And this shall come to passe, if ye will obey the voyce of the Lord your God.

5 Speake vnto all the people of the land, and to the Priests and say, When ye fasted, and mourned in the fift and seuenth moneth euen these seuenth yeres, did ye fast vnto me? or doe I approoue it?

6 And when ye did eate, and when ye did drinke, did ye not eate for your selues, and drinke for your selues?

7 Should ye not heare the words which the Lord hath cryed by the ministry of the former Prophets when Ierusalem was inhabited, and in prosperitie, and the cities thereof round about her, when the South and the plaine was inhabited?

8 And the word of the Lord came vnto Zechariah, saying,

9 Thus speaketh the Lord of hostes, saying, Execute true iudgement, and shew mercy and compassion, euery man to his brother.

10 And oppresse not the widow, nor the fatherlesse, the stranger nor the poore, and let none of you imagine euill against his brother in your heart.

11 But they refused to hearken, and pulled away the shoulder, & stopped their eares that they should not heare.

12 Yea, they made their hearts as an adamant stone, lest they should heare the law, and the words which the Lord of hostes sent in his spirit by the ministry of the former Prophets: therefore came a great wrath from the Lord of hostes.

13 Therefore it is come to passe, that as he cryed, and they would not heare, so they cryed, and I would not heare, saith the Lord of hostes.

14 But I scattered them among all the nations whom they knew not: thus the land was desolate after them, that no man passed thither nor returned: for they laid the pleasant land to waste.

hypocrisie, which thought by their fasting to please God, & by such things as they inuented, and in the meane season would not serue him as he had commanded. k Hee sheweth that they did not fast with a sincere heart, but for hypocrisie, and that it was not done of a pure religion, because that they lacked these offices of charitie, which should haue declared if they were godly. Mat. 23. 23. l And would not carry the Lords burthen, which was sweet and easie: but would beare their own, which was heavy and grieuous to the flesh, thinking to merite thereby: which similitude is taken of oxen, which shrink at the yoke, Nehem. 9. 29. m Which declareth that they rebelled not onely against the Prophets, but against the Spirit of God that spake in them. n That is, after they were caryed captiue. o By their sinnes whereby they prouoked Gods anger.

CHAP. VIII.

2 Of the returne of the people vnto Ierusalem, and of the mercy of God toward them. 6 Of good works. 20 The calling of the Gentiles.

A Gaine the word of the Lord of hostes came to me, saying,

2 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, I was ielous for Zion with great ielousie, and I was ielous for her with great wrath.

3 Thus saith the Lord, I will returne vnto Zion, and will dwell in the middes of Ierusalem: and Ierusalem shall be called a citie of truth, and the mountaine of the f For there were both of the people, and of the Priests, which doubted, as touching this conuersion, besides them which as yet remained in Caldea, and reasoned of it as of one of the chiefe points of their religion.

g For they thought they had deserved toward God, because of this fast which they inuented of themselves: & though fasting of it selfe be good, yet because they thought it a seruice toward

God, and trusted therein, it is here reprooued.

c Though their enemies did greatly molest and trouble them, yet God would come and dwell among them, and so preserve them: so long as nature would suffer them to live, and increase their children in great abundance, d He sheweth wherein our faith standeth, that is, to believe that God can performe that which he hath promised, though it seeme never so vnpossible to man, Gen. 18. 14.

Rom. 4. 20. e So that their returne shall not be in vaine: for God will accomplish his promise, and their prosperity shall be sure and stable.

f Let neither respect of your private commodities, neither counsell of others, nor feare of enemies discourage you in the going forward with the building of the Temple, but be constant and obey the Prophets which incourage you thereunto.

g For God cursed your worke, so that neither man nor beast had profit of their labours. h Reade Ezek. 18. 20.

i Which declareth that man cannot turne to God till hee change mans heart by his Spirit and so begin to do well, which is to pardon his sinnes, and to give him his graces.

Lord of hostes, the holy mountaine.

4 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, There shall yet olde men and old women dwell in the streetes of Ierusalem, and every man with his staffe in his hand for very age.

5 And the streetes of the citie shall be full of boyes and girles playing in the streetes thereof.

6 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, Though it be impossible in the eyes of the remnant of this people in these dayes, should it therefore be impossible in my sight, saith the Lord of hostes?

7 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, Beholde, I will deliuer my people from the East countrey, and from the West countrey.

8 And I will bring them, and they shall dwell in the mids of Ierusalem, and they shall be my people, and I will be their God in truth and in righteousness.

9 Thus saith the Lord of hostes: Let your hands be strong, ye that heare in these dayes the wordes by the mouth of the Prophets, which were in the day that the foundation of the house of the Lord of hostes was layd, that the Temple might be builded.

10 For before these dayes there was no hire for a man, nor any hire for beast, neither was there any peace to him that went out, or came in because of the affliction: for I set all men, every one against his neighbour.

11 But now I wil not increase the residue of this people as aforetime, sayeth the Lord of hostes.

12 For the seede shall be prosperous: the vine shall giue her fruite, and the ground shall giue her increase, and the heavens shall giue their dew, and I will cause the remnant of this people to possesse all these things.

13 And it shall come to passe, that as yee were a curse among the heathen, O house of Iudah, and house of Israel, so will I deliuer you, and ye shall be a blessing: feare not, but let your hands be strong.

14 For thus saith the Lord of hostes, As I thought to punish you, when your fathers prouoked me vnto wrath, saith the Lord of hostes, and repented not,

15 So againe haue I determined in these dayes to doe well vnto Ierusalem, and to the house of Iudah: feare ye not.

16 These are the things that ye shal doe. Speake yee every man the truth vnto his neighbour: execute iudgement truly and vprightly in your gates, 17 And let none of you imagine euill in your hearts against his neighbour, and loue no false oath: for all these are the things that I hate, saith the Lord.

18 And the word of the Lord of hostes came vnto me, saying,

19 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, The fast of the fourth moneth, and the fast of the fifth, and the fast of the seventh, and the fast of the tenth shall bee to the house of Iudah k Which fast Ioy and gladnesse, and prosperous hie feasts: was appointed when the citie was besieged, & there shall yet come people, and the inhabitants of great cities.

20 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, That there shall yet come people, and the inhabitants of great cities.

21 And they that dwell in one citie, shall goe to another, saying, * Up, let vs goe and pray before the Lord, and seeke the Lord of hostes: I will goe also.

22 Yea, great people and mighty nations shall come to seeke the Lord of hostes in Ierusalem, and to pray before the Lord.

23 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, in those dayes shall ten men take hold out of all languages of the nations, euen take hold of the skirt of him that is a Jew, and say, Wee will goe with you: for wee haue heard that God is with you.

the great zeale that God should glue the Gentiles to come to his Church, and to ioyne with the iewes in his true religion, which should be in the kingdome of Christ. Isa. 2. 2. micah. 4. 1.

C H A P. IX.

1 The threatening of the Gentiles. 9 The coming of Christ.

The burden of the word of the Lord in the land of Hadraach: and Damascus shall bee his rest: when the eyes of man euen of all the tribes of Israel shall be toward the Lord.

2 And Hamath also shall border there: by: Tyrus also and Sidon, though they be very wise.

3 For Tyrus did build her selfe a strong hold, and heaped vp siluer as the dust, and gold as the mire of the streetes.

4 Behold, the Lord will spoile her, and hee will limite her power in the Sea, and she shall bee denoured with fire.

5 Ashkelon shall see it, and feare, and Azrah also shall be very sorrowfull, and Ekron: for her countenance shall be ashamed, and the king shall perish from Azrah, and Ashkelon shall not be inhabited.

6 And the stranger shall dwell in Ashdod, and I will cut off the pride of the Philistims.

7 And I will take away his blood out of his mouth, and his abominations from between his teeth: but hee that remaineth, euen he shall be for our God, and hee shall bee as a prince in Iudah, but Ekron shall bee as a Jebusite.

8 And I will campe about mine house against the armie, against him that passeth by, and against him that returneth, dome. f Though they of Tyrus thinke themselves inuincible by reason of the Sea that compasseth them round about, yet they shall not escape Gods iudgements. g Meaning, that all should be destroyed save a very few, that should remaine as strangers. h Hee promisseth to deliuer the Iewes when hee shall take vengeance on their enemies for their crueltie, and wrongs done to them. i As the Iebusites had been destroyed, so should Ekron and all the Philistims. k He sheweth that Gods power onely shall be sufficient to defend his Church against all aduersaries, be they neuer so cruell, or assemble their power neuer so often.

1 That is, God hath now seene the great injuries and afflictions wherewith they haue been afflicted by their enemies.

m That is, hee hath righteoufnesse and saluation in himselfe for the vse and commodity of his Church, n Which declarereth that they should not looke for such a king as should be glorious in the eyes of man, but should be poore, and yet in himselfe haue all power to deliuer his: and this is meant of Christ, as Mat. 21. 5.

o No power of man or creature shalbe able to let this kingdom of Christ, and he shall peceably gouerne them by his word.

p That is, from the red sea to the sea called Syria-cum, and by these places which the Iewes knew he meant an infinite space and compass ouer the whole worlde.

q That is, from Euphrates. r Meaning, Ierusalem, or the Church which is saued by the blood of Christ, whereof the blood of the sacrifices was a figure, and is here called the couenant of the Church, because God made it with his Church and left it with them, for the loue that he bare vnto them. s God sheweth that he wil deliuer his Church out of all dangers, sime the y neuer so great. t That is, into the holy land, where the city & the Temple are, where God will defend you. u Meaning, the faithfull, which seemed to be in danger of their enemies on euery side, and yet liued in hope that God would restore hem to libertie. x That is, double benefites and prosperity in respect of that, which your fathers enjoyed from Dauids time to the captiuitie. y I will make Iudah and Ephraim, that is, my whole Church, victorious against all enemies, which he here meaneth by the Grecians. z He promisseth, that the Iewes shall destroy their enemies and haue abundance, and excessse of all things, as there is abundance on the altar when the sacrifice is offered: Which things are not to moue them to intemperancie, but to sobrietie, and a thankfull remembrance of Gods great liberality.

a The faithfull shall be reuered, and reuerenced of all, that the very enemies shall be compelled to esteeme them: for Gods glory shall shine in them, as Iosephus declarereth of Alexander the great, when he met Iadi the high Priest.

and no oppressour shall come vpon them any more: for now haue I seene with mine eyes.

9 Reioyce greatly, O daughter Zion: shout for ioy, O daughter Ierusalem: behold, thy King cometh vnto thee: hee is iust, and saued himselfe, poore, and riding vpon an asse, and vpon a colt the foale of an asse.

10 And I will cut off the charrets from Ephraim, and the horse from Ierusalem: the howe of the battell shall be broken, and hee shall speake peace vnto the heathen, and his dominion shall bee from sea vnto sea, and from the riuer to the ende of the land.

11 Thou also shalt bee saued through the blood of thy Couenant. I haue looked thy prisoners out of the pit wherein is no water.

12 Turne you to the strong holde, yee prisoners of hope: euen to day doe I declare, that I will render the double vnto thee.

13 For Iudah haue I bent as a bow for mee: Ephraims hand haue I filled, and I haue rayled by thy sonnes, O Zion, against thy sonnes, O Grecia, and haue made thee as a gyants sword.

14 And the Lord shall be seene ouer them, and his arrow shall goe forth as the lightning: and the Lord God shall blow the trumpet, and shall come forth with the whirle winds of the South.

15 The Lord of hosts shall defend them, and they shall deuoure them, and subdue them with sling stones, and they shall drinke, and make a noyse as through wine, and they shall be filled like bowles, and as the hornes of the altar.

16 And the Lord their God shall deliuer them in that day as the flocke of his people: for they shall bee as the stones of the crowne lifted by vpon his land.

17 For how great is his goodnesse! and how great is his beautie! come shall make the yong men cheerefull, and new wine the maides.

2 The vanity of idolatry. 3 The Lord promisseth to visite and comfort the house of Israel.

Aske you of the Lord raine in the time of the latter raine: so that the Lord make white clouds, and giue you shoures of raine, and to euery one grasse in the field.

2 Surely the idoles haue spoken vanity, and the soothsayers haue scene a lie, and the dreamers haue tolde a vaine thing, they comfort in vaine: therefore they went away as sheepe: they were troubled, because there was no shepheard.

3 My wrath was kindled against the shepheards, and I did visite the goats: but the Lord of hostes will visite his flocke the house of Iudah, and will make them as his beautifull hoxe in the battell.

4 Out of him shall the corner come forth: out of him the naile, out of him the bow of battell, and out of him euery appurter of tribute also.

5 And they shall bee as the mighty men, which tread downe their enemies in the mire of the streets in the battell, and they shall fight, because the Lord is with them, and the riders and horses shall be confounded.

6 And I will strengthen the house of Iudah, and I will prelerue the house of Ioseph, and I wil bring them againe, for I pity them, and they shall be as though I had not cast them off: for I am the Lord their God, and will heare them.

7 And they of Ephraim shall be as a gyant, and their heart shall reioyce as through wine: yea, their children shall see it, and bee glad: & their heart shall reioyce in the Lord.

8 I will blesse for them, and gather them: for I haue reuered them: and they shall increase, as they haue increased.

9 And I will sowe them among the people, and they shall remember me in farre countreies: and they shall liue with their children, and turne againe.

10 I will bring them againe also out of the land of Egypt, and gather them out of Asshur: and I will bring them into the land of Gilead and Lebanon, and place shall not be found for them.

11 And he shall goe into the Sea with affliction, and shall smite the waues in the sea, & all the depths of the river shall dry vpp: and the pride of Asshur shall be cast downe, and the scepter of Egypt shall depart away.

12 And I will strengthen them in the Lord, and they shall walke in his name, saith the Lord.

a The Prophet reproverth the Iewes, because by their owne infidelity they put backe Gods graces promised, and to famine came by Gods iust iudgement: therefore to auoide this plague, he wil let them to turne to God, and to pray in faith to him, and so he will giue them abundance.

b He calleth to remembrance Gods punishments in times past, because they trusted not in him, but in their idols & forcerers, who euer deceiued them.

c That is, the Iewes went into captiuitie.

e He wil be mercifull to his Church, & cheere them as a King or Prince doeth his best horse which shall be for his owne vse in the warre.

k Though they shall yet be scattered, and seeme to be lost, yet it shall be profitable vnto them: for there they shall come to the knowledge of my Name, which was accomplished vnder the Gospel, among whom it was first preached.

l Not that they should retorne into their countrey, but be gathered & ioyned in one faith by the doctrine of the Gospel.

m He allugeth to the deliuerance of the people out of Egypt, whereas the Angel smote the floods and riuers.

CHAP. XI.

1 The destruction of the Temple. 4 The care of the faithfull is committed to Christ. 7 A grievous vision against Ierusalem and Iudah.

a Because the Jewes thought themselves so strong by reason of this mountain, that no enemy could come to hurt them, the Prophet sheweth that when God lendeth the enemies, it shall shew it selfe ready to receive them. b Shewing, that if the strong men were destroyed, the weaker were not able to resist, c Seeing that Lebanon was destroyed, which was the strongest munition, the weaker places could not thinke to hold out. d That is, the renoume of Iudah and Irael should perish. e Which being now destinate to be slaine, were deliuered as out of the Lions mouth. f Their gouernours destroy them without any remorse of conscience, or yet thinking that they doe euill.

Open thy doores, O Lebanon, and the fire shall deuoure thy cedars.

2 Howle fire trees: for the cedar is fallen, because all the mightie are destroyed: howle ye, O oaks of Bashan, for the defended forest is cut downe.

3 There is the voyce of the howling of the shepheards: for their glory is destroyed: the voyce of the roaring of lions whelps: for the pride of Iorden is destroyed.

4 Thus saith the Lord my God, Feede the sheepe of the slaughter.

5 They that possesse them, slay them, and sinne not: and they that sell them, say, Blessed bee the Lord: for I am rich, and their owne shepheards spare them not.

6 Surely, I will no more spare those that dwell in the land, sayeth the Lord: but loe, I will deliuer the men every one into his neighbours hand, and into the hand of his king: and they shall smite the land, and out of their hands I will not deliuer them.

7 For I fed the sheepe of slaughter, euen the poore of the flocke, and I tooke unto me two stauces: the one I called Beautie, and the other I called Bands, and I fed the sheepe.

8 These shepheards also I cut off in one moneth, and my soule loathed them, and their soule abhorred me.

9 Then said I, I will not feed you: that that dieth, let it die: and that that perissheth, let it perissh: and let the remnant eate, every one of the flesh of his neighbour.

10 And I tooke my staffe, enen Beautie, and brake it, that I might disanull my covenant, which I had made with all people.

And it was broken in that day: and so the poore of the sheepe that waited vpon me, knew that it was the word of the Lord.

12 And I said vnto them, If ye thinke it good, giue me my wages: and if no, leaue off: so they weighed for my wages thirtie pieces of siluer.

13 And the Lord said vnto mee, Cast it

g He noteth the hypocrites which euer haue the Name of God in their mouthes, though in their life & doings they deny God, attributing their gaine to Gods blessing, which commeth of the spoile of their brethren. h I will cause one to destroy another. i Their gouernours shall execute cruelty ouer them. k That is, the small remnant, whom he thought worthy to shew mercy vnto. l God sheweth his great benefits toward his people, to conuince them of greater ingratitude, which would neither be ruled by his most beautiful order of gouernment, neither continue in the bands of brotherly vnitie, and therefore he breaketh both the one and the other. Some reade for Bands, Destroyers, but in the 14. verse the first reading is confirmed. m Whereby hee sheweth his care and diligence, that hee would suffer them to haue no euil rulers, because they should consider his great loue. n Meaning the people, because they would not acknowledge these great benefits of God. o He sheweth that the least part euer profit by Gods iudgements. p Besides their ingratitude, God accuseth them of malice and wickednesse, which did not onely forget his benefits, but esteemed them as things of nought. q Shewing that it was too little to pay his wages, which could scarcely suffice to make a few tiles for to couer the Temple.

valued at of them. And I tooke the thirtie pieces of siluer, and cast them to the potter in the house of the Lord.

14 Then brake I mine other staffe, enen the Bands, that I might dissolue the brotherhood between Iudah and Irael.

15 And the Lord said vnto mee, Take to thee yet the instruments of a foolish shepheard.

16 For loe, I will raise vp a sheheard in the land, which shall not looke for the thing that is lost, nor seeke the tender lambs, nor heale that which is hurt, nor feede that that standeth vp: but he shall eat the flesh of the fat, and teare their clawes in pieces.

17 I idole sheheard that leaueth the flocke: the sword shall bee vpon his arme, and vpon his right eye. His arme shall bee cleane dried vp, and his right eye shall be utterly darkened.

and sound. r By the arme he signifieth strength, as he doth wisdom and iudgement by the eye: that is, the plague of God shall take away both the strength and iudgement.

CHAP. XII.

Of the destruction and building againe of Ierusalem.

The burden of the word of the Lord vpon Irael, sayth the Lord, which spread the heauens, and laid the foundation of the earth, and formed the spirit of man within him.

2 Behold, I will make Ierusalem a cup of poyson vnto all the people round about: and also with Iudah will he bee in the siege against Ierusalem.

3 And in that day will I make Ierusalem an heaue stone for all people: all that lift it vp shall be tozned, though all the people of the earth be gathered together against it.

4 In that day sayeth the Lord, I will smite every hoise with astonishment, and his rider with madnesse, and I will open mine eyes vpon the house of Iudah, and wil smite every hoise of the people with blindness.

5 And the princes of Iudah shall lay in their hearts, The inhabitants of Ierusalem shall be my strength in the Lord of hosts their God.

6 In that day will I make the princes of Iudah like coles of fire among the wood, and like a firebrand in the sheafe, and they shall deuoure all the people round about on the right hand and on the left: and Ierusalem shall be inhabited againe in her owne place, euen in Ierusalem.

7 The Lord also shall preserue the tents of Iudah, as aforesime: therefore the glory of the house of Dauid shall not boast, nor the glory of the inhabitants of Ierusalem against Iudah.

8 In that day shall the Lord defend the inhabitants of Ierusalem, and he that is feeble among them, in that day shall be as Dauid: and the house of Dauid shall be as Gods house, and as the Angel of the Lord before them.

9 And in that day will I seeke to destroy all the nations that come against Ierusalem.

10 And I will powze vpon the house of a That is, the ten tribes which neglected Gods benefit in deliuering their brethren, & had rather remaine in captiuitie, then to retorne home when God called them. b Ierusalem shall be defended against all her enemies, so shall God defend all Iudah also, and shall destroy his enemies. c Every capitaine that had many vnder him afore, shall now thinke that the small power of Ierusalem shall be sufficient to defend them against all enemies, because the Lord is among them. d The people which are now as it were dispersed by the fields, and lie open to their enemies, shall be no lesse preferred by my power, then if they were vnder their kings, (which is meant by the house of Dauid) or in their defended cities.

e They shal haue the feeling of my grace by faith, and know that I haue compassion on them.

f That is, whom they haue continually vexed with their obstinacy, & grieved my spirit, Ioh. 19. 37. where it is referred to Christs body, which here is referred to the Spirit of God.

k That is, in all places where the Iewes shall remaine. l Signifying, that this mourning or repentance should not be a vaine ceremony: but every one touched with his owne griefe shall lament.

m Vnder these certaine families hee containeth all the tribes, and sheweth that both the Kings and the Priests had by their sins pierced Christ.

n Called also Simeon. o To wit, which were elected by grace, and preferred from the common destruction.

p That day there shall be a fountaine opened to the house of Dauid, and to the inhabitants of Ierusalem, for sinne and for uncleannesse.

q And in that day, sayeth the Lord of hosts, I will cut off the names of the idlees out of the land: and they shall no more be remembered: and I will cause the prophets, and the uncleane spirit to depart out of the land.

r And when any shall yet prophesie, his father and his mother that begate him, shall say vnto him, Thou shalt not liue: for thou speakest lies in the name of the Lord: and his father and his mother that begate him, shall thrust him through, when hee prophesieth.

s And in that day shall the prophets be ashamed every one of his vision, when hee hath prophesied: neither shall they weare a rough garment to deceiue.

t But he shall say, I am no prophet: I am an husbandman: for man taught mee to be an herdman from my youth by u And one shall say vnto him, What are these words in thine hands? Then hee shall answer, Thus was I wounded in the house of my friends.

v And in all the land, sayeth the Lord, two parts therein shall be cut off, and die: but the third shall be left therein.

w And I will bring that third part thorow the fire, and will fine them as the silver is fined, and will try them as gold is tried: they shall call on my name, and I will heare them: I will say, It is my people, and they shall say, The Lord is my God.

x And in that day shall there be no cleare light, but darke.

y And there shall be a day (it is knowne to me) that I will visit Ierusalem, and I will be against her, as I have beene against her, and I will destroy her, and will lay her waste, and will make her like Sodom, and will dwell therein, and I will be against her, as I have beene against her, and I will destroy her, and will lay her waste, and will make her like Sodom, and will dwell therein.

z Hereby he sheweth that though their parents and friends dealt more gently with them, & put them not to death, yet they would so punish their children that became false prophets, that the marks and signes should remaine for euer.

aa The Prophet warneth the Iewes, that before this great comfort shall come vnder Christ, there should be an horrible dissipation among the people: for their gouernours and pastors should be destroyed, and the people should be as scattered sheepe: and the Euangelist applyeth this to Christ, because hee was the head of all pastors, Mat. 26. 31.

ab The greatest part shal haue no portion of these blessings, & yet they that shal enioy them, shal be tried with great afflictions, so that it shalbe knowne that onely Gods power and his mercies doe preferue them.

ac Of the doctrine that shall procede out of the Church, and of the restoration thereof ad Behold, the day of the Lord cometh, and the spoile shall be divided in the midst of thee.

ae For I will gather all nations against Ierusalem to battell, and the citie shall be taken, and the houses spoiled, and the women defiled, and halfe of the citie shall goe into captiuitie, and the residue of the people shal not be cut off from the citie.

af Then shall the Lord goe forth a fight against those nations, as when hee fought in the day of battell.

ag And his feete shall stand in that day vpon the mount of oliues, which is before Ierusalem on the East side, and the mount of oliues shall cleaue in the middes thereof: toward the East and toward the West there shall bee a very great valley, and halfe of the mountaine shall remooue toward the North, and halfe of the mountaine toward the South.

ah And yee shall flee vnto the valley of the mountaines: for the valley of the mountaines shall reach vnto Azal: yea, yee shall flee like as yee fled from the earthquake in the dayes of Uzziah King of Iudah: and the Lord my God shall come, and all the saints with thee.

ai And in that day shall there be no cleare light, but darke.

aj And there shall be a day (it is knowne to me) that I will visit Ierusalem, and I will be against her, as I have beene against her, and I will destroy her, and will lay her waste, and will make her like Sodom, and will dwell therein, and I will be against her, as I have beene against her, and I will destroy her, and will lay her waste, and will make her like Sodom, and will dwell therein.

ak So that out of all the parts of the world, they shal see Ierusalem, which was before hid with this mountaine: and this he meaneth of the spirituall Ierusalem the Church.

al He speaketh of the hypocrites, which could not abide Gods presence, but should flee into all places, where they might hide them among the mountains.

am Read Amos 1. Because they did not credite the Prophets words, he turneth to God, and comforteth himselfe in that that hee knew that these things should come, and saith, Thou, O God, with thine Angels wilt come to performe this great thing.

9 And the Lord shall be King ouer all the earth: in that day shall there be one Lord, and his Name shall be one.

10 All the earth shall be turned as a plaine from Geba to Rimmon, toward the South of Ierusalem, and it shall be lifted up, and inhabited in her place: from Beniamins gate vnto the place of the first gate, vnto the corner gate, and from the tower of Baniuel, vnto the kings winepresses.

11 And men shall dwell in it, and there shall be no more destruction, but Ierusalem shall be safely inhabited.

12 And this shall be the plague wherewith the Lord will smite all people that haue fought against Ierusalem: their flesh shall consume away, though they stand vpon their feete, and their eyes shall consume in their holes, and their tongue shall consume in their mouth.

14 And Iudah shall fight also against Ierusalem, and the arme of all the heathen shall bee gathered round about, with gold and silver, and great abundance of apparell.

15 Yet this shall be the plague of the horse, of the mule, of the camel, and of the asse, and of all the beasts that be in these tents as this plague.

16 But it shall come to passe that every one that is left of all the nations, which came against Ierusalem, shall goe vp from yeere to yeere to worship the King the Lord of hosts, and to keepe the feast of Tabernacles.

17 And who so will not come vp of all the families of the earth vnto Ierusalem to worship the King the Lord of hosts, euen vpon them shall come no raine.

18 And if the family of Egypt goe not vp, and come not, it shall not raine vpon them. This shall be the plague wherewith the Lord will smite all the heathen that come not vp to keepe the feast of Tabernacles.

19 This shall be the punishment of Egypt and the punishment of all the nations, that come not vp to keepe the feast of Tabernacles.

20 In that day shall there be written vpon the bridles of the horses, The holinesse vnto the Lord, and the pots in the Lords house shall be like the bowles before the altar.

21 Yea, every pot in Ierusalem and Iudah shall be holy vnto the Lord of hosts, and all they that sacrifice, shall come and take of them, and see the therein: and in that day there shall be no more the Canaanite in the house of the Lord of hosts.

o The enemies are rich, and therefore shall not come for a praye, but to destroy and shed blood.

t But all shall be pure and cleane, and there shall neither be hypocrite, nor any that shall corrupt the true seruice of God.

Malachi.

THE ARGUMENT.

THIS Prophet was one of the three, which God raised vp for the comfort of his Church after the captiuitie, and after him there was no more vntill Iohn Baptist was sent, which was either a token of Gods wrath, or an admonition that they should with more seruent desires looke for the coming of Messiah. He confirmeth the same doctrine that the two former doe, but chiefly he reproveth the Priests for their couetousnesse, and for that they serued God after their owne fantasies, and not according to the prescript of his word. He also noteth certaine peculiar sinnes, which were then among them, as marrying of idolatrous and many wiues, murmurings against God, impatience, and such like. Notwithstanding for the comfort of the godly, he declareth that God would not forget his promise made vnto their fathers, but would send Christ his messenger, in whom the Covenant should be accomplished, whose coming should be terrible to the wicked, and bring all consolation and ioy vnto the godly.

CHAP. I.

A complaint against Israel and chiefly the Priests.

IN the burden of the word of the Lord to Israel by the ministration of Malachi.

2 I haue loued you, sayeth the Lord: yet ye say, Wherein hast thou loued vs? Was not Elau Iakobs brother, sayth the Lord: yet I loued Iakob.

3 And I hated Elau, and made his mountaines waste, and his heritage a wilderness for dragons.

4 Though Edom say, We are impouertished, but we will returne, and build the desolate places, yet sayeth the Lord of hosts, They shall build, but I will destroy it, and they shall call them, The border of wickednesse, and the people with whom the Lord is angry for euer.

5 And your eyes shall see it, and ye shall say, The Lord will be magnified vpon the border of Israel.

6 A sonne honoureth his father, and a seruant his master. If then I be a father, where is mine honour? And if I be a master, where is my feare, saith the Lord of hosts vnto you, O Priests that despise my Name: and ye say, Wherein haue we despised thy Name?

7 Hee noteth their grosse hypocrisie, which would not see their faults, but most impudently couered them, and so were blind guides.

d Besides the rest of the people, he condemneth the Priests chiefly, because they should haue reproveth others for their hypocrisie, and obstinacy against God, and not haue hardened them by their example to greater euil.

f Ye receive all manner offerings for your owne greedinesse, and doe not examine whether they be according to my Law or no.

g Not that they said this, but by their doings they declared no lesse.

h You make it no fault: whereby he condemneth them that thinke it sufficient to serve God partly as he hath commaunded, and partly after mans fantasie, and so come not to that purenes of religiō, which he requireth, and therefore in reproch beweweth them that a mortall man would not be content to be so served,

i He derideth the Priests, who bare the people in hand, that they prayed for them, and sheweth that they were the occasion, that these evils came vpon the people.

k Will God consider your office and state, seeing ye are so covetous and wicked?

l Because the Levites who kept the doores, did not try whether the sacrifices that came in, were according to the Law, God wist eth that they would rather shut the doores, then to receive such as were not perfect. m God sheweth that their ingratitude, & neglect of his true service, shalbe the cause of the calling of the Gentiles: and here the Prophet that was vnder the Law, framed his words to the capacity of the people, and by the office and sacrifice he meaneth the spirituall service of God, which should be vnder the Gospel, when an end should be made to all these legall ceremonies by Christes onely sacrifice. n Both the Priests and the people were infected with this error, that they passed not what was offered: for they thought that God was as well content with the leane as with the fat: but in the meane season they shewed not that obedience to God which he required, and so committed both impietie, and also shewed their contempt of God, and covetousnesse. o The Priests and people were both weary with serving God, and passed not what manner of sacrifice and service they gaue to God: for that which was least profitable, was thought good enough for the Lord. p That is, hath abilitie to serve the Lord according to his word, and yet will serve him according to his covetous mind.

C H A P. II.

Threatnings against the Priests, being seducers of the people,

7 Yee offer uncleane bread vpon mine altar, and you say, Wherein haue wee polluted thee? In that ye say, The table of the Lord is not to be regarded.

8 And if yee offer the blinde for sacrifice, it is not euill: and if yee offer the lame and sicke, it is not euill: offer it now vnto thy Prince: will hee be content with thee, or accept thy person, saith the Lord of hostes?

9 And now, I pray you, I pray before God, that hee may haue mercy vpon vs: this hath bene by your meanes: will hee regard your persons, saith the Lord of hostes?

10 Alho is there euen among you, that would shut the doores, and kindle not fire on mine altar in vaine? I haue no pleasure in you, saith the Lord of hostes, neither will I accept an offering at your hand.

11 For from the rising of the Sunne vnto the going downe of the same, my Name is great among the Gentiles, and in euery place incense shall be offered vnto my Name, and a pure offering: for my Name is great among the heathen, saith the Lord of hostes.

12 But ye haue polluted it, in that ye say, The table of the Lord is polluted, and the fruit thereof, euen his meate is not to be regarded.

13 We said also, Behold, it is a weari-nes, and ye haue snuffed at it, saith the Lord of hostes, and yee offered that which was rone, and the lame, and the sicke: thus yee offered an offering: should I accept this of your hand, saith the Lord?

14 But cursed bee the deceiver, which hath in his flocke a male, and voweth, and sacrificeth vnto the Lord a corrupt thing: for I am a great King, saith the Lord of hostes, and my Name is terrible among the heathen.

And now, O ye Priests, this commandement is for you.

2 If ye will not heare it, nor consider it in your heart, to giue glory vnto my Name, saith the Lord of hostes, I will euen send a curse vpon you, and will curse your blessings: yea, I haue curd them already, because ye doe not consider it in your heart.

3 Behold, I will corrupt your seed, and cast dung vpon your faces, euen the dung of your solemne feasts, and you shall bee like vnto it.

4 And ye shall know, that I haue sent this commandement vnto you, that my co-uenant which I made with Leui, might stand, saith the Lord of hostes.

5 My co-uenant was with him of life and peace, and I gaue him feare, and hee feared mee, and was asrayde before my Name.

6 The law of trueth was in his mouth, and there was no iniquitie found in his lippes: hee walked with mee in peace and equity, and did turne many away from iniquitie.

7 For the Priests lips should preserve knowledge, and they should seeke the Law at his mouth: for he is the messenger of the Lord of hostes.

8 But yee are gone out of the way: yee haue caused many to fall by the Law: yee haue broken the Couenant of Leui, saith the Lord of hostes.

9 Therefore haue I made you also to be despised, and vile before all the people, because ye kept not my wayes, but haue bene partiaill in the Law.

10 Haue not we all one father? hath not one God made vs? why doe wee transgresse euery one against his brother, and breake the couenant of our fathers?

11 Judah hath transgressed, and an abomination is committed in Israel and in Ierusalem: for Judah hath defiled the holinesse of the Lord which he loued, and hath married the daughter of a strange god.

12 The Lord will cut off the man that doth this: both the master and the seruant out of the Tabernacle of Iaakob, and him that offereth an offering vnto the Lord of hostes.

13 And this haue yee done againe, and covered the altar of the Lord with teares, with weeping, and with mourning: because him according to his word. h I prescribed Leui a certaine Law to serve me. i He served me and set forth my glory with all humility and submission. k He sheweth that the Priest ought to haue knowledge to instruct other in the word of the Lord. l He is as the treasure house of Gods word, and ought to giue to euery one according to their necessity, and not to reuerse it for himselfe. m Shewing, that whosoeuer doeth not declare Gods will, is not his messenger and Priest. n The Prophet accuseth the ingratitude of the Iewes toward God and man: for seeing they were all borne of one father Abraham, and God had elected them to be his holy people, they ought neither to offend God, nor their brethren. o Whereby they had bound themselves to God to be an holy people. p They haue ioyned themselves in marriage with them that are of another religion. q That is, the Priests. r Ye cause the people to lament, because that God doth not regard their sacrifices, so that they seeme to sacrifice in vaine.

a He speaketh vnto them chiefly, but vnder them he containeth the people also.

b To serve me according to my word.

c That is, the abundance of Gods benefits.

d Your seede sown shall come to no profit.

e You boast of your holinesse, sacrifices, and feasts, but they shall turne to your shame, and be as vile as dung.

f The Priests objected against the Prophet, that he could not reprocue them, but he must speake against the Priesthood, and the office established of God by promise, but hee sheweth that the office is nothing slandered, when these villaines and dung are called by their owne names.

g He sheweth what were the two conditions of the couenant made with the tribe of Leui: on Gods part, that he would giue them long life and felicity, and on their part, that they should faithfully serve f This is another fault, whercof he accuseth them, that is, that they brake the lawes of marriage.

 r As the one halfe of thy selfe u She that was ioined to thee by a solemne couenant, and by the inuocation of Gods Name.
 x Did not God make man & woman as one flesh and not many?
 y By his power and vertue hee could haue made many women for one man.
 z Such as should be borne in lawfull & moderate marriage wherein is no excess of lusts. a Containe your selues within your boundes, & be sober in mind, & bridle your affections. b Not that he doth allow diuorcement, but of the two faults, he sheweth which is y lesse. c He thinke: hit sufficient to keepe his wife still, albeit hee take others, and so as it were couereth his fault. d Ye murmured against God, because he heard not you as those as ye called. e In thinking that God fauoured the wicked, & hath no respect to them that serue him. f Thus they blasphemed God in cōdemning his power and iustice, because he iudged not according to their fantasies.

the Lord God of Israel, yet he couereth the iniurie vnder his garment, saith the Lord of hostes: therefore keepe your selues in your spirit, and transgresse not.

17 Ye haue wearied the Lord with your words: yet ye say, Wherein haue we wearied him? When ye say, Every one that doth euill is good in the sight of the Lord, and hee delighteth in them. Where is the God of iudgement?

18 Containe your selues within your boundes, & be sober in mind, & bridle your affections. b Not that he doth allow diuorcement, but of the two faults, he sheweth which is y lesse.
c He thinke: hit sufficient to keepe his wife still, albeit hee take others, and so as it were couereth his fault. d Ye murmured against God, because he heard not you as those as ye called. e In thinking that God fauoured the wicked, & hath no respect to them that serue him. f Thus they blasphemed God in cōdemning his power and iustice, because he iudged not according to their fantasies.

of Christs office.

Behold, I will send my messenger, and he shall prepare the way before me: and the Lord whom yee seeke, shall speedily come to his Temple: euen the messenger of the couenant whom yee desire: behold, hee shall come, saith the Lord of hostes.

2 But who may abide the day of his comming? and who shall endure, when hee appeareth? for hee is like a purging fire, and like fullers sope.

3 And hee shall sit downe to trie and fine the siluer: hee shall euen fine the sonnes of Leui, and purifie them as golde and siluer, that they may bring offerings vnto the Lord in righteousness.

4 Then shall the offerings of Iudah and Ierusalem be acceptable vnto the Lord, as in olde time, and in the yeres afore.

5 And I will come nere to you, to iudge-ment, and I will be a swift witnesse against the soothsayers, and against the adulterers, and against false swearers, & against those that wrongfully keepe backe the hirelings wages, and vex the widowe and the fatherlesse, and oppresse the stranger, and feare not me, saith the Lord of hostes.

6 For I am the Lord: I change not, and ye sonnes of Iacob are not consumed.

e He beginneth at the Priests, that they might be lightes and shine vnto others. f They murmured against God, because they saw not his helpe euer present to defend them: and therefore he accuseth them of ingratitude, and sheweth that in that they are not dayly consumed, it is a token that hee doth still defend them, & so his mercy toward them neuer changeth.

7 From the dayes of your fathers, yee are gone away from mine ordinances, and haue not kept them: & returne vnto me, and I will returne vnto you, sayeth the Lord of hostes: but yee said, Wherein shall we returne?

8 Will a man spoyle his gods? yet haue ye spoiled me: but ye say, Wherein haue we spoiled thee? In tithes and offerings.

9 We are cursed with a curse: for ye haue spoiled me, euen this whole nation.

10 Bring yee all the tithes into the storehouse, that there may be meat in mine house, and proue me now herewith, saith the Lord of hostes, if I will not open the windowes of heauen vnto you, & poure you out a ble-sing without measure.

11 And I will rebuke the deuourer for your sakes, and he shall not destroy the fruit of your ground, neither shall your vine bee barren in the field, saith the Lord of hostes.

12 And all nations shall call you blessed:
for ye shall be a pleasant land, saith the Lord of hostes.

13 Your words haue bene stout against me, saith the Lord: yet ye say, What haue we spoken against thee?

14 Yee haue said, It is in vaine to serue God: and what profit is it that we haue kept his commaundement, and that we walked humbly before the Lord of hostes?

15 Therefore we count the proud blessed:
euen they that worke wickednesse are set vp, and they that tempt God, yea, they are de-liuered.

16 Then spake they that feared the Lord, every one to his neighbour, and the Lord hearkened and heard it, and a booke of remembrance was written before him for them that feared the Lord, and that thought vpon his name.

17 And they shal be to me, saith the Lord of hostes, in that day that I shal doe this, for a flocke, and I will spare them as a man spareth his owne sonne that serueth him.

18 Then shall you returne, and discerne betwene the righteous and wicked: be-twene him that serueth God, and him that serueth him not.

APOCRYPHA.

THE ARGUMENT.

These bookes that follow in order after the Prophets vnto the New Testament, are called APOCRYPHA, that is, bookes which were not receiued by a common consent to bee read and expounded publickly in the Church, neither yet serued to proue any point of Christian religion, save in as much as they had the consent of the other Scriptures called Canonicall to confirme the same, or rather whereupon they were grounded: but as bookes proceeding from godly men, were receiued to be read for the aduancement and furtherance of the knowledge of the history, & for the instruction of godly maners: which bookes declare, that at all times God had an especiall care of his Church, and left them not vnto the destitute of teachers and meanes, to confirme them in the hope of the promised Messiah, and also witnesseth that those calamities that God sent to his Church, were according to his prouidence, who had both so threatened by his Prophets, and so brought it to passe for the destruction of their enemies, and for the triall of his children.

CHAP. I.

2 Iosias appointeth Priests, and keepeth the Passover. 7 Offerings for the Priests and the people. 11 The order of the Levites. 23 The upright life of Iosias. 25 His death and the occasion thereof, and the lamentation for him. 34 Iachaz, appointed king. 53 The destruction of Ierusalem.

2. King. 23. 21.
2. Chron. 35. 1.

And Iosias kept the Passover to his Lord in Ierusalem, and offered the Passover, in the fourteenth day of the first moneth.

2 And appointed the Priests according to their dayly courses, being clothed with long garments in the Temple of the Lord.

3 And he spake to the Levites the holy ministers of Israel, that they should sanctifie themselves to the Lord, to let the holy Arke of the Lord in the house, which Salomon the sonne of king Dauid had built,

4 And sayd, We shall no more heare the Arke vpon your shoulders: now therefore serue the Lord your God, & take the charge of his people of Israel, and prepare according to your families and tribes,

5 After the writing of Dauid king of Israel, and according to the Decree of Salomon his sonne, and stand in the Temple according to the order of the dignitie of your fathers the Levites, which were appointed before your brethren the children of Israel.

6 Offer in order the Passover, and make ready the sacrifices for your brethren, & keepe the Passover after the Lords commaundement giuen to Moses.

7 And Iosias gaue to the people that was present, thirtie thousand lambes and kids, with thirtie thousand calves.

8 These were giuen of the kings possessions according to the promise, to the people, and to the Priests, and to the Levites. Then gaue Helkias and Zacharias, and Eliezer the gouernours of the Temple, to the Priests for the Passover, twa thousand six hundred sheepe, and three hundred calves.

9 Furthermore, Iechonias, & Samaias, and Nathanael his brethren, and Sabias, and Chielus, and Ioram captaines gaue to the Levites for the Passover six thousand sheepe, and seven hundred calves.

10 And when these things were done, the Priests & the Levites stood in order, hauing unleavened bread according to the tribes, 11 And after the order of the dignitie of their fathers before the people to offer to the Lord, as it is written in the bookes of Moses: and thus they did in the morning.

12 And they roasted the Passover with fire, as appertained, and they sod their offerings with perfumes in caldrons and pots, 13 And set it before all them that were of the people, and afterward they prepared for themselves, and for the Priests their brethren the sonnes of Aaron.

14 For the Priests offered the fat vnto the evening, and the Levites did make ready for themselves, and for the Priests their brethren the sonnes of Aaron.

15 And the holy singers the sonnes of Asaph were in their orders, according to the appointed ordinances of Dauid, to wit, Asaph, & Azarias, and Cedunus, which was of the kings appointment.

16 And the porters were at euery gate, so that it was not lawfull that any should passe his ordinarie watch: for their brethren the Levites made ready for them.

17 And in that day those things which appertained to the sacrifice of the Lord, were accomplished, that they might offer the Passover.

18 And offer sacrifices vpon the Altar of the Lord, according to the commaundement of king Iosias.

19 So the children of Israel, which were present at that time, kept the Passover, and the feast of unleavened bread, seven dayes.

20 And there was not such a Passover kept in Israel since the time of Samuel the Prophet.

21 And all the kings of Israel did not offer such a Passover, as did Iosias, & the Priests and the Levites, and the Iewes, & all Israel, which were found to remaine in Ierusalem.

22 In the eighteenth yeere of the reigne of Iosias was this passover kept.

23 The workes of Iosias were upright before before his Lord with a heart full of godlines.

24 And concerning the things which came to passe in his time, they are written before to wit, of those that sinned and did wickedly against the Lord, above every nation and kingdome, and grieved him with sensible things, so that the wordes of the Lord stood by against Israel.

25 ¶ Now after all these acts of Iosias, it came to passe that when Pharaoh king of Egypt came to moue war at Carchemish upon Euphrates, Iosias went out against him.

26 But the King of Egypt sent to him, saying, What haue I to doe with thee, O king of Iudea?

27 I am not sent of the Lord God against thee: but my warre is upon Euphrates, and now the Lord is with mee, and the Lord hasteneth me forward: depart from me, and be not against the Lord.

28 But Iosias would not turne backe his chariot from him, but prepared himselfe to fight with him, not regarding the wordes of Ieremias the Prophet, by the mouth of the Lord.

29 But hee set himselfe in battell aray against him in the field of Megiddo, and the princes came downe to king Iosias.

30 And the king said to his seruants, Conuey mee out of the battell, for I am very weak. And by and by his seruants brought him out of the battell.

31 So he gat vp on his second chariot, & being come againe to Ierusalem he changed his life, & was buried in his fathers grave.

32 And in all Iudea was Iosias bewailed, yea, Ieremias the Prophet did lament for Iosias, and the gouernours, and their wiues did lament him vnto this day: and this was ordeined in all the kindred of Israel, to be done continually.

33 But these things are written in the booke of the histories of the kings of Iudea, & euery one of the acts that Iosias did, and his glory, and his knowledge in the Law of the Lord, & the things which he did before, and the things now rehearsed, are registered in the booke of the kings of Israel and Iudea.

34 ¶ Then they of the nation took Ioa-chaz the sonne of Iosias, and made him king in stead of his father Iosias, when he was thre and twentie yeere old.

35 And he reigned in Iudea, and in Ierusalem thre moneths: for the king of Egypt deposed him from reigning in Ierusalem.

36 We rated also the people of an hundred talents of siluer, and one talent of gold.

37 And the king of Egypt made Iocim his brother king of Iudea, and Ierusalem.

38 And he bound Iachaz and his gouernours: but when he had taken Sardaces his brother, he led him away into Egypt.

39 Twentie and five yeere old was Iocim, when he reigned in Iudea and Ierusalem, and he did euill in the sight of the Lord.

40 Wherefore against him came vp Nabuchodonosor king of Babylon, who when he had bound him with a chaine of brasle, led him away into Babylon.

41 ¶ Then Nabuchodonosor tooke of the holy vessels of the Lord, and carryed them away, and set them in his temple at Babylon.

42 But all his acts, and his profanation, and his reproach are written in the booke of the Chronicles of the kings.

43 And Iocim his sonne reigned for him: and when he was made king, he was eightene yeere old.

44 And he reigned thre moneths and ten dayes in Ierusalem, and he did euill in the sight of the Lord.

45 ¶ So a yeere after, Nabuchodonosor sent and brought him to Babylon with the holy vessels of the Lord.

46 And he made Sedecias king of Iudea and Ierusalem, when he was one and twentie yeere old, and he reigned cleuen yeeres.

47 And hee did euill in the sight of the Lord, neither did he feare the wordes spoken by Ieremias the Prophet from the mouth of the Lord. Iere. 38. 28.

48 For after that he was sworne to king Nabuchodonosor, hee forswore himselfe by the name of the Lord, and fel away, and hardened his necke and his heart, and transgressed the Lawes of the Lord God of Israel.

49 Also the gouernours of the people, and the Priests committed many things against the Lawes, and passed all the pollutions of all nations, and polluted the Temple of the Lord, which was sanctified in Ierusalem.

50 Neuertheless the God of their fathers sent his messenger to call them back, because he spared them, and his owne Tabernacle.

51 But they derided his messengers, and in the day that the Lord spake vnto them, they mocked his Prophets.

52 So that he being moued to anger against his people for their great wickednes, commanded the kings of the Chaldeans to invade them.

53 These killed their yong men with the sword round about their holy Temple, neither did they spare yong man nor mayden, neither old man nor child among them.

54 But he deliuered them all into their hands, and all the holy vessels of the Lord, both great and small, with the vessels of the Arke of God: and they toke and caried away the kings treasures into Babylon.

55 And they set fire in the house of the Lord, and brake downe the walles of Ierusalem, and burnt their towres with fire.

56 They consumed also all the precious things thereof, & brought them to nought, and those that were left by the sword, he caried away into Babylon.

57 And they were seruants to him, and to his children till the Persians reigned, to fulfill the word of the Lord by the mouth of Ieremias, 58 And that the land might enioy her Sabbaths all the time that it was desolate till seventy yeeres were accomplished. Iere 25. 11. and 29. 10.

1. Chron. 36. 1.

2 The Lord raised up the spirit of Cyrus King of the Persians, and he made proclamation throughout all his kingdom, even by expresse letters,

3 Saying, Thus sayth Cyrus king of the Persians, The Lord of Israel, even the most high Lord hath made me King over the whole world,

4 And he hath commanded me to build him an house in Jerusalem which is in Judea.

5 If there be any therefore of you of his people, let the Lord, even his Lord be with him, and let him goe up to Jerusalem, which is in Judea, and build the house of the Lord of Israel: he is the Lord which dwelleth in Jerusalem.

6 All they then that dwell in the places round about, those I say, that are in his place, let them helpe him with gold and silver,

7 With gifts, with houses and cattell, and other things, which shalbe brought, according to the vowes, into the temple of the Lord, which is in Jerusalem.

8 Then arose the chiefe of the families of Judea, and of the tribe of Benjamin, and the Priests and Levites, and all whose mind the Lord had moved to goe up, and build an house to the Lord in Jerusalem.

9 And those that were about them, helped them in all things with silver and gold, horses, and cattell, and with divers vowes of many whose minds were stirred up.

10 Also king Cyrus brought out the holy vessels of the Lord which Nabuchodonosor had carried out of Jerusalem, and had consecrated them in the temple of his idoles.

11 Now when Cyrus King of the Persians had brought them out, hee deliuered them to Mithridates his treasurer, 12 By whom they were given to Abassar the gouernour of Judea.

13 Whereof this was the number: a thousand golden cups, and a thousand silver cups, basins of silver for the sacrifices, nine and twenty, vials, of gold thirty, and of silver two thousand, foure hundred and ten, and a thousand other vessels.

14 So all the vessels of golde and silver, which they caried away, were five thousand foure hundred and threescore and nine.

15 They were brought by Sanabassar with them of the captiuitie of Babylon to Jerusalem.

16 But in the time of Artaxerxes King of the Persians, Belemus, & Mithridates, and Tabellius, and Rathumus, and Belsethminus, and Semelius the secretary, and others which were soyned to these, dwelling in Samaria and in other places, wrote vnto him this Epistle here folowing against them that dwell in Judea, and Jerusalem, TO THE KING ARTAXERXES OVR LORD.

17 Thy seruants, Rathumus the writer of things that come to passe, and Semelius the secretary, and the rest of their counsell, and the Iudges which are in Coelosyria and Phenice.

18 Be it now therefore knowne to our lord the king, that the Iewes which came vp from you, are come to vs into Jerusalem, that rebellious and wicked citie, and build the market places, and make up the walles thereof, and lay the foundations of the Temple.

19 Therefore if this citie be buile, and the walles be finished, they will not onely not endure to pay tribute, but will also resist kings.

20 And because the things pertaining to the Temple goe forward, we thought it not meet to passe ouer such a thing.

21 But to declare it to our lord the king, that if it be thy pleasure, it may be sought out in the books of thy fathers,

22 And thou shalt find in the Chronicles the writings concerning these things, and shalt know that this citie did alwayes rebel, and did trouble both kings and cities.

23 And that the Iewes are rebellious, raising alwayes warres therein: for the which cause also this citie was made desolate.

24 Now therefore, O lord the king, we declare it, that if this citie be buile, and the wals thereof repaired, you shal have no more passage into Coelosyria nor Phenice.

25 Then the king wrote againe to Rathumus, that wrote the things that came to passe, and to Belsethminus, and to Semelius the secretary, and to the rest of those that were soyned with them, and to the dwellers of Samaria, Syria & Phenice, these things that follow.

26 I have read the Epistle, which ye sent to me: therefore I commanded, that it should be sought out, and it was found, that this citie hath alwayes practised against kings, 27 And that the men thereof were giuen to rebellion & warres, and how that mightie kings and fierce haue reigned in Jerusalem, which tooke tribute of Coelosyria and Phenice.

28 Now therefore I haue commaunded to forbid these men to build up the citie, and that it be taken heede that no more be done.

29 And that those wicked things which should molest the king, goe not forward.

30 Then when Rathumus, and Semelius the secretary, and the rest which were soyned with them, had read y things which King Artaxerxes had written, they moved their tents with speede to Jerusalem with horses and men in aray, 31 And began to let them which buile, so that the building of the Temple in Jerusalem ceased vnto the second yere of the reigne of Darius king of the Persians.

1 The feast of Darius. 16 The three wise sentences.

Now when Darius reigned, hee made a great feast to all his subjects, and to all those of his owne house, and to all the princes of Media and Persia.

2 And to all the gouernours & captaines and lieutenants that were with him, from India vnto Ethiopia of an hundred and seuen and twentie prouinces.

3 And when they had eaten and drunke, and were satisfied, they departed, and king Darius went into his chamber, and slept till he awakened againe.

4 In the meane time three yong men of the the guard, keepers of the kings body, said one to another,

5 Let every one of vs speake a sentence, and hee that shall ouercome, and whose sentence shall appeare wiser then the others, Darius the king shall giue him great gifts, and great things in token of victory.

6 As to weare purple, and to drinke in gold, and to sleepe in gold, and a chariot with bridles of gold, an head tice of fine linen, and a chaine about his necke,

7 And hee shall sit next to Darius for his wisdom, and shall be called Darius cousin.

8 Then every man wrote his sentence, and sealed it, and put it vnder the pillow of king Darius, 9 And sayd, When the King rose, they would giue him the writing, and whose sentence the King, and the three princes of Persia should iudge to be wisest, to him should the victory be giuen, as it was appointed.

10 One wrote, The wine is strongest.

11 The other wrote, The king is strongest.

12 The other wrote, Women are strongest, but truth ouercometh all things.

13 And when the king rose, they tooke the writings and gaue them to him, and hee read them,

14 And sent and called all the noble men of Persia and of Media, and the gouernours and the captaines, and lieutenants, and the Consuls,

15 And sate him downe in the Council, and the writing was read before them.

16 Then he said, Call the yong men that they may declare their owne sentences. So they called them, and they came in.

17 Then he said vnto them, Declare vnto vs the writings. So the first began, which had spoken of the strength of wine, 18 And sayd on this manner, O yee men, how strong is wine! it deceiueth all men that drinke it.

19 It maketh the minde of the King and of the fatherlesse both one, of the bondman and of the free man, of the poore man and of the rich man.

20 It turneth also every thought into toy and gladnesse, so that one remembreth no manner of sorrow nor debt.

21 It maketh euery heart rich, so that one remembreth neither king nor gouernour, and causeth to speake all things by talents.

22 When men haue drunke, they haue no minde to loue either friends or bretheren, and a little after they draw out swords.

23 But when they are from the wine, they doe not remember what they haue done.

24 O yee men, Is not wine strongest, which compelleth to doe such things? and he held his peace when he had thus spoken.

CHAP. IIII.

Of the strength of a king. 13 Of the strength of women. 34 Of the strength of serueth, which sentence is approued. 47 and his petition granted.

Then the second which had spoken of the strength of the king, began to say,

2 O yee men, are not men strongest, which beare rule by land and by sea, and ouer all things which are in them?

3 But the king is yet greater: for he ruleth all things, and is lord of them, so that they doe all things which he commandeth them.

4 If he bid them make warre one against another, they doe it: if he send them out against the enemies, they go and break down mountaines, and walles, and towres.

5 They kill & are killed, and doe not passe the commandement of the king: if they ouercome, they bring all to the king, as well the spoiles as all other things.

6 And those also which goe not to warre and battell, but til the earth: for when they haue sowne it againe, they reape it, and bring it to the king, and compel one another to pay tribute to the king.

7 Yet he is but one man: if he bid, Kill, they kill: if he say, Spare, they spare.

8 If he bid, Smite, they smite: if he bid them, Make desolate, they make desolate: if he bid, Build, they build.

9 If he bid, Cut off, they cut off: if he bid, Plant, they plant.

10 So all his people, and all his armies obey one man: in the meane while he sitteth downe, he eateth, and drinketh, and sleepech.

11 For these keepe him round about: neither can any one goe and doe his owne businesse, neither are they disobedient vnto him.

12 O yee men, how should not the King be strongest, seeing he is thus obeyed? So he held his tongue.

13 Then the third which had spoken of women and of the truth (this was Zorobabel) began to speake.

14 O yee men, neither the mightie King, nor many men, nor wine is strongest: who then ruleth them or hath domination ouer them? are they not women?

15 Women haue borne the King, & all the people which beare rule by sea and by land.

16 Euen of them were they borne, & they nourished them which planted the vines of which the wine is made.

17 They also make mens garments, and make men honourable, neither can men bee without women.

18 And if they haue gathered together gold and siluer, or any goodly thing, doe they not loue a faire and beautifull woman?

19 Doe they not leaue all those things and giue themselves wholly vnto her, and gaze, and gaze vpon her, & all men desire her more then gold or siluer, or any precious thing?

20 A man leaueh his owne father which hath nourished him, and his owne countrey, and is ioyned with his wife.

21 And for the woman he leopardeh his life, and neither remembreth father, nor mother, nor countrey.

22 Therefore by this ye may know that the women beare rule ouer you: doe ye not labour and trauell, and giue and bring all to the women?

23 Yea, a man taketh his sword, and goeth forth to kill and to steale, and to laile vpon the sea, and vpon riuers, 24 And he seeth a Lion, & goeth in darkenesse, and when he hath stollen, rauished and spoiled, he bringeth it to his house.

25 Wherefore a man loueth his owne wife more then father or mother.

26 Yea,

10, pounds.

26 Yea, many haue run mad for women, and haue bene seruants for them.

27 Many also haue perished and haue erred and sinned for women.

28 How therefore doe you not beleue mee? is not the King great in his power? do not all regions feare to touch him?

29 Yea I saw him and Apame, the Kings concubine, the daughter of the famous Bartacus, sitting on the right hand of the King.

30 And shee tooke the crowne off the Kings head, and put it vpon her owne, and strooke the King with her left hand.

31 Yet in the meane season the King gaped and gazed on her: and if shee laughed at him, hee laughed: and if shee were angry with him, hee did flatter her, that hee might be reconciled with her.

32 How then, O ye men, are not women more strong, seeing they doe thus?

33 ¶ Then the King and the Princes looked one vpon another, and he began to speake of the trueth.

34 O ye men, are not women stronger? great is the earth, and the heauen is high, and the sun is swift in his course: for he turneth round about heauen in one day, and runneth againe into his owne place.

35 Is not he great that maketh these things? therefore the trueth is greater and stronger then all.

36 All the earth calleth for trueth, and the heauen blesseth it: and all things are shaken and tremble, neither is there any vnjust thing with it.

37 The wine is wicked, the King is wicked, women are wicked, and all the children of men are wicked, and all their wicked workes are such, and there is no trueth in them, and they perish in their iniquitie.

38 But trueth doeth abide, and is strong for ever, and liueth and reigneth for ever and ever.

39 With her there is no receiuing of persons nor difference: but shee doeth the things which are iust, and abstaineth from vnjust and wicked things, and all men fauour her workes.

40 Neither is there any vnjust thing in her iudgement, and she is the strength and the kingdome, and the power, and the estate of all ages. Blessed be the God of trueth.

41 So hee ceased to speake, and then all the people cried and said, Trueth is great and strongest.

42 Then the King said vnto him, Aske what thou wilt, besides that which is appointed, and we will giue it thee, because thou art found the wisest, and thou shalt haue libertie to sit by me, and shalt be called my cousin.

43 ¶ Then he said to the King, Remember the vow that thou hast vowed to build Ierusalem, in the day that thou tookest the Kingdome, 44 And to send againe all the vessels that were taken out of Ierusalem, which Cyrus let apart when he made a vow to cut off Babylon, and vowed to send them thither.

45 Thou also hast vowed to build the temple, which the Idumeans burnt when Iudea was destroyed by the Caldeans.

56 And now, O Lord the King, this is that which I desire and require of thee, and this is the magnificence, which I require of thee: I require therefore that thou wouldest accomplish the vow which thou hast vowed with thine owne mouth to doe to the King of heauen.

47 ¶ Then king Darius rising vp, kissed him, and wrote him letters to all the stewards, and lieutenants, and captaines, and gouernors, that they should bring on the way both him, and all that were with him, which went by to build Ierusalem.

48 And he wrote letters to all the lieutenants in Coelosyria, and Phenice, & to them that were in Libanus, that they should bring cedar wood from Libanus to Ierusalem, and build the city with him.

49 And hee wrote for all the Iewes, which went by out of his kingdome vnto Iudea, concerning their libertie, that no Prince, nor Lieutenant, nor gouernor, nor steward should enter into their doores,

50 And that all the region which they kept, should pay no tribute, and that the Idumeans should let goe the villages of the Iewes which they held,

51 And that euery yeere there should be giuen for the building of the Temple twentie talents, vntill it were built.

52 And to maintaine the burnt offertings vpon the altar euery day (as they had a commandement to offer seuentene) other ten talents euery yeere.

53 And that all they which went from Babylon to build the citie, should haue libertie, as well they as their posteritie, and all the Priests that went away.

54 He wrote also touching the charges, and the Priests garment, wherein they should minister.

55 And he wrote that they should giue the Leuites their charges, vntill the house were finished and Ierusalem built.

56 Also he wrote that they should giue pensions and wages to them that kept the citie.

57 And hee sent away all the vessels which Cyrus had let apart out of Babylon, and whatsoever Cyrus had commaunded to doe, hee also commanded to doe it, and to send to Ierusalem.

58 And when the young man was gone forth, hee lift up his face to heauen towards Ierusalem, and gaue thanks to the King of heauen, 59 Saying, Of thee is the victory, and of thee is wisdom, and of thee is glory, and I am thy servant.

60 Blessed bee thou which hast giuen me wisdom: for vnto thee I acknowledge it, O Lord of our Fathers.

61 ¶ So hee tooke the letters, and went out, and came to Babylon, and told all his brethren.

62 And they blessed the God of their fathers because he had giuen them freedom and libertie.

63 To go by and to build Ierusalem, and the Temple, where his name is renowned, and they reioyced with instruments of Musicke and lay seuen dayes.

46 And the Priests and the Leuites and the people dwelt in Ierusalem, and in the countrey, and the holy singers and the porters, and all Israel in their || villages.

47 ¶ But * when the seventh moneth was neere, and when the children of Israel were euery one at home, they were all gathered together with one accord into the open place of the first gate, which is toward the East.

48 Then Iesus the sonne of Iosedec and his brethren the Priests, with Zorobabel the sonne of Salathiel and his brethren, rising vp, made ready the Altar of the God of Israel.

49 To offer burnt offerings vpon it according as it is written in the booke of Moses the man of God.

50 Whither also there were gathered against them of all nations of the land: but they dressed the Altar in his owne place, although all the nations of the land were their enemies and vexed them, and they offered sacrifices according to the season, and burnt offerings to the Lord, morning and evening.

51 They kept also the feast of tabernacles, as it is * ordained in the Law, and offered sacrifices euery day, as was requisite.

52 And afterward, the continuall oblations and offerings of the Sabbaths, and of the new moneths and of all holy feasts.

53 ¶ And all * they which had made any vow to God, began to offer sacrifice vnto God in the first day of the seventh moneth, although the temple of God was not yet built.

54 They gaue also money to the measons and to the workmen, and meate and drinke with gladnesse, 55 And charets to the Sidonians, & to those of Tyus to bring Cedar wood out of Libanus, which should bee brought by fiores to the haven of Joppe, according to the commandement giuen vnto them by Cyrus king of Persia.

56 And in the second yere and second moneth came into the Temple of God in Ierusalem, Zorobabel the sonne of Salathiel & Iesus the sonne of Iosedec, and their brethren, and the Priests and Leuites, and all they that came out of captiuitie into Ierusalem.

57 And * layd the foundation of the house of God in the first day of the second moneth of the second yere, after their returne into Iudea, and Ierusalem.

58 And they appointed the Leuites from twentie yere old, ouer the workes of the Lord, and Iesus and his sonne and his brethren, and his brother Cadmiel, and the sonnes of Gadabon, with the sonnes of Joda, the sonne of Heliadun, with their sonnes and brethren, even all the Leuites with one accord did follow after the worke, calling vpon the workes in the house of God: thus the workmen built the Temple of the Lord.

59 And the Priests stood clothed with their long garments with muscalle instruments, and trumpets, and the Leuites the sonnes of Asaph with Cymbales, 60 Singing and blessing the Lord, according to the ordinance of Dauid King of Israel.

61 And they sung with loude voyce songs to the praise of the Lord, because his mercie and glory is for euer in all Israel.

62 Then all the people blew trumpets, and cryed with loude voyce, praising the Lord for the raising vp of the house of the Lord.

63 Also some of the Priests and Leuites, and chiefe men, to wit, the Ancientes which had seene the former house, 64 Came to see the building of this with weeping and great crying, and many with trumpets and joy cryed with loude voyce.

65 So that the people could not heare the trumpets, because of the weeping of the people: yet there was a great multitude that blew trumpets, so that they were heard farre off.

66 ¶ Wherefore when the enemies of the tribes of Iudah and Benjamin heard it, they came to know what noise of trumpets it was.

67 And they knew that they of the captiuitie built the Temple to the Lord God of Israel.

68 Wherefore they comming to Zorobabel, and Iesus, and the chiefe of the families, sayd vnto them, Let vs build also with you.

CHAP. VI.

1 Of Aggeus and Zacharias. 2 The building of the Temple. 3 Sisinnes would let them. 7 He Epistle to Darius. 23 The Kings answer to the contrary.

Esra. 5. 1.
mhe. 1. 1.

BUt* in the second yere of the reigne of Darius, Aggeus and Zacharias the sonne of Ado the Prophets prophesied to the Jewes, euen unto them that were in Judea and Ierusalem, in the Name of the Lord God of Israel, which they called Bypon.

2 Then Zorobabel sonne of Salathiel, and Jesus the sonne of Josedeac stood up and beganne to build the house of the Lord, which is in Ierusalem, the Prophets of the Lord, being with them, and helping them.

3 In that time Sisinnes the gouernour of Syria and Phenice, and Sathrabouzanes with his companions came vnto them.

4 And said vnto them, By whose commandement build you this house and this building, and enterpryse all these other things? and who are the builders that enterpryse such things?

5 But the ancients of the Jewes had grace of the Lord, after that hee had visited the captiuitie,

6 That they were not letted to build, vntill it was signified vnto Darius of these matters, and an answer was receiued.

7 The copie of the Epistle, which hee did write and send to Darius: SISINNES gouernour of Syria and of Phenice, and Sathrabouzanes and their companions, presidents in Syria and Phenice, salute King Darius.

8 It may please the King our master plainly to vnderstand that when wee came to the countrey of Iudea, and entred into the citie of Ierusalem, we found in the citie of Ierusalem the ancients of the Jewes that were of the captiuitie, 9 Building an house to the Lord great and new, of hewen stones, and of great price, and the timber already laid vpon the walles.

10 And these workes are done with great speede, yea, and the worke hath good successe in their hands, so that it will bee finished with all glory and diligence.

11 Then we asked their ancients, saying, By whose commandement build you this house, and lay the foundation of these workes?

12 He asked them these things to the intent to notifie them to thee, and to write to thee the men that gouerned it: therefore we demaunded the names of the gouernours in writing.

13 But they answered, saying, Alce are the seruants of the Lord, which hath created the heauen and the earth.

14 And* this house was built vp many yeres agoe, by a King of Israel great and strong, and was finished.

1. King. 6. 2.

15 But when our fathers, prouoking GOD to wrath, sinned against the Lord of Israel, which is in heauen,* hee deliuered them into the hands of Nabuchodonosor King of Babylon of the Caldeans.

16 Who brake downe the house, and burnt it, and carped the people captiue to Babylon.

17 But in the first yere of the reigne of Cyrus ouer the countrey of Babylon. King Cyrus wrote that this house should be built vp.

18 And the holy vessels of gold and of silver, which Nabuchodonosor had caried out of the house of Ierusalem, and had dedicated them in his owne Temple, Cyrus the King tooke out of the Temple at Babylon, and they were giuen to Zorobabel, and to Sanabassar ruler.

|| Or, Shasbazar.

19 And a commandement was giuen vnto him, that he should carry away those vessels, and put them in the Temple at Ierusalem, and that this Temple of the Lord should be built in this place.

20 Then the same Sanabassar, being come hither, layde the foundations of the house of the Lord at Ierusalem, and since that time till now, it is in building, and is not finished.

21 Nowe therefore if it please the King, let it be sought vp in the kings Libraries concerning Cyrus.

22 And if it be found that the building of the house of the Lord at Ierusalem hath bene done by the consent of King Cyrus, and if it seeme good to the Lord our King, let him make vs answer concerning these things.

23 Then King Darius commaunded to search in the Kings Libraries that were in Babylon, and there was found in Ecbatane, which is a tower in the region of Meda, a place where such things were layd vp for memorie.

24 In the first yere of the reigne of Cyrus, King Cyrus commaunded the house of the Lord at Ierusalem to be builded, where they did sacrifice with the continuall fire.

25 Of the which the height should be of threescore cubites, the breadth of threescore cubites, with three rowes of hewen stones, and one row of new wood of that countrey, and that the costes should bee payed out of the house of King Cyrus.

26 And that the holy vessels of the house of the Lord, as well those of gold as of silver, which Nabuchodonosor had caried out of the house in Ierusalem, and brought into Babylon, should bee restored to the house which is in Ierusalem, and set in the place where they were afore.

27 Also hee commaunded that Sisinnes gouernour of Syria and Phenice, and Sathrabouzanes, and their companions, & those which were constitute captaines in Syria & Phenice, should take heede to refraine from that place, and to suffer Zorobabel the seruant of the Lord, and gouernour of Iudea, and the Elders of the Jewes to build that house of the Lord in that place.

28 And I also haue commaunded to build it cleane vp againe, and that they bee diligent to helpe them of the captiuitie of the Jewes, till the house of the Lord be finished.

29 And that some part of the tribute of Coelozysta in Judea and Jerusalem diligently, as it is contained in the Law of the Lord.

14 And carie the gifts to the Lord God of Israel in Jerusalem, which I and my friends have vowed: also all the gold and silver, which shalbe found in the countrey of Babylon appertaining to the Lord in Jerusalem.

15 With that which is given of the people to the Temple of the Lord their God, that it might be brought to Jerusalem, as well silver as gold, for bulles and rammes, and lambes, and thinges therunto pertaining.

16 That they may offer sacrifices to the Lord upon the altar of the Lord their God, which is in Jerusalem.

17 And whatsoever thou and thy brethren will doe with the gold or silver, accomplish it according to the will of thy God.

18 And the holy vessels of the Lord which are given thee for the vse of the Temple of thy God, which is in Jerusalem, thou shalt set before thy God in Jerusalem.

19 And what other things soever thou shalt remember for the vse of the Temple of thy God, thou shalt give it out of the kings treasure.

20 And I also king Artaxerxes haue commanded the treasurers of Syria and Phenice, that whatsoever Esdras the Priest and reader of the Lawe of the highest God, shall send for, they should give it him with all speede, euen to the summe of an hundredth talents of silver.

21 And likewise vnto an hundredth cozes of corne, and an hundredth pieces of wine, and other things in abundance.

22 Let all things be done to the highest God, according to the Lawe of God with diligence, that wrath come not vpon the kingdome of the king, and of his sonnes.

23 Also to you it is commanded, that of none of the Priests or Leuites, or holy singers, or porters, or ministers of the Temple, or of the workmen of this Temple, no tribute nor tax bee taken, nor that any haue power to take them in any thing.

24 Thou also, Esdras, according to the wisdom of God, or what iudges and gouernours, that they may iudge in all Syria and Phenice all those which are well instructed in the Lawe of thy God, and teach those, which are not instructed.

25 And let all those which shall transgresse the Lawe of God and the King, bee diligently punished, either with death, or other punishment, either with penaltie of money, or banishment.

26 ¶ Then Esdras the Scribe said, Blessed be the onely Lord God of my fathers, which hath put this in the heart of the king to glorifie his house which is in Jerusalem.

27 And hath honoured mee before the king, and the counsellors, and all his friends and gouernours.

28 ¶ Therefore I was encouraged by the helpe of the Lord my God, and gathered men of Israel to goe with me.

29 These are the guides after their families and order of dignities, which came vpon with me out of Babylon in the reigne of Artaxerxes the king.

37 Of the sonnes of ¶ Banid, Asalimoth sonne of Josaphias, and with him an hundredth and threescore men.

38 Of the sonnes of Babi, Zacharias sonne of Bebai, and with him twentie and eight men.

41 ¶ And I gathered them together to the flood called ¶ Cheraz, and pitched our tents there three dayes, and numbred them.

42 But when I had found there none of the Priests nor Leuites, 43 I sent to Eleazar, and behold, there came ¶ Daasman, and Alnathan, and Samatan, and ¶ Joribon, and Nathan, Ennatatan, Zacharian, and Mosollamon the chiefe, and best learned.

44 And I bade them goe to Daddeus the captaine, which was in the place of the treasure, 45 With charge to bid Daddeus and his brethren, and the treasurers that were there, to send to vs them, which should offer sacrifice in the house of our Lord.

46 And they brought vnto vs by the mighty hand of our Lord learned men of the sonnes of ¶ Moft, the sonne of Leui, the sonne of Israel, to wit, ¶ Silebebran and his sonnes, and his brethren being eightene.

47 And Alebia, and ¶ Ammon, and ¶ Asatan his brethren of the sonnes of ¶ Cananensis, with their sonnes twentie persons.

48 And of the ministers of the Temple, which David gaue, and those which were rulers ouer the worke of the Leuites, to wit, ministers of the Temple two hundredth and twentie, of whom all the names were registred.

49 ¶ And there I proclaimed a fast for the young men before the Lord, to alke of him a good iourney both for vs, and for them that were with vs, for our children, and for our cattle.

50 For I was ashamed to alke the King footemen or horsemen, or conduct for safeguard.

gard against our enemies.

51 Because we had said to the king, that the power of our Lord should be with them that sought him, to direct them in all things.

52 Therefore we prayed our Lord against according to these things, whom we found favourable.

107, Serebui.

53 Then I chose from among the chiefs of the tribes and of the Priests, twelve men, to wit, Elebrius and Aftanap, and with them ten of their brethren.

54 And I weighed them the silver and the golde, and the holy vessels of the house of our Lord, which the king and his counsellors, and his princes, and all Israel had given.

55 And I weighed them five hundred and fiftie talents of silver, and silver vessels of an hundred talents, and an hundred talents of gold.

56 And twenty golden basins, and twelve vessels of brass, of fine brass shining like gold.

57 And I said to them, you are also holy to the Lord, and the vessels are holy, and the gold, and the silver is a vow to the Lord of our fathers.

58 Watch, and keepe them, till that you give them to the heads of the families of the Priests, and Levites, and captains of the families of Israel in Jerusalem in the chambers of the house of our God.

59 So the Priests and Levites took the silver, and the golde, and the vessels, and carried them to Jerusalem to the Temple of the Lord.

60 And we departed from the flood Cher, in the twelfth day of the first month, and came to Jerusalem, according to the mightie power of our Lord with us: and the Lord delivered us from the beginning of our journey from all enemies. So we came to Jerusalem.

61 And three dayes being past there, in the fourth day the silver that was weighed, and the golde was delivered in the house of our Lord to Harmoth the Priest, the sonne of Jouri.

107, Mari-moth the son of Iori of Vrie.

62 And with him to Eleazar the sonne of Phinias, and there were with them, Josabad the sonne of Ielus, and Boeh sonne of Sabbanus, Levites: all was delivered them by number and weight.

107, Noedia, sonne sonne of Bannus.

63 And all the weight of them was written that same houre.

64 Afterwards those that were come out of the captivite, offered sacrifices to the Lord God of Israel, even twelve buls for Israel, rammes foure score and thirtene.

65 Lambes thre score and twelve, twelve goats for saluation, all in sacrifice to the Lord.

66 And they presented the commandments of the king to the Kings stewards, and to the gouvernour of Eret Israhel and Phenice, who honoured the people, and the Temple of God.

Ezra 9.1.

67 When these things were done, the gouvernours came to me, saying, The people of Israel, the Priests and the Priests, and the Levites have not separated from them, the strange people of the land.

68 For the pollutions of the Gentiles, to wit, of the Canaanites, and Cherites, and Pherefites, and Jebusites, and Sabaites, and Ephythians, and Ammonites.

69 For they have dwelt with their daughters, both they and their sonnes, and the holy serde is mixed with the strange people of the land, and the gouvernours and rulers have bene partakers of this wickedness, from the beginning of the thing.

70 And as soon as I had heard these things, I rent my clothes, and the holy garment, and I pulled the haire off mine head, and oft my head, and sat me downe sorrowfull, and very sad.

71 Thereto all they that were moved with the word of the Lord God of Israel, came to me, whyles I wept for the iniquitie, but I sate very sad till the evening sacrifice.

72 Then I rose from the fast with my clothes torne, and the holy garment, and bowed my knees, and stretched forth mine hands to the Lord.

73 And saide, O Lord, I am ashamed, and confounded before thy face. Ezra 9.6.

74 For our sinnes are increased aboue our heads, and our ignorances are lifted up to heaven.

75 Yea, even from the time of our fathers we are in great sinne unto this day.

76 For our sinnes therfore, and our fathers, we with our brethren, with our Kings & Priests have bene given up to the kings of the earth, to the sword, and to captivite, and for a pray with all shame unto this day.

77 And now how great hath thy mercy bene, O Lord, that there should be left vs a roote and name in the place of thy holynesse!

78 And that thou shouldest reueale to us a light in the house of the Lord our God, and give us meat in the time of our servitude!

79 For when we were in bondage, we were not left of our God, but he gave us favour before the kings of the Persians, that they should give us meate.

80 And that they should honour the Temple of our Lord, and talle up Zion that is desolate, and give us assurance in Judea and Jerusalem.

81 And now, O Lord, what shall we say, having these things? for we have transgressed thy Commandments, which thou hast given by the hands of thy servants the Prophets, saying, 82 *Because the land which ye goe to inherite, is a land polluted by the pollutions of the strangers of the land, which have filled it with their filthynesse, Dent. 7.1.

83 Therefore now ye shall not joyne their daughters with your sonnes, neither give your daughters to their sonnes.

84 Neither shall you desire to have peace with them for ever, that ye may be made strong, and eate the good things of the land, and leave it for an inheritance to your children for ever.

85 Therefore all that is come to passe, was done for our wicked workes, and for our great sinnes: yet, Lord, thou hast forgiven our sinnes.

86 And hast given us such a roote: but we againe have turned backe to transgress thy Law, and to mixe vs with the uncleannesse of the people of the land.

87 Mightest thou not be angry with us to destroy us, so that thou shouldest neither leave vs rote, nor lede, nor name:

88 But O Lord of Israel, thou art true: for there is a rote left, even unto this day.

89 Behold we are now before thee with our iniquities, neither can we endure before thee for these things.

Esdr. 10. 1.

90 And as Esdras prayed and confessed and wept, and lay upon the ground before the Temple, a very great multitude was gathered unto him out of Jerusalem, of men and women, and young children: for there was great lamentation among the multitude.

Dr. Ierel.

91 Then Iechonias the sonne of || Jeel of the sonnes of Israel, crying out, said, O Esdras, we have sinned against the Lord God: we have taken in marriage strange women of the nations of the land.

92 And now all Israel is doubtful: therefore let vs make an othe concerning this to the Lord to put away all our wives which are strangers, with their children.

93 If it seeme good to thee, and to all them that obey the Law of the Lord, rise up and put it in execution.

94 For to thee both it appertaineth, and we are with thee to make thee strong.

95 Then Esdras arose, & made all the chiefe of the families of the Priests and Levites of all Israel to sweare, that they would doe thus: and they swore.

CHAP. IX.

7 After Esdras had read the Law for the strange wives

10 they promise to put them away.

Esdr. 10. 6.

Then Esdras rose from the court of the temple, and went to the chamber of Joannan the sonne of Elisib.

2 And being lodged there, hee did eate no bread, nor drinke water, but mourned for the great iniquities of the multitude.

3 And there was a proclamation in all Iudea and Jerusalem, to all them that were of the captivitie, that they should be gathered to Jerusalem.

4 And that all they which should not meete there within two or thre dayes, according to the ordinance of the Elders, which bare rule, should have their cattell confiscated to the Temple, and be cast out from among them of the captivitie.

5 Then all they which were of the tribe of Juda and Benjamin, came together within thre dayes into Jerusalem: this was the ninth moneth, and twentieth day of the moneth.

6 And all the multitude sate in the broad place of the Temple speaking, because of the extreme winter.

7 Then Esdras arose and said to them, Ye have sinned: for ye have married strange wives, so that ye have augmented the finnes of Israel.

8 Now therefore confesse and glorifie the Lord God of our fathers, 9 And doe his will, and separate your wives from the people of the Land, & from the strange wives.

10 Then all the multitude cryed out and said with a loud voyce, We will doe so as thou hast said.

11 But because the multitude is great, and the time is winter, so that we cannot stand without, and the worke is not of one day nor of two, seeing that many of vs have sinned in this matter,

12 Let the chiefe men of the multitude, and all they which have strange wives of our families, tary:

13 And let the Priests and Judges come out of all places at the day appointed, till they have appealed the wrath of the Lord against vs for this matter.

14 Then Ionathas Ahels sonne, and || Ezechias sonne of || Ebecan were appointed concerning these things, and Bolollani and Sabbateus did helpe them.

16 Esdras the Priest also chose him certaine men, chiefe of their families, all by name: and they sate together in the first day of the tenth moneth to examine this matter.

17 And they made an ende of the things pertaining to them that had married strange wives, in the first day of the first moneth.

18 And there were found of the Priests which had married strange wives, 37 And the Priests and the Levites dwelt in Jerusalem, and in the countrey, the first day of the seventh moneth, and the children of Israel in their owne houses.

Neh. 8. 1.

38 ¶ Then all the multitude assembled together with one consent into the broad place before the gate of the Temple toward the East, 39 And spake to Elzias the Priest, and reader, that he should bring the Law of Moyses, which had bin given by the Lord God of Israel.

40 Then brought Elzias the chiefe Priest the Law to all the multitude, both man and woman, & to all the Priests, that they might heare the Law the first day of the seventh moneth.

41 And he read in the first broad place of the gate of the Temple, from morning to midday, before the men and the women, and all the multitude hearkened to the Law.

42 So Elzias the Priest and reader of the Law, stood upon a pulpit of wood that was prepared.

fore them all.)

46 And they all stood by right, when hee expounded the Law, and Elzias blessed the Lord the most high God, the most mightie God of hostes.

47 And the whole multitude cryed, Amen.

48 Then Ielus, and ¶ Anus, and Sarabias, ¶ Or, Bani.

and Adinus, and Jacobus, Sabaraias, Antanias, Matanias, and Calitas, Azarias, and Joazabbus, and Ananias, and Blatas the Levites lift up their hands, and fel downe on the ground and worshipped the Lord, 49 And taught the Law of the Lord, and stood also earnestly upon the reading.

50 Then sayd ¶ Achtharates to Elzias the chiefe Priest and Reader, and to the Levites, that taught the multitude in all things, This day is holy unto the Lord, and all haue wept in hearing of the Law.

51 Goe therefore and eate the fat meates and drinke the sweete drinkee, and send presents to them that haue not.

52 For this day is holy to the Lord, and be not soyr: for the Lord God will glorifie you.

53 So the Levites commanded all these things to the people, saying, This day is holy to the Lord: be not sad.

54 Then they departed all to eat and drinke, and trefoyce, and to glue presents to them that had not, and to make good cheere.

55 For they were yet filled with the words wherwith they were instructed, when they were assembled together.

CHAP. I.

8 The people is reproosed for their unfaithfulness.
30 God will haue another people, if these will not be reformed.

The second booke of the Prophet ¶ Esdras, the sonne of Saraias, the sonne of Azarias, the sonne of Delchias, the sonne of Sadanias, the sonne of Sadoc, the sonne of Achitob,

2 The sonne of Aehias, the sonne of Phinees, the sonne of Beli, the sonne of Amerias, the sonne of Arie, the sonne of Masmoth, the sonne of Arua, the sonne of Ozias, the sonne of Bonich, the sonne of Abilei, the sonne of Phinees, the son of Eleazar,

3 The sonne of Aaron, (of the tribe of Levi) which Esdras was prisoner in the land of Medes, in the reigne of Artaxerres king of Persia.

4 ¶ And the word of the Lord came unto me, saying,

5 Goe, and shew my people their sinnes, and their children their wickednesse, which they haue committed against me, that they may tell their childrens children.

6 For the sinnes of their fathers are increased in them, because they haue forgotten me, and haue offered unto strange gods.

7 Haue not I brought them out of the land of Egypt from the house of bondage? but they haue provoked me vnto wrath, and despised my counsels.

11 All the nations haue I destroyed before them: I haue destroyed the East, the people of the two countreys Tyus and Sidon, and haue laine all their enemies.

12 Speake thou therefore vnto them, saying, Thus saith the Lord, 13 I haue led you thorow the sea, & haue giuen you a sure way since the beginning: I gaue you Moyses for a guide, and Aaron for a Priest.

14 I gaue you light in a pillar of fire, and great wonders haue I done among you: yet haue ye forgotten me, saith the Lord.

15 Thus layeth the Almighty Lord, The quailles were a token vnto you: I gaue you tents for safegard, wherein ye murmured:

16 And yee triumphed not in my Name for the destruction of your enemies, but ye yet murmured still.

17 Where are the benefits that I haue done for you? when yee were hungry in the wilderness, did ye not cry vnto me, 18 Saying, Why hast thou brought vs into this wilderness, to kill vs? It had bene better for vs to haue serued the Egyptians, then to die in this wilderness.

19 I had pite vpon your mournings, and gaue you Manna to eate: so yee did care

CHAPTER II.

1 The Synagogue findeth fault with her owne children.
2 The Gentiles are called.

Thus saith the Lord, I brought this people out of bondage: I gaue them also my commandments by my seruants the Prophets, whom they would not heare, but despised my counsels.

2 The mother that bare them, saith vnto them, Goe you away, O children: for I am a widow and forsaken.

3 I brought you vp with gladnesse, but with sorrow and heavinesse haue I lost you: for ye haue sinned against the Lord your God, and done the thing that displeaseth him.

4 But what shall I now doe vnto you? I am a widow and forsaken: see yee, O my children, and aske mercy of the Lord.

5 And thee, O Father, I call for a witnesse for the mother of these children, which would not keepe my covenant.

6 That thou bring them to confusion, and their mother to a spoyle, that their kintred be not continued.

7 Let their names bee scattered among the heathen, let them be put out of the earth, for they haue despised my covenant.

8 Doe vnto thee, Assur: for thou hidest the vngiftedness in thee: O wicked people, remember * what I did vnto Sodom and Gomorrah, 9 Whose land is mixed with cloudes of pitch, and heapes of ashes: so will I doe vnto them, that heare me not, saith the Almighty Lord.

10 Thus saith the Lord vnto Esdras, Tell my people, that I will giue them the kingdome of Ierusalem, which I would haue giuen vnto Israel.

11 And I will get me glory by them, and giue them the euertlasting Tabernacles, which I had prepared for thole.

12 They shall haue at wil the tree of life smelling of oymment: they shall neither labour nor be weary.

13 See ye, and ye shall receiue it: pray that the time which is long, may be shortened: the kingdome is already prepared for you: watch.

14 Take heauen and earth to witness: for I haue abolished the euill, and created the good: for I live, saith the Lord.

15 Mother, embrace thy children, and bring them vp with gladnesse: make their feete as fast as a pillar: for I haue chosen thee, saith the Lord.

16 And thole that be dead will I raise vp from their places, and bring them out of the graues: for I haue known my Name in Israel.

17 Feare not thou mother of the children: for I haue chosen thee, saith the Lord.

18 I will send thee my seruants Esai and Ieremie to help thee, by whose counsel I haue sanctified and prepared for thee twelue trees laden with diuers fruits, 19 And as many fountaines, flowing with milke and hony, and seuen mighty mountaines, whereupon there grow roses and lilies, whereby I will fill thy children with lope.

31 Remember thy children that sleepe: for I will bring them out of the sides of the earth, and will shew mercy vnto them: for I am mercifull, saith the Lord Almighty.

32 Embrace thy children, vntill I come and shew mercy vnto them: for my fountaines runne ouer, and my grace shall not faile.

33 I Elias receiued a charge of the Lord vpon the mount Horeb, that I should goe vnto them of Israel, but when I came to them, they cast mee off, and despised the commandment of the Lord.

34 And therefore I say vnto you, O ye heachen, that heare and vnderstand. Waite for your shepheard, who shal giue you euerlasting rest: for he is neere at hand, that shall come in the end of the world.

35 Be ready to the reward of the kingdome: for the euerlasting light shall shine vpon you for euermore.

36 Flee the shadowe of this world: receiue the ioy of your glorie: I testifie my Sanctuar openly.

37 Receiue the gift that is giuen you, and be glad, giuing thanks vnto him that hath called you to the heauenly kingdome.

38 Arise and stand vp, and behold the number of those that are sealed for the feast of the Lord.

39 Which are departed from the shadow of the world, and haue receiued glorious garments of the Lord.

40 Take thy number, O Sion, and shut vp them that are clothed in white, which haue fulfilled the Law of the Lord.

41 The number of thy children whom thou longest for, is fulfilled: beseech the power of the Lord, that thy people which haue bene called from the beginning, may be sanctified.

42 * I Elias saw vpon mount Sion a great people whom I could not number, and they all praised the Lord with songs.

43 And in the midst of them there was a yong man higher in stature then them all, and vpon euery one of their heads hee set crownes, and was higher then the others, which I much marvelled at.

44 So I asked the Angel, and said, Who are these my Lord?

45 Who answered and said vnto me, These be they that haue put off the mortall clothing, and haue put on the immortall, and haue confessed the Name of God: now are they crowned, and receiue the palmes.

46 Then said I vnto the Angel, What yong man is it that setteth crownes on them, and giueth them the palmes in their hands?

47 And he answered, and said vnto me, It is the sonne of God, whom they haue confessed in the world. Then began I greatly to commend them, that had stood so strongly for the Name of the Lord.

48 Then the Angel said vnto me, Goe thy way, and tell my people, what, and how great wonders of the Lord God thou hast seene.

CHAP. III.

4 The wondrous works, which God did for the people, are recited. 31 Esdras marvelleth that God suffereth the Babylonians to haue rule ouer his people, which yet are sinners also.

1 And the thirtiethe yeere after the fall of the city, as I was at Babylon, I lay troubled vpon my bed, and my thoughts came vp to mine heart,

2 Because I saw the desolation of Sion, and the wealth of them that dwelt at Babylon.

3 So my spirit was sore moued, so that I began to speake fearefull words to the most High, and said,

4 O Lord, Lord, thou spakest at the beginning, when thou alone plantedst the earth, and gauest commandment vnto the people,

5 * And a body vnto Adam without soule, who was also the workmanship of thine hands, and hast breathed in him y breath of life, so that he liued before thee, Gen. 2. 7.

6 And ledst him into Paradise, which thy right hand had planted, or euer the earth brought forth.

7 Then thou gauest him commandment to loue thy way: but he transgressed it, and immediately thou appointedst death to him, and his generation, of whom came nations, tribes, people, and kindreds out of number.

8 * And euery people walked after their owne will, and did wonderfull things before thee, and despised thy commandments. Gen. 6. 12.

9 * But at the time appointed thou broughtest the flood vpon those that dwelt in the world and destroyedst them, Gen. 7. 10.

10 So that by the flood, that came to euery one of them, which came by death vnto Adam, 11 * Yet thou lesteist one, euen * Noe, with his household, of whom came all righteous men. 1. Pet. 3. 20.

12 And when they that dwelt vpon the earth, began to multiply, and the number of the children, people, and many nations were increased, they began to be more vngodly then the first.

13 Now when they liued wickedly before thee, * thou didst chuse thee a man from among them, whose name was * Abraham. Gen. 12. 1.

14 Whom thou louedst, and vnto whom only thou shewedst thy will. Gen. 17. 5.

15 And madeest an euerlasting covenant with him, promising him that thou wouldest neuer forsake his seede. Gen. 21. 2, 3.

16 * And vnto him thou gauest Isaac, * vnto Isaac also thou gauest Jacob and Esau, * and didst Gen. 25. 25, 26. Mal. 1. 2, 3. rom 9. 13.

Reu. 7. 9.

didst chuse Jacob, and cast off Esau, and so Jacob became a great multitude.

Exod 19. 1.
Leuit. 4. 10.

17 And when thou leddest his seed out of Egypt, thou broughtest them up to mount Sina, and enclinedst the heavens, and bowedst downe the earth, and didst moue the ground, and cause the depths to shake, and didst astonish the world.

19 And thy glory went thorow foure gates of fire, with earthquakes, wind and cold, that thou mightest giue the Law vnto the seed of Iaakob, and that which the generation of Israel should diligently obserue.

20 Yet tokest thou not away from them the wicked heart, that thy Law might bring forth fruit in them.

Gen. 3. 6.

21 For Adam first hauing a wicked heart, was overcome and vanquished, and all they that are bozne of him.

22 Thus remained weakenesse toynd with the Law in the hearts of the people, with the wickednesse of the roote: so that the good departed away, and the euill abode still.

23 So the times passed away, and the yeeeres were brought to an end, til thou didst raise thee vp a seruant called Dauid,

1. Sam. 16.
13.

24 Whom thou commandedst to build a city vnto thy Name, to call vpon thee therein with incense and sacrifice.

2. Sam. 5. 7.
and 7. 5, 13.

25 When this was done many yeeeres, the inhabitants forsooke thee, 26 Following the wayes of Adam and all his generation: for they also had a wicked heart.

27 Therefore thou gauest thy citie ouer into the hands of thine enemies.

28 But doe they that dwell at Babylon, any better, that they should haue the dominion of Sion?

29 For when I came thither, and sawe their wicked deedes without number (for this is the thirtieth yeeer that I see many trespassing) I was discouraged.

30 For I saw, how thou sufferedst them that sinne, and sparedst the wicked doers, whereas thou hast destroyed thine owne people, and preferred thine enemies, and thou hast not shewed it.

31 I cannot perceiue how this commeth to passe. Are the deedes of Babylon better then they of Sion.

32 Or is there any other people that knoweth thee besides Israel: or what generation hath so beloued thy testimonies as Jacob?

33 And yet their reward appeareth not, and their labour hath no fruit: for I haue gone here and there thorowout the heathen, and I see them flourish, and thinke not vpon thy commandements.

34 Weigh thou therefore our wickednesse now in the balance, and theirs also that dwell in the world, and no mention of thee shall be found but in Israel.

35 Or when is it that they that dwell on the earth haue not sinned in thy sight: or what people hath so kept thy commandements?

36 Thou shalt surely find that Israel by name hath kept thy precepts, but not the heathen.

C H A P. IIII.

2 The Angel reprooueth Esdras, because he seemed to enter into the profaned iudgements of God.

And the Angel that was sent vnto me, whose name was Uriel, answered,

2 And said, thine heart hath taken too much vpon it in this world, and thou thinkest to comprehend the wayes of the highest.

3 Then said I, Yea, my Lord. And he answered me, and said, I am sent to shew thee thre wayes, and to set forth thre similitudes before thee.

4 Whereof if thou canst declare mee one, I will shew thee also the way that thou desirest to see, and I will shew thee from whence the wicked heart commeth.

5 And I said, Tell on, my Lord. Then said he vnto me, See thy way, weigh me the weight of the fire, or measure me the blast of the winde, or call me againe the day that is past.

6 Then answered I, and said, What man is bozne, that can doe that which thou requirest me, concerning these things?

7 And he said vnto me, If I should aske thee how deepe dwellings are in the mids of the sea, or how great springs are in the beginning of the depth, or how great springs are in the stretching out of the heauen, or which are the borders of Paradise,

8 Peraduenture thou wouldest say vnto me, I neuer went downe to the deepe, nor yet to the hell, neither did I ever climbe vp to heauen.

9 But now haue I asked thee but of fire and winde, and of the day, whereby thou hast passed, and from the which things thou canst not be separated, and yet canst thou giue mee none answer of them.

10 He said mozeouer vnto me, Thine owne things, and such as are growen vp with thee, canst thou not know?

11 How should thy vessell then bee able to comprehend the wayes of the highest, and now outwardly in the corrupt world, to vnderstand the corruption, that is eident in my sight?

12 Then sayd I vnto him, It were better that we were not at all, then that we should liue in wickednesse, and to suffer, and not to know wherefore.

13 And he answered me, and sayd, I came to a forest in the plaine where the trees held a counsell, Iudg. 9. 8.

2. chron. 25.
18.

14 And said, Come, let vs goe fight against the sea, that it may giue place to vs, and that we may make vs moze woods.

15 Likewise the floods of the sea tooke counsell, and said, Come, let vs goe vp and fight against the trees of the wood, that we may get an other countrey for vs.

16 But the purpose of the wood was vaine, for the fire came and consumed it.

17 Likewise also the purpose of the floods of the sea: for the land stood vp and stopped them.

18 If thou were iudge betweene these two whom wouldest thou iustifie: or whom wouldest thou condemne?

19 I answered and said, Verily it is a foolish purpose that they both haue denied: for the ground is appointed for the wood, and the Sea hath his place to beare his floods.

20 Then answered he mee, and said, Thou hast giuen a right iudgement: but why iudgest thou not thy selfe also?

21 For like as the ground is appointed for the the wood, and the sea for his floods, so * they that dwell upon earth can understand nothing, but that which is upon earth: and they that are in the heavens, the things that are about the height of the heavens.

22 Then answered I, and sayde, I beseech thee, O Lord, let understanding be giuen me.

23 For I did not purpose to enquire of thine high things, but of such as wee daily meddle withall, namely, wherefore Israel is made a reproch to the heathen, and for what cause the people whom thou hast loued, is giuen ouer to wicked nations, and why the Law of our Fathers is abolished, and the written ceremonies are come to none effect.

24 Why we are tossed to and fro through the world as the grasshoppers, and our life is a very feare, and wee are not thought worthy to obtaine mercie.

25 But what wilt he doe to his Name, which is called vpon ouer vs? Of these things haue I asked the question.

26 Then answered hee mee, and sayde, The more thou searchest, the more thou shalt maruaile: for the world hasteth fast to passe away.

27 And cannot comprehend the things that are promised to the righteous in time to come: for this world is full of vnrightheousnesse and weakenesse.

28 But to declare thee the things whereof thou askest, the euill is sowne, but the destruction thereof is not yet come.

29 If the euill now that is sowne be not turned vplide downe, and if the place where the euill is sowne, passe not away, then cannot the thing come that is sowne with good.

30 For the come of euill seede hath bene sowne in the heart of Adam from the beginning, and how much vngodlinesse hath he brought vp vnto this time? And how much shall hee bring forth vntill the harvest come?

31 Wonder with thy selfe, how much fruite of wickednesse the come of euill seede bringeth forth.

32 And when the stalkes shall bee cut downe which are without number, how great an harvest must be prepared.

33 Then I answered, and sayd, How, and when shall these things come to passe? wherefore are our yeeres few and euill?

34 And he answered me, saying, Hasten not to bee about the most High: for thou labourest in vaine to bee about him, though thou endeavour neuer so much.

35 Did not the soules also of the righteous aske question of these things in their chambers, saying, How long shall I thus hope? and when cometh the fruite of my barne and our wages?

36 And vpon this Ieremiel the Archangel answered, and sayd, When the number of the seedes is filled in you: for hee hath weighed the world in the balance.

37 The measure of the times is measured: the ages are counted by number, and they shall not bee mooued or shaken, till the measure thereof be fulfilled.

38 Then answered I, and said, O Lord, Lord, we are all euen full of sinne.

39 And for our sake peradventure the harvest of the righteous is not fulfilled, because of the sinne of them that dwell vpon earth.

40 So hee answered mee, and sayd, Go and aske a woman with childe, when shee hath fulfilled her nine moneths, if here wombe may keepe the birth any longer within her?

41 Then said I, No, Lord, she cannot. And he said vnto me, In the graue the places of soules are like the wombe.

42 For as shee that is with childe, hasteth to escape the necessitie of the travell, so doe these places haste to deliuer those things that are committed vnto them.

43 That which thou desirest to see, shall bee shewed thee from the beginning.

44 Then answered I, and sayd, If I haue found grace in thy sight, and if it be possible, and if I be mee therefor, 45 Shew me whether there be more to come then is past, or more things past, then are to come.

46 What is past, I know, but what is to come, I know, not.

47 And he sayd vnto me, Stand on the right side, and I will expound thee this by example.

48 So, I stood, and beholde, a hote burning ouen passed before me: and when the flame was gone by, I looked, and behold, the smoke had the vpper hand.

49 After this there passed before mee a watry cloude, & sent downe much raine with a storme: and when the stormie raine was past, the drops came after.

50 Then said he vnto me, Consider with thy selfe, as the raine is more then the drops, and as fire exceedeth the smoke, so the portion that is past, hath the vpper hand, and the drops and the smoke weren much.

51 Then I prayed, and sayd, O Day I live, thinkest thou, vntill that time? Or what shall come to passe in those dayes?

52 He answered mee, and said, Of the tokens whereof thou askest mee, I can tell thee a part: but I am not sent to shew thee of thy life: for I doe not know it.

CHAP. V.

1 In the laster time, trueth shall be hid. 10 Vnrigh-teousnesse and all wickednesse shall reigne in the world.
23 Israel is reiectet, and God deliuereth them. 35 God doeth all things in season.

Nouertheless concerning the tokens, behold, the times shall come, that they which dwell vpon earth shall be taken in a great number, and the way of the trueth shall bee hid, and the land shall be barren from faith.

2 And * iniquitie shall be increased more then thou hast seene now, or hast heard in time past: Mat. 24. 12.

3 And it shall come to passe that one shall set in foote, and thou shalt see the lands desolate, which now reigneth.

4 Yea, if God grant thee to live, thou shalt see after the third trumpet that the sunne shall suddenly shine againe in the night, & the moone three times a day.

5 Blood shall drop out of the wood, and the stone shall giue his voyce, and the people shall be mooued.

6 And hee shall rule, of whom they hope not that dwell vpon earth, and the soules shall change place.

7 And

7 And the sea of Sodom shall cast out fish, and make a noyse in the night, which many shall not know, but they shall all heare the voyce thereof.

8 There shall bee a confusion in many places, and the fire shall oft breake forth, and the wilde beastes shall change their places, and menstruous women shall beare monsters.

9 And salt waters shall be found in the sweet, and all friends shall fight one against another: then shall wit hide it selfe, and understanding depart into his secret chamber.

10 It shall be sought of many, and yet not be found: then shall unrighteousnesse and voluptuousnesse haue the vpper hand vpon earth.

11 One land also shall aske another, and say Is righteous iustice gone thorow thee? And it shall say, No.

12 At the same time shall men hope, but not obtaine: they shall labour, but their enterprises shall not prosper.

13 To shew thee such tokens I haue leaue, & if thou wilt pray againe, and weepe, as now, and fast seuen dayes, thou shalt heare yet greater things then these.

14 ¶ Then I awaked, and a fearefulnesse went thorow all my body, and my minde was feeble and fainted.

15 But the Angel that was come to talke with me, held mee, comforted mee, and let me vpon my feet.

16 And in the second night, Salathiel the captaine of the people came vnto mee, saying, Where hast thou beene? and why is thy countenance so heauie?

17 Knowest thou not that Israel is committed vnto thee in the land of their captiuitie?

18 Up then and eate, and forsake vs not, as the shepheard that leaueth his flock in the hands of the cruell wolues.

19 Then sayd I vnto him, Goe thy wayes from me, and come not nere mee, and when hee heard it, he went from mee.

20 And I fasted seuen dayes, mourning, and weeping, as Ariel the Angel had commanded mee.

21 And after seuen dayes the thoughts of mine heart were very grievous vnto mee againe.

22 And I had a desire to reason againe, and I beganne to talke with the most High againe.

23 And sayd, O Lord, Lord: of euery forest of the earth, and of all the trees thereof thou hast chosen thee one onely vineyard.

24 And of all lands of the world thou hast chosen thee one vit, and of all the flowers of the ground thou hast chosen thee one lillie.

25 And of all the depthes of the sea thou hast filled thee one riner, and of all builded cities thou hast sanctified Sion vnto thy selfe.

26 And of all the foules that are created, thou hast named thee one doue, and of all the cattell that are made thou hast appointed thee one sheepe.

27 And among all the multitude of people, thou hast gotten thee one people, and vnto this people whom thou louedst, thou gauest a lawe, that is proued of all.

28 And now, O Lord, why hast thou giuen this one people ouer vnto many? and vpon one roote thou hast set others, and hast scattered thine onely people among many.

29 They treade them downe, which haue withstood thy promises, and beleene not thy testimonies.

30 And if thou didst so much hate thy people, they should haue beene punished with thine owne hands.

31 ¶ Now when I had spoken these words, the Angel that came to mee the night before, was sent vnto me, 32 And sayd vnto mee, Heare mee, and I will teach thee, and hearken that I may instruct thee further.

33 And I sayd, Speake on, my Lord. Then sayd he vnto mee, Thou art sore vexed and troubled for Israels sake. Louest thou them better then he doeth that made them?

34 And I sayd, No, Lord: but of very sorow haue I spoken: for my rities paine mee euery houre, while I labour to comprehend the way of the most High, and to seeke out part of his iudgement.

35 And hee sayd vnto mee, Thou canst not. And I sayd, Wherefore Lord, wherefore was I borne? or why was not my mothers wombe then my graue? so had I not seene the trouble of Iacob, and the griefe of the stocke of Israel.

36 And hee sayd vnto mee, Number vnto mee the things that are not yet come, or gather mee the drops that are scattered, or make mee the withered flowers greene againe.

37 Open mee the places that are closed, and bring mee forth the windes that are shut vp therein: shew me the image of a voyce, and then will I declare thee the thing, that thou alkest and labourest to know.

38 And I sayd, O Lord, Lord, who can know these things, but hee that hath not his dwelling with men?

39 But I that am ignorant, how can I speake of these things, wherof thou alkest mee?

40 Then sayd he vnto me, Like as thou canst doe none of these things, that I haue spoken of, so canst thou not finde out my iudgement, nor the least benefite, that I haue promised vnto my people.

41 Then I sayd, Behold, O Lord, the last things are present vnto thee, and what shall they doe that haue beene before mee, or wee that be now, or they that shall come after vs.

42 And hee sayd vnto mee, I will compare my iudgement vnto a ring: as there is no slacknesse of the last, so is there no swiftnesse of the first.

43 Then I answered, and sayde, Coudest thou not make at once, those that haue beene, those that are now, and those that shall come, that thou mightest shew thy iudgement the sooner?

44 Then answered hee mee, The creature, sayd hee, cannot prevent the Creator, neither can the world hold them at once, that shall be created therein.

45 And I sayde, As thou hast taught thy seruant, that thou which giuest strength to all, hast giuen life at once to all the worke created by thee, and hast sustained it, so might it now now also conteyne all men at once.

46 And he said vnto me, Aske the wombe of a woman, and say vnto her, Why must thou haue time before thou bringest forth? require her to bring forth ten at once.

47 And I said, Surely she cannot, but by distance of time.

48 Then said he vnto me, So haue I diuided the number of the earth by times when seede is sown vpon it.

49 For as a young childe begetteth not that that belongeth to the aged, so haue I ordeined the time which I haue created.

50 I asked againe, and said, Seeing thou hast not shewed mee the way, I will proceede to speake before thee: for our mother, whom thou hast tolde mee is young, draweth she nere vnto age?

51 He answered me, and said, Aske a woman that trauaileth, and she will tell thee.

52 Say vnto her, Wherefore are not they whom thou hast now brought forth, like those that were before thee, but lesse of stature?

53 And shee shall answer thee, Some were borne in the floure of youth, others were borne in the time of age, when the wombe failed.

54 Consider nowe thy selfe, howe that yee are lesse of stature then those that were before you.

55 And so are they that come after you, lesse then yee, as the creatures which now begin to be olde, and haue passed ouer the strength of youth.

56 Then sayd I, Lord, I beseech thee, if I haue found fauour in thy sight, shew thy seruauant, by whome doest thou gouerne thy worke-manship?

CHAP. VI.

God hath foreseene all things in his secret counsell, and is author thereof, and hath created them for his children. 25 The felicitie of the age to come.

And hee said vnto mee, In the beginning when the rounde world was made, and before the borders of the worlde were let, and before the windes blew one against another:

2 Before the noyse of thunders sounded, before the bright lightning did shine forth, before the foundations of paradise were laid:

3 Before the faire flowers did appeare, before the moueable powers were established, before the innumerable armies of Angels were gathered:

4 Before the heights of the ayre were lifted vp, before the measures of the heauens were named, before the chimneys in Sion were hote:

5 Before the present peeres were sought out, and before the affections of them that now linne, were turned away, and they that haue laide vp the treasure of faith, were sealed,

6 Then did I purpose these things, and they were made by mee alone, and by none other: by mee also they shall be ended, and by none other.

7 Then answered I, and said, What shall be the diuision of times? or when shall be the end of the first, and the beginning of it that followeth?

8 And hee sayd vnto mee, From Abraham vnto Isaac, when Jacob and Esau were borne of him, * Jacobs hand held first the heele of Esau. Gen. 25. 26.

9 For Esau is the end of this world, and Jacob is the beginning of it that followeth.

10 The hand of man is betwixt the heele and the hand. Other thing, Esau, aske thou not.

11 I answered then, and said, O Lord, Lord, if I haue found fauour in thy sight, 12 I beseech thee, make an end to shew thy seruauant thy tokens, whereof thou shewedst mee part the last night.

13 So he answered mee, and said, Stand vp vpon thy feete, and heare a mighty lounding voyce.

14 There shall come as an earthquake, but the place where thou standest shall not be mooued.

15 And therefore when hee speaketh, bee not afraid: for of the ende shall bee the word, and of the foundation of the earth shall it be understood.

16 Therefore while one speaketh of them, it trembleth, and is mooued: for it knoweth that it must be changed at the end.

17 And when I had heard it, I stood vp vpon my feet, and hearkened, and beheld, there was a voyce that spake, and the sound of it was like the lound of many waters:

18 And it said, Behold, the dayes come, that I will come and enquire of them that dwell vpon the earth.

19 And when I beginne to enquire of them, who by their unrighteousnesse haue hurt others, and when the affliction of Sion shall be fulfilled.

20 And the world that shall vanish away, shall be sealed, then will I shew these signes: the bookes shall be opened before the heauen, and they shall see all it together.

21 And the children of a peere old shall speake with their voyces: the women with childe shall bring forth vnto many children of three or foure moneths olde, and they shall lue that are raised vp.

22 Then suddenly shall the sown places appeare as the vn-sown, and the full store houses shall suddenly be found empty.

23 And the trumpet shall sound, and all they that heare it, shall be suddenly afrayd.

24 And at that time shall friends fight with friends, as with enemies: and the earth shall feare with them: the springs of the welles shall stand still, and in three houres they shall not runne.

25 Whosoever remaineth fro all these things: that I haue tolde thee, shall be saved and see my saluation, and the end of your world.

26 And the men that are receiued, shall see it: they that haue not tasted death from their birth, and the heart of the inhabitants shall be changed, and turned to another meaning.

27 For euill shall be put out, and deceit shall be quenched.

28 But faith shall flourish: corruption shall be overcome, and the trueth which hath bin so long without fruit, shall come forth.

29 And

29 And when hee talked with mee, behold, I looked a little vpon him before whom I stood.

30 And these words sayd hee vnto mee, I am come to shew thee the time of the night to come.

31 If thou wilt pray againe & fast seuen daies more, I will tell thee more things, and greater then these, which I haue heard in the day.

32 For thy voyce is heard before the highest: surely the Almighty hath seene thy righteous dealing: hee hath seene also thy chastitie which thou hast kept since thy youth.

33 Therefore hath he sent me to shew thee all these things, and to say vnto thee, Be of good comfort, and feare not,

34 And haste not in the vaine consideration of the first times, nor make haste to the latter times.

35 And after this I wept againe, and fasted seuen dayes in like maner, that I might fulfil the three weekes which he had appointed me.

36 And in the eighth night was mine heart vexed within mee againe, and I began to speake before the most High.

37 For my spirit was greatly set on fire, and my soule was in distresse.

38 And I sayd, O Lord, thou speakest expressly in the first creation (euen the first day) and commandedst that the heauen and the earth should be made, and the worke followed thy word.

39 And then was there the spirit, and the darkness was on euery side with silence: there was no mans voyce as yet created of thee.

40 Then commandedst thou a bright light to come forth out of thy treasures, that it might giue light to thy worke.

41 Upon the second day thou createdst the heauenly paye, and commaundest it, that going betweene, it should make a diuision betweene the waters, that the one part might remaine aboue, and the other beneath.

42 Upon the third day thou commandedst, that the waters should bee gathered together in the seventh part of the earth: six parts diddest thou drie, & kept them, to the intent that of these there should bee that should serue thee, being sowne of God and filled.

43 As soone as thy word went forth, the worke was incontinently made.

44 For immediatly great and innumerable fruit did spring vp, and many diuers pleasures for the taste, and floures of vchangeable colour, and odours of a most wonderfull smell, and these things were created the third day.

45 Upon the fourth day thou createdst the light of the Sunne, and of the Moone, and the order of the starres.

46 And gauest them a charge, to doe seruice euen vnto man that was for to be made.

47 And vpon the fift day thou saydest vnto the seventh part where the waters were gathered, that it should bring forth beasts, as foules and fishes: and it was so.

48 For the dumbe waters, and without life, brought forth liuing things at the commandment of God, that the nations might prayse thy wonderous workes.

49 Then diddest thou prepare two liuing things: the one thou calledst Behemoth, and the other thou calledst Leuiathan.

50 And didst separate the one from the other:

for the seventh part where the water was gathered could not hold them.

51 And Behemoth thou gauest one part, which was dried vp the third day, that he should dwell in the same part, wherein are a thousand hills.

52 But vnto Leuiathan thou gauest the seventh part that is wet, and hast prepared him to deuoure what thou wilt, and when thou wilt.

53 Upon the sixth day thou gauest commandment vnto the earth, that before thee it should bring forth beasts, cattell, and creeping things.

54 And besides this Adam, whom thou madeest lord ouer all the works which thou hast created, of him come we all, & the people also, whom thou hast chosen.

55 All this haue I spoken before thee, O Lord, because thou hast created the world for our sakes.

56 As for the other people, which also come of Adam, thou hast declared them that they are nothing before thee, but be like vnto spittle, and hast compared their riches vnto a drop that falleth from a vessel.

57 And now, O Lord, behold, these heathen which haue bene reputed as nothing, haue begun to be lords ouer vs, and to deuoure vs.

58 And we thy people (whom thou hast called the first borne, the onely begotten, and thy seruient loue) are giuen into their hands.

59 If the world then bee created for our sakes, why haue wee not the inheritance thereof in possession? or how long shall we suffer these things?

5 Without tribulation none can come to felicitie. 12 God aduertiseth all in time. 28 Th comming and death of Christ. 32 The resurrection and last iudgement. 45 After the which all corruption shall cease. 48 All fell in Adam. 59 The true life. 62 The mercies and goodness of God.

AND when I had made an ende of these wordes, there was sent vnto mee an Angel which had bene sent downe to mee the nights afore.

2 And he saide vnto mee, Up, Esdras, and heare the words that I am come to tell thee.

3 And I saide, Speake on, my God. Then saide he vnto me, The sea is set in a wide place, that it might be deepe and great.

4 But presuppose that the entrance thereof were narrow, and like the riuers,

5 Who could goe into the sea to looke vpon it, and to rule it: if he went not thorow the narrow how could he come into the broad?

6 There is also another thing: a city is builded and set vpon a broad field, and is full of all good things:

7 The entrance thereof is narrow, and in a dangerous place to fall, that there is fire at the right hand, and a deepe water at the left,

8 And there is but one path betweene them, euen betwixt the fire and the water, so that there could but one man goe there.

9 If this ritle were giuen vnto a man for an inheritance, if hee neuer went thorow the perill before it, how could hee receiue his inheritance?

10 And I said, Is it so, Lord. Then said he, So is the portion of Israel.

11 Surely for their sakes have I made the world: and when Adam transgressed my Statutes, then came this thing to passe.

12 Then were the entrances of the world made narrow, full of sorrow and trauaile: they are but few and euill, and full of perils, and very painefull.

13 For the entrances of the fore world were wide and sure, and brought immortall fruit.

14 If then they that are liuing, labour not to enter by these strait and brittle things, they cannot attaine to those things that are hid.

15 Why then disquietest thou thy selfe, seeing thou art corruptible? and why art thou moued, seeing thou art mortall?

16 And why hast thou not considered in thy minde the things to come, rather then them that are present?

Deut. 8. 1.

17 Then said I, O Lord, Lord, * seeing thou hast ordeined in thy Lawe, that the righteous should inherit these things, and that the vngodly should perish, 18 Should the righteous suffer straitnesse in hoping for large things? yet they that haue liued vngodly and suffered straitnesse, shall not see the large things.

19 Then he said vnto mee, There is no Iudge more iust then God, and there is none more wise then the most High.

20 For many perish in this life, because they despise the Law of God that is appointed.

21 For God hath diligently admonished such as came to oft as they came, what they should doe to haue life, and what they should obserue to auoyd punishment.

22 Neuerthelesse, they were not obedient vnto him, but spake against him, and imagined vaine things, 23 And deceiued themselves by their wicked deedes, and denied the power of the most High, and regarded not his wayes.

24 But they despised his Law, and refused his promises: they haue vnfaithfully broken his ordinaunces, and haue not performed his works.

25 And therefore, Elias, vnto the emptie are emptie things, and to the full, full things.

26 Beholde, the time shall come, that these tokens which I haue tolde thee, shall come to passe, and the bride shall appeare, and she shall come forth, and be seene that now is vnder the earth.

27 And whosoever shall escape these euils, hee shall see my wonders.

28 For my Sonne Iesus shall appeare with those that bee with him, and they that remaine, shall reioyce with him foure hundred yeres.

29 After these same yeres shall my Sonne Christ die, and all men that haue life.

30 And the world shall be turned into the old silence for seuen daies, as in the fore iudgements, so that no man shall remaine.

31 But after seuen dayes, the world that is yet asleepe, shall be raised vp: and that shall die, that is corrupt.

32 Then the earth shall restore those, that haue slept in her, and so shall the dust those that dwell therein in silence, and the secret places shall deliuer the soules that were committed vnto them.

33 And the most High shall appeare vpon the seate of Iudgement, and miseries shall vanish away, and long suffering shall haue an end, 34 Justice onely shall continue: the trueth shall remaine, and faith shall be strong.

35 The worke shall follow, and the reward shall be shewed: the good deedes shall be of force, and vnrightheousnesse shall beare no more rule.

36 Then said I, * Abraham prayed first for the Sodomites, and * Moses for the Fathers that sinned in the wilderness:

37 And they that came after him, for Israel in the time of Achaz and Samuel, 38 And * Dauid for the destruction, and * Solomon for them that came into the Sanctuarie.

39 * And Elias for those that receiued raine, and for the dead that he might liue, 40 And * Ezechias for the people in the time of Sennacherib, and diuers others for many.

41 Euen so now, seeing vice is increased, and wickednesse aboundeth, and the righteous haue prayed for the vngodly, wherefore shall not the same effect follow also now?

42 Then hee answered mee, and said, This present life is not the ende, oft times honour is retained in it: therefore haue they prayed for the weak.

43 But the day of iudgement shall be the end of this world, and the beginning of the immortalitie to come, wherein all corruption shall cease.

44 Intemperance shall passe away: infidelitie shall be cut off: rightheousnesse shall grow vp, and the veritie shall spring vp.

45 Then shall no man bee able to saue him that is destroyed, nor oppresse him that hath gotten the victory.

46 I answered then, and said, This is my first and last saying, that it had bene better not to haue giuen the earth vnto Adam, or when it was giuen him, to haue kept him that hee should not haue sinned.

47 For what profit is it for men in this present life to bee in heauinesse, and after death to feare punishment?

48 O Adam, what hast thou done? * for in that that thou hast sinned, thou art not fallen alone, but the fall also redoundeth vnto vs that come of thee.

49 For what profit is it vnto vs, if there bee promised an immortall life, when wee doe the works that bring death?

50 And that an euermourning hope should bee promised vs, seeing that wee betide our selues to deadly vanity?

51 And that there should bee appointed vs dwellings of health and safetie, if we haue liued wickedly?

52 And that the glory of the most High should be kept to defend them which haue led a patient life, if wee haue walked in the wicked wayes?

53 And that an eternall Paradise should bee shewed, whose fruite remaineth incorruptible, wherein is safetie and health, if we wil not enter into it?

54 (For wee haue bene conuersant in vnpleasane places.)

55 And that the faces of them, which haue abstained, abstained, should shine more then starres, if our faces be blacker then darknesse?

56 For while we liued, we did not remember when we did unrighteously, that we should suffer after death.

57 Then answered he me, and said, This is the maner of the battel, which man that is boyne in the earth, shall fight.

58 That if he be ouercome, he should suffer as thou hast said, but if he get the victory, he should receiue the thing that I said.

Dent. 30. 19. 59 For this is the life whereof Moyses spake vnto the people, while he liued, saying, * Chuse thee life that thou mayest liue.

60 Neuerthelesse they beleued him not, neither the Prophets after him, nor me also which haue said vnto them, 61 That heauinesse should not so bee to their destruction, as ioy should come vnto them, to whom saluation is perswaded.

62 I answered then, and said, I know, Lord, that the most High is called mercifull, in that he hath mercy vpon them, which are not yet come to that world, 63 And that he hath pittie on those that walke in his Law.

65 And that he is liberall: for he will giue as much as needeth,

66 And that he is of great mercy: for hee ouercommeth in mercy those that are present, and that are past, and them which are to come.

67 For if he were not abundant in his mercies, the world could not continue, nor they that haue the possession thereof.

68 We pardoneth also: for if he gaue not of his goodnesse, that they which haue done euill, might be relieved from their wickednesse, the ten thousand part of men should not remaine aliue,

69 And if he, being Iudge, forgaue not those that bee healed with his word, and tooke away the multitude of sinnes, 70 There should peraduenture bee very few left in an innumerable multitude.

CHAP. VIII.

1 The number of the godly is small. 6 The workes of God are excellent. 20 Esdras prayer for him and for his people. 39 The promise of saluation to the iust. 55 The destruction of the vnjust.

And he answered me, saying, The most High made this world for many, but the world to come for few.

2 I will tell thee a similitude, O Esdras. As when thou askest the earth, it will say vnto thee, that it giveth much earthy matter to make pots, but little dust that gold commeth of, so is it with the worke of this world.

Mat. 20. 16. 3 * There be many created, but few shall be saved.

4 Then answered I, and said, Then swallow vp the wit, O my soule, and denoure understanding.

5 For thou hast promised to heare, and thou wilt prophesie: for thou hast no longer space, but the life giuen thee.

6 O Lord, if thou suffer not thy seruant, that we may intreat thee, that thou mayest giue seede vnto our heart, and prepare our understanding, that there may come fruit of it, whereby euery one which is corrupt, may liue, who can set himselfe for man?

7 For thou art alone, and wee all are one workmanship of thy hands, as thou hast said.

8 For when the body is fashioned now in the wombe, & thou hast giuen it members, thy creature is preserved by fire and water, and the work created by thee, doeth suffer nine moneths the creature which is fashioned in it.

9 But the thing that containeth, and that which is contained, shall both bee preserved, and when time is come, the wombe being preserved, deliuereth the things that grew in it.

10 For thou hast commanded the members, euen the breasts to giue milke vnto the fruit appointed to the breasts, 11 That the thing which is created, may be nourished for a time, till thou disposest it to thy mercy.

12 Thou bringest it by with thy righteounesse, nourtrest it in thy Law, and refoimest it with thy iudgement.

13 Thou slayest it as thy creature, and giuest it life as thy worke.

14 Seeing then that thou destroyest him, which with so great labours is fashioned, it is an easie thing to appoint by thy Commandement, that the thing also which is made, might be preserved.

15 Now therefore, O Lord, I will speake (as touching men in generall, thou shalt rather provide) but concerning thy people, for whose sake I am sorry, 16 And for thine inheritance, for whose cause I mourne: for Israel, for whom I am wofull, and for Jacob, for whose sake I am grieved.

17 For them will I pray before thee, as well for my selfe as for them: for I see our faults that dwell in the land.

18 ¶ But I haue heard the sudden coming of the Iudge which is to come.

19 Therefore heare my voyce, and vnderstand my words which I will speake before thee. The beginning of the words of Esdras, before hee was taken by:

20 O Lord, that liuest for euer, which beholdest from aboue that which is aboue, and in the ayre, 21 Whose throne is inestimable, and his glory incomprehensible, before whom the hoste of the Angels stand with trembling.

22 Whose keeping is turned in winde & fire, whose word is true, and sayings stedfast, whose Commandment is strong, and gouernment terrible, 23 Whose lookes direct by the depths, and wrath maketh the mountaines to melt away as the thing beareth witnesse.

24 Heare the prayer of thy seruant, and receiue into thine eares the petition of thy creature.

25 For while I liue, I will speake, and so long as I haue vnderstanding, I will answer.

26 Looke not vpon the sinnes of thy people, rather then thy faithfull seruants.

27 Haue not respect vnto the wicked deedes of men, rather then to them that haue thy testimonies in afflictions.

28 Think not vpon those that haue walked fainedly before thee, but remember them that reuerence thy will.

29 Let it not bee thy will to destroy them, which haue liued like beastes, but looke vpon them that haue clearly taught thy Law.

30 Take no displeasure with them, which appeare worse then beastes, but loue them, that alway put their trust in thy righteousness, and glory.

31 For we and our Fathers haue all the same sicknesse, but because of vs that are sinners, thou shalt be called mercifull.

32 If therefore thou wilt haue mercy vpon vs, thou shalt bee called mercifull towards vs which haue no works of righteousness.

33 For the righteous which haue layd by many good workes, let them receiue the reward of their owne deeds.

34 But what is man, that thou shouldest take displeasure at him? or what is this mortall generation, that thou shouldest be so grieved towards it?

35 *For verily there is no man among them that be bozne, but hee hath done wickedly, nor any that doth confesse thee, which hath not done amisse.

36 For in this, O Lord, thy righteousness and thy goodnesse shall be praised, if thou be mercifull vnto them, which haue not the substance of good workes.

37 Then answered he me, and said, Some things hast thou spoken aright, and according to thy words it shall be.

38 For I will not verily consider the works of them before the death, before the iudgement, before destruction:

39 But *I will reioyce in the wayes of the righteous, and I will remember the pilgrimage, the saluation, & the reward that they shall haue.

40 Like as I haue spoken now, so shall it come to passe.

41 For as the husbandman soweth much seed vpon the ground, and planteth many trees, and yet alway the thing that is sown, commeth not vp in time, neither yet doth all that is planted, take roote: so neither shall they all that are brought into the world, be saued.

42 I answered then and said, If I haue found grace, let me speake.

43 Like as the husbandmans seed perisheth, if it come not vp, and receiue not raine in due season, or if it be destroyed with too much raine:

44 So perisheth man which is created with thine hands, and thou art called his paterne, because hee is created to thine image, for whose sake thou hast made all things, and likened him vnto the husbandmans seede.

45 Bee not wroth with vs, O Lord, but spare thy people, and haue mercy vpon thine inheritance: for thou wilt be mercifull vnto thy creature.

46 Then answered hee mee, and said, The things present are for the present, and the things to come for such as bee to come.

47 For thou art farre off, that thou shouldest loue my creature aboue me: but I haue oft times drawen nere vnto thee, and vnto it, but neuer to the vnrighteous.

48 In this also art thou marvellous before the Highest,

49 In that thou hast humbled thy selfe, as it becommeth thee, and hast not indged thy selfe worthy to boast thy selfe greatly among the righteous.

50 For many miseries & calamities remaine for them, that shall liue in the latter time, because they shall walke in great pride.

51 But learne thou for thy selfe, and seeke out the glory for such as be like thee.

52 For vnto you is paradise opened: the tree of life is planted: the time to come is prepared, plenteousnesse made ready: the citie is builded: and rest is prepared, perfect goodnesse and absolute wisdom.

53 The root of euil is sealed by from you: the weakenesse and moth is destroyed from you, and into hell fleeth corruption to be forgotten.

54 Sorowes are banished away, and in the end is shewed the treasure of immortalitye, 55 Therefore aske thou no more questions concerning the multitude of them that perish:

56 For when they had liberty, they despised the most High, they contemned his Law, and forsooke his wayes.

57 Whereouer, they haue troden downe his righteous,

58 *Saying in their heart, that there was no God, though they knew that they should die.

59 For as the thing that I haue spoken of, is made ready for you: so is thirst and paine prepared for them: for God would not that man should perish.

60 But they, after that they were created, haue defiled the name of him that made them, and are vnthankfull vnto him, which prepared life for them.

61 Therefore my iudgement is now at hand.

62 These things haue I not shewed vnto all men, but vnto thee, and to a few like thee: then I answered, and said, 63 Behold now, O Lord: thou hast shewed me the many wonders, which thou art determined to doe in the last time, but in what time, thou hast not shewed me.

He answered me then, and said, Measure the time with it selfe, and when thou seest that one part of the tokens come to passe, which I haue told thee before,

2 Then shalt thou vnderstand: that it is the time wherein the most High will begin to visite the world which he made.

3 Therefore when there shall bee scene an *earthquake in the world, and an vprore of the people,

4 Then shalt thou vnderstand that the most High spake of those things, from the dayes that were before thee, euen from the beginning.

5 For as al that is made in the world, hath a beginning and an end, and the end is manifest:

6 So the times also of the most High haue plaine beginnings in wonders and signes, and end in effect and miracles.

Chap. 8. 3.
matth. 20. 16

16 As the flood is greater then a drop.

17 And he answered me, saying, As the field is, so is also the seed: as the flowers bee, so are the colours also: such as the workeman is, such is the worke: and as the husbandman is, so is his husbandry: for it was the time of the world.

18 Surely when I prepared the world, which was not yet made for them to dwell in that now time, no man spake against mee.

19 For then euery one obeyed, but now the maners of them that are created in this world, that is made, are corrupted by a perpetuall seed, and by a law, whereout they cannot rid themselves.

20 So I considered the world, and behold, there was perill, because of the deuises, that were sprung vp into it.

21 Yet when I saw it, I spared it greatly, and haue kept me one grape of the cluster, & a plant out of a great people.

22 Let therefore the multitude perish, which are borne in vaine: and let my grape bee kept, and my plant, which I haue pressed with great labour.

23 Nevertheless, if thou wilt cease seven dayes more, (but thou shalt not fast in them,

24 But shalt goe into a faire field, where no house is builded, and shalt eat onely of the flowers of the field, and eat no flesh, nor drinke wine but the flowers onely,

25 And pray vnto the most high continually) then will I come and talke with thee.

26 So I went my way, as he had commanded mee, into the field, which is called Ardath, and there I late among the flowers, and did eat of the herbes of the field, and the meat of the same satisfied me.

27 And after seven dayes, as I late vpon the grasse, and mine heart was vexed within me, as afore,

28 I opened my mouth, and began to talke before the most high, and to say,

29 O Lord, when thou wouldst shewe thy selfe vnto vs, thou declaredst thy selfe vnto our fathers in the wilderness, in a place where no man dwelleth, in a barren place, when they came out of Egypt,

30 And expressly spakest vnto them, saying, Deare me, O Israel, and marke my wordes, thou seed of Jacob.

31 For behold, I sowe my Law in you, that it may bring forth fruit in you, and that ye may be honoured by it for euer.

32 But our fathers which receiued the Law, kept it not, neither obserued thine ordinances, neither did the fruit of the Law appeare, neither could it, for it was thine.

33 For they that receiued it, perished because they kept not the thing that was sown in them.

Exod. 32. 28.

34 And loe, it is a custome when the ground receiueth seed, or the sea a ship, or a vessel meate and drinke, if that perish wherein a thing is sown, or wherein any thing is put,

35 Likewise the thing that is sown, or is put therein, and the things that are receiued, must perish, so the things that are receiued, doe not remaine with vs: but in vs it commeth not so to passe.

36 For we that haue receiued the Law, perish in sinne, and our heart also which receiued it:

37 But the Law perisheth not, but remaineth in his force.

38 And when I spake these things in mine heart, I looked about mee, and vpon the right side I saw a woman, which mourned sore, and lamented with a loude voyce, and was grieved in heart, and rent her clothes, and she had ashes vpon her head.

Chap. 10. 44.

39 Then I left my thoughts, wherein I was occupied, and turned me vnto her,

40 And sayd vnto her, Wherefore weepest thou? why art thou so sorry in minde?

41 And she sayd vnto me, Sir, let me alone, that I may bewaile my self, and increafe sorrow: for I am sore vexed in my mind, and brought very low.

42 Then I sayd vnto her, What aileth thee? tell me.

43 And she said vnto mee, I thy seruant haue bene barren: and haue had no child, hauing an husband thirtie yeeres.

44 And euery houre, & euery day these thirtie yeeres, I praye to the most high day and night.

45 And after thirtie yeeres God heard mee thine handmaid, and looked vpon my miserie, considered my trouble, and gaue me a sonne, and I was glad of him: so was mine husband also, and all they of my countrey, and we gaue great honour vnto the Almighty.

46 And I nourished him with great trauell,

47 So when he grew vp, and came to take a wife, I made a feast.

field as thou seest,

4 And am not purposed to returne into the citie, but to remaine here, and neither to eat nor drinke, but continually to mourne and fast until I die.

5 Then left I my purpose wherein I was, and spake to her angerly, and said,

6 Thou foolish woman aboue all other, seest thou not our heauinesse, and what cometh vnto vs?

7 For Sion our mother is all wofull, and is sore afflicted, and mourneth extremely.

8 Seeing wee be all now in heauinesse, and make our mone (for we be all sorrowfull) art thou lozie for our sonne?

9 Demaund the earth, and she shall tell thee that it is she which ought to mourne for the fall of so many that grow vpon her.

10 For from the beginning all men are boyn of her, and other shall come, and behold, they walke almost all into destruction, and the multitude of them shall be destroyed.

11 Who should then rather mourne, she that hath lost so great a multitude, or thou which art lozie but for one?

12 But if thou wouldest say vnto me, My mourning is not like the mourning of the earth (for I haue lost the fruit of my wombe, which I brought forth with heauinesse, and bare with sorowes, 13 But the earth is according to the manner of the earth, and the present multitude returneth into her as it came)

14 Then say I vnto thee, As thou hast borne with trauel, so the earth also from the beginning giueth her fruit vnto man, euen to him that laboured her.

15 Now therefore withhold thy sorow in thy selfe, and beare constantly that which cometh vnto thee.

16 For if thou allowest Gods purpose, and receivest his counsell in time, thou shalt be commended therein.

17 Goe thy way then into the citie to thine husband.

18 Then shee said vnto mee, I will not, I will not goe into the citie, but here will I die.

19 So I continued to speake more with her, and said, 20 Do not so, but be counselled: for how many fallies hath Sion? Bee of good comfort, because of the sorow of Ierusalem.

21 For thou seest that our Sanctuary is laid waste: our altar is broken downe: our Temple is destroyed.

22 Our Altarston fainteth, and the song ceaseth, and our mirth is vanished away, and the light of our candlesticke is quenched, and the Arke of our Couenant is taken away, & our holy things are defiled, and the Name that is called vpon ouer vs, is almost dishonoured, and our children are put to shame, and our Priests are burnt, and our Leuites are caried into captiuitie, and our virgins are defiled, and our wiues rauished, and our righteous men spoiled, and our children destroyed, and our yong men are brought in bondage, and our strong men are become weak.

23 And which is the greatest of all, Sion the seale hath lost her worship: for she is deliuered into the hands of them that hate vs.

24 And therefore shake off thy great heauinesse, and put away the multitude of sorowes, that the Almighty may be mercifull vnto thee, and that the most High may giue thee rest and ease from thy labour.

25 And when I was talking with her, her face and beaute shined suddenly, and her countenance was bright, so that I was afraid of her, and mused what it might be.

26 And behold, immediatly shee cast out a great voice, very feareful, so that the earth shooke at the noise of the woman.

27 And I looked, and behold, the woman appeared vnto mee no more: but there was a citie builded, & a place was shewed from the ground and foundation. Then was I afraid, and cried with a lowd voice, and said, 28 Where is Ariel the Angel * which came to me at the first? for he hath caused me to come into many and deepe considerations, and mine end is turned into corruption, and my prayer to rebuke.

29 And as I was speaking these words, behold, he came vnto me, and looked vpon me.

30 And loe, I lay as one dead, and mine vnderstanding was altered, and he took me by the right hand and comforted me, and set me vpon my feet, and said vnto me, 31 What aileth thee? and why is thine vnderstanding vexed? and the vnderstanding of thine heart? and wherefore art thou lozie?

32 And I sayd, Because thou hast forsaken mee, and I haue done * according vnto thy words: I went into the field, and there haue I seene things, and see that I am not able to expresse.

33 Then said he vnto me, Stand by manly, and I will giue thee exhortation.

34 Then said I, Speake vnto me, my Lord, and forsake me not, lest I die through rashnesse.

35 For I haue seene that I knew not, and heare that I doe not know.

36 Is mine vnderstanding deceiued, or doeth my mind being haucie, erre?

37 Now therefore, I beseech thee, that thou wilt shew thy seruant of this wonder.

38 Then he answered mee, and said, Heare me, and I will enforme thee, and tell thee wherefore thou art afraid: for the most High hath reuealed many secret things vnto thee.

39 We hath seene thy good purpose, that thou art lozie continually for thy people, and makest great lamentation for Sion.

40 This therefore is the vnderstanding of the vision, which appeared vnto thee a little while agoe.

41 Thou sawest a woman mourning, and thou beganest to comfort her.

42 But now seest thou the likenes of the woman no more, but there appeared vnto thee a citie builded.

43 And whereas shee told thee of the death of her sonne, this is the solution,

44 This woman, which thou sawest, shee is Sion: and whereas shee told thee (euen she which thou seest now as a citie builded)

45 And as touching that shee said vnto thee, that she was barren thirtie yeeres, this was concerning that there was euen thirtie yeeres wherein there was no offering offered in her.

46 But after thirtie yeeres, Salomon builde the citie, and offered offerings: then bare the barren a sonne.

47 And whereas she told thee, that she nourished him with labour, that was the inhabiting of Jerusalem.

48 But whereas she told thee that her sonne, as his chance was, died when she came into her chamber, that is the fall that is come to Jerusalem.

49 And when thou sawest her like one that mourned for her sonne, thou beganest to comfort her: of these things which haue chanced, these are to be opened vnto thee.

50 For now the most High seeth, that thou art loy in thy mind, and because thou sufferest with all thine heart for her, he shewed thee the clearenesse of her glory, and the fairenesse of her beauty.

51 And therefore I haue thee remaine in the field where no house was built.

52 For I knew that the most High would shew these things vnto thee.

53 Therefore I commanded thee to goe into the field where no foundation nor building is.

54 For the worke of mans building cannot stand in that place where the Citie of the most High should be shewed.

55 And therefore feare not, neither let thine heart be afraid, but go in, and see the beautie and greatnesse of the building as much as thou art able to see with thine eyes.

56 And after this shalt thou heare as much as thine eares may comprehend.

57 For thou art blessed aboue many, and art called with the most High among the few.

58 But to morrow at night thou shalt remaine here.

59 And the most High shall shew thee visions of high things, which the most High wil doe vnto them that dwell vpon earth, in the last dayes. So I slept the same night and another, as hee had commanded mee.

CHAP. XI.

1 The vision of an Eagle coming forth of the Sea, and of her fishers. 37 Of a Lyon coming out of the forest.

Then saw I a dreame, and behold, there came vp from the sea an Eagle, which had twelue feathered wings, and thre heads.

2 And I saw, and behold, she spread her wings ouer all the earth, and all the winds of the ayre blew on her, and gathered themselves.

3 And I beheld, and out of her feathers grew out other contrary feathers, and they became little feathers and small.

4 But her heads remained still, and the head in the mids was greater then the other heads, yet rested it with them.

5 Moreover, I saw that the Eagle flew with his feathers, and reigned vpon earth, and ouer them that dwell therein.

6 And I saw that all things vnder heauen were subiect vnto her, and no man spake against her, nor not one creature vpon earth.

7 I sawe also that the Eagle stood by vpon her clawes, and spake to her feathers, saying,

8 Watch not all together: sleepe euery one in his owne place, and watch by course.

9 But let the heads be preferred for the last.

10 Nevertheless, I saw that a voice went not out of her heads, but from the mids of her body.

11 Then I numbred her contrary feathers, and behold, there were eight of them.

12 And I looked, and behold, vpon the right side there arose one feather, and reigned ouer all the earth.

13 And when it had reigned, the end of it came, and the place thereof appeared no more. So the next stood by, and reigned: it continued a long time.

14 And when it had reigned, the end of it came also, and as the first, so it appeared no more.

15 Then there came a voice vnto it, and said,

16 Heare thou that hast kept the earth so long, this I say vnto thee, before thou beginnest to appeare no more.

17 There shall none after thee attaine vnto thy time, neither to the halfe thereof.

18 Then arose the third, and reigned as the other afore, and it appeared no more also.

19 So came it to all the others one after another, so that euery one reigned, and then appeared no more.

20 Then I looked, and behold, in proceesse of time the feathers that followed, stood by on the right side, that they might rule also, and some of them ruled, but within a while they appeared no more.

21 For some of them were set by, but ruled not.

22 After this I looked, & behold, the twelue feathers appeared no more, nor the two wings.

23 And there was no more vpon the Eagles body, but two heads that rested, and six wings.

24 Then saw I also, that two wings shrouded themselves from the six, and remained vnder the head that was vpon the right side: for the four continued in their place.

25 So I looked, and behold, the vnderwings thought to set by themselves, and to haue the rule.

26 Then was there one set by, but shortly it appeared no more.

27 And the second were sooner gone then the first.

28 Then I beheld, and lo, the two that remained, thought also in themselves to reigne.

29 And when they so thought, behold, there awaked one of the heads that were at rest, which was in the mids: for that was greater then the two.

30 And then I saw that the two heads were toynd therewith.

31 And behold, the head was turned with them, that were with it, and did eat by the two vnderwings that would haue reigned.

32 But this head put the whole earth in feare, and bare rule in it, ouer all those that dwell vpon earth, with much labour, and it had the gouernance of the world, more then all the wings that had bene.

33 After this I looked, and behold, the head that was in the middes, suddenly appeared no more, as did the wings.

34 But the two heads remained, which also ruled likewise vpon earth, and ouer those that dwell therein.

35 And I beheld, and lo, the head vpon the right right side deuoured it that was vpon the left side.

36 ¶ Then I heard a voyce which sayd vnto mee, Looke before thee, and consider the thing that thou seest.

37 So I saw, and behold, as it were a lyon that roareth, running hastily out of the wood: and I saw that hee sent out a mans voyce vnto the Eagle, and spake, and sayd,

38 Heare thou, I will talke with thee, and the most High shall say vnto thee,

39 Art not thou that, that of the foure beasts remainest, whom I made to reigne in my world, that by them the end of times might come,

40 And the fourth is come, and hath overcome all the beasts that were past, and hath power ouer the world with great fearefulness, and ouer the whole compasse of the earth with most wicked oppression, and that dwelleth so long time in all the world with deceit?

41 For thou hast not iudged the world with trueness.

42 Seeing thou hast troubled the meeke, thou hast hurt the peaceable, and thou hast loued liers, and destroyed the dwellings of them that brought forth fruite, and hast cast downe the walles of such as did thee no harme, 43 Therefore is thy wrongfull dealing come by vnto the most High, and thy pride vnto the Mightie.

44 The most High also hath looked vpon the proud times, and behold, they are ended, and their abominations are fulfilled.

45 Therefore appeare no more, thou Eagle, nor thine horrible wings, nor thy wicked feathers, nor thy malicious heads, and thy wicked claws, nor all thy vaine body, 46 That all the earth may be refreshed, and come againe, as one deliuered from thy violence, and that shee may hope for the iudgement and mercy of him that made her.

C H A P. XII.

The declaration of the former visions.

AND when the lyon spake these wordes to the Eagle, I saw,

2 And behold, the head that had the vpper hand appeared no more, neither did the foure wings appeare any more, that came to it, and set by themselves to reigne, whose kingdome was small and full of vnwares.

3 And I saw, and behold, they appeared no more, and the whole body of the Eagle was burnt, so that y^e earth was in great feare. Then I awaked out of the trouble and trance of my minde, and from the great feare, and sayd vnto my spirit,

4 Loe, this hast thou done vnto mee in that thou searchest out the wayes of the most High.

5 Loe, yet am I weary in my mind, and very weake in my spirit, and little strength is there in me, for the great feare that I receiued this night.

6 Therefore now, will I beerech the most High, that he will comfort me vnto the end.

7 And I said, O Lord, Lord, if I haue found grace before thy sight, and if I am iustified with thee before many other, and if any prayer in deed be come by before thy face,

8 Comfort me, and shew me thy seruant the interpretation and difference of this horrible sight, that thou mayest perfectly comfort my soule,

9 Seeing thou hast iudged me worthy to shew me the last times.

10 ¶ Then he said vnto me, This is the interpretation of this vision, 11 The Eagle whom thou sawest come by from the sea, is the kingdome which was seene in the vision of thy brother Daniel. Dan. 7. 7.

12 But it was not expounded vnto him: therefore now I declare it vnto thee.

13 Behold, the dayes come, that there shall rise by a kingdome vpon the earth, and it shall be feared aboue all kingdomes that were before it.

14 In it shall twelue kings reigne one after another, 15 Whereof the second shall begin to reigne, and shall haue more time then the twelue.

16 And this doe the twelue wings signifie, which thou sawest.

17 As for the voyce that thou hearest speake, and that thou sawest not go out from the heads, but from the mids of the body thereof, this is the interpretation, 18 That after the time of that kingdome, there shall arise great strife, and it shall be in danger to fall, but it shall not then fall, but shall be restored againe to his beginning.

19 Concerning the eight vnderwings, which thou sawest hang vnto her wings, this is the interpretation, 20 In him shall arise eight kings, whose time shall be but small, and their yetting swift, and two of them shall perish.

21 But when the mid time commeth, there shall be sower kept a time, whiles his time beginneth to come, that it may be ended, but two shall be kept vnto the end.

22 And whereas thou sawest three heades rising, this is the interpretation,

23 In his last dayes shall the most High raise by three kingdomes, and shall call againe many things into them, and they shall haue the domination of the earth,

24 And of those that dwell therein, with much grieue aboue all those that were before them: therefore are they called the heads of the Eagle:

25 For they shall accomplish his wickedness, and shall finish his last end.

26 And whereas thou sawest that the great head appeared no more, it signifieth that one of them shall die vpon his bed, and yet with paine.

27 For the two that remaine, the sword shall deuoure them.

28 For the sword of the one shall deuoure the other: but at the last shall hee fall by the sword himselfe.

29 And whereas thou sawest two vnderwings, that went off toward the head, which was on the right side, this is the interpretation, 30 These are they whom the most High hath preserved for their end, whose kingdome is little, and full of trouble as thou sawest.

31 And the Lion whom thou sawest rising by out of the wood and roaring, and speaking vnto the Eagle, and rebuking her for her vnrightheousness with all the wordes that thou hast heard,

32 This is the winde which the most High hath hath kept for them, and for their wickednes vnto the end, and hee shall repproue them, and cast befoze them their spoiles.

23 For hee shall set them aslee in the iudgement, and shall rebuke them and correct them.

24 For he will deliuer the residue of my people by affliction, which are preserved vpon my borders, and hee shall make them ioyfull, vntill the coming of the day of iudgement, whereof I haue spoken vnto thee from the beginning.

25 This is the dreame that thou sawest, and these are the interpretations.

26 Thou onely hast bene mee to know this secret of the most High.

27 Therefore write all these things that thou hast seene, in a booke, and hide them, 28 And teach them the wile of the people, whole hearts thou knowest may comprehend and keepe these secrets.

29 But waite thou here yet seuen dayes more, that it may be shewed thee whatsoeuer it pleaseth the most High to declare vnto thee: & with that he went his way.

40 And when all the people perceined, that that the seuen dayes were past, and I not come againe into the citie, they gathered them all together, from the least vnto the most, and came vnto me, and spake vnto me, saying,

41 What haue wee offended thee? or what euill haue wee done against thee, that thou forsakest vs, and sittest in this place?

42 For of all the people thou onely art left vs as a grape of the vine, & as a candle in a darke place, and as an haueu of ship preserved from the tempest.

43 Are not the euills which are come vnto vs, sufficient?

44 If thou then forsake vs, how much better had it bene for vs, that we had bene burnt alio as Sion was burnt?

45 For we are no better then they that dyed there: and they wept with a loude voyce. Then answered I them, and said, 46 Be of good comfort, O Israel, and be not heauie thou house of Jacob.

47 For the most High hath you in remembrance, and the Almighty hath not forgotten you in temptation.

48 As for me I haue not forsaken you, neither am I departed from you, but am come into this place to pray for the desolation of Sion, that I might seeke mercie for the low estate of your sanctuary.

49 And now goe your way home euery man, and after these dayes will I come vnto you.

50 So the people went their way into the citie as I commanded them:

51 But I remained still in the field seuen dayes, as he had commaunded me, and did eate onely of the flowers of the fildes, and had my meate of the herbes in those dayes.

CHAP. XIII.

1 The vision of a winds coming forth of the sea, 3 Which became a man. 5 His properties and power against his enemies. 21 The declaration of this vision.

AND after the seuen dayes I dreamed a dreame by night.

2 And behold, there arose a winde from the sea, and it mooued all the waues thereof.

3 And I looked, and behold, there was a mightie man with the thousands of heauen: and when he turned his countenance to looke, all the things trembled that were seene vnder him.

4 And when the voice went out of his mouth, all they burned that heard his voice, as the earth falleth when it feeleth the fire.

5 After these things I saw, and behold, there was gathered together a multitude of men out of number, from the foure winds of heaven, to fight against the man that came out fro the sea.

6 And I looked, and behold, he graued himselfe a great mountaine, and flew vp vpon it.

7 But I would haue seene the countrey or place wheresout the hil was grauen, and I could not.

8 I saw after these things, and behold, all they which came to fight against him were soze at rayd, and yet they durst fight.

9 Neuerthelesse, when he saw the fiercenesse of the multitude that came, he lifted not vp his hand: for he held no sword nor any instrument of warre.

10 But onely, as I saw, hee sent out of his mouth, as it had bene a blast of fire, and out of his lips the winde of the flame, and out of his tongue he cast out sparkes and stormes.

11 And they were all mirt together, even this blast of fire, the winde of the flame, and the great storme, & fell with violence vpon the multitude which was prepared to fight, and burnt them by all, so that of the innumerable multitude there was nothing seene, but onely dust and smell of smoke. When I saw this, I was afraide.

12 Afterward saue I the same man come downe from the mountaine, and calling vnto him another peaceable multitude.

13 And there came many vnto him, some with ioyfull countenance, and some with sad: some of them were bound, and some brought of them that were offered: and I was sicke through great feare, and awaked, and said, 14 Thou hast shewed thy seruant these wonders from the beginning, and hast counted me worthy to receiue my prayer.

15 Shew me now therefore the interpretation of this dreame.

16 For thus I consider in mine understanding, What vnto them that shall bee left in those dayes, and much more woe vnto them that are not left behind.

17 For they that were not left, were in heauinesse.

18 Now vnderstand I the things that are laid vp in the latter dayes, which shal come both vnto them, and to those that are left behind.

19 Therefore are they come into great perills, and many necessities, as these dreames declare.

20 Yet is it easier, that hee that is in danger should fall into these, and forsee the things to come hereafter, then to passe away as a cloude out of the world.

21 Then answered he me, and sayd, The interpretation of the vision will I shewe thee, and I will open to thee the thing that thou hast required.

22 Whereas thou hast spoken of them that are left behinde, this is the interpretation.

23 We that shal beare the danger in that time, hee shall keepe himselfe. They that bee fallen into danger, are such as haue workes and sayd faith toward the most mighty.

24 Know therefore, that they which bee left behind, are more blessed then they that be dead.

25 These are the meanings of the vision, whereas thou sawest a man coming up from the mids of the sea, 26 The same is he whom the most high hath kept a great season, who by his owne selfe shall deliver his creature, and he shall order them that are left behind.

27 And whereas thou sawest, that out of his mouth there came as a blast with fire and flame,

28 And that he neither held sword nor weapon, but that by his fiercenesse hee destroyed the whole multitude that came to fight against him, this is the interpretation,

29 Behold, the dayes come, that the most high will begin to deliver them that are vpon the earth:

30 And hee shall astonish the hearts of them that dwell vpon the earth:

31 And one shall prepare to fight against another, citie against citie, and place against place, * and nation against nation, and realme against realme.

Mat. 24. 7.

32 When this cometh to passe, then shall the tokens come, that I shewed thee before, and then shall my sonne be revealed, whom thou sawest goe up as a man.

33 And when all the people heare his voyce, every man shall in their owne land leaue the bat-tell that they haue one against another.

34 And an innumerable multitude shall bee gathered as one, as they that be willing to come, and to fight against him.

35 But he shall stand vpon the top of mount Sion.

36 And Sion shall come, and shall be shewed to all, being prepared and builded, as thou sawest the hill grauen forth without any hands.

37 And this my sonne shall rebuke the wicked inventions of those nations, which for their wicked life are fallen into the tempest, 38 And into tormentes like to flame, whereby they shall be tormented: and without any labour will he destroy them euen by the Law, which is compared vnto the fire.

39 And whereas thou sawest that he gathered another peaceable people vnto him,

2. King. 17. 3

40 Those are the ten tribes, which were carried away captiues out of their owne land * in the time of Oseas the king, whom Salmanazar the king of the Assyrians tooke captiue, and carted them beyond the riuer: so were they brought into another land.

41 But they tooke this counsel to themselves, that they would leaue the multitude of the heathen, and goe forth into a further country, where neuer mankind dwelt.

42 That they might there keepe their statutes, which they neuer kept in their owne land.

43 And they entred in at the narrow passages of the riuer Euphrates.

Exod. 14. 21.
Isa. 3. 15, 16

44 For the most high then shewed them signes, * and stayed the springs of the flood till they were passed ouer.

|| Or, Ararat.

45 For thowow the country there was a great journey, euen of a peece and a halfe, and the same region is called || Ararat.

46 Then dwelt they there vntill the latter time: and when they come forth againe, 47 The most high shall hold still the springs of the riuer againe, that they may goe thorow: therefore sawest thou the multitude peaceable.

48 But they that be left behind of thy people, are those that be found within my borders.

49 Now when he destroyed the multitude of the nations that are gathered together, he shall defend the people that remaine.

50 And then shall he shew great wonders vnto them.

51 Then said I, O Lord, Lord, shew me this, wherefore haue I seene the man coming up from the mids of the sea?

52 And hee said vnto me, As thou canst neither seeke out, nor know these things that are in the deeps of the sea, so can no man vpon earth see my sonne, or those that bee with him, but in the time of that day.

53 This is the interpretation of the dream which thou sawest, and whereby thou onely art lightened.

54 For thou hast forsaken thine owne law, and applied thy diligence vnto mine, and sought it.

55 Thy life hast thou ordered in wisdom, and hast called vnderstanding thy mother.

56 Therefore haue I shewed thee the rewards with the most high: and after those other dayes I will speake other things vnto thee, and will declare vnto thee great and wonderful things.

57 Then went I forth vnto the field, glorifying and praising the most high for the wonders which he did in time, 58 Which he gouerneth, and such things as come in their seasons: and there I late three dayes.

CHAP. XIII.

3 How God appeared to Moses in the bush. 10 All things decline to age. 15 The latter times worse then the former. 29 The ingratitude of Israel. 35 The resurrection and iudgement.

Vpon the third day I late vnder an oke, and beheld, there came forth a voyce vnto mee out of the bush, and said, Eldas, Eldas.

2 And I said, Where am I, Lord, and stood by vpon my feete.

3 Then said he vnto me, * In the bush I reuealed my selfe, and spake vnto Moyses, when my people serued in Egypt: Exod. 3. 2, 8.

4 And I sent him, and led my people out of Egypt, and brought him vpon the mount Atnat, and I held him with me a long season,

5 And I told him many wonders, & shewed him the secrets of the times and the end, and commanded him, saying,

6 These words shalt thou declare, and these shalt thou hide.

7 And now I say vnto thee, that thou lay vp in thine heart the signes that I haue shewed, and the dreams that thou hast seene, and the interpretations, which thou hast heard.

8 For thou shalt be taken away from all, and thou shalt remaine henceforth with my counsell, and with such as be like thee, vntill the times be ended.

9 For the world hath lost his youth, and the times times begin to waxe ofde.

10 For þ world is diuided into twelue parts, and ten parts of it are gone already, and halfe of the tenth part.

11 And there remaineth that which is after the halfe of the tenth part.

12 Therefore let thine house in order, and reforme thy people, and comfort such of them as be in trouble, and now renounce the corruption.

13 Let goe from thee mortall thoughts: cast away from thee the burdens of men, and put off now the weake nature, 14 And let aside thy most greivous thoughts, and haste thee to depart from these times.

15 For greater evils then those, which thou hast seene now, shall they commit.

16 For the weaker that the world is by reason of age, the more shall the evils bee increased upon them that dwell therein.

17 For the truth is fled farre away, and lies are at hand: for now hasteth the vision to come, that thou hast seene.

18 Then answered I, and said before thee,

19 Behold, O Lord, I will goe as thou hast commanded me, and reforme the people, which are present: but they that shall bee borne afterward, who shall admonish them?

20 Thus the world is set in darkenesse, and they that dwell therein, are without light.

21 For thy Law is burnt, therefore no man knoweth the things that are done of thee, or the workes that shall be done.

22 But if I haue found grace before thee, send the holy Ghost into me, and I will write all that hath bin done in the world since the beginning, which was writtē in thy Law, that men may finde the path, and that they which will liue in the latter dayes, may liue.

23 And he answered me, saying, Goe and gather the people, and say vnto them, that they seeke thee not for fortie dayes,

24 But prepare thee many bore tables, and take with thee these sūe, Sarea, Dabyia, Selemlia, Ecanus, & Aziel, which are ready to write swiftly,

25 And come hither, and I will light a candle of vnderstanding in thine heart, which shall not be put out, till the things be performed which thou shalt begin to write.

26 And then shalt thou declare some things openly vnto the perfect men, and some things shalt thou shew secretly vnto the wise: to morrow this houre shalt thou begin to write.

27 Then went I forth, as he commanded me, and gathered all the people together, and said, 28 Heare these words, O Israel.

29 Our fathers at the beginning were strangers in Egypt, from whence they were deliuered,

30 And receiued the Law of life, which they kept not, which yee also haue transgressed after them.

31 Then was the land, euen the land of Sion parted among you by lot: but your fathers and yee also haue done vnrightheously, and haue not kept the wayes, which the most High commanded you.

32 And for so much as hee is a righteous iudge, he tooke from you in time the thing that he had giuen you, 33 And now are yee here, and your brethren among you.

34 Therefore if so be that ye will subdue your owne vnderstanding, and reforme your heart, ye shall be kept aliue, and after death shall ye obtaine mercy.

35 For after death shall the iudgement come, when wee shall liue againe: and then shall the names of the righteous bee manifest, and the workes of the vngodly shall be declared.

36 Let no man therefore come now vnto me, nor seeke me these fortie dayes.

37 So I tooke the sūe men, as he commaunded me, and wee went into the field, and remained there.

38 The next day, behold, a voyce called mee, saying, Esdras, open thy mouth, and drinke that I giue thee to drinke. Ezek 3.2.

39 Then opened I my mouth, and behold, he reached me a full cup, which was full as it were with water: but the colour of it was like fire.

40 And I tooke it, and dranke, and when I had drunke it, mine heart had vnderstanding, and wisdom grew in my breast: for my spirit was strengthened in memory.

41 And my mouth was opened, and shut no more.

42 The most High gaue vnderstanding vnto the sūe men, that they wrote the high things of the night, which they vnderstood not.

43 But in the night they did eat bread, but I spake by day, and held not my tongue by night.

44 In fortie dayes, they wrote two hundred and foure booke.

45 And when the fortie dayes were fulfilled, the most High spake, saying, The first that thou hast writtē, publish openly, that the worthy and vniuersall may reade it.

46 But keepe the leuentie last, that thou mayest giue them to the wise among thy people.

47 For in them is the veine of vnderstanding, and the fountaine of wisdom, and the riuer of knowledge: and I did so.

CHAP. XV.

1 The prophesie of Esdras is certaine. 5 The evils that shall come on the world. 9 The Lords will auenge the innocent blood. 12 Egypt shall lament. 16 Sedition 20 and punishment vpon the kings of the earth. 24 Cursed are they that sinne. 29 Troubles and warres vpon the whole earth. 33 God is the reuenger of his elect.

Behold, speake thou in the eares of my people the words of prophesie, which I will put in thy mouth, saith the Lord:

2 And cause them to bee writtē in a letter: for they are faithfull and true.

3 Feare not the imaginations against thee: let not the vnfaithfulness of the speakers trouble thee, that speake against thee.

4 For euery vnfaithfull shall die in his vnfaithfulness.

5 Behold, saith the Lord, I will bring plagues vpon all the world, the sword, famine, death, and destruction:

6 Becausē that iniquity hath fully polluted all the earth, & their wicked workes are fulfilled.

7 Therefore, saith the Lord, I will hold my tongue no more for their wickednesse, (they doe vngodly) neither will I suffer them in the things that they doe wickedly.

8 Behold,

Gen. 47. 4.

and 19. 2.

8 Behold, the innocent and righteous blood crieth vnto me, and the soules of the iust cry continually.

9 I will surely auenge them, saith the Lord, and receiue vnto me all the innocent blood from among them.

10 Behold, my people is led as a flocke to the slaughter: I will not suffer them now to dwell in the land of Egypt.

11 But I will bring them out with a mighty hand, and a stretched out arme, and smite it with plagues as afore, and will destroy all the land thereof.

12 Egypt shall mourne, and the foundations thereof shall be smitten with the plague and punishment, that God shall bring vpon it.

13 The plowmen that till the ground, shall mourne: for their seedes shall faile through the blasting and haille, and by an horrible starre.

14 Woe to the world, and to them that dwell therein.

15 For the sword, and their destruction draweth nere, and one people shall stand vp to fight against another with swords in their hands.

16 For there shall be sedition among men, and one shall invade another: they shall not regard their King, and the princes shall measure their doings by their power.

17 A man shall desire to goe into a citie, and shall not be able.

18 Because of their pride the cities shall be troubled, the houses shall be afraide, men shall feare.

19 A man shall haue no pittie vpon his neighbour, but shall destroy their houses with the sword, and their goods shall be spoiled for lacke of bread, and because of great trouble.

20 Behold, saith God, I call together all the Kings of the earth to reuerence mee, which are from the East, and from the South, from the East, and from Libanus, to turne vpon them and to repay the things that they haue done to them.

21 As they doe yet this day vnto my chosen, so will I doe also, and recompense them in their boisme: thus saith the Lord God.

22 My right hand shall not spare the sinners, neither shall the sword cease from them, that shed innocent blood vpon earth.

23 The fire is gone out from his wrath, and hath consumed the foundations of the earth, and the sinners like the straw that is kindled.

24 Woe to them that sinne, and keepe not my commandments, saith the Lord.

25 I will not spare them: depart, O children from the power: desile not my Sanctuary.

26 For the Lord knoweth all them that sinne against him, and therefore deliuereth bee them vnto death and destruction.

27 For now are the plagues come vpon the world, and ye shall remaine in them: for God will not deliuer you, because ye haue sinned against him.

28 Behold, an horrible vision cometh from the East,

29 Where generations of dragons of Arabia shall come out with many charers, and the multitude of them shall be caried as the wind vpon the earth, that all they which heare them, may feare and tremble,

30 Then the Carmanians raging in wrath, shall goe forth as the boares of the forest, and shall come with great power, and stand against them in battel, and shall destroy a portion of the land of the Assyrians.

31 But after this shall the dragons haue the upper hand, & remember their nature, and shall turne about: and conspire to consume them with a great power.

32 Then these shall be troubled, and keepe silence by their power, and shall flee.

33 From the land of the Assyrians shall the enemy besiege them, and consume some of them, and in their hoste shall be feare and dread, and strife among their kings.

34 Behold cloudes from the East, and from the North vnto the South, and they are very horrible to looke vpon, full of wrath and roine.

35 They shall smite one vpon another: and they shall smite downe a great multitude of starres vpon the earth: euen their owne starre, and the blood shall bee from the sword vnto the belly,

36 And the dung of man vnto the Camels litter.

37 And there shall be great fearefulness and trembling vpon earth, and they that see the wrath, shall be afraid, and a trembling shall come vpon them.

38 And then there shall come great stormes from the South, and from the North, and pae from the West.

39 And from the East shall windes arise, and shall open it with the cloud, which bee raised vp in wrath, and the starre, raised to feare the East and West winde, shall be destroyed.

40 And the great and mighty cloudes shall be lift vp full of wrath, and the starre, that they may make all the earth afraide, and them that dwell therein, and that they may poure out ouer euery high place, and lifted vp, an horrible constellation, 41 As fire and haille, and flying swords, and many waters, that all fields may bee full, and all riuers with the abondance of great waters.

42 And they shall breake downe the cities, and walles and mountaines, and hills, and the trees of the wood, and the grasse of the meadows, and their corne.

43 And they shall goe with a straight course vnto Babylon, and make it afraid.

44 They shall come to her and besiege her, and shall poure forth the constellation, and all the wrath against her: then shall the dust and smoke goe vp vnto the heauen, and all they that be about her, shall bewaile her.

45 And they that remaine vnder her, shall doe seruice vnto them that haue put her in feare.

46 And thou Asia, that art partaker of the hope of Babylon, and the glory of her person, 47 Woe vnto thee, O wretch, because thou hast made thy selfe like vnto her, and hast deckt thy daughters in whoredome, that they might please and glory in thy louers, which haue alway desired to commit whoredome with thee.

48 Thou hast followed her that is hated in all her workes and in her inventions: therefore saith God,

49 I will

For, w. 1.

49 I will send plagues upon thee, widowhood, poverty, and famine, and the sword, and pestilence, to waste thine houses with destruction and death.

50 And the glory of thy power shall be dried up, as a flower when the heat riseth, that is sent upon thee.

51 Thou shalt be sicke as a poore wife that is plagued and beaten of women, so that the mighty, and the lovers shall not be able to receive thee.

52 Alas! I thus hate thee, saith the Lord,

53 If thou hadst not alwayes slaine my chosen, exalting the stroke of thine hands, and laid ouer their death, when thou wast drunken,

54 Set forth the beautie of thy countenance?

55 The reward of thy whoresome shall be in thy bosome: therefore shalt thou receive a reward.

56 As thou hast done unto my chosen, saith the Lord, so will God doe unto thee, and will deliver thee unto the plague.

57 And thy children shall die of hunger, and thou shalt fall by the sword, and thy cities shall be broken downe, and all thy men shall fall by the sword in the field.

58 And they that be in the mountaines, shall die of hunger, and eat their owne flesh, and drinke their owne blood for want of bread and thirst of water.

59 And thou, as unhappy, shalt come thorow the sea, and receive plagues againe.

60 In the passage they shall cast downe the slaine citie, and shall roote out one part of thy land, and consume the portion of thy glory, and shall returne to her that was destroyed.

61 When thou shalt be cast downe, thou shalt be to them as stubble, and they shall bee to thee as fire.

62 And they shall destroy thee, and thy cities, thy land, and thy mountaines: all thy woods and all thy fruitfull trees shall they burne with fire.

63 Thy children shall they carry away captive, and shall spoile thy substance, and marre the beautie of thy face.

CHAP. XVI.

i Against Babylon, Asia, Egypt and Syria. 18. 38 Of the evil that shall come upon the world, with admonition how to governe themselves in afflictions. 54 To acknowledge their sinnes, and so commit themselves to the Lord. 55 whose mighty providence & iustice is to be revered.

Woe to thee, Babylon, and Asia: woe to thee, Egypt, and Syria.

2 Gird yourselves with sack and hairecloth, and mourne your children, and be some: for your destruction is at hand.

3 A sword is sent unto you, and who will turne it backe? a fire is sent among you, and who will quench it?

4 Plagues are sent unto you, and who can drive them away?

5 May any man drive away an hungry Lion in the wood? or quench the fire in stubble when it hath once begun to burne? may one turne againe the arrow, that is shot of a strong archer?

6 The mighty Lord sendeth the plagues, and who can drive them away? the fire is gone forth in his wrath, and who can quench it?

7 He shall cast lightnings, and who shall not feare? he shall thunder, and who shall not be afraid?

8 The Lord shall threaten, and who shall not utterly be broken in pieces at his presence? the earth quaketh, and the foundation thereof: the sea ariseth up with waues from the deepe: and the waues thereof are troubled, and the fishes thereof, before the Lord and the glory of his power.

9 For strong is his right hand, that bendeth the bow: his arrowes that bee shooteth, are sharpe, and shall not misse, when they begin to be shot into the ends of the world.

10 Behold, the plagues are sent, and shall not turne againe till they come upon earth.

11 The fire is kindled, and shall not bee put out till it consume the foundations of the earth.

12 As an arrow which is shotte of a mighty archer, returneth not backward, so the plagues that shall be sent upon earth, shall not turne againe.

13 Woe is me, woe is me: who will deliver me in those dayes?

14 The beginning of sorowes and great mourning: the beginning of famine, and great death: the beginning of warres, and the powers shall feare: the beginning of evils, and all shall tremble. What shall I doe in these things, when the plagues come?

15 Behold, famine, and plague, and trouble, and anguish are sent as scourges for amendment.

16 But for all these things they wil not turne from their wickednesse, nor be alway mindful of the scourges.

17 Behold, victuals shall bee so good cheape upon earth, that they shall thinke themselves to bee in good case: but then shall the evils budde forth upon earth, even the sword, the famine, and great confusion.

18 For many of them that dwell upon earth, shall perish with famine, and the other that escape the famine, shall the sword destroy.

19 And the dead shall be cast out as dung, and there shall be no man to comfort them: for the earth shall be wasted, and the cities shall be cast downe.

20 There shall be no man left to till the earth, and to sowe it: the trees shall give fruit, but who shall gather them?

21 The grapes shall bee ripe but who shall tread them? for all places shall be desolate, so that one man shall desire to see another, or to heare his voyce.

22 For of one citie there shall be ten left, and two of the field which shall hide themselves in the thicke woods, and in the clefts of rocks.

23 As when there remaine three or foure olives in the place where olives grow, or among other trees,

24 Or as when a vineyard is gathered, there are left some grapes of them that diligently sought thorow the vineyard:

25 So in those dayes there shall bee three or foure left by them that search their houses with the sword, 26 And the earth shall be left waste, and the fields thereof shall waie old, and her waies and all her paths shall grow full of thornes, because no man shall trauaile therethrough.

27 The

27 The virgines shall mourne, hauing no bridegromes: the women shall make lamentation, hauing no husbands: their daughters shall mourne, hauing no helpers.

28 In the warres shall their bridegromes be destroyed, and their husbands shall perish with famine.

29 But, ye seruants of the Lord, heare these things, and marke them.

30 Behold the word of the Lord, receiue it: beleue not the gods, of whom the Lord speaketh, behold, the plagues draw neere, and are not slacke.

31 As a trauailing woman which in the ninth moneth bringeth forth her sonne, when the houre of birth is come, two or three houres afore the paines come vpon her body, and when the childe cometh to the birth, they carry not a whit:

32 So shall not the plagues be slacke to come vpon the earth, and the world shall mourne, and sorowes shall come vpon it on euery side.

33 O my people, heare my word: make you ready to the battell, and in the troubles be euen as strangers vpon earth.

34 He that selleth, let him be as he that fleeth his way, and he that buyeth, as one that will lose.

35 Who so occupieth merchandise, as he that winneth not: and hee that buildeth, as he that shall not dwell therein.

36 He that soweth, as one that shall not reape: he that cutteth the vine, as hee that shall not gather the grapes.

37 They that marry, as they that shall get no children, and they that marry not, so as the widowes.

38 Therefore they that labour, labour in vaine.

39 For strangers shall reape their fruites, and spoyle their goods, and ouerthrow their houses, and take their children captiue: for in captiuitie and famine shall they get their children.

40 And they that occupie their merchandise with couetousnesse, the more they decke their cities, their houses, their possessions, & their owne persons, 41 So much more will I bee angry against them, for their sinnes, saith the Lord.

42 As a whore enuieeth an honest and vertuous woman,

43 So shall righteousness hate iniquity, when she decketh her selfe, and shall accule her openly, when he shall come that shall brydle the authour of all sinne vpon earth.

44 And therefore be ye not like thereunto, nor to the workes thereof: for or euer it be long, iniquity shall be taken away out of the earth, and righteousness shall reigne among you.

45 Let not the sinner say, that he hath not sinned: for coales of fire shall burne vpon his head, which saith, I haue not sinned before the Lord God and his glory.

46 Behold, the Lord knoweth all the workes of men, their imaginations, their thoughts and their hearts.

47 For as soone as he said, Let the earth be made, it was made: let the heauen be made, and it was created.

48 By his word were the starres established, and he knoweth the number of them.

Psal. 147. 4.

49 He searcheth the depth, and the treasures thereof: hee hath measured the sea, and what it containeth.

50 Hee hath shut the sea in the middes of the waters, and with his word hath hee hanged the earth vpon the waters.

51 He spreadeth out the heauen like a vault: vpon the waters hath he founded it.

52 In the desert hath he made springs of water, and pcoles vpon the top of the mountaines, to powre out floods from the high rockes to water the earth.

53 Hee made man, and put his heart in the middes of the body, and gaue him breath, life, and vnderstanding.

54 And the Spirit of the Almighty God, which made all things, and hath searched all the hid things in the secrets of the earth, 55 Hee knoweth your inuentions, and what ye imagine in your heart when ye sinne & would hide your sinnes.

56 Therefore hath the Lord searched and sought out all your workes, and will put you all to shame.

57 And when your sinnes are brought forth before men, ye shall bee confounded, and your owne sinnes shall stand as your accusers in that day.

58 What will ye doe, or how will you hide your sinnes before God and his Angels?

59 Behold, God himselfe is the Iudge: feare him: cease from your sinnes, and forget your iniquities, and meddle no more from henceforth with them: so shall God leade you forth, and deliuer you from all trouble.

60 For behold, the heate of a great multitude is kindled against you, and they shall take away certaine of you, and shall slay you for meate to the idoles.

61 And they that consent vnto them, shall be had in derision, and in reproch, and troden vnder foote.

62 For in euery place & cities that are neere, there shall be great insurrection against those that feare the Lord.

63 They shall be like mad men: they shall spare none: they shall spoyle, and waste such as yet feare the Lord.

64 For they then shall waste and spoyle their goods, and cast them out of their houses.

65 Then shall the trial of my chosen appeare, as the gold is tried by the fire.

66 Heare, O ye my beloued, saith the Lord, Behold, the dayes of trouble are at hand, but I will deliuer you from them: bee not ye afraid: doubt not, for God is your captaine.

67 Who so keepeth my commandments and precepts, saith the Lord God, let not your sinnes weigh you downe, and let not your iniquities lift themselves vp.

68 Come vnto them that are bound with their sinnes, and conered with their iniquities, as a field is hedged in with bushes, & the path thereof conered with thornes, whereby no man may tranell: it is shut vp, and is appointed to be deuoured with fire.

CHAP. I.

1 Tobit's parentage. 3 His godliness. 6 His equitie. 8 His charitie and prosperitie. 19 His fleeth, and his goods are confiscate. 22 And after restored.

Tobias being captiue among the Assyrians, did not leaue the way of trueth. Or, Salmanaſar. 2. King. 17. 3 Tobias was mercifull.

He booke of the wordes of Tobit, sonne of Tobiel, the sonne of Ananeel, the sonne of Abuel, the sonne of Gabael, of the seede of Aſael, and of the tribe of Nephtalim.

2 Who in the time of || Enemessar King of the Assyrians was ledde away captiue out of Chitbe, which is at the right hand of that citie, which is called properly Nephtalim, in Galile about Aſer.

3 I Tobit haue walked all my life long in the way of trueth and iustice, and I did many things liberally to the brethren, which were of my nation, and came with me to ſinne into the land of the Assyrians.

4 And when I was in mine owne countrey in the land of Iſrael, being but young, all the tribe of Nephtalim my father ſell from y^e house of Ierusalem, which was choſen out of all the tribes of Iſrael, that all the tribes ſhould ſacrifice there, where the Temple of the Tabernacle of the moſt high was conſecrated, and built vp for all ages.

5 Now all the tribes which ſell from God, pea, and my father Nephtalims house offered to the heifer called Baal.

6 But I (as it was ordeined to all Iſrael by an enclasting decree) went alone often to Ierusalem, at the feaſts, bringing the firſt fruites and the tenth of beaſts, with that which was firſt ſhorne, and offered them at the altar to the Priests the children of Aaron.

7 The firſt tenth part I gaue to the Priests the ſonnes of Aaron, which miniſtered in Ierusalem: the other tenth part I ſold, and came and beſtowed it euery yere at Ierusalem.

8 The third tenth part I gaue unto them to whom it was meete, as Deboza my fathers mother had commanded me, for my father left mee as a pupil.

9 Furthermore, when I was come to the age of a man, I married Anna of mine owne kindred, and of her I begate Tobias.

10 But when I was led captiue to ſinne, all my brethren and thoſe which were of my kindred, did eate of the bread of the Gentiles.

11 But I kept my ſelfe from eating,

12 Because I remembred God with all mine heart.

13 Therefore the moſt high gaue me grace and fauour before Enemessar, ſo that I was his purueyſour.

14 And I went into Media, and I deliuered ten talents of ſiluer to Gabael, the brother of Gabrias in the land of Media.

15 But when Enemessar was dead, Sennacherib his ſonne reigned in his ſtead: whole ſtate becauſe it was troubled, I could not goe into Media.

16 But in the time of || Enemessar, I gaue many almes to my brethren, and gaue my bread to them which were hungry.

17 And my clothes to the naked: and if I ſaw any of my kindred dead, or caſt about the walles of ſinne, I buried him.

18 And if the king Sennacherib had ſlaine any, when he was come and fled from Judea, I buried them pitifully, (for in his wrath he killed many) but the bodies were not found when they were ſought for of the king.

19 Therefore when a certaing ſinne had accuſed me to the king, becauſe I did bury them, I hidde my ſelfe: and becauſe I knew that I was ſought to be ſlaine, I withdrew my ſelfe for feare.

20 Then all my goods were ſpoiled, neither was there any thing left me beſides my wife Anna, and my ſonne Tobias.

21 Neuertheleſſe within ſine and fifty dayes two of his ſonnes killed him, and they fled into the mountaines of Ararath, and Sarchedonus his ſonne reigned in his ſtead, who appointed ouer his fathers accounts, and ouer all his domeſtical affaires, Achiacharus my brother Ananels ſonne.

22 And when Achiacharus had made a request for mee, I came againe to ſinne: now Achiacharus was cupbearer and keeper of the ſignet, and ſteward, and ouerſaw the accounts: ſo Sarchedonus appointed him next vnto him, and he was my brothers ſonne.

CHAP. II.

2 Tobit calleth the faithfull to his table. 3 He lea-meth the feaſt to bury the dead. 10 How he became blind.

11 His wife laboureth for her liuing. 14 Shee repro-chet him bitterly.

Now when I was come home againe, and my wife Anna was reſtored vnto mee with my ſonne Tobias, in the feaſt of Pentecoſt, which is the holy feaſt of the ſenen weekes, there was a great dinner prepared me, in the which I ſate downe to eate.

2 And when I ſaw abundance of meate, I ſayd to my ſonne, Goe, and bring what poore man ſoeuer thou ſhalt find of our brethren, which doeth remember God, and loe, I will carrie for thee.

3 But he came againe, and ſaid, Father, one of our nation is ſtrangled, and is caſt out in the market place.

4 Then before I had taſted any meate, I ſtart vp, and brought him into my houſe vntill the going downe of the Sunne.

5 Then I returned and waſhed, and ate my meate in heauineſſe.

6 Remembzing that propheticke of Amos, which had ſaid, Your ſolemne feaſtes ſhall bee turned into mourning, and your ioyes into way-ling.

7 Therefore I wept, and after the going downe of the Sunne, I went and made a graue and buried him.

8 But my neighbours mocked me, and ſayd, Doeth hee not feare to die for this cauſe, who fled away, and yet loe, hee buryeth the dead againe?

9 The ſame night alſo when I returned from the buriall, and ſlept at the wall of mine houſe, becauſe I was polluted, and hauing my face diſcouered, 14 But she said, It was giuen for a gift more then the wages, but I did not beleue, and bade her to render it to the owners, and I did blush because of her. Furthermore shee said, * Where are thine almes, and thy righteousnesse? behold, they all now appeare in thee.

CHAP. III.

3 The prayer of Tobit. 7 Sarra Raguels daughter, and the things that came vnto her. 12 Her prayer heard, 17 The Angel Raphael sent.

Then I being sorrowfull, did weepe, and in my forow prayed, saying,

2 O Lord, thou art iust, and all thy workes and all thy wayes are mercy and truth, and thou iudgeth truly and iustly for euer.

3 Remember mee, and looke on mee, neither punish mee according to my sinnes or mine ignorances, or my fathers, which haue sinned before thee.

4 For they haue not obeyed thy commaundements: wherefore thou hast deliuered vs * for a spoyle, and vnto captiuitie, and to death, and for a prouerbe of a reproch to all them among whom we are disperfed, and now thou hast // many and iust causes,

5 To doe with mee according to my sinnes, and my fathers, because wee haue not kept thy Commaundements, neither haue walked in truth before thee.

6 Now therefore deale with mee as seemeth best vnto thee, and commaund my spirit to be taken from mee, that I may be dissolued, and become earth: for it is better for me to die then to liue, because I haue heard false reproches, and am very sorrowfull: commaund therefore that I may be dissolued out of this distresse, and goe into the euerlasting place: turne not thy face away from me.

7 It came to passe the same day that in Ecbatane a city of Media, Sarra the daughter of Raguel was also reproched by her fathers maydes.

8 Because shee had bene married to seven husbands, whom Almodius the euill spirit had killed before that they had lien with her. Dost thou not know, sayd they, that thou hast strangled thine husbands? thou hast had now seven husbands, neither wast thou named after any of them.

9 Wherefore dost thou // beate vs for them? if they bee dead, goe thy wayes hence to them, that wee may neuer see of thee either sonne or daughter.

10 When shee heard these things, shee was very sorrowfull, so that she thought to haue strangled her self. And she said, I am the onely daughter of my father, and if I doe this, I shall slander him, and shall bring his age to the graue with sorrow.

11 Then she prayed toward the window, and sayd, Blessed art thou, O Lord my God, and thine holy and glorious Name is blessed, and honourable for euer: let all thy workes praise thee for euer.

12 And now, O Lord, I set mine eyes and my face toward thee, 13 And say, Take me out of the earth, that I may heare no more any reproch.

14 Thou knowest, O Lord, that I am pure from all sinne with man,

15 And that I haue neuer polluted my name, nor the name of my father in the land of my captiuitie: I am the onely daughter of my father, neither hath he any man childe to be his heire, neither any * neere kinsman or childe bozne of him, to whom I may keepe my selfe for a wife: my seuen husbands are now dead, & why should I liue? But if it please not thee that I should die, commaund to looke on me, and to pittie mee, that I doe no more heare reproch.

16 So the prayers of them both were heard before the maiestie of the great God.

17 And Raphael was sent to heale them both, that is, to take away the whitenesse of Tobits eyes, and to giue Sarra the daughter of Raguel for a wife to Tobias the sonne of Tobit, and to bind Almodius the euill spirit, because she belonged to Tobias by right. The selfe same time came Tobit home, and entred into his house, and Sarra the daughter of Raguel came dowis from her chamber.

CHAP. IIII.

Precepts and exhortations of Tobit to his sonne.

1 That day Tobit remembered * the silver which hee had deliuered to Gabael in Rages a cite of Media,

2 And said with himselfe, I haue wished for death: wherefore doe I not call for my sonne Tobias, that I may admonish him before I die?

3 And when he had called him, he said, My sonne, after that I am dead, bury me, and despise not thy mother, but * honour her all the dayes of thy life, and doe that which shall please her, and anger her not.

4 Remember my sonne, how many dangers she sustained when thou wast in her wombe,

5 And when she dieth, bury her by me in the same graue.

6 My sonne, let our Lord God alwayes before thine eyes, and let not thy will bee set to sinne, or to transgresse the commandements of God. Doe vprightly all thy life long, and follow not the wayes of vnrightheousnesse: for if thou deale cruelly, thy doings shall prosperously succede to thee, and to all them which liue iustly.

7 Giue * almes of thy substance: and when thou giuest almes, let not thine eye bee enuious, neither turne thy face from any poore, lest that God turne his face from thee.

8 * Giue almes according to thy substance: if thou haue but a litle, bee not afraid to giue a litle almes.

Povertie with the feare of God.

Tobias sent by his father to Rages seeketh a companion, and meeteth with Raphael, whom hee bringeth to his father.

9 For thou layest by a good store for thy selfe against the day of necessity, 10 Because that almes doth deliuer from death, and suffereth not to come into darknesse.

11 For almes is a good gift before the most High to all them which ble it.

12 Beware of all whozedomes, my sonne, and chiefly take a wife of the seede of thy fathers, and take not a strange woman to wife, which is not of thy fathers stocke: for we are the children of the Prophets: Noe, Abraham, Isaac and Jacob are our fathers from the beginning. Remember, my sonne, that they married wiues of their owne kindred, and were blessed in their children, and their seede shall inherite the land.

13 Now therefore my sonne, loue thy brethren, and despise not in thine heart thy brethren, the sonnes and daughters of thy people, in not taking a wife of them: for in pride is destruction, and much trouble, and in fiercenesse is scarcitie, and great povertie: for fiercenesse is the mother of famine.

14 Let not the wages of any man, which hath wrought for thee, tary with thee, but giue him it out of hand: for if thou serue God, he will also pay thee: bee circumspect, my sonne, in all things that thou doest, and be well instructed in all thy conuersation.

15 Doe that to no man which thou hatest: drinke not wine to make thee drunken, neither let drunkennesse goe with thee in thy iourney.

16 Giue of thy bread to the hungry, and of thy garments to them that are naked, and of all thine abundance giue almes, and let not thine eye be enuious, when thou giuest almes.

17 Powze out thy bread on the burfall of the iust, but giue nothing to the wicked.

18 Aske counsell alway of the wise, and despise not any counsell that is profitable.

19 Bless thy Lord God alway, and desire of him that thy waies may be made straight, & that all thy purposes and counsels may prosper: for euery nation hath not counsell: but the Lord giueth all good things, and he humbleth whom he wil, as he will: now therefore, my sonne, remember my commandements: neither let them at any time be put out of thy mind.

20 Furthermore, I signifie this to thee, that I deliuered ten talents to Gabael the sonne of Gabrias at Rages in Media:

21 And feare not my sonne, forasmuch as we are made poore: for thou hast many things, if thou feare God, & flee from all sinne, and do that thing which is acceptable vnto him.

CHAP. V.

1 Tobias sent to Rages. 4 He meeteth with the Angel Raphael which did conduct him.

Tobias then answered, and said, Father, I will do all things which thou hast commanded me.

2 But how can I receiue the siluer, seeing I know him not?

3 Then he gaue him the hand writing, and said vnto him, Seeke thee a man, which may goe with thee, whilst I yet liue, and I will giue him wages, and goe and receiue the money.

4 Therefore when hee was gone to seeke a man, he found Raphael the Angel.

5 But he knew not, and said vnto him, May I goe with thee into the land of Media: and knowest thou those places well?

6 To whom the Angel said, I will goe with thee: for I haue remained with our brother Gabael.

7 Then Tobias said to him, Tary for me, till I tell my father.

8 Then he said vnto him, See and tary not: so he went in, and said to his father, Behold, I haue found one, which will goe with me. Then he said, Call him vnto me, that I may know of what tribe he is, and whether he be faithfull to goe with thee.

9 So he called him, and he came in, and they saluted one another.

10 Then Tobit said vnto him, Brother, shew me of what tribe and family thou art.

11 To whom he said, Dost thou seeke a stock or family, or an hired man to go with thy sonne? Then Tobit said vnto him, I would know brother, thy kindred and thy name.

12 Then he said, I am of the kindred of Azarias and Ananias the great, and of thy brethren.

13 Then Tobit said, Thou art welcome, brother: bee not now angry with mee, because I haue enquired to know thy kindred and thy family: for thou art my brother of an honest and good stocke: for I know Ananias and Jonathas, sonnes of that great Samaias: for we went together to Jerusalem to worship, and offered the first borne, and the tenths of the fruits, and they were not deceiued with the error of our brethren: my brother, thou art of a great stocke.

14 But tel me, what wages shal I giue thee? wilt thou a groat a day, and things necessary, as to mine owne sonne?

15 Yea, moreover, if ye returne safe, I will adde some thing to the wages.

16 So they agreed. Then said he to Tobias, Prepare thy selfe for the iourney, and goe you on Gods name. And when his sonne had prepared all things for the iourney, his father said, Goe thou with this man, and God which dwelleth in heauen, prosper your iourney, and the Angel of God keepe you company. So they went forth both, and departed, and the dogge of the young man with them.

17 But Anna his mother wept, and said to Tobit, Why hast thou sent away our sonne? is he not the staffe of our hand to minister vnto vs?

18 Would to God we had not laid money vpon money, but that it had bene cast away in respect of our sonne.

19 For that which God hath giuen vs to liue with, doth suffice vs.

20 Then said Tobit, Bee not carefull, my sister: he shall returne in safety, and thine eyes shall see him.

21 For the good Angel doth keepe him company, and his iourney shall be prosperous, and he shall returne safe.

22 Then shee made an end of weeping.

CHAP. VI.

2 Tobias deliuered from the fish. 7 Raphael sheweth him certaine medicines, 10 He conducteth him toward Sarra.

And

Tobias in-uaded of a fish is deli-uered by the Angel.

And as they went on their iourney, they came at night to the flood Tigris, and there abode.

2 And when the young man went to wash himself, a fish leaped out of the river and would haue deuoured him.

3 Then the Angel said vnto him, Take the fish. And the young man took the fish, and drew it to land.

4 To whom the Angel said, Cut the fish, and take the heart, and the liuer, and the gall, and put them by surely.

5 So the young man did as the Angel commanded him: and when they had roasted the fish, they ate it: then they both went on their way till they came to Ecbatane.

6 Then the young man said to the Angel, Brother Azarias, what auaileth the heart, and the liuer, and the gall of the fish?

7 And he said vnto him, Touching the heart and the liuer, if a euill spirit trouble any, wee must make a perfume of this before the man or the woman, and hee shall bee no more vexed.

8 As for the gall, anoint a man that hath whitenesse in his eyes, and he shall be healed.

9 And when they were come neere to Rages,

10 The Angel said to the young man, Brother, to day we shall lodge with Raguel, who is thy cousin: hee also hath one onely daughter named Sarra: I will speake for her that shee may be giuen thee for a wife.

11 For to thee doth the right of her pertaine, seeing thou alone art the remnant of her kindred,

12 And the maide is faire and wise: now therefore heare me, and I will speake to her father, that we may make the marriage when wee are returned from Rages: for I know that Raguel cannot marry her to another, according to the Law of Moyses: else he should deserue death, because the right doth rather appertaine to thee then to any other man.

13 Then the young man answered the Angel, I haue heard, brother Azarias, that this mayde hath beene giuen to seven men, who all died in the marriage chamber:

14 And I am the onely begotten sonne of my Father, and I am afraid lest I goe into her, and die as the other before: for a wicked spirit troubleth her, which hurteth no body, but those which come in to her: wherefore I also feare lest I die, and bying my fathers and my mothers life because of mee to the graue with sorrow: for they haue no other sonne to bury them.

15 Then the Angel said vnto him, Dost thou not remember the precepts which thy father gaue thee, that thou shouldst marry a wife of thine owne kindred: wherefore heare me, O my brother: for she shall be thy wife, neither be thou carefull of the euill spirit: for this same night shall she be giuen thee in marriage.

16 And when thou shalt go into the marriage chamber, thou shalt take of the hole coales for perfumes, and make a perfume of the heart, and of the liuer of the fish.

17 Which if the spirit doe smell, he will flee away, and neuer come againe any more: but when thou shalt come to her, rise by both of you, and pray to God which is mercifull, who will haue pittie on you, and saue you: feare not, for the is appointed vnto thee from the beginning, and thou shalt keepe her, and she shall goe with thee: moreover I suppose that she shall beare thee children: now when Tobias had heard these things, he loued her, and his heart was effectually toynd to her.

CHAP. VII.

Tobias marieth Sarra Raguels daughter.

And when they were come to Ecbatane, they came to the house of Raguel, and Sarra met them, and after they had saluted one another, she brought them into the house.

2 Then said Raguel to Edna his wife, How like is this young man to Tobit my cousin?

3 And Raguel asked, Whence are you, my brethren? to whom they sayd, that they were of the tribe of Nephtalim, & of the captiues that dwelt at Ninene.

4 Then he said to them, Do ye know Tobit our kinsman? And they said, We knowe him. Then saith he, Is he in good health?

5 And they said, He is both alive, and in good health: and Tobias saith, He is my Father.

6 Then Raguel leaped, and kissed him, and wept,

7 And blessed him, and said vnto him, Thou art the sonne of an honest and good man: but when hee had heard that Tobit was blind, he was sorrowfull, and wept.

8 And likewise Edna his wife, and Sarra his daughter wept. Moreover, they receined them with a ready mind, and after that they had killed a ramme of the flocke, they set much meat on the table. Then sayd Tobias to Raphael, Brother Azarias, put forth those things wherof thou spakest in the way, that this business may be dispatched.

9 So he communicated the matter with Raguel, & Raguel said to Tobias, Eat, and drinke, and make merry.

10 For it is meete that thou shouldst marry my daughter: neuertheless, I will declare vnto thee the truth.

11 I haue giuen my daughter in marriage to seven men, who died that night which they came in vnto her, neuertheless, be thou of a good courage and merry. But Tobias said, I will eat nothing here, until I see bring her hither, & betrooth her to me.

12 Raguel said then, Carry her then according to the custome: for thou art her cousin, and she is thine. God which is mercifull, make this prosperous to you in all good things.

13 Then he called his daughter Sarra, and she came to her father, and he took her by the hand, and gaue her for wife to Tobias, saying, Behold, take her after the Lawe of Moyses, and lead her away to thy father: and he blessed them.

14 And called his wife Edna, and heooke a booke, and wrote a contract, and sealed it.

15 Then they began to eate.

16 After, Raguel called his wife Edna, and said vnto her, Sister, prepare another chamber, and bring her in thither.

17 Which when she had done, as hee had bid her, she brought her thither: then Sarra wept, and her mother wiped away her daughters teares.

18 And said vnto her, Be of good comfort, my daughter: the Lord of heauen and earth

Raguel thinking Tobias was dead, made a grave for him.

Raguel praiseth God for Tobias.

Raguel giveth halfe of his goods towards the marriage of his daughter to Tobias.

And when they had supped, they brought Tobias in unto her.

2 And as he went, hee remembered the words of Raphael, and tooke coales for perfumes, and put the heart and liver of the fish thereupon, and made a perfume.

3 The which smell when the evil spirit had smelled, he fled into the utmost parts of Egypt, whither the Angel bound.

4 And after that they were both sene in, Tobias arose out of the bed & said, Sister, arise and let us pray, that God would have pittie on us.

5 Then began Tobias to say, Blessed art thou, O God of our fathers, and blessed is thine holy and glorious Name for ever: let the heavens blesse thee, and all thy creatures.

6 Thou madest Adam, and gavest him Eve his wife for an helpe, and say: of them came mankinde: thou hast said, It is not good, that a man should be alone: let us make unto him an aide like unto himselfe.

7 And now, O Lord, I take not this my sister for fornication, but uprightly: therefore grant me mercy, that we may become aged together.

8 And she said with him, Amen.

9 So they slept both that night, and Raguel arose, and went and made a grave.

10 Saying, Is not he dead also?

11 But when Raguel was come into his house,

12 He said to his wife, Eena, Send one of the maides, and let them see whether hee be alive: if not, that I may bury him, and none know it.

13 So the maide opened the doore, and went in, and found them both asleepe.

14 And came forth, and tolde them that hee was alive.

15 Then Raguel praised God, and said, O God, thou art worthy to be praised with all pure and holy praise: therefore let thy Saints praise thee with all thy creatures, and let all thy Angels and thine elect praise thee for ever.

16 Thou art to be praised, O Lord: for thou hast made mee joyful, and that is not come to me which I suspected: but thou hast dealt with us according to great mercy.

17 Thou art to be praised, because thou hast had mercy of two that were the onely begotten children of their fathers: grant them mercy, O Lord, and lengthen their life in health with joy and mercie.

18 Then Raguel bade his servants to fill the grave.

19 And hee kept the wedding feast fourteene dayes.

20 For Raguel had said unto him by anoth, that hee should not depart before that the fourteene dayes of the marriage were expired.

21 And then he should take the halfe of his goods, and returne in safetie to his father, and should have the rest, when he and his wife were dead.

CHAP. IX.

Raphael leadeth Gabael to Tobias' marriage.

Then Tobias called Raphael, and layd unto him,

2 Brother Azarias, take with thee a servant and two camels, and go to Rages of the Medes to Gabael, and bring me the money, and bring him to the wedding.

3 For Raguel hath sworn that I shall not depart;

4 But my father counteth the dayes: and if I tary long, he will be very loy.

5 So Raphael went out, and came to Gabael, and gave him the hand writing, who brought forth bags which were sealed by, and gave them to him.

6 And in the morning they went forth both together, and came to the wedding, and Tobias begate his wife with child.

CHAP. X.

Tobit and his wife thinke long for their sonne. 10 Raguel sendeth away Tobias and Sarra.

Now Tobias his father counted every day, and when the dayes of the journey were expired, and they came not,

2 Tobit said, Are they not mocked? or is not Gabael dead, and there is no man to give him the money?

3 Therefore he was very loy.

4 Then his wife said to him, Why sonne is dead, seeing he tareth: and he beganne to bewaile him, and said,

5 Now I care for nothing, my sonne, since I have lost thee the light of mine eyes.

6 To whom Tobias said, Hold thy peace: be not carefull, for he is safe.

7 But she said, Hold thy peace, and deceiv me not, my sonne is dead: and he went out every day, by the way which they went, neither did hee eat meate on the day time, and did consume whole nights in bewailing her sonne Tobias, untill the fourteene dayes of the wedding were expired, which Raguel had sworn, that hee should tary there. Then Tobias said to Raguel, Let me goe: for my father and my mother looke no more to see me.

8 But his father in law said unto him, Take with me, and I will send to thy father, & they shall deliver him the money.

9 But Tobias said, No, but let me goe to my father: and Raguel said, I will send thee.

10 Then Raguel arose, and gave him Sarra his wife, and halfe his goods, as servants, and cattell, and money.

11 And he blessed them, and sent them away, saying, The God of heaven make you, my children, to prosper before I die.

12 And he said to his daughter, Honour thy father and thy mother in law, which are now thy parents, that I may hear good report of thee: and he kissed them. Eena also said to Tobias, The Lord of heaven restore thee my deere brother, and graunt that I may see thy children of my daughter Sarra, that I may rejoice before the Lord: Behold now, I commit to thee my daughter, as a pledge: doe not increase her guilt.

Tobias.

After these things Tobias went his way, praising God that he had given him a prosperous journey, and blessed Raguel and Edna his wife, and went on his way till he drew nere to Nineue.

2 Then Raphael sayde to Tobias, Thou knowest thy brother, how thou didst leane thy father.

3 Let vs haste before thy wife, and prepare the house,

4 And take in thine hand the gill of the fish. So they went their way, and the dog followed them.

5 Now Anna late in the way looking for her sonne.

6 When when the law comming, she said to his father, Behold, thy sonne cometh, and the man that went with him.

7 Then said Raphael, I know, Tobias, that thy father shall receive his sight.

8 Therefore annoynt his eyes with the gall, and being pricked therewith, he shall rubbe and make the whitenesse to fall away, and shall see thee.

9 Then Anna ranne forth, and fell on the necke of her sonne, and said vnto him, Seeing I have seene thee, my sonne, from henceforth I am content to die, and they wept both.

10 Tobit also went forth toward the doore, and stumbled, but his sonne ranne vnto him, 11 And tooke hold of his father, and smacked of the gall on his fathers eyes, saying, Be of good hope, my father.

12 And when his eyes began to picke, he rubbed them.

13 And the whitenesse pilled away from the corners of his eyes, and when he saw his sonne, he fell vpon his necke,

14 And he wept and said, Blessed art thou O Lord, and blessed be thy name for ever, and blessed be all thine holy Angels.

15 For thou hast scourged mee, and hast had pittie on me: for behold, I see my sonne Tobias, and his sonne, being glad, went in, and told his father the great things that had come to passe in Media.

16 Then Tobit went out to meet his daughter in law, reioycing and praising God to the gate of Nineue: and they which saw him goe, marvelled, because he had receiued his sight.

17 But Tobit testified before them all, that God had had pittie on him. And when he came nere to Sara his daughter in law, he blessed her, saying, Thou art welcome daughter: God be blessed which hath brought thee vnto vs, and blessed be thy father, and there was great ioy among all his brethren, which were at Nineue.

18 And Achibacharus and Rabhas his brothers sonne came.

19 And Tobias marriage was kept seven dayes with great ioy.

CHAP. XII.

2 Tobias declareth to his father the pleasures that Raphael had done him. 3 The which he would recompense. 4. 5. Raphael declareth that he is an Angel sent of God.

Then Tobit called his sonne Tobias, and layde vnto him, Prouide, my sonne, wages for the man, which went with thee, and thou must giue him more.

2 And hee sayd vnto him, O Father, it shall not grieve mee to giue him halfe of those things which I haue brought.

3 For hee hath brought me againe to thee in safetie, and hath made whole my wife, and hath brought me the money, and hath likewise healed thee.

4 Then the olde man sayde, It is due vnto him.

5 So he called the Angel, and said vnto him. Take halfe of all that ye haue brought, and goe away in safetie.

6 But hee toke them both apart, and layde vnto them, Praise God, and confesse him, and giue him the glory, and praise him for the things which he hath done vnto you before all them that liue. It is good to praise God, and to tract his name, and to shew forth his euident workes with honour: therefore be not weary to confesse him.

7 It is good to keepe close the secrets of a King, but it is honourable to reueale the workes of God: do that which is good, and no euill shall touch you.

8 Prayer is good with fasting, and almes and righteousness. A little which righteousness is better then much with vnrightheousnesse: it is better to giue almes, then to lay by gold.

9 For almes doeth deliuer from death, and doth purge all sin. Those which exercise almes and righteousness, shall be filled with life.

10 But they that sinne, are enemies to their owne life.

11 Surely I will keepe close nothing from you: neuerthelesse, I sayd it was good to keepe close the secret of a king, but that it was honourable to reueile the workes of God.

12 Now therefore when thou didst pray, and Sara thy daughter in law, I did bring to memorie your prayer, before the holy One: And when thou diddest bury the dead, I was with thee likewise.

13 And when thou wast not grieued to rise vp, and leane thy dinner to burie the dead, thy good deed was not hid from mee: but I was with thee.

14 And now God hath sent me to heale thee, and Sara thy daughter in law.

15 I am Raphael, one of the seven holy Angels, which present the prayers of the Saints, and which goe forth before his holy Maiestie.

16 Then they were both troubled, and fell vpon their face: for they feared.

17 But hee said vnto them, Feare not, for it shall goe well with you: praise God therefore.

18 For I came not of mine owne pleasure, but by the good will of your God: wherefore praise him in all ages.

19 All these dayes I did appeare vnto you, but I did neither eate nor drinke, but you saw it in vision.

20 Now therefore giue God thanks: for I go vp to him that sent me: but write all things which are done, in a booke.

21 And when they rose, they saw him no more.

22 Then they confessed the great and wonderfull workes of God, and how the Angel of the Lord had appeared to them.

|| That is, Ierusalem,

C H A P. XIII.

113 Lesson of Tobit to his sonne. 114 He prophesieth the destruction of Ninus, 115 And the restoring of Ierusalem and the Temple. 116 The death of Tobit, and his wife. 117 Tobias age and death.

SO Tobit made an end of praying God.

2. And hee was eight and fifty yeere olde, when hee lost his sight, which was restored to him after eight yeere, and he gaue almes, and he continued to feare the Lord God, and to praise him.

3. And when he was very aged, he called his sonne, and sire of his sonnes sonnes, and sayd to him, O my sonne, take thy children (for beholde, I am aged, and am ready to depart out of this life.)

4. Goe into Media my sonne: for I surely beleue those things which Ionas the Prophet spake of Nineue, that it shall be destroyed, and for a time peace shall rather bee in Media, and that our brethren shall bee scattered in the earth from that good land, and Ierusalem shall be desolate, and the house of God in it shall be burned and shall be desolate for a time.

5. Yet againe God will haue pittie on them and bring them againe into the land where they shall build a Temple, but not like to the first, vntill the times of that age bee fulfilled, which being fulfilled, they shall returne from euery place out of captiuitie, & build up Ierusalem gloriously, and the house of God shall be built in it for ever with a glorious building, as the Prophets haue spoken thereof.

 and 6. 14.*

6. And all nations shall turne, and feare the Lord God truly, and shall bury their iolles.

7. So shall all nations praise the Lord, and his people shall confesse God, and the Lord shall exalt his people, & all those which loue the Lord in truth and iustice, shall reioyce, and those also which shew mercie to our brethren.

8. And now my sonne, depart out of Nineue, because that those things which the Prophet Ionas spake, shall surely come to passe.

9. But keepethou the Lawe, and the Commandements, and shew thy selfe mercifull and iust, that it may goe well with thee.

10. And bury mee honestly, and thy mother with mee: but bury no longer at Nineue, Remember my sonne, how Aman handled Achibarnus that brought him up, how out of sight hee brought him into darkenesse, and how hee rewarded him againe: yet Achibarnus was hated, but the other had his reward: for hee went downe into darkenesse. Manasses gaue almes, and escaped the state of death, which they had set for him, but Aman fell into the snare and perished.

11. Therefore now, my sonne, consider what almes doeth, and how righteousness doeth deliuer. When he had said these things, he gaue vnto the ghost in the bed, being an hundred and eight and fifty yeere old, and hee buried him honourably.

|| Or, his soule failed him in the bed.

12. And when Anna was dead, hee buried her with his father: but Tobias went with his wife and children to Gabane to Raguel.

guel his father in law.
 12 Where he became old with honour, and he buried his father and mother in law honourably, and he inherited their substance and Tobits his father.

14 And he died at Ecbatane in Media, he ing an hundredeth and seven and twentie yeere old.

15 But before he died, he heard of the destruction of Nineue, which was taken by Nabuchodonosor and Smerus, and before his death hee reioyced for Nineue.

Judeth.

CHAP. I.

1 The building of Ecbatane. 5 Nabuchodonosor made warre against Arphaxad, and overcame him. 12 Hee threatnes to them that would not helpe him.

In the twelfth yeere of the reigne of Nabuchodonosor, who reigned in Nineue the great citie (in the dayes of Arpharad, which reigned ouer the Medes in Ecbatane, And built in Ecbatane, the walles round about of betwen stone, three cubites broad, and five cubits long, and made the height of the wall seventy cubits, and the breadth thereof fiftie cubits.

2 And made the towres thereof in the gates of it an hundredeth cubits, and the breadth thereof in the foundation threescore cubits.

3 And made the gates thereof euen gates that were lifted vp on high, seuentie cubits, and the breadth of them fourtie cubits, for the going forth of his mighty armies, and for the setting in aray of his footmen.

4 And made the gates thereof euen gates that were lifted vp on high, seuentie cubits, and the breadth of them fourtie cubits, for the going forth of his mighty armies, and for the setting in aray of his footmen.

5 Euen in those dayes, King Nabuchodonosor made warre with King Arpharad in the great field, which is the field in the coastes of Ragau.

6 Then came vnto him all they that dwelt in the mountaines, and all that dwelt by Euphrates, and Tigris, and Hydaspes, and the countrey of Arioch the King of the Elymeans, and very many nations assembled themselves to the battell of the sonnes of Chelos.

7 And Nabuchodonosor King of the Assyrians sent vnto all that dwelt in Persia, and to all that dwelt in the West, and to those that dwelt in Cilicia, and Damascus, and Libanus, and Antilibanus, and to all that dwelt vpon the sea coast.

8 And to the people that are in Carmel, and Galaad, and the higher Galile, and the great field of Ebroelam.

9 And to all that were in Samaria, and the citie thereof, and beyond Iordan vnto Ierusalem, and to Betane, and Chellus, and Cades, and the riuer of Egypt, and Taphnes, and Ramesse, and all the land of Selem.

10 Until one come to Tanis, and Memphis, and to all the inhabitants of Egypt, and til one come to the mountaines of Ethiopia.

11 But all the inhabitants of this countrey did not passe for the commandement of Nabuchodonosor king of the Assyrians, neither would they come with him to the battell: for they did not feare him: yea, he was before them as one man: therefore they sent away his ambassadours from them without effect, and with dishonour.

12 Therefore Nabuchodonosor was very angry with all this countrey, and swore by his throne and kingdome, that he would surely be a- uenged vpon all those coastes of Cilicia and Damascus, and Syria, and that he would slay with the sword all the inhabitants of the land of Moab, and the children of Ammon, and all Iudea, and all that were in Egypt, till one come to the borders of the two seas.

13 Then he marched in battell aray with his power against King Arpharad in the seuenteenth yeere, and he prevailed in his battell: for he overthrew all the power of Arpharad, and all his horsemen, and all his charrets.

14 And hee wanne his citie, and came vnto Ecbatane, and tooke the towres, and spoiled the streets thereof, and turned the beauty thereof into shame.

15 He tooke also Arpharad in the mountaines of Ragau, and smote him thorow with his darts, and destroyed him vterly that day.

16 So hee returned afterward to Nineue, both hee, and all his company with a very great multitude of men of warre, and there hee passed the time, and banquetted, both he and his army, an hundred and twenty dayes.

CHAP. II.

1 Nabuchodonosor commaunded presumptuously that all people should be brought into subiection, and to destroy those that disobeyed him. 15 The preparation of Olofernes armie. 23 The conquest of his enemies.

Ad in the eighteenth yeere, the two and twentieth day of the first moneth, there was talke in the house of Nabuchodonosor king of the Assyrians, that he should avenge himselfe on all the earth, as he had spoken.

2 So he called vnto him all his officers and all his nobles, and communicated with them his secret counsell, and set before them with his own mouth all the malice of the earth.

3 Then they decreed to destroy all flesh, that had not obeyed the commandement of his mouth.

4 And when he had ended his counsell, Nabuchodonosor king of the Assyrians called Olofernes his chiefe captaine, and which was next vnto him, and said vnto him.

5 Thus saith the great King, the lord of the whole earth, Behold, thou shalt goe forth from my presence, and take with thee men that trust in their owne strength, of footmen, an hundredeth and twenty thousand, and the number of horses with their riders, twelue thousand.

6 And thou shalt goe against all the West countrey, because they disobeyed my commandement.

7 And thou shalt declare vnto them, that they prepare for me the land and the water: for I will goe forth in my wrath against them: and will couer the whole face of the earth with the feet of mine army, and I will giue them as a spoile vnto them,

8 So that their wounded shall fill their valleys, and their riuers, and the flood shall overflow, being filled with their dead.

9 And I will bring their captiuitie to the remotest parts of all the earth.

10 Thou therefore shalt depart hence, and take vp for me al their countrey: and if they yeld vnto thee, thou shalt reserue them for me vntill the day that I rebuke them.

11 But concerning them that rebell, let not thine eye spare them, but put them to death, and spoile them wheresoeuer thou goest.

12 For as I liue, and the power of my kingdom, whatsoeuer I haue spoken, that wil I doe by mine hand, 13 And take thou heed that thou transgresse not any of the commandements of thy lord, but accomplish them fully, as I haue commanded thee, and deferre not to doe them.

14 ¶ Then Olofernes went forth from the presence of his lord, and called all the gouernors, and captaines, and officers of the army of Assur.

15 And hee mustered the chosen men for the battell, as his lord had commanded him, vnto an hundred and twenty thousand, & twelue thousand archers on horsebacke.

16 And hee set them in aray according to the manner of setting a great army in aray.

17 And hee tooke camels and asses for their burdens, a very great number, and sheepe, and oxen, and goates without number for their provision,

18 And vitaille for euery man of the army, and very much gold & siluer out of the kings house.

19 Then he went forth and all his power, to goe before in the voyage of king Nabuchodonosor, and to couer all the face of the earth Westward, with their charets and horsemen, and chosen footmen.

20 A great multitude also of sundry sorts came with them like grasshoppers, and like the grauel of the earth: for the multitude was without number.

21 And they went forth of Nineue three daies journey toward the countrey of Beccileth, and pitched from Beccileth neere the mountainie which is on the left hand of the vpper Cilicia.

22 Then hee tooke all his armie, his footmen and horsemen, and charets, and went from thence into the mountainies.

23 And hee destroyed Phud and Lud, and spoiled all the children of Rassas, and the children of Ismael, which were toward the wilderness at the South of the Chelians.

24 Then he went ouer Euphrates, and went thorow Mesopotamia, and destroyed all the high cities that were vpon the riuer of Arbonat, vntill one come to the sea.

25 And he tooke the borders of Cilicia, and destroyed all that resisted him, and came to the borders of Iapheth, which were toward the South, and ouer against Arabia.

26 He compassed also all the children of Madian, and burnt vp their tabernacles, and spoiled their lodges.

27 Then he went downe into the countrey of Damascus, in the time of wheate harvest, and burnt vp all their fields, & destroyed their flocks and the herds: he robbed their cities, and spoiled their countrey, and smote all their yong men with the edge of the sword.

28 Therefore feare and trembling fell vpon all the inhabitants of the Sea coast which were in Eldon and Tyzus, and them that dwell in Sur and Ocina, and all that dwell in Iunnaan: and they that dwell in Azotus and Alcalon, feared him greatly.

CHAP. III.

The people subiect to Olofernes. 3 Hee destroyed their gods, that Nabuchodonosor might onely bee worshipped.

¶ They sent ambassadours to him with messages of peace, saying,

2 Behold, we are the seruants of Nabuchodonosor the great King: wee lie downe before thee: vse vs as shall be good in thy sight.

3 Behold, our houses and all our places, and all our fields of wheate, and our flocks and our herds, and all our lodges and tabernacles lie before thy face: vse them as it pleaseth thee.

4 Behold, euen our cities & the inhabitants thereof are thy seruants: come, and take them, as seemeth good to thee.

5 ¶ So the men came to Olofernes, and declared vnto them after this maner.

6 Then came he downe toward the sea coast, both he and his army, and set garisons in the high cities, and tooke out of them chosen men for the warre.

7 So they and all the countrey round about receiued them with crownes, and daunces, and with timbrels.

8 Yet he brake downe all their borders, and cut downe their woods: for it was enioyned him to destroy all the gods of the land, that all nations should worship Nabuchodonosor only, and that all tongues and tribes should call vpon him as God.

9 Also he came against Chazaelon, neere vnto Iudea, ouer against the great frait of Iudea.

10 And he pitched betweene Geba, and a cite of the Scythians, and there he taried a moneth, that he might assemble all the baggage of his armie.

CHAP. IIII.

The Israelites were afraid, and defended their countrey. 6 Joacim the Priest writeth to Bethulia, that they should fortifie themselves. 9 They cried to the Lord, and humbled themselves before him.

¶ Now the children of Israel that dwell in Iudea, heard all that Olofernes the chiefe captaine of Nabuchodonosor king of the Assyrians had done to the nations, and how hee had spoiled all their temples, and brought them to nought.

2 Therefore they feared greatly his presence, and were troubled for Ierusalem, and for the Temple of the Lord their God.

3 For they were newly returned from the captiuitie, and of late all the people was assembled.

assembled in Judea, and the vessels and the altar of the house had been sanctified because of the pollution.

4 Therefore they sent into all the coasts of Samaria, and the villages, and to Bethora, and Belmen, and Jericho, and to Choba, and Elora, and to the valley of Salem.

5 And took all the tops of the high mountaintains, & walled the villages that were in them, and put in vitallies for the provision of warre: for their fields were of late reaped.

6 Also Joacim the hie Priest which was in those dayes in Jerusalem, wrote to them that dwell in Bethulia and Beromestham, which is ouer against Chozraelou, toward the open countrey nere to Dothaim;

7 Erhorting them to keepe the passages of the mountaintains: for by them there was an entry into Judea, and it was easie to let them that would come by, because the passage was strait for two men at the most.

8 And the children of Israel did as Joacim the hie Priest had commanded them with the ancients of all the people of Israel which dwell at Jerusalem.

9 Then cryed every man of Israel to God with great feruency, and their soules with great affection,

10 Both they, and their wiues, and their children, and their cattell, and every stranger, and hireling, and their bought servants put sackcloth vpon their loynes.

11 Thus every man and woman, and the children, and the inhabitants of Jerusalem fell before the Temple, and sprinkled ashes vpon their heads, and spread out their sackcloth before the face of the Lord: also they put sackcloth about the altar.

12 And cryed to the God of Israel, all with one consent most earnestly, that hee would not giue their children for a pray, and their wiues for a spoile, and the cities of their inheritance to destruction, and the Sanctuary to pollution and reproach, and vnto derision to the heathen.

13 So God heard their prayers, and looked vpon their affliction: for the people fasted many dayes in all Judea and Jerusalem before the Sanctuary of the Lord Almighty.

14 And Joacim the hie Priest, and all the Priests that stood before the Lord, and ministered vnto the Lord, had their loynes girt with sackcloth, and offered the continuall burnt offering, with prayers, and the free giftes of the people.

15 And had ashes on their mitres, and cryed vnto the Lord with all their power for grace, and that he would looke vpon all the house of Israel.

C H A P. V.

Achior the Ammonite doeth declare to Olofernes of the manner of the Israelites.

Then was it declared to Olofernes the chiefe captaine of the armie of Assur, that the children of Israel had prepared for warre, and had shut the passages of the mountaintains, and had walled all the tops of the high hills, and had laid impediments in the champion countrey.

2 Wherewith hee was very angry, and called all the Princes of Moab, and the captaines of Ammon, and all the gouernours of the sea coast.

3 And he sayd vnto them, Shew me, I see sonnes of Chanaan, Who is this people that dweller in the mountaintains: and what are the cities that they inhabite: and what is the multitude of their armie: and wherein is their strength and their power: and what King or captaine is raised among them ouer their armie:

4 And why haue they determined not to come to mee me, more then all the inhabitants of the West?

5 Then said Achior the captaine of all the sonnes of Ammon, Let my lord heare the word of the mouth of his servant, and I will declare vnto thee the trueth concerning this people that dwell in these mountaintains, nere where thou remainest: and there shall noise come out of the mouth of thy servant. Chap. 11. 7, 8

6 This people come of the stocke of the Chaldeans.

7 And they dwell before in Mesopotamia, because they would not follow the gods of their fathers, which were in the land of Chaldea. Gen. 11. 31

8 But they went out of the way of their ancestors, and worshipped the God of heauen, the God whom they knewe: so they cast them out from the face of their gods, and they fled into Mesopotamia, and sojourned there many dayes.

9 Then their God commanded them to depart from the place where they sojourned, and to goe into the land of Chanaan, where they dwell, and were increased with golde, and siluer, and with very much cattell. Gen. 12. 1.

10 But when a famine couered all the land of Chanaan, they went downe into Egypt, and dwell there till they returned, and became there a great multitude, so that one could not number their lineage.

11 Therefore the king of Egypt rose vp against them, and bled deceit against them, and brought them low with labouring in buicke, and made them slaues. Exod. 1. 8.

12 Then they cryed vnto their God, and hee smote all the lande of Egypt with incurable plagues: so the Egyptians cast them out of their sight. Exod. 12. 31, 32.

13 And God dyed the red sea in their presence, Exod. 14. 21

14 And brought them into mount Sina and Cades Barnea, and cast forth all that dwell in the wilderness. Exod. 19. 1.

15 So they dwell in the land of the Amorites, and they destroyed by their strength all them of Elebon, and passing ouer Iordau, they inherited all the mountaintains.

16 And they cast forth before them the Chanaanites, and the Pherelites, and the Jebusites, and them of Sichem, and all the Gergites, and they dwell in that countrey many dayes. Judg. 1. 2. 8.

17 And whyles they sinned not before their God, they prospered, because the God that hated iniquitie was with them.

18 But when they departed from the way which hee appointed them, they were destroyed in many battels after a wonderfull sort, and were ledde captiues into a lande that was not theirs: and the Temple of their God was Indg. 2. 1. 1. and 3. 8. 2. King. 25. 1, 11.

was cast to the ground, and these cities were taken by the enemies.

Eccl. 1. 1, 3.

19 But now they are turned to their God, and are come by from the scattering wherein they were scattered, and have possessed Hierusalem, where their Temple is, and dwell in the mountaines which were desolate.

20 Now therefore, my lord and gouernour, if there be any fault in this people, so that they haue sinned against their God, let vs consider that this shall be their ruine, and let vs goe by, and we shall ouercome them.

21 But if there be none iniquitie in this people, let my lord passe by, lest their Lord defend them, and their God be for them, and we become a reprobch before all the world.

22 And when Achior had finished these sayings, all the people, standing round about the tent, murmured: and the chieftemen of Olofernes, and all that dwelt by the sea side, and in Moab, spake that he should kill him.

23 For, say they, we feare not to meet the children of Israel: for loe, it is a people that haue no strength nor power against a mightie armie.

24 Let vs therefore go by, O lord Olofernes, and they shall be meate for thy whole armie.

CHAP. VI.

Olofernes blasphemeth God whom Achior confessed.

14 Achior is deliuered into the hands of them of Bethulia. 18 The Bethulians cry vnto the Lord.

And when the tumult of the men that were about the counsel was ceased, Olofernes the chiefe captaine of the armie of Assur, sayd vnto Achior before all the people of the strangers, and before all the children of Moab, & of them that were hired of Ephraim,

2 Because thou hast prophesied among vs to day, and hast said that the people of Jerusalem is able to fight, * because their God will defend them: and who is god but Nabuchodonosor?

3 He will send his power, and will destroy them from the face of the earth, and their God shall not deliuer them: but we his seruants will destroy them as one man: for they are not able to susteine the power of our horses.

4 For wee will tread them vnder feet with them, and their mountaines shall bee drunken with their blood, and their fields shall bee filled with their dead bodie, and their footsteps shall not be able to stand before vs: but they shall utterly perish.

5 The king Nabuchodonosor, lord of all the earth hath sayd, euen he hath sayd, None of my words shall be in vaine.

6 And thou Achior an hireling of Ammon, because thou hast spoken these words, in the day of thine iniquitie, thou shalt see my face no more from this day, vntill I take vengeance of that people that is come out of Egypt.

7 And then shall the yron of mine armie, and the multitude of them that serue mee passe thorough thy sides, and thou shalt fall among their slaine, when I shall put them to flight.

8 And my seruants shall carry thee into the mountaines, and they shall leaue thee at one of the hie cities: but thou shalt not perish, till thou be destroyed with them.

9 And if thou perswade thy selfe in thy mind, that they shall not be taken, let not thy countenance fall: I haue spoken it, and none of my words shall be in vaine.

10 Then commanded Olofernes them concerning Achior, that they should bring him to Bethulia, and deliuer him into the hands of the children of Israel.

11 So his seruants tooke him, and brought him out of the campe into the plaine: and they went out from the middes of the plaine into the mountaines, and came vnto the fountaines that were vnder Bethulia.

12 And when the men of the citie saw them from the top of the mountaine, they tooke their armour, and went forth of the citie vnto the top of the mountaine, euen all the throwers with slings, and kept them from coming by, by casting stones against them.

13 But they went priuily vnder the hill, and bound Achior, and left him lying at the foote of the hill, and returned to their lord.

14 Then the Israelites came downe from their citie, and stood about him, and loosed him and brought him into Bethulia, and presented him to the gouernours of their citie,

15 Which were in those dayes Ozias the sonne of Michas, of the tribe of Simeon, & Chabris the sonne of Gothoniell, and Charmis the sonne of Metichiel.

16 And they called together all the ancients of the citie, and all their youth ran together, and their women to the assembly: and they set Achior in the mids of all their people. Then Ozias asked him of that which was done.

17 And he answered and declared vnto them the words of the counsell of Olofernes, and all the words that hee had spoken in the middes of the princes of Assur, and whatsoever Olofernes had spoken proudly against the house of Israel.

18 Then the people fell downe and worshipped God, and cryed vnto God, saying, 19 O Lord God of heauen, behold their pride, and haue mercie on the basenesse of our people, and behold this day the face of those that are sanctified vnto thee.

20 Then they comforted Achior, and praised him greatly.

21 And Ozias tooke him out of the assembly into his house, and made a feast to the Elders, and they called on the God of Israel all that night for helpe.

CHAP. VII.

1 Olofernes doeth besiege Bethulia. 8 The counsell of the Idumeans and others against the Israelites. 23 The Bethulians murmure against their gouernours for lacke of water.

The next day Olofernes commanded all his armie and all his people, which were come to take his part, that they should remooue their camps against Bethulia, and that they should take all the streets of the hill, and to make warre against the children of Israel.

2 Then their strong men remooued their camps in that day, and the armie of the men of warre was an hundred thousand and seuentie footmen, and twelue thousand horsemen, beside the baggage and other men that were were ascote among them, a very great multitude.

3 And they camped in the plaine neere unto Bethulia, by the fountaine, and they spread abroad toward Dothaim unto Belbain, and in length from Bethulia unto Giamon, which is ouer against Elothaelom.

4 Now the children of Israel, when they saw the multitude, were greatly troubled, and sayd every one to his neighbour, Now will they shut vp all the whole earth: for neither the hie mountaines, nor the valleys, nor the hills are able to abide their burden.

5 Then every one tooke his weapons of warre, and burning fires in their towers, they remained and watched all that night.

6 But in the second day Olofernes brought forth all his hosten in the sight of the children of Israel, which were in Bethulia,

7 And viewed the passages vp to their citie, and came to the fountaines of their waters, and tooke them, and let garlions of men of warre ouer them, and remooued towards his people.

8 Then came unto him all the chiefe of the children of Esaus, and all the gouernours of the people of Moab, and all the captaines of the sea coast, and said, 9 Let our captaine now heare a word, lest an inconuenience come in thine armie.

10 For this people of the children of Israel doe not trust in their speares, but in the height of the mountaines, wherein they dwell, because it is not easie to come vp to the tops of their mountaines.

11 Now therefore my lord, fight not against them in battell aray, and there shall not so much as one man of thy people perish.

12 Remaine in thy campe, and keepe all the men of thine armie, and let thy men keepe still the water of the countrey that cometh forth at the foote of the mountaine.

13 For all the inhabitants of Bethulia haue their water thereof: so shall thirst kill them, and they shall giue vp their citie: and wee and our people will goe vp to the toppes of the mountaines that are neere, and will campe vpon them, and watch that none goe out of the citie.

14 So they and their wines, and their children shall be consumed with famine, and before the sword come against them, they shall bee ouerthrowen in the streetes where they dwell.

15 Thus shalt thou render them an euill reward, because they rebelled and obeyed not thy person peaceably.

16 And these wordes pleased Olofernes and all his souldiers, and he appointed to doe as they had spoken.

17 So the campe of the children of Ammon departed, and with them five thousand of the Assyrians, and they pitched in the valley, and tooke the waters, and the fountaines of the waters of the children of Israel.

18 Then the children of Esaus went vp with the children of Ammon, and camped in the mountaines ouer against Dothaim, and they sent some of themselves toward the South, and toward the East, ouer against Rebel, which is neere unto Chusi, that is vpon the riuer Mochemur: and the rest of the armie of the Assyrians camped in the field, and covered the whole land: for their tents and their baggage were pitched in a wonderfull great place.

19 Then the children of Israel cryed vnto the Lord their God, because their heart failed: for all their enemies had compassed them about, and there was no way to escape out from among them.

20 Thus all the company of Assur remained about them, both their footemen, chariots and horsemen, foure and thirtie dayes: so that euen all the places of their waters failed all the inhabitants of Bethulia.

21 And the cisternes were emptie, and they had not water enough to drinke for one day: for they gaue them to drinke by measure.

22 Therefore their children swooned, and their wines and young men failed for thirst, and fell downe in the streetes of the citie, and by the passages of the gates, and there was no strength in them.

23 Then all the people assembled to Dzas, and to the chiefe of the citie, both yong men and women and children, and cryed with a loude voyce, and said before all the Elders, 24 The Lord iudge betweene vs and you: Exod. 5. 23. for you haue done vs great iniurie, in that yee haue not required peace of the children of Assur.

25 For now wee haue no helper: but God hath sold vs into their hands, that wee should be throwen downe before them with thirst and great destruction.

26 Now therefore call them together, and deliuer the whole city for a spoyle to the people of Olofernes, and to all his armie.

27 For it is better for vs to be made a spoyle vnto them, then to die for thirst: for we will be his seruants, that we may liue, and not see the death of our infants before our eyes, nor our wines, nor our children to die.

28 We take to witness against you, the heauen and the earth, and our God and Lord of our fathers, which punisheth vs according to our finnes, and the finnes of our fathers, that he lay not these things to our charge.

29 Then there was a great crie of all with one consent in the middes of the assembly, and they cryed vnto the Lord God with a loude voyce.

30 Then said Dzas to them, Brethren, be of good courage: let vs waite yet fise dayes, in the which space the Lord our God may turne his mercy toward vs: for he will not forsake vs in the end.

31 And if these dayes passe, and there come not helpe vnto vs, I will doe according to your word.

32 So he separated the people, euery one vnto their charge, and they went vnto the walles and towres of their citie, and sent their wines and their children into their houses, and they were very low brought in the city.

CHAP. VIII.

The parentage, life, and conuersation of Iudeth. 11 Shee rebuketh the faintnesse of the Gouernours. 12 Shee sheweth that they should not tempt God, but waite vpon him for succour. 33 Her enterprise against the enemies.

Now

Now at that time Judeth heard thereof, which was the daughter of Merari, the sonne of Oz, the sonne of Joseph, the sonne of Ozziel, the sonne of Elcia, the sonne of Ananias, the sonne of Gedeon, the sonne of Raphaim, the sonne of Acito, the sonne of Eliu, the sonne of Eliab, the sonne of Nathanael, the sonne of Samael, the sonne of Salaladai, the sonne of Israel.

2 And Manasses was her husband, of her stocke and kindred, who died in the barley harvest.

3 For as hee was diligent over them that bound sheaves in the field, the heate came vpon his head, and he fell vpon his bed, and died in the city of Bethulia, and they buried him with his fathers in the field betwene Dorbaim and Salamo.

4 So Judeth was in her house a widow three yeeres and foure moneths.

5 And she made her a tent vpon her house, and put on sackcloth on her loines, and ware her widowes apparell.

6 And she fasted all the dayes of her widowhood, saue the day before the Sabbath, and the Sabbaths, and the day before the new moones, and in the feasts and solemne dayes of the house of Israel.

7 She was also of a goodly countenance, and very beautifull to behold: and her husband Manasses had left her gold and silver, and men seruants, and maid seruants, and cattell, and possessions where she remained.

8 And there was none that could bring an euill report of her: for she feared God greatly.

9 Now when she heard the euill words of the people against the gouernour, because they fainted for lacke of waters (for Judeth had heard all the words that Ozias had spoken vnto them, and that he had ^{two}woyne vnto them to deliuer the city vnto the Assyrians within five dayes.)

10 Then she sent her maide that had the gouernment of all things that she had, to call Ozias and Chabris and Charinis the ancients of the city.

11 And they came vnto her, and she sayd vnto them, Heare me, O ye gouernours of the inhabitants of Bethulia: for your words that ye haue spoken before the people this day, are not right, touching this othe which ye made and pronounced betwene God and you, and haue promised to deliuer the city to the enemies, vnlesse within these dayes the Lord turne to help you.

12 And now who are you that haue tempted God this day, and set your selues in the place of God among the children of men?

13 So now ye seeke the Lord Almighty, but you shall neuer know any thing.

14 For you cannot finde out the depth of the heart of man, neither can ye perceiue the things that he thinketh: then how can you search out God that hath made all these things, and know his minde, or comprehend his purpose? Nay my brethren, prouoke not the Lord our God to anger.

15 For if he will not helpe vs within these five dayes, he hath power to defend vs, when he will, euen euery day, or to destroy vs before our enemies.

16 Doe not you therefore binde the counsels of the Lord our God: for God is not as man that he may be threatened, neither as the sonne of man to be brought to iudgement.

17 Therefore let vs wait for saluation of him, and call vpon him to helpe vs, and he will heare our voyce if it please him.

18 For there appeareth none in our age, neither is there any now in these dayes, neither tribe, nor family, nor people, nor city among vs, which worship the gods made with hands, as hath bene aforesaid.

19 For the which cause our fathers were giuen to the sword, and for a spoile, & had a great fall before our enemies. Judg. 3. 11. and 4. 1. and 6. 1.

20 But we know none other God: therefore we trust that he will not despise vs, nor any of our lineage.

21 Neither when we shall be taken, shall Iudea be so famous: for our Sanctuary shall be spoiled, and he will require the propitiacion thereof at our mouth.

22 And the feare of our brethren, and the captivity of the countrey, and the desolation of our inheritance will he turne vpon our heads among the Gentiles, where soeuer we shalbe in bondage, and wee shall be an offence and a reproch to all them that possesse vs.

23 For our seruitude shall not be directed by fauour, but the Lord our God shall turne it to dishonour.

24 Now therefore, O brethren, let vs shew an example to our brethren, because their hearts depend vpon vs, and the Sanctuary, and the House, and the Altar rest vpon vs.

25 Moreover, let vs giue thanks to the Lord our God, which trieth vs euen as he did our fathers.

26 Remember what things hee did to Abraham, and how hee tried Isaac, and all that hee did to Jacob in Mesopotamia of Syria when hee kept the sheepe of Laban his mothers brother. Gen. 22. 1. Gen. 28. 7.

27 For he hath not tried vs as he did them to the examination of their hearts, neither doeth hee take vengeance on vs, but the Lord punisheth for instruction them that come nere to him.

28 Then said Ozias to her, All that thou hast spoken, hast thou spoken with a good heart, and there is none that is able to resist thy words.

29 For it is not to day that thy wisdom is known, but from the beginning of thy life all the people haue known thy wisdom: for the deuice of thine heart is good.

30 But the people were very chafte, & compelled vs to doe vnto them as we haue spoken, and haue brought vs to an othe, which wee may not transgresse.

31 Therefore now pray for vs, because thou art an holy woman, that the Lord may lend vs raine to fill our cisternes, and that we may faint no more.

32 Then said Judeth vnto them, Heare me, and I will doe a thing which shall be declared in all generations, to the children of our nation.

33 You shall stand this night in the gate, and I will goe forth with mine handmaid: and within the dayes that ye haue promised to deliuer the cite to our enemies, the Lord will visit Israel by mine hand.

24 But enquire not you of mine acte: for I wil not declare it vnto you, till the things be finished that I doe.

25 Then said Ozias and the princes vnto her, Goe in peace, and the Lord God goe before thee, to take vengeance on our enemies.

26 So they returned from the tent, and went to their wards.

CHAP. IX.

1 Judeth humbleth her selfe before the Lord, and maketh her prayers for the deliuerance of her people.
7 Against the pride of the Assyrians. 11 God is the helpe of the humble.

Then Judeth fell vpon her face, and put ashes vpon her head, & put off the sackcloth where-with she was clothed. And about the time that the incense of the evening was offered in Jerusalem in the house of the Lord, Judeth cried with a lowd voyce, and said.

2 O Lord God of my father * Simeon, to whom thou gauest a sword to take vengeance of the strangers which opened the wombe of the maid and defiled her, and discovered the thigh with shame, and polluted the wombe to reproch (for thou hadst commanded that it should not so be,

3 Yet they did things for the which thou gauest their princes to the slaughter, for they were deceiued and washed their beds with blood) and hast stricken the seruants with the gouernours, and the gouernours vpon their thrones,

4 And hast giuen their wiues for a pray, and their daughters to bee captiues, and all their spoiles for a bottie to the children that thou louedst: which were moued with thy zeale, and abhorred the pollution of their blood, and called vpon thee for ayde, O God, O my God, heare me also a widow.

5 For thou hast wrought the things afore, and these, and the things that shall be after, and thou considerest the things that are present, and the things that are to come.

6 For the things which thou doest purpose, are present, and say, Behold, we are here: for all thy wayes are ready, and thy iudgements are foreknownen.

7 Behold, the Assyrians are multiplied by their power: they haue exalted themselves with horses and horsemen: they glorie in the strength of their footmen, they trust in shield, speare, and bow, and sling, and doe not know that thou art the Lord that breakest the battels: the Lord is thy Name.

8 Breake thou their strength by thy power, and breake their force by thy wrath: for they haue purposed to defile thy Sanctuary, and to pollute the Tabernacle where thy glorious Name resteth, and to cast downe with weapons the hoines of the Altar.

9 Behold their pride, and send thy wrath vpon their heads: giue into mine hand which am a widow, the strength that I haue conueined.

10 * Smite by the deceit of my lips, the seruant with the prince, and the prince with the seruant: abate their height by the hand of a woman.

11 * For thy power standeth not in the multitude, nor thy might in strong men: but thou, O Lord, art the helpe of the humble and litle ones, the defender of the weake, and the protectour of them that are forsaken, and the sanitor of them that are without hope.

12 Surely, surely thou art the God of my father and the God of the inheritance of Israel, the Lord of heauen and earth, the Creatour of the waters, the king of all creatures: heare thou my prayer.

13 And graunt mee wordes and craft, and a wound, and a stroke against them that enterpryse cruell things against thy Couenant, and against thine holy House, and against the top of Ston, and against the house of the possession of thy children.

14 Shew euidently among al thy people, and all the tribes, that they may know that thou art the God of all power and strength, and that there is none other that defendeth the people of Israel but thou.

CHAP. X.

1 Judeth dooth her selfe, and goeth forth of the cite. 11 She is taken of the watch of the Assyrians, and brought to Olofernes.

Now after she had ceased to cry vnto the God of Israel, and had made an end of all these wordes,

2 She rose where she had fallen downe, and called her maid, and went downe into the house in the which she abode in the Sabbath dayes, and in the feast dayes,

3 And putting away the sackcloth where-with she was clad, and putting off the garments of her widowhood, she washed her body with water, and anointed it with much ointment, and dressed the haire of her head, and put attire vpon it, and put on her garments of gladnesse, where-with she was clad, during the life of Manasses her husband.

4 And she put slippers on her feete, and put on bracelets, and sleeves and rings, and eare-rings, and all her ornaments, and she decked her selfe brauely, to allure the eyes of all men that should see her.

5 Then she gaue her maide a bottle of wine, and a pot of oyle, and filled a scrip with flowre, and with dry figs, and with fine bread, so she lapped vp all these things together, and laid them vpon her.

6 Thus they went forth to the gate of the city of Bethulia, and found standing there Ozias, and the Ancients of the cite, Chabris and Charms.

7 And when they saw her, that her face was changed, and that her garment was changed, they marvelled greatly at her wonderfull beautie, and said vnto her,

8 The God, the God of our fathers giue thee fauour, and accomplish thine enterprises to the glory of the children of Israel, and to the exaltation of Jerusalem. Then they worshipped God.

9 And she said vnto them, Commaund the gates of the city to bee opened vnto me, that I may goe forth to accomplish the things which you haue spoken to me. So they commaunded the young men to open vnto her, as she had spoken.

10 And when they had done so, Iudeth went out, she, and her mayd with her, and the men of the citie looked after her, untill shee were gone downe the mountaine, and till she had passed the valley, and could see her no more.

11 Thus they went straight forth in the valley, and the first watch of the Assyrians met her.

12 And tooke her, and asked her, Of what people art thou? and whence comest thou? and whither goest thou? And shee said, I am a woman of the Hebrewes, and am fled from them: for they shall bee giuen you to bee consumed.

13 And I come before Olofernes the chiefe captaine of your army, to declare him true things, and I will shewe before him the way whereby he shall goe and winne all the mountaines, without losing the body or life of any of his men.

14 Now when the men heard her words, and beheld her countenance, they wondered greatly at her beauty, and said vnto her,

15 Thou hast saued thy life, in that thou hast hastened to come downe to the presence of our lord, now therefore come to his tent, and some of vs shall conduct thee vntil they haue deliuered thee into his hands.

16 And when thou standest before him, bee not afraid in thine heart, but shew vnto him according as thou hast to say, and he will entreat thee well.

17 Then they chose out of them an hundred men, and prepared a charit for her and her mayd, and brought her to the tent of Olofernes.

18 Then there was a running to and fro thoroughout the camp: for her coming was bruit among the tents: and they came and stood round about her: for she stood without the tent of Olofernes, vntil they had declared vnto him concerning her.

19 And they marvelled at her beaultie, and wondered at the children of Israel, because of her, and every one said vnto his neighbour, Who would despise this people, that haue among them such women? surely it is not good that one man of them be left: for if they should remaine, they might dectine the whole earth.

20 Then Olofernes garde went out, and all his seruants, and they brought her into the tent.

21 Now Olofernes rested vpon his bed vnder a canopie, which was woven with purple and golde and Emeraudes, and precious stones.

22 So they shewed him of her, and hee came forth vnto the entry of his tent, and they caried lampes of silver before him.

23 And when Iudeth was come before him, and his seruants, they all marvelled at the beaultie of her countenance, and she fell downe vpon her face, and did reuerence vnto him, and his seruants tooke her by.

CHAP. XL

1 Olofernes comforteth Iudeth, 3 and asketh the cause of her coming. 5 Shee deceiveth him by her faire words.

Then said Olofernes vnto her, Woman, bee of good comfort: feare not in thine heart: for

I neuer hurt any that would serue Nabuchodonosor the king of all the earth.

2 Now therefore if thy people that dweller in the mountaines, had not despised mee, I would not haue lifted by my speare against them: but they haue procured these things to themselves.

3 But now tell mee wherefore thou art fled from them, and art come vnto vs: for thou art come for safegard: be of good comfort, thou shalt liue from this night, and hereafter.

4 For none shall hurt thee, but intreat thee well, as they doe the seruants of king Nabuchodonosor my lord.

5 Then Iudeth sayd vnto him, Receiue the words of thy seruant, and suffer thine handmaid to speake in thy presence, and I will declare no lye to my lord this night.

6 And if thou wilt follow the words of thine handmaid, God will bring the thing perfectly to passe by thee, and my lord shall not faile of his purpose.

7 As Nabuchodonosor King of all the earth liueth, and as his power is of force, who hath sent thee to reforme all persons, not onely men shall bee made subiect to him by thee, but also the beastes of the fieldes, and the cattell, and the foules of the heauen shall liue by thy power vnder Nabuchodonosor and all his house.

8 For we haue heard of thy wisdom and of thy prudent spirit, and it is declared through the whole earth, that thou onely art excellent in all the kingdome, and of a wonderfull knowledge, and in the feates of warre marvellous.

9 Now as concerning the matter whiche Achior did speake in thy counsell, we haue heard his wordes: for the men of Bethulia did take him, and he declared vnto them all that he had spoken vnto thee.

Chap. 5.5.

10 Therefore, O lord and gouernour, rect not his word, but set it in thine heart, for it is true: for there is no punishment against our people, neither can the sword preuaile against them, except they sinne against their God.

11 Now therefore lest my lord should be frustrate, and void of his purpose, and that death may fall vpon them, and that they may be taken in their sinne whiles they prouoke their God to anger, which is so oft times as they do that which is not becoming,

12 (For because their vitalles faile, and all their water is wasted, they haue determined to take their cattell, and haue purposed to consume all things that God had forbidden them to eate by his Lawes:

13 Yea, they haue purposed to consume the first fruits of the wheate, and the tithes of the wine, and of the oyle which they had referred and sanctified for the Priests that serue in Ierusalem before the face of our God: the which things it is not lawfull for any of the people to touch with their hands.

14 Moreover, they haue sent to Ierusalem, because they also that dwell there, haue done the like, such as should bring them licence from the Senate)

15 Now when they shall bring them word, they will doe it, and they shall beginnt thee to be he destroyed the same day.

16 Wherefore I thine handmaide, knowing all this, am fled from their presence, and God hath sent me to worke a thing with thee, whereof all the earth shall wonder, and whosoever shall heare it.

17 For thy servant feareth God, and worshippeth the God of heauen day and night, and now let me remaine with thee, my lord, and let thy servant goe out in the night into the valley, and I will pray vnto God, that he may reuile vnto me when they shall commit their sinnes.

18 And I will come and shew it vnto thee: then thou shalt goe forth with all thine armie, and there shall bee none of them that shall resist thee.

19 And I will lead thee through the mids of Judea, vntill thou come before Jerusalem, and I will set thy throne in the middes thereof, and thou shalt drine them as sheepe that haue no shepheard, and a dogge shall not barke with his mouth against thee: for these things haue bene spoken vnto mee, and declared vnto me according to my foreknowledge, and I am sent to shew thee.

20 Then her words pleased Olofernes, and all his seruants, and they maruelled at her wisdom, and said, 21 There is not such a woman in all the world, both for beautie of face, and wisdom of words.

22 Likewise Olofernes said vnto her, God hath done this, to send thee before the people, that strength might be in our hands, and destruction vpon them that despise my lord.

23 And now thou art both beautifull in thy countenance, and wittie in thy words: surely if thou doe as thou hast spoken, thy God shall be my God, and thou shalt dwell in the house of Nabuchodonosor, & shalt be renowned throughout the whole earth.

CHAP. XII.

2 Judith would not pollute her selfe with the meate of the Gentiles: 3 Shee maketh her request that she might go out by night to pray. 11 Olofernes causeth her to come to the banquet.

Then hee commaunded to bring her in where his treasures were laid, and bade that they should prepare for her of his owne meates, and that she should drinke of his owne wine.

2 But Judith sayde, I may not eate of them, least there should bee an offence, but I can suffice my selfe with the things that I haue brought.

3 Then Olofernes sayde vnto her, If the things that thou hast, should faile, how should we giue thee the like: for there is none with vs of thy nation.

4 Then said Judith vnto him, As thy soule liueth, my lord, thine handmaide shall not spend those things that I haue, before the Lord worke by mine hand the things that hee hath determined.

5 Then the seruants of Olofernes brought her into the tent, and shee slept vntill midnight, and arose at the morning watch,

6 And sent to Olofernes, saying, Let my lord command that thy handmaide may goe forth vnto prayer.

7 Then Olofernes commaunded his garde that they should not stay her: thus shee abode in the campe three dayes, and went out in the night vnto the valley of Bethulia, and washed her selfe in a fountaine, euen in the water by the campe.

8 And when shee came out, shee prayed vnto the Lord God of Israel, that he would direct her way to the exaltation of the children of her people.

9 So she returned and remained pure in the tent, vntill she ate her meate at euening.

10 And in the fourth day Olofernes made a feast to his owne seruants onely, and called none of them to the banquet, that had the affaires in hand.

11 Then said he to Bagoas the eunuch who had charge ouer all that he had, Goe and perswade this Hebrew woman which is with thee, that shee come vnto vs, and eate and drinke with vs.

12 For it were a shame for vs, if we should let such a woman alone, and not talke with her, and if we doe not allure her, she will mocke vs.

13 Then went Bagoas from the presence of Olofernes, and came to her, and said, Let not this faire maide make difficultie to goe in to my lord, and to be honoured in his presence, and to drinke wine with vs ioyfully, and to be intreated as one of the daughters of the children of Assur, which remaine in the house of Nabuchodonosor.

14 Then said Judith vnto him, Who am I now, that I should gaine say my lord: Surely whatsoeuer pleasech him, I will doe speedily, and it shall be my ioy vnto the day of my death.

15 So shee arose and trimmed her with garments, and with all the ornaments of women, and her maids went, and spread forth her skinnies on the ground ouer against Olofernes, which shee had receiued of Bagoas for her dayly use, that she might sit and eate vpon them.

16 Now when Judith came and late downe, Olofernes heart was raniished with her, and his spirit was moued, and hee desired greatly her company: for hee had waited for the time to deceiue her from the day that hee had scene her.

17 Then sayd Olofernes vnto her, Drinke now and be merry with vs.

18 So Judith sayd, I drinke now, my lord, because my state is exalted this day more then euer it was since I was borne.

19 Then she tooke and ate, and dranke before him the things that her maide had prepared.

20 And Olofernes reioyced because of her, and dranke much more wine then he had drunke at any time in one day since he was borne.

CHAP. XIII.

4 Judith prayeth for strength. 8 Shee smiteth off Olofernes necke. 10 Shee returneth to Bethulia and reioyceth her people.

Now when the euening was come, his seruants made haste to depart, and Bagoas shut his tent without, and dismissed those that were present, from the presence of his lord, and they went to their beds: for they were al weary because the feast had bene long.

2 And Judeth was left alone in the tent, and Olofernes was stretched along upon his bed: for he was filled with wine.

3 Now Judeth had commaunded her maide to stand without her chamber, and to waite for her coming forth as she did daily: for she said, she would goe forth to her prayers, and she spake to Bagoas according to the same purpose.

4 So all went forth in her presence, and none was left in the chamber neither little nor great: then Judeth standing by his bed, said in her heart, O Lord God of all power, behold at this present the workes of mine hands for the exaltation of Jerusalem.

5 For now is the time to helpe thine inheritance, and to execute mine enterprises, to the destruction of the enemies which are risen against vs.

6 Then she came to the post of the bed, which was at Olofernes head, and tooke downe his fauchin from thence,

7 And approached to the bed, and tooke holde of the haire of his head, and said, Strengthen me, O Lord God of Israel, this day.

8 And she smote twice vpon his necke with all her might, and she tooke away his head from him, 9 And rolled his body downe from the bed, and pulled downe the canopie from the pillars, and anon after she went forth, and gaue Olofernes head to her maide.

10 And she put it in her scrup of meate: so they twaine went together according to their custome vnto prayer, and preassing through the tents, went about by that valley, and went by the mountaine of Bethulia, and came to the gates thereof.

11 Then said Judeth a far off to the watchmen at the gates, Open now the gate: God, euen our God is with vs to shew his power yet in Jerusalem, and his force against his enemies, as he hath euen done this day.

12 Now when the men of her citie heard her voice, they made haste to goe downe to the gate of their citie, and they called the Elders of the citie.

13 And they ran altogether both small and great: for it was about their expectation, that shee should come. So they opened the gate and receiued her, and made a fire for a light, and stood round about them twaine.

14 Then shee said to them with a loud voice, Praise God, praise God: for hee hath not taken away his mercy from the house of Israel, but hath destroyed our enemies by mine hands this night.

15 So shee tooke the head out of the scrup, and shewed it, and sayde vnto them, Behold the head of Olofernes, the chiefe captaine of the army of Assur, and behold the canopie, wherein hee did lie in his drunkenesse, and the Lord hath smitten him by the hand of a woman.

16 As the Lord liueth, who hath kept mee in my way that I went, my countenance hath decreed him to his destruction, and hee hath not committed sinne with mee by any pollution or villenie.

17 Then all the people were wonderfully astonished, and bowed themselves, and worshipped

God, and said with one accord, Blessed be thou, O our God, which hast this day brought to nought the enemies of thy people.

18 Then said Ozias vnto her, O daughter, blessed art thou of the most hie God aboue all the women of the earth, and blessed be the Lord God which hath created the heauens and the earth, which hath directed thee to the cutting off of the head of the chiefe of our enemies.

19 Surely this thine hope shall neuer depart out of the hearts of men: for they shall remember the power of God for euer.

20 And God turne these things to thee for a perpetuall praise, and visite thee with good things, because thou hast not spared thy life, because of the affliction of our nation, but thou hast holpen our ruine, walking a straight way before our God. And all the people sayd, So be it, so be it.

CHAP. XIII.

1 Judeth causeth to hang vp the head of Olofernes, 10 Achior ioyeth himselfe to the people of God. 11 The Israelites goe out against the Assyrians.

Then sayd Judeth vnto them, Heare mee also my brethren, and take this head, and hang it vpon the highest place of your wals.

2 And so soone as the morning shall appeare, and the Sunne shall come forth vpon the earth, take you euery one his weapons, and goe forth euery valiant man out of the citie, and let you a Captaine ouer them, as though you would goe downe into the field, toward the watch of the Assyrians, but goe not downe.

3 Then they shall take their armour, and shall goe into their campe, and raise vp the captaines of the armie of Assur, and they shall run to the tent of Olofernes, but shall not find him: then feare shall fall vpon them, and they shall flee before your face.

4 So you and all that inhabite the coasts of Israel shall pursue them, and ouerthrow them as they goe.

5 But before you doe these things, call mee Achior the Ammonite that he may see, and know him that despised the house of Israel, and that sent him to vs as to death.

6 Then they called Achior out of the house of Ozias, and when hee was come and saw the head of Olofernes in a certaine mans hand in the assembly of the people, hee fell downe on his face, and his spirit failed.

7 But when they had taken him by, hee fell at Judeths feet, and reuerenced her, and sayd, Blessed art thou in all the Tabernacle of Iuda, and in all nations, which hearing thy name, shall be astonished.

8 Now therefore tell mee all the things, that thou hast done in these dayes. Then Judeth declared vnto him in the mids of the people, all that shee had done from the day that she went forth, vntill that houre shee spake vnto them.

9 And when shee had left of speaking, the people reioyced with a great voyce, and made a noise of gladnesse through their citie.

10 And Achior seeing all things that God had done for Israel, believed in God vnfeignedly, nedly, and circumcised the foreskin of his flesh, and was torped vnto the house of Israel vnto this day.

11 As soon as the morning arose, they hanged the head of Olofernes out at the wall, and every man tooke his weapons, and they went forth by bands vnto the straits of y mountaine.

12 But when the Assyrians saw them, they sent to their captaines, which went vnto the gouernours and chiefe captaines, and to all their rulers, 13 So they came to Olofernes tent, and said to him that had the charge of all his things, Waken our lord: for the slaues haue bene bold to come downe against vs to battell, that they may be destroyed for euer.

14 Then went in Bagoas, and knocked at the doore of the tent: for he thought that he had slept with Iudeth.

15 But because none answered, hee opened it, and went into the chamber, and found him cast vpon the floore, and his head was taken from him.

16 Therefore he cried with a loud voice, with weeping and mourning, and a mighty cry, and rent his garments,

17 After, hee went into the tent of Iudeth, where he vsed to remaine, and found her not: then he leaped out to the people and cried,

18 These slaues haue committed wickednes: one woman of the Hebrews hath brought shame vpon the house of king Nabuchodonosor: for behold, Olofernes lieth vpon the ground without an head, 19 When the captaines of the Assyrians armie heard these words, they rent their coats, and their heart was wonderfully troubled and there was a cry and a very great noise throughout the campe.

CHAP. XV.

1 The Assyrians are afraid and flee. 3 The Israelites pursue them. 8 Ioachim the hie Priest cometh to Bethulia to see Iudeth and to praise God for her.

And when they that were in the tents heard, they were astonished at the thing that was done.

2 And feare and trembling fell vpon them, so that there was no man that durst abide in the sight of his neighbour: but altogether amazed, they fled by every way of the plaine and of the mountaines.

3 They also that had camped in the mountaines round about Bethulia, were put to flight: then the children of Israel, every one that was a warrior among them, rushed out vpon them.

4 Then sent Othias to Bethomaiheim, and to Bebai, and Chobai, and Chola, and to all the coasts of Israel, such as should declare vnto them the things that were done, & that all should rush forth vpon their enemies to destroy them.

5 Now when the children of Israel heard it, they all fell vpon them together vnto Chobai: likewise all other that came from Ierusalem, and from all the mountaines: for men had told them what things were done in the camp of their enemies, and they that were in Galaad, and in Galilee, chased them with a great slaughter, vntill they came to Damascus: & to the coasts thereof.

6 And the residue that dwelt at Bethulia, fell vpon the campe of Assur, and spoiled them, and were greatly enriched.

7 And the children of Israel that returned from the slaughter, had the rest: and the villages and the cities that were in the mountaines and in the plaine, had a great boote, for the abundance was very great.

8 Then Ioachim the hie Priest, and the ancients of the children of Israel that dwelt in Ierusalem, came to confirme the benefits that God had shewed to Israel, and to see Iudeth, and to salute her.

9 And when they came vnto her, they blessed her with one accord, and said vnto her, Thou art the exaltation of Ierusalem: thou art the great glory of Israel: thou art the great rejoycing of our nation.

10 Thou hast done all these things by thine hand: thou hast done much good to Israel, and God is pleased therewith: blessed be thou of the Almighty Lord for euermore: and all the people said, So be it.

11 And the people spoiled the campe the space of thirty dayes, and they gaue vnto Iudeth Olofernes tent, and all his siluer and beds, and basins and all his stuffe, and shee tooke it, and layd it on her mules, and made ready her charrets and layd them thereon.

12 Then all the women of Israel came together to see her, and blessed her, and made a dance among them for her, and shee tooke branches in her hand, and gaue also to the women that were with her.

13 They also crowned her with olives, & her that was with her, and she went before the people in the dance, leading all the women: and all the men of Israel folowed in their armour, with crownes, and with songs in their mouthes.

CHAP. XVI.

Iudeth praiseth God with a song. 19 She offereth to the Lord Olofernes stuffe. 23 Her continencie, life and death. 25 All Israel lamenteth her.

Then Iudeth began this confession in all Israel, and all the people sang this song with a loud voyce.

2 And Iudeth sayd, Begin vnto my God with tembels: sing to my Lord with cymbals: tune vnto him a Psalm: exalt his praise, and call vpon his Name.

3 For God breaketh the battels, and pitched his campe in the mids of his people, and deliuered me out of the hand of the persecuters.

4 Assur came from the mountaines south of the North: hee came with thousands in his armie, whose multitude hath shut by the riuers, and their horsemen haue couered the valleys.

5 He sayd that hee would burne by my borders, and kill my yong men with the sword, and dash the sucking children against the ground, and make mine infants as a pray, and my virgins a spoyle,

6 But the Almighty Lord hath brought them to naught by the hand of a woman.

7 For the mighty did not fall by the yong men, neither did the sonnes of Titan smite him, nor the high Gyants smade him but Iudeth.

Chap. 2. 15.

Judeth the daughter of Merari did discomfit him by the beauty of her countenance.

8 For she put of the garment of her widowhood, for the exaltation of those that were oppressed in Israel, and anointed her face with ointment, and bound up her haire in a colse, & tooke a linnen garment to deceiue him.

9 Her slippers ranished his eyes: her beauty tooke his mind prisoner, and the fauchin passed thorow his necke.

10 The Persians were astonished at her boldnesse, and the Medes were troubled with her hardnesse.

11 But mine afflicted reioyced, and my feeble ones shouted: then they feared, they lifted up their voyce, and turned backe.

12 The children of maids perced them, and wounded them as they fled away like children: they perished by the battell of the Lord.

13 I will sing vnto the Lord a song & praise, O Lord, thou art great and glorious, marueilous and inuincible in power.

14 Let all thy creatures serue thee: * for thou hast spoken, and they were made: thou hast sent thy spirit, and hee made them vp, and there is none that can resist thy voyce.

15 For the mountaines leape vp from their foundations with the waters: the rocks melt at thy presence like waxe: yet thou art mercifull to them that feare thee.

16 For all sacrifice is too little for a sweete savour, and all the fat is too little for thy burnt offering: but he that feareth the Lord, is great at all times.

17 Alloe to the nations that rise vp against my kined: the Lord Almighty will take vengeance of them in the day of iudgement, in sending fire and wormes vpon their flesh, and they shall seele them and wepe for euer.

18 After, when they went vnto Jerusalem, they worshipped the Lord, and as soone as the people were purified, they offered their burnt offerings, and their free offerings, and their gifts.

19 Judeth also offered all the stufte of Olofernes, which the people had giuen her, and gaue the canopy which she had taken of his bed, for an oblation to the Lord.

20 So the people reioyced in Jerusalem by the Sanctuary for the space of thre moneths, and Judeth remained with them.

21 After this time euery one returned to his own inheritance, and Judeth went to Bethulia, and remained in her own possession, and was for her time honourable in all the countrey.

22 And many desired her, but none had her company all the dayes of her life, after that Manasses her husband was dead, and was gathered to his people.

23 But she increased more and more in honour, and waxed olde in her husbands house, being an hundred and fiftie yere old, and made her maide free: so she died in Bethulia, and they buried her in the graue of her husband Manasses.

24 And the house of Israel lamented her seven dayes, and before she died, she did distribute her goods to all them that were neerest of kined to Manasses her husband, and to them that were the neerest of her kined.

25 And there was none that made the children of Israel any more afraid in the dayes of Judeth, nor a long time after her death.

|| Or, her people.

Esther.

Certaine portions of the story of Esther, which are found in some Greeke and Latin translations:

which follow the tenth Chapter.

Then Bardocheus said God hath done these things.

5 For I remember a dream, which I saw concerning these matters, and there was nothing thereof omitted.

6 A little fountaine which became a flood, and was a light and as the sunne, and as much water, this flood was Esther, whom the king married, and made Queene.

7 And the two dragons are I and Aman.

8 And the people are they that are assembled to destroy the name of the Iewes.

9 And my people is Israel, which cryed to God, and are saued: for the Lord hath saued his people, and the Lord hath deliuered vs from all these euils, & God hath wrought signes & great wonders, which haue not bene done among the Gentiles.

10 Therefore hath he made two lots, one for the people of God, & another for all the Gentiles.

11 And these two lots came before God for all nations, at the houre and time appointed, and in the day of iudgement.

12 So God remembered his owne people, and iustified his inheritance.

13 Therefore those dayes shall be vnto them in the moneth Adar, the fourteenth and fiftenth day of the same moneth, with an assembly and ioy, and with gladnesse before God, according to the generations for euer among his people.

CHAP. XI.

In the fourth yere of the reigne of Ptolomeus I and Cleopatra Dourheus, who said he was a Priest & Leuite, and Ptolomeus his sonne that brought the former letters of Phurati, which the sayd Lysimachus the sonne of Ptolomeus, which was at Jerusalem, interpreted.

|| Or, lots.

2 In the second yere of the reigne of great Artaxerxes, in the first day of the moneth Nisan, Bardocheus the sonne of Iarns, the sonne of Semel the sonne of Cis, of the tribe of Benjamin had a dreame.

3 A Iew dwelling in the citie of Susis, a noble man that bare office in the kings court.

4 Hee was also one of the captiuitie which Nabuchodonosor the king of Babylon brought from from Jerusalem with Techonias.

5 And this was his dreame, Behold, a noyie of a tempest with thunders & earthquakes, and vproze in the land.

6 Beholdetwo great Dragons came forth ready to fight one against another.

7 Their crie was great, whereby all the heathen were ready to fight against the righteous people.

8 And the same day was full of darkenesse and obsenritie, and trouble, and anguish: yea, aduersitie, and great affliction was vpon the earth.

9 For then the righteous fearing their afflictions, were amazed: and being ready to die, cried vnto God.

10 And while they were crying, the lielle well grew into a great river, and flowed ouer with great waters.

11 The light & the sunne rose vp, and the lowly were exalted and deuoured the glorious.

12 Now when Mardocheus had seene this dreame, hee awoke and rose vp, and thought in his heart vntill the night, what God would doe, and so he desired to know all the matter.

CHAP. XII.

At the same time dwelt Mardocheus in the Kings Court with Bagathas and Thara, the Kings eunuches and keepers of the palace.

2 * But when he heard their purpose, & their imaginations, hee perceived that they went about to lay their hands vpon the king Artaxerxes, and so he certified the King thereof.

2 Then caused the King to examine the two eunuches with torments, & when they had confessed it, they were put to death.

4 This the King caused to bee put in the Chronicles: Mardocheus also wrote the same thing.

5 So the King commanded that Mardocheus should remaine in the Court, and for the aduertisement he gaue him a reward.

6 But Aman the sonne of Amadathus the Agagite, which was in great honour and reputation with the King, went about to hurt Mardocheus and his people, because of the two eunuches of the King that were put to death.

CHAP. XIII.

1 The copie of the letters of Artaxerxes against the Jewes, 8 The prayer of Mardocheus, *Ioseph. antiq.

lib. 11. ca. 6.*

The copie of the Letters was this. The great King Artaxerxes writeth these things to the Princes & gouernours that are vnder him from India vnto Ethiopia in an hundredeth and seuen and twentie prouinces.

2 When I was made lord over many people, and had subdued the whole earth vnto my dominion, I would not exalt my selfe by the reason of my power, but purposed with equitie alway, and gentlenesse, to gouerne my subjects, and wholly to set them in a peaceable life, and thereby to bring my Kingdome vnto tranquillitie, that men might safely go thorow on euery side, and to renew peace againe, which all men desire.

3 Now when I asked my counsellers howe

these things might be brought to passe, one that was conuersant with vs, of excellent wisdom, and constant in good will, and shewed himselfe to be of sure fidelitie, whiche had the second place in the Kingdome, euen Aman,

4 Declared vnto vs, that in all nations there was scattered abroade a rebellious people, that had lawes contrary to all people, and haue alway despised the commaundements of Kings, and so that this general Empire, that we haue begunne, cannot bee gouerned without offence.

5 Seeing now we perceive that this people alone are altogether contrary vnto euery man, vling strange and other manner of lawes, and hauing an euill opinion of our doings, and goe about to stablish wicked matters, that our Kingdome should not come to good estate,

6 Therefore haue we commaunded that all they that are appointed in writing vnto you by Aman (which is ordeined ouer the affaires, and is as our second father) shall all with their wiues and children bee destroyed and rooted out with the sworde of their enemies without all mercie, and that none bee spared the foureteenth day of the twelfth moneth Adar of this yeere,

7 That they which of old, and now also haue enee beene rebellious, may in one day with violence be thrust downe into the hell, to the intent that after this time our affaires may be without troubles and well gouerned in all points.

8 Then Mardocheus thought vpon all the workes of the Lord, and made his prayer vnto him, 9 Saying, O Lord, Lord, the King Almighty (for all things are in thy power) and if thou hast appointed to saue Israel, there is no man that can withstand thee.

10 For thou hast made heauen and earth, and all the wondrous things vnder the heauen.

11 Thou art Lord of all things, and there is no man that can resist thee, which art the Lord.

12 Thou knowest all things, and thou knowest, Lorde, that it was neither of malice, nor presumption, nor for any desire of glory that I did this, and not bow downe to proude Aman.

13 For I would haue bene content with good wil for the saluation of Israel to haue kissed the sole of his feete.

14 But I did it, because I would not prefer the honour of a man aboue the glory of God, and would not worship any but onely thee, my Lord, and this haue I not done of pride.

15 And therefore, O Lord God and king, haue mercy vpon thy people: for they imagine howe they may bring vs to nought, yea, they would destroy the inheritance, that hath bene thine from the beginning.

16 Despile not the portion which thou hast deliuered out of Egypt for thine owne selfe.

17 Heare my prayer, and be mercifull vnto thy portion: turne our sorowe into joy, that wee may live, O Lord, and praise thy name: shut not the mouthes of them that praise thee.

18 All Israel in like manner cried most earnestly vnto the Lord, because that death was before their eyes.

CHAP. XIII.

The prayer of Esther for the deliuerance of her, and her people.

QUeen Esther also, being in danger of death resorted vnto the Lord,

2 And layd away her glorious apparell, and put on the garments of sighing, and mourning. In the stead of precious oymment, she scattered ashes and dung vpon her head: and she humbled her body greatly with fasting, and all the places of her loy filled thee with the haire that she plucked off.

3 And she prayed vnto the Lord God of Israel, saying, O my Lord, thou onely art our king: helpe me deliuate woman, which haue no helper but thee.

4 For my danger is at hand.

5 From my youth vp I haue heard in the kindred of my Father, that thou, O Lord, tookest Israel from among all people, and our Fathers from their predecessors for a perpetuall inheritance, and thou hast performed that which thou diddest promise them.

6 Nowe Lorde, wee haue sinned before thee: therefore hast thou giuen vs into the handes of our enemies,

7 Because wee worshipped their gods: O Lord, thou art righteous.

8 Neuerthelesse, it satisfieth them not, that wee are in bitter captiuitie: but they haue broken hands with their idoles.

9 That they will abolish the thing that thou with thy mouth hast ordeined, and destroy thine inheritance, to shut vp the mouth of them that praise thee, and to quench the glory of thy Temple, and of thine Altar,

10 And to open the mouthes of the heathen, that they may praise the power of the idoles, and to magnifie a fleshly King for ever.

11 O Lord, giue not thy scepter vnto them that be nothing, least they laugh vs to scorne in our miserie: but turne their deuile vpon themselves, and make him an example, that hath begun the same against vs.

12 Thinke vpon vs, O Lorde, and shew thy selfe vnto vs in the time of our distresse, and strengthen me, O king of gods, and Lorde of all power.

13 Giue me an eloquent speech in my mouth before the Lion: turne his heart to hate our enemy, to destroy him, and all such as consent vnto him.

14 But deliuer vs with thine hand, and helpe me that am solitary, which haue no defence but onely thee.

15 Thou knowest all things, O Lorde: thou knowest, that I hate the glory of the vnrightheous, & that I abhorre the bed of the vncircumcised, and of all the heathen.

16 Thou knowest my necessitie: for I hate this token of my preeminence, which I beare vpon my head, what time as I must shewe my selfe, & that I abhorre it as a menstruous cloth, and that I weare it not when I am alone by my selfe,

17 And that I thine handmaid haue not eaten at Amans table, and that I haue had no pleasure in the Kings feast, nor drunke the wine of the drinke offerings,

18 And that I thine handmaid haue no loy since the day that I was brought hither vntill this day, but in thee, O Lord God of Abraham.

19 O thou mightie God aboue all, heare the voyce of them that haue none other hope, and deliuer vs out of the hand of the wicked, and deliuer me out of my feare.

CHAP. XV.

1 Mardocheus moueth Esther to goe in to the King and make intercession for her people, 9 And she performeth his request.

Mardocheus also bade Esther to goe in vnto the King, and pray for her people, and for her countrey.

2 Remember, sayth hee, the dayes of thy low estate, howe, thou wast nourished vnder mine hand: for Aman which is next vnto the King, hath giuen sentence of death against vs.

3 Cal thou therefore vpon the Lord, & speake for vs vnto the King, and deliuer vs from death.

4 And vpon the third day when shee had ended her prayer, she layd away the mourning garments, and put on her glorious apparell,

5 And decked her selfe goodly, after that she had called vpon God, which is the beholder and Saviour of all things, & tooke two handmaids with her.

6 Vpon the one shee leaned her selfe, as one that was teuder.

7 And the other followed her, and bare the traine of her vesture.

8 The shine of her beantie made her face rose coloured: and her face was cheerefull & amiable, but her heart was sorrowfull for great feare.

9 Then she went in thorow all the doores, and stood before the King, and the King late vpon his royall throne, & was clothed in his goodly aray, all glittering with gold & precious stones, and he was very terrible.

10 Then hee lift vp his face that shone with maiestie, and looked fiercely vpon her: therefore the Queene fell downe, and was pale and faint, and leaned herselfe vpon the head of the mayde that went with her.

11 Neuertheles, God turned the kings minde that he was gentle, who being carefull, leaped out of his throne, and tooke her in his armes, till she came to herselfe againe: and comforted her with louing words, and said,

12 Esther, what is the matter: I am thy brother, be of good cheere, 13 Thou shalt not die: for our commaundement toucheth the commons, & not thee. Come nere:

14 And so he held vp his golden scepter, and layd it vpon her necke, 15 And kissed her, and said, Talke with me.

16 Then said she, I saw thee, O lord, as an Angel of God, and mine heart was troubled for feare of thy maiestie.

17 For wonderfull art thou, O lord, and thy face is full of grace.

18 And as she was thus speaking vnto him, she fell downe againe for faintnesse.

19 Then the King was troubled, and all his seruants comforted her.

CHAP. XVI.

The copie of the letters of Artaxerxes, whereby hee reuoketh those which he first sent forth.

The

*Iosaph. antiq.
11. cap. 6.*

The great King Artaxerxes, which reigneth from India unto Ethiopia, ouer an hundred and seuen and twenty Prouinces, sendeth vnto the Princes & rulers that haue the charge of our affaires, Salutation.

2 There be many that through the goodnes of Princes and honour giuen vnto them, become very proud,

3 And endeauour not onely to hurt our subjects, but not content to liue in wealth, doe also imagine destruction against those that doe them good,

4 And take not onely all thankfulness away from men, but in pride and presumption, as they that be vnmindfull of benefites, they thinke to escape the vengeance of God, that seeth all things, and is contrary to euill.

5 And oftentimes many, which be set in office, and vnto whom their friendes causes are committed, by vaine intlements doe wrappe them in calamities, that cannot bee remedied: for they make them partakers of innocent blood,

6 And deceitfully abuse the simplicity and gentleness of Princes with lying tales.

7 This may bee proued not onely by olde histories, but also by those things that are before our eyes, and are wickedly committed of such pestilences as are not worthe to beare rule.

8 Therefore we must take heed hereafter that wee may make the kingdom peaceable for all men, what change soeuer shall come,

9 And discern the things that are before our eyes, to withstand them with gentleness.

10 For Aman, a Macedonian, the sonne of Amadathus, being indeed a stranger from the Persians blood, and farre from our goodnesse, was receiued of vs, 11 And hath proued the friendship that wee beare toward all nations, so that he was called our father, and was honoured of euery man, as the next person vnto the King.

12 But hee could not vse himselfe soberly in this great dignity, but went about to deprive vs of the kingdom, and of our life.

13 With manifold deceit also hath he desired to destroy Mardocheus our preseruer, which hath done vs good in all things, and innocent Esther the partaker of our kingdom, with all her nation.

14 For his minde was (when hee had taken them out of the way) to lay wait for vs, and by this meanes to translate the kingdom of the Persians vnto them of Macedonia.

15 But wee find that the Jewes (which were accused of this most wicked man that they might bee destroyed) are no euill doers, but vie most iust lawes,

16 And that they be the children of the most High and Almighty and euerliuing God, by whome the kingdom hath bene preserued vnto vs, and our progenitors, in very good order.

17 Therefore ye shall do well, if ye do not put in execution those letters that Aman the son of Amadathus did write vnto you.

18 For hee that inuented them, hangeth at Sulis before the gates with all his familie, and God (which hath all things in his power) hath speedily rewarded him after his deserving.

19 Therefore ye shall publish the copy of this letter in all places, that the Jewes may freely liue after their owne lawes.

20 And ye shall ayde them, that vpon the thirteenth day of the twelfth moneth Adar, they may bee auenged of them, which in the time of their trouble would haue oppressed them.

21 For Almighty God hath turned to loy the day, wherein the chosen people should haue perished.

22 Moreover, among other solempne dayes, ye shall keepe this day with all gladnesse, 23 That both now and in time to come, this day may bee a remembrance of deliuerance for vs and all such as loue the prosperitie of the Persians, but a remembrance of destruction to those that be seditious vnto vs.

24 Therefore all cities and countreyes that doe not this, shall horribly bee destroyed with sword and fire, and shall not onely not bee inhabited of men, but bee abhorred also of the wilde beasts and foules for euer.

5 For the holy* Spirit of discipline fleeth from deceit, and withdraweth himselfe from the thoughts that are without vnderstanding, and is rebuked when wickednesse commeth.

6 For the spirit of wisdom* is louing, and will not absolue him, that blasphemeth with his lips: for God is a witness of his reines, and a true beholder of his heart, and an hearer of the tongue.

7 For the spirit of the Lord filleth all the world: & the same that maintaineth all things hath knowledge of the voyce.

8 Therefore hee that speaketh vnrightheous things, cannot bee hid: neither shall the iudgement of repproch let him escape.

9 For inquisition shall bee made for the thoughts of the vngodly, and the sound of his words shall come vnto God for the correction of his iniquities.

10 For the care of ielouſie heareth all things, and the noyle of the grudgings ſhall not be hid.

despised the righteous, and forsaken the Lord.

11 Who so despiseth wisdom and discipline, is miserable, and their hope is vaine, and their labours are foolish, & their works unprofitable.

12 Their wives are vndiscreet, and their children wicked: their offering is cursed.

Isa. 56. 5.

13 Therefore the barren is blessed which is vndefiled, and knoweth not the sinfull bed: she shall haue fruit in the visitation of the soules.

14 And the Eunuch, which with his hands hath not wrought iniquitie, nor imagined wicked things against God: for vnto him shall bee giuen the speciall gift of faith, and an acceptable portion in the Temple of the Lord.

15 For glorious is the fruit of good labours, and the root of wisdom shall neuer fade away.

16 But the children of adulterers shall not be partakers of the holy things, and the seed of the wicked bed shall be rooted out.

17 And though they liue long, yet shall they be nothing regarded: and their last age shall be without honour.

18 If they die hastily, they haue no hope, neither comfort in the day of trial.

19 For horrible is the end of the wicked generation.

CHAP. IIII.

Of vertue and the commoditie thereof. 10 The death of the righteous, and the condemnation of the vnfaithfull.

Better is barrennesse with vertue: for the meritorious thereof is immortal: for it is known with God and with men.

2 When it is present, men take example thereat, and if it goe away, yet they desire it: it is alway crowned and triumpheth, and winneth the battell and the vndefiled rewards.

3 But the multitude of the vngodly which abound in children is unprofitable: and the bastards plants shall take no deepe roote, nor lay any fast foundation.

Mat. 7. 29.]

4 For though they bud forth in the branches for a time, yet they shall bee shaken with the winde: for they stand not fast, and through the vehemencie of the wind they shall be rooted out.

5 For the vnperfitt branches shall be broken, and their fruit shall be vnprofitable and compe to eat, and meet for nothing.

6 For all the children that are borne of the wicked bed, shall be witness of the wickednesse against their parents when they be asked.

7 But though the righteous bee prevented with death, yet shall he be in rest.

8 For the honourable age is not that which is of long time, neither that which is measured by the number of yeeres.

9 But wisdom is the gray haire, and an vndefiled life is the old age.

Gen. 5. 24.
heb. 11. 5.]

10 * Hee pleased God, and was beloued of him, so that whereas he liued among sinners, he translated him.

11 Hee was taken away, lest wickednesse should alter his vnderstanding, or deceit beguile his mind.

12 For wickednesse by bewitching obliueth the things that are good, and the vndefilednesse of concupiscence peruerteth the simple mind.

13 Though he was soone dead, yet fulfilled he much time.

14 For his soule pleased God: therefore hasted he to take him away from wickednesse.

15 Yet the people see and vnderstand it not, and consider no such things in their hearts, how that grace and mercy is vpon his saints, and his prouidence ouer the elect.

16 Thus the righteous that is dead, condemneth the vngodly which are liuing: and the youth that is soone brought to an end, the long life of the vnrighteous.

17 For they see the end of the wise, but they vnderstand not what God hath deuised for him, and wherefore the Lord hath preserved him in safetie.

18 They see him and despise him, but the Lord will laugh them to scoone.

19 So that they shall fall hereafter without honour, and shall haue a shame among the dead for euermore: for without any voyce shall hee burst them, and cast them down, and shake them from the foundations, so that they shall be vterly wasted, and they shall be in sorrow, and their memorie shall perish.

20 So they being afraid, shall remember their sinnes, and their owne wickednesse shall come before them to conuince them.

CHAP. V.

1 The constantnesse of the righteous before their persecutors. 14 The hope of the vnfaithfull is vaine. 15 The blessednesse of the Saints and godly.

Then shall the righteous stand in great boldnesse before the face of such as haue tormented him, and taken away his labours.

2 When they see him, they shall be vexed with horrible feare, and shall be amazed for his wonderfull deliuerance.

3 And shall change their mindes, and sigh for griefe of minde, and say within themselves, This is he whom we sometime had in derision, and in a parable of reproch.

4 * The foolles thought his life madnesse, and his end without honour.

Chap. 3. 2.

5 Now is he counted among the children of God, and his portion is among the Saints.

6 Therefore we haue erred from the way of truth, and the light of righteousness hath not shined vnto vs, and the summe of vnderstanding rose not vpon vs.

7 We haue wearied our selues in the way of wickednesse and destruction, and we haue gone through dangerous wayes: but wee haue not known the way of the Lord.

8 What hath pride profited vs? or what profite hath the pompe of riches brought vs?

9 All those things are * passed away like a shadow, and as a poste that passeth by.

13 Euen so we, as soone as we were borne we began to draw to our ende, and haue shewed no token of vertue, but are consumed in our owne wickednesse.

14 For the hope of the vngodly is like the dust that is blowen away with the winde, and like a thinne some that is scattered abroad with the storme, and as the smoke which is disperfed with the winde, and as the remembrance of him passeth, that tarieth but for a day.

15 But the righteous shall liue for euer: their reward also is with the Lord, & the most high hath care of them.

16 Therefore shall they receiue a glorious kingdome, and a beautifull crowne of the Lords hand: for with his right hand shall hee couer them, and with his arme shall he defend them.

17 He shall take his ielousie for armour, and shall arme the creatures to bee reuenged of the enemies.

18 He shall put on righteousness for a breastplate, and take true iudgement in stead of an helmet.

19 He will take holinesse for an inuincible shield.

20 Hee will sharpen his fierce wrath for a sword, and the world shall fight with him against the vniuers.

21 Then shall the thunder bolts go straight out of the lightnings, and shall flie to the marke as out of the bent bowe of the clouds, and out of his anger that throweth stones, shall thicke haile be cast, and the water of the Sea shall be wroth against them, and the floods shall mightily overflow.

22 And a mighty wind shall stand by against them, and like a storme shall scatter them abroad. Thus iniquitie shall bring all the earth to a wilderness, & wickednesse shall ouerthrow the thrones of the mighty.

CHAP. VI.

The calling of Kings, Princes, and Iudges, which are also exhorted to search wisedome.

HEare therefore, O yee Kings, and vnderstand: learne ye that be Iudges of the ends of the earth.

2. Giue care, ye that rule the multitudes, and glory in the multitude of people.

Rom. 13. 2.

3. For the rule is giuen you of the Lord, and power by the most high, which will trie your works, and searce out your imaginations.

4. Because that ye being officers of his kingdome, haue not iudged aright, nor kept the Law, nor walked after the will of God.

5. Horribly and suddenly will he appeare vnto you: for an hard iudgement shall they haue that beare rule.

7. For he that is Lord ouer all, will spare no person, neither shall he feare any greatnesse: for he hath made the small and great, and careth for all alike.

8. But for the mighty abideth the soier trial.

9. Vnto you therefore, O tyrants, do I speake, that ye may learne wisedome, and not goe amisse.

10. For they that keepe holinesse holily, shall bee holy, and they that are learned there, shall finde a defence.

11. Therefore set your delight vpon my words and desire them, and ye shall be instructed.

12 Wisedome shineth and neuer sadeth away, and is easily seene of them that loue her, and found of such as seeke her.

13 She pccuenteth them that desire her, that she may first shew her selfe vnto them.

14 Who so awaketh vnto her betimes, shall haue no great trauaile: for he shall finde her sitting at his doores.

15 To thinke vpon her then is perfect vnderstanding: and who so watcheth for her, shall be soone without care.

16 For shee goeth about, seeking such as are meete for her, and sheweth her selfe cheerefully vnto them in the wayes, and meeteth them in euery thought.

17 For the most true desire of discipline is her beginning: and the care of discipline is loue:

18. And loue is the keeping of her lawes, and the keeping of the lawes is the assurance of immortallitie:

19 And immortallitie maketh vs nere vnto God.

20 Therefore the desire of wisedome leadech to the kingdome.

21 If your delight bee then in thrones, and scepters, O Kings of the people, honour wisedome, that ye may reigne for euer.

22 Now I will tell you what wisedome is, and whence it commeth, and will not hide the mysteries from you, but will seeke her out from the beginning of her natiuitie, and bring the knowledge of her into light, and will not keepe backe the truth.

23 Neither will I haue to doe with consuming enuie: for such a man shall not bee partaker of wisedome.

24 But the multitude of the wise is the preservation of the world, and a wise King is the Ray of the people.

25 We therefore instructed by my words, and ye shall haue profit.

CHAP. VII.

Wisedome ought to be preferred aboue all things.

I My selfe am also mortal and a man like all other, and am come of him that was first made of the earth.

2. And in my mothers wombe was I fashioned to be flesh in ten moneths: I was brought together into blood of the seede of man, and by the pleasure that commeth with sleepe. Iob 10. 10, 11.

3. And when I was borne, I receined the common ayre, and fell vpon the earth, which is of like nature, crying and weeping at the first as all other doe.

4. I was nourished in swadling clothes, and with cares.

5. For there is no king that had any other beginning of birth.

6. All men then haue one entrance vnto life, and a like going out. Iob 1. 21. 1. tim. 6. 7.

7. Therefore I prayed, and vnderstanding was giuen mee: I called, and the Spirit of wisedome came vnto me.

8. I preferred her to scepters and thrones, and counted riches nothing in comparison of her.

9. Neither did I compare pccious stones vnto her: for all golde is but a little grauell in respect of her, and silver shall bee counted but Iob 28. 13.

but clay before her.

10 I loved her above health and beauty, and purposed to take her for my light: for her light cannot be quenched.

1. King. 3. 13
math. 6. 33.

11 All good things therefore came to me together with her, and innumerable riches through her hands.

12 So I was glad in all: for wisdom was the author thereof, and I knew not that shee was the mother of these things.

13 And I learned unfainedly, and communicated without enuie, and I doe not hide her riches.

14 For she is an infinite treasure unto men, which who so use, become partakers of the love of God, and are accepted for the gifts of knowledge.

15 God hath granted me to speake according to my minde, and to iudge worthily of the things that are given me: for he is the leader unto wisdom, and the director of the wise.

16 For in his hand are both we & our words, and all wisdom, and the knowledge of the workes.

17 For he hath given me the true knowledge of the things that are, so that I know how the world was made, and the powers of the elements.

18 The beginning and the end, and the mids of the times: how the times alter, & the change of the seasons.

19 The course of the yere, the situation of the starres, 20 The nature of living things, and the faculty of beasts, the power of the winds, and the imaginations of men, the diuersities of plants, and the vertues of rootes.

21 And all things both secret and knownen do I know: for wisdom is the worker of all things hath taught me it.

22 For in her is the spirit of vnderstanding, which is holy, the onely begotten, manifold, subtil, moueable, cleare, undefiled, euident, not hurtfull, louing the good, sharpe, which cannot be letted, doing good.

23 Courteous, stable, sure, without care, hauing all power, circumspect in all things, and passing through all intellectuall, pure, and subtil spirits.

24 For wisdom is nimbler then all nimble things: shee goeth through and attaineth to all things, because of her purenesse.

25 For she is the breath of the power of God, and a pure influence that floweth from the glory of the Almighty: therefore can no defiled thing come vnto her.

Heb. 1. 3.

26 For she is the brightnesse of the everlasting light, the undefiled mirrour of the Majesty of God, and the image of his goodnesse.

27 And being one, she can doe all things, and remaining in her selfe, reneweth all, and according to the ages she entreteth into the holy soules, and maketh them the friends of God and Prophets.

28 For God loueth none, if he dwell not with wisdom.

29 For she is more beautiful then the Sunne, and is above all the order of the starres, and the light is not to be compared vnto her.

30 For night cometh vpon it, but wickednesse cannot overcome wisdom.

CHAP. VIII.

The effects of wisdom.

Shee also reacheth from one ende to another mightily, and comely doeth shee order all things.

2 I haue loved her, and sought her from my youth: I desired to marrie her, such loue had I vnto her beauty.

3 In that she is conuersant with God, it commendeth her nobilitie: yea, the Lord of all things loueth her.

4 For shee is the Schoolemistresse of the knowledge of God, and the chooser out of his workes.

5 If riches bee a possession to bee desired in this life, what is richer then wisdom, that worketh all things?

6 For if prudence worketh, what is it among all things that worketh better then shee?

7 If a man loue righteousness, her labours are vertuous: for shee teacheth sobernesse and prudence, righteousness and strength, which are the most profitable things that men can haue in this life.

8 If a man desire great experience, shee can tell the things that are past, and discerne things to come: shee knoweth the subtilties of wordes and the solutions of darke sentences: shee seeth the signes and wonders, or euer they come to passe, and the successe of seasons and times.

9 Therefore I purposed to take her vnto my company, knowing that she would counsell mee good things, and comfort mee in cares and griefes.

10 For her sake shall I haue glory among the multitude, & honour among the Elders, though I be young.

11 I shall bee found of sharpe iudgement, so that I shall be marvellous in the sight of great men.

12 When I hold my tongue, they shall abide my leisure: when I speake, they shall heare diligently, and if I talke much, they shall lay their hands vpon their mouth.

13 Moreover, by her I shall obtaine immortalitye, and leaue an everlasting memoriall among them that come after me.

14 I shall gouerne the people, and the nations shall be subdued vnto me.

15 Horrible tyrants shall be afraid when they heare me: among the multitude I shall be counted good, and mightie in battell.

16 When I come home I shall rest with her: for her company hath no bitterness, and her fellowship hath no tediousnesse, but mirth and ioy.

17 Now when I considered these things by my selfe, and pondered them in mine heart, how that to be ioyned vnto wisdom is immortalitie, 18 And great pleasure is in her friendship, and that in the workes of her hands are infinite riches, and that in the exercise of talking with her is prudence, and glory by communing with her, I went about, seeking how I might take her vnto mee.

19 For I was a wittie childe, and was of a good spirit.

20 Yea, rather bring good, I came to an undefiled body.

21 Nevertheless, when I perceived that I could could not enjoy her, except God gave her (and that was a point of wisdom also, to knowe whole gift it was) I went vnto the Lord, and besought him, and with my whole heart I sayd, 18 For so the wayes of them which are vpon earth are reformed, and men are taught the things that are pleasant vnto thee, and are preserved through wisdom.

C H A P. X.

The deliurance of the righteous, and the destruction of the enemies cometh through wisdom.

5 Moreover, when the nations were ioyned in their malicious confederacies, shee knew the righteous, and preserved him faultlesse vnto God, and kept him sure, because she loued him tenderly as a sonne.

Gen. 19. 16.

6 Shee preserved the righteous, when the vngodly perished, when he fled from the fire that fell vpon the five cities.

7 Of whose wickednesse the waste land that smoketh, yet giueth testimony, and the trees that beare fruit that neuer cometh to ripenesse: and for a remembrance of the vnfaythfull soule, there standeth a pillar of salt.

8 For all such as regarded not wisdom, had not onely this hurt, that they know not the things which were good, but also left behinde them vnto men a memorie of their foolishnes, so that in the things wherewith they sinned, they cannot lie hid.

9 But wisdom deliuered them & serued her.

Gen. 28. 5.

10 When the righteous fled because of his brothers wrath, she led him the right way, shewed him the Kingdome of God, gaue him knowledge of holy things, made him rich in his labours, and made his paines profitable.

12 Shee led him from the enemies, and defended him from them that lay in waite, and she gaue him the prise in a mightie battell, that he might know that the feare of God is stronger then all things.

15 She deliuered the righteous people and faultlesse seede from the nations that oppressed them.

2 The mercie of God toward sinners. 14 The works of God are vnrapproachable. 19 God giueth leaseure to repent.

For thine incorruptible Spirit is in all things.

2 Therefore thou chastenest them measurably that goe wrong, and warnest them by putting them in remembrance of the things where in they haue offended, that leauing wickednesse, they may beleue in thee, O Lord.

3 As for those olde inhabitants of the holy land, thou didst hate them.

Deut. 9. 3.

and 12. 31.

4 For they committed abominable workes, as sozceries and wicked sacrifices,

5 And slaying of their own children without mercie, and eating of the bowels of mans flesh in banquetting, where the raging priests shed abominable blood.

6 And the fathers were the chiefe murderers of the soules, destitute of all helpe, whom thou wouldest destroy by the hands of our fathers,

7 That the land which thou louest aboue all other, might be a meet dwelling for the children of God.

8 Nevertheless, thou sparedst them also as men, and sendest the forerunners of thine hoste, euen hornets to destroy them by little and little.

Exod. 33. 2.

deut. 2. 22.

9 Not that thou wast vnable to subdue the vngodly vnto the righteous in battell, or with cruell beastes, or with one rough word to destroy them together.

10 But in punishing them by little and little, thou gauest them space to repent, knowing well that it was an vnrightheous nation, and wicked of nature, and that their thought could neuer be altered.

11 For it was a curled seede from the beginning: yet hast thou not spared them when they sinned, because thou fearedst any man.

12 For who dare say, What hast thou done? or who dare stand against thy iudgement? or who dare accuse thee for the nations that perish, whom thou hast made? or who dare stand against thee to reuenge the wicked men?

Rom. 9. 10.

13 For there is none other God but thou, that carest for all things, that thou mayest declare how that thy iudgement is not vnrightheous.

1. Pet. 5. 7.

14 There

Job. 10. 3, 3.

14 There dare neither king nor tyrant in thy sight, require accompts of them whom thou hast punished.

15 For so much then as thou art righteous thy selfe, thou orderest all things righteously, thinking it not agreeable to thy power to condemne him, that hath not deserved to bee punished.

16 For thy power is the beginning of righteousness, and because thou art Lord of all things, it causeth thee to spare all things.

17 When men thinke thee not to be of a perfect power, thou declarest thy power, and reproovest the boldnesse of the wise.

18 But thou ruling the power, iudgeth with equitie, and governest vs with great fauour: for thou mayest shew thy power when thou wilt.

19 By such works now hast thou taught thy people, that a man should be iust and louing, and hast made thy children to be of a good hope: for thou giuest repentance to sinners.

20 For if thou hast punished the enemies of thy children that had deserved death, with so great consideration, and requesting vnto them, giuing them time and place that they might change from their wickednesse.

21 With how great circumspection wilt thou punish thine owne children, vnto whose fathers thou hast sworn and made covenants of good promises?

22 So when thou dost chasten vs, thou punishest our enemies a thousand times more, to the intent that when we iudge, we should diligently consider thy goodnesse, and when we are iudged, we should hope for mercy.

23 Therefore thou hast tormented the wicked that haue liued a dissolute life by their owne imaginations.

Chap. 11. 13
Rom. 1. 23.

24 * For they went astray very farre in the wayes of errorre, and esteemed the beasts, which their enemies despised, for gods, being abused after the manner of children, that haue none vnderstanding.

25 Therefore hast thou sent this punishment, that they should be in desolation as children without reason.

26 But they that will not bee reformed by those scornfull rebukes, shall seele the worst punishment of God.

27 For in those things when they suffered, they disoatined: but in these whom they counted godly, when they saw themselves punished by them, they all acknowledged the true God, whom afore they had deuied to know: therefore came extreme damnation vpon them.

CHAP. XIII.

1 All things bee vaine, except the knowledge of God.
10 Idolaters and idolers are mocked.

Rom. 1. 19.

Surely all men are vaine by nature, and are ignorant of God, * and could not know him that is, by the good things that are seene, neither consider by the works, the workemaster.

Deut. 4. 19.
and 17. 3.

2 * But they thought the fire or the wind, or the swift ayre, or the courie of the staires, or the raging water, or the lights of heauen to be gouernours of the world and gods.

3 Though they had such pleasure in their beautie, that they thought them gods, yet should they haue knowen how much more excellent hee is that made them: for the first author of beautie hath created these things.

4 Or if they maruelled at the power, and operation of them, yet should they haue perceived thereby, how much hee that made these things, is mightier.

5 For by the greatnesse of their beautie, and of the creatures, the Creator being compared with them, may be considered.

6 But yet the blame is lesse in these, that seeke God and would finde him, and yet peradventure doe erre.

7 For they * goe about by his works to seeke him, and are perswaded by the sight, because the things are beautifull that are seene. Rom. 1. 23.

8 Howbeit they are not to be excused.

9 For if they can know so much, that they can dilcerne the world, why doe they not rather finde out the Lord thereof?

10 But miserable are they, and among the dead is their hope, that call them gods, which are the workes of mens hands, gold, and siluer, and the thing that is inuented by arte, and the similitude of beasts, or any vaine stone that hath bene made by the hand of antiquitie.

11 * As when a carpenter cutteth downe a tree meete for the worke, and pareth off all the barke thereof cunningly, and by arte maketh a vessel profitable for the vse of life. Hsa. 44. 11.
Iere. 10. 3.

12 And the things that are cut off from his worke, hee bestoweth to dreffe his meate to fill himselfe.

13 And that which is left of these things, which is profitable for nothing (for it is a creaked piece of wood, and full of knobs) he carueth it diligently at his leasure, and according as he is expert in cunning, he giueth it a proportion, and fashioneth it after the similitude of a man, 14 Or maketh it like some vile beast, and straketh it ouer with red, and painteth it, and couereth euerie spot that is in it.

15 And when he hath made a conuenient tabernacle for it, he setteth it in a wall and maketh it fast with yron, 16 Providing so for it, lest it fall: for he knoweth that it cannot helpe it selfe, because it is an image, which hath neede of helpe.

17 Then he prayeth for his goods, and for his marriage, and for children: he is not ashamed to speake vnto it that hath no life.

18 He calleth on him that is weake, for health: hee prayeth vnto him that is dead, for life: he requireth him of helpe, that hath no experience at all.

19 And for his journey, him that is not able to goe: and for gaine, and worke, and successe of his affaires, hee requireth furtherance of him that hath no manner of power.

CHAP. XIII.

1 The desolation and abomination of images. 8 A curse of them, and of him that maketh them. 14 Whereof idolatry proceeded. 23 What evils come of idolatry.

A Gaine, another man purposing to selle, and intending to passe thorow the raging waues, calicth vpon a stocke more rotten then the ship that caricth him.

2 For as for || it, conetousnesse of money || Or, the ship. hath found it out, and the craftsman made it by by cunning.

Exod. 14. 22. 2 But thy providence, O Father, governeth it: * for thou hast made a way, even in the Sea, and a sure path among the waues;

4 Declaring thereby that thou hast power to helpe in all things, yea, though a man went to the sea without meanes.

5 Nevertheless, thou wouldest not that the workes of thy wisdom should bee vaine, and therefore doe men commit their liues to a small piece of wood, and passe ouer the stormie sea in a ship, and are saved.

Gen. 6. 4. and 7. 10.

6 * For in the olde time also when the proud giants perished, the hope of the world went into a ship which was governed by thine hand, and so left seed of generation vnto the world.

7 For blessed is the tree whereby righteousness commeth.

Psal. 115. 8. barnab. 6. 3.

8 But that is cursed that is made with hands, * both it, and hee that made it: hee, because he made it, & it being a corruptible thing, because it was called god.

Psal. 5. 5.

9 * For the vngodly and his vngodlinesse are both alike hated of God: so truly the worke and he that made it, shall be punished together.

Ier. 10. 8. habac. 2. 18.

10 Therefore shall there bee a visitation for the idoles of the nations: for of the creatures of God they are become abomination, * and stumbling blocks vnto the soules of men, and a snare for the feet of the vnwise.

11 For the inuenting of idoles was the beginning of whoredome, and the finding of them is the corruption of life.

12 For they were not from the beginning, neither shall they continue for ever.

13 The vaine glory of men brought them into the world: therefore shall they come shortly to an end.

14 When a father mourned grievously for his sonne that was taken away suddenly, he made an image for him that was once dead, whom now he worshippeth as a god, and ordeined to his seruants ceremonies and sacrifices.

15 Thus by processe of time this wicked custome preuailed, and was kept as a law, and idoles were worshipped by the commandement of tyrants.

16 As for those that were so farre off, that men might not worship them presently, they did counterfeit the visage that was farre off, and made a gorgeous image of a king, whom they would honour, that they might by all meanes flatter him that was absent, as though hee had bene present.

17 Again, the ambition of the craftesman thrust forward the ignorant to increase the superstition.

18 For he peradventure willing to please a noble man, laboured with all his cunning to make the image of the best fashion.

19 And so through the beautie of the worke the multitude was allured, & so took him now for a god, which a little afore was but honoured as a man.

20 And this was the deceiuing of mans life, when men, being in seruitude through calamitie and tyrannie, ascribed vnto stones and stockes the name, which ought not to be communicate vnto any.

21 Whereouer, this was not enough for them that they erred in the knowledge of God: but whereas they liued in great wars of ignorance, those so great plagues called they peace.

22 For either they slew their owne children in sacrifice, or vied secret ceremonies, or raging dissolutenesse by strange rites, Deut. 18. 10. ier. 7. 9. and 19. 4.

23 And so kept neither life nor marriage cleane: but either one slew another by treason, or els vexed him by adultery.

24 So were all mirt together, blood and slaughter, theft, and deceit, corruption, vnfaithfulness, tumults, perurie, 25 Disquieting of good men, vnthankfulness, defiling of soules, changing of birch, disorder in marriage, adultery and vnchastnesse.

26 For the worshipping of idoles, that ought not to be named, is the beginning and the cause, and the end of all euill.

27 For either they be mad when they be merrie, or prophesie lies, or lye vngodly, or else lightly forswear themselves.

28 For insomuch as their trust is in the idols, which haue no life, though they sweare falsely, yet they thinke to haue no hurt.

29 Therefore for two causes shall they iustly be punished, because they haue an euill opinion of God, addicting themselves vnto idoles, and because they sweare vntruly to deceiue, and despise holinesse.

30 For it is not the power of them by whom they sweare, but the vengeance of them that sinne, which punisheth alwayes the offence of the vngodly.

CHAP. XV.

The voyce of the faithfull praying the mercy of God, by whose grace they serue not idoles.

At thou, O our God, art gracious and true, long suffering, and gouernest all things by mercy.

2 Though we sinne, yet are we thine: for we know thy power: but wee sinne not, knowing that we are counted thine.

3 For to know thee, is perfect righteousness, and to know thy power, is the route of immortalitye.

4 For neither hath the wicked inuention of men deceiued vs, nor the vnprofitable labour of the painters, nor an image spotted with diuers colours.

5 Whose sight stirreth by the desire of the ignorant: so that he coueteth the forme that hath no life, of a dead image.

6 They that loue such wicked things, are worthy to haue such things to trust so, and they that make them, and they that desire them, and they that worship them.

7 The potter also tempereth soft earth, and fashioneth euery vessel with labour to our vse: but of the same clay hee maketh both the vessels that serue to cleane vses, and the contrary likewise: but whereto euery vessel serueth, the potter is the iudge. Rom. 9. 21.

8 So by his wicked labour he maketh a vaine god of the same clay: euen hee, which a little afore was made of earth himselfe, and within a little while after goeth thither againe whence he was taken, * when he shall make account for the loane of his life. Luke 13. 30.

9 Notwithstanding he careth not for the labour hour hee taketh, nor that his life is short, but hee striveth with the goldsmithes, and silversmithes, and counterfeiteth the coppersmithes, and taketh it for an honour to make deceivable things.

10 His heart is ashes, and his hope is more vile then earth, and his life is lesse worthy of honour then clay.

11 For he knoweth not his owne maker, that gave him his soule, that had power and breathed in him the breath of life.

12 But they count our life to be but a pastime, and our conuersion as a market, where there is gaine: for they say we ought to be getting on euery side, though it be by euill meanes.

13 Now hee that of earth maketh fragile vessels and images, knoweth himselfe to offend a-boue all other.

14 All the enemies of thy people, that hold them in subiection, are most vnwise, and more miserable then the very fooles.

15 For they iudge all the idoles of the nations to be gods, which neither haue eye sight to see, nor noles to smell, nor eares to heare, nor fingers of hands to grope, and their feet are slow to goe.

16 For man made them, and he that hath but a borrowed spirit, fashioned them: but no man can make a god like vnto himselfe.

17 For seeing he is but mortall himselfe, it is but mortall that he maketh with vnrightheous hands: he himselfe is better then they whom he worshippeth: for he liued, but they neuer liued.

18 Yea, they worshipped beastes also, which are their most enemies, and which are the worst, if they bee compared vnto others, because they haue none vnderstanding.

19 Neither haue they any beauty to bee desired in respect of other beastes, for they are destitute of Gods praise, and of his blessing.

CHAP. XVI.

The punishment of idolaters. 30 The benefis done vnto the faithfull.

Therefore by such things they are worthily punished and tormented by the multitude of beastes.

2 In stead of the which punishment thou hast bene fauourable to thy people, and to satisfie their appetite, hast prepared a meate of a strange taste, euen quailles,

3 To the intent that they that desired meat, by the things which were shewed, & sent among them, might turne away their necessary desire, and that they, which had suffered penury for a space, should also taste a new taste.

4 For it was requisite that they which used tyranny, should fall into extreme penurie, and that to these onely it should be shewed, how their enemies were tormented.

5 For when the cruell fiercenesse of the beastes came vpon them, and they were hurt with the stings of cruell serpents,

6 Thy wrath endured not perpetually, but they were troubled for a little season, that they might be reformed, hauing a signe of saluation to remember the commandement of thy Law.

7 For he that turned toward it, was not healed by the thing that he saw, but by thee, O Saviour of all.

8 So in this thou shewest our enemies, that it is thou, which deliuerest from all euill.

9 For the biting of grasshoppers and flies killed them, and there was no remedy found for their life: for they were worthy to be punished by such.

10 But the teeth of the venomous dragons could not overcome thy children: for thy mercy came to helpe them, and healed them.

11 For they were pricked, because they should remember thy words, and were speedily healed, lest they should fall into so deepe forgetfulness, that they could not bee called backe by thy benefite.

12 For neither herbe nor plaister healed them, but thy word, O Lord, which healeth all things.

13 For thou hast the power of life and death, and ledest downe vnto the gates of hell, and bringest vp againe.

14 A man indeed by his wickednesse may slay another: but when the spirit is gone forth, it turneth not againe, neither can he call againe the soule that is taken away.

15 But it is not possible to escape thine hand.

16 For the vngodly that would not know thee, were punished by the strength of thine arme, with strange raine and with haile, and were pursued with tempest, that they could not auoyd, and were consumed with fire.

17 For it was a wonderous thing that fire might doe more then water, which quenchereth all things: but the world is the auenger of the righteous.

18 For sometime was the fire so tame, that the beastes, which were sent against the vngodly, burnt not: and that, because they should see, and know, that they were persecuted with the punishment of God.

19 And sometime burnt the fire in the mids of the water, aboue the power of fire, that it might destroy the generation of the vniust land.

20 In the stead wherof thou hast fed thine owne people with Angels food, and sent them bread ready from heauen without their labour, which had abundance of all pleasures in it, and was meete for all tastes.

21 For thy sustenance declared thy sweetnesse vnto thy children, which serued to the appetite of him that tooke it, and was meete to that that euery man would.

22 Moreover, the snow & ice abode the fire and melted not, that they might know, that the fire burning in the haile, and sparkling in the raine, destroyed the fruit of the enemies.

23 Againe, it forgot his owne strength, that the righteous might be nourished:

24 For the creature that serueth thee which art the maker, is fierce in punishing the vnrightheous: but it is easie to doe good vnto such as put their trust in thee.

25 Therefore was it changed at the same time vnto all fashions to serue thy grace, which nourisheth all things, according to the desire of them that had neede thereof,

26 That thy children whom thou louest, O Lord, might know, that it is not the increase of frutes that feedeth men, but that it is thy word, 29 For the hope of the vnthankfull shall melt as the winter yce, and flow away as vnprofitable waters.

CHAP. XVII.

The iudgements of God against the wicked.

For thy iudgements are great, and cannot be expessed: therefore men doe erre, that will not be reformed.

2 For when the vnrighteous thought to haue thine holy people in subiection, they were bound with the hands of darknes, and long night, and being shut vp vnder the rooffe, did lie there to escape the euerslating providence.

3 And while they thought to be hid in their darke sinnes, they were scattered abroad in the darke couering of forgetfulnesse, fearing horribly and troubled with visions.

4 For the denne that hid them, kept them not from feare: but the sounds that were about them troubled them, and terrible visions and sorrowfull sights did appeare.

5 No power of the fire might giue light, neither might the cleare flames of the starres lighten the horrible night.

6 For there appeared vnto them onely a sudden fire, very dreadfull: so that being afraid of this vision, which they could not see, they thought the things which they sawe to bee worse.

7 And the illusions of the Magicall artes were brought downe, and it was a most shameful reproch for the boasting of their knowledge:

8 For they that promised to drine away feare and trouble from the sicke person, were sicke for feare, and worthy to be laughed at.

9 And though no fearefull thing did feare them, yet were they afraid at the beastes which passed by them, and at the hissing of the serpents: so that they dyed for feare, and sayd they sawe not the ayre, which by no meanes can bee annoyed.

10 For it is a fearefull thing when malice is condemned by her owne testimony: and a conscience that is touched, doeth euer forcast cruell things.

11 For feare is nothing else, but a betraying of the succours, which reason offereth.

12 And the lesse that the hope is within, the more doth he esteeme the ignorance of the thing that tormenteth him, great.

13 But they that did indure the night that was intollerable, and that came out of the dungeon of hell, which is insupportable, slept the same sleepe, 14 And sometimes were troubled with monstrous visions, and sometime they swooned, as though their owne soule should betray them: for a sudden feare not looked for, came vpon them.

15 And thus whosoever fell downe, hee was kept, and shut in prison, but without chaines.

16 For whether he was an husbandman, or a shepheard, or one that was set to worke alone, if hee were taken, hee must suffer this necessitie, that hee could not auoide:

17 (For with one chaine of darknesse were they all bound) whether it were an hissing wind, or a sweete song of the birdes among the thicke branches of the trees, or the vehemency of havy running water,

18 Or a great noyse of the falling downe of stones, or the running of skipping beastes, that could not bee seene, or the noyse of cruell beastes, that roared, or the sound that answereth againe in the hollow mountaines: these fearefull things made them to swone.

19 For all the world shined with cleare light, and no man was hindered in his labour.

20 Onely vpon them there fell an heauy night an image of that darknesse that was to come vpon them: yea, they were vnto themselves more grievous then darknesse.

CHAP. XVIII.

2 The fiery pillar that the Israelites had in Egypt
8 The deliuerance of the faithfull, 10 The Lord smote the Egyptians. 20 The sinne of the people in the wilderness. 21 Aaron stood betweene the liuing and the dead with his censur.

But thy saints had a very great light, whose voyce because they heard, and saw not the figure of them, they thought them blessed, because they also had not suffered the like.

2 And because they did not hurt them, which did hurt them afore, they thanked them, and asked pardon for their enmitie.

3 Therefore thou gauest them a burning pillar of fire to lead them in the vnkownen way, and madest the sunne that it hurted not them in their honourable iourney.

4 But they were worthy to bee deppriued of the light, and to bee kept in darknesse, which had kept thy children shut vp, by whom the vncorrupt light of the law should bee giuen to the world.

5 Whereas they thought to slay the babes of the Saints, by one child that was castrout, and prelerued to repproue them, thou hast taken away the multitude of their children, and destroyed them altogether in the mighty water.

6 Of that night were our fathers certified afore, that they, knowing vnto what oarbes they had giuen credite, might be of good chere.

7 Thus thy people receiued the health of the righteous, but the enemies were destroyed.

8 For as thou hast punished the enemies, so hast thou glorified vs whom thou hast called.

9 For the righteous children of the good men offered secretly, and made a law of righteousness by one content, that the Saints should receiue good and euill in like manner, and that the fathers should first sing praises.

10 But a disageeing cry was heard of the enemies, and there was a lamentable noyse for the children that were bewailed.

11 For the master and the seruant were punished with like punishment, and the common people suffered alike with the King.

12 So they altogether had innumerable that died with one kinde of death: neither were the liuing sufficient to bury them: for in the twinkling of an eye the noblest of them was destroyed.

13 So they that could beleue nothing, because cause of the enchantments confessed this people to be the children of God, in the destruction of the first booke :

14 For while all things were in quiet silence, and the night was in the middes of her swift course,

15 Thine almighty word leapt downe from heauen out of thy royall throne, as a fierce man of warre in the middes of the land that was destroyed,

16 And brought thine vnsained commandment, as a sharpe sword, and stood vp, and filled all things with death, and being come downe to the earth, it reached vnto the heauens.

17 Then the sight of the fearefull dreames vexed them suddenly, and fearfulness came vpon them vnawares.

18 Then lay there one here, another there halfe dead, and shewed the cause of his death.

19 For the visions that vexed them, shewed them these things afoze : so that they were not ignorant, wherefoze they perished.

20 Now tentation of death touched the righteous also, and among the multitude in the wilderness there was a plague, but the wrath endured not long.

21 For the blamelesse man made haste, and defended them, and tooke the weapons of his ministracion, euen prayer, and the reconciliation by the perfume, and set himselfe against the wrath, & so brought the miserie to an end declaring that he was thy seruant.

22 For he ouercame not the multitude, with bodily power, nor with force of weapons, but with the word he subdued him that punished, alledging the othes and couenant made vnto the fathers.

23 For when the dead were fallen downe by heapes one vpon another, he stood in the mids, and cut off the wrath, and parted it from coming to the liuing.

24 For in the long garment was all the ornament, and in the four rowes of the stones was the glory of the fathers grauen with thy maiestie in the diademe of his head.

25 Vnto these the destroyer gaue place, and was afraid of them, for it was sufficient, that they had tasted the wrath.

CHAP. XIX.

1 The death of the Egyptians, and the great ioy of the Hebrewes. 11 The meat that was giuen at the desire of the people. 17 All the elements serue to the will of God.

As for the vngodly, the wrath came vpon them without mercy vnto the end : for hee knew what should come vnto them,

2 That they (when they had consented to let them go, and had sent them out with diligence) would repent and pursue them.

3 For while yet sorrow was before them and they lamented by the graues of the dead, they desired another foolishnesse, so that they persecuted them in their fleeing, whom they had callt out afoze with prayer.

4 For the destinie whereof they were worthy, brought them to this end, and caused them to forget the things that had come to passe, that they might accomplish the punishment, which remained, by torments.

5 Both that thy people might trie a marueilous passage, & that these might finde a strange death.

6 For euery creature in his kinde was fashioned of new, and serued in their owne offices enioyned them, that thy children might bee kept without hurt.

7 For the cloude ouershadowed their tents, and the drie earth appeared, where afoze was water : so that in the red Sea there was a way without impediment, and the great deepe became a greene field.

8 Through the which all the people went that were defended with thine hand, seeing thy wonderous marueiles.

9 For they lay like horses, and leaped like lambs, prapling thee, O Lord, which hadst deliuered them.

10 For they were yet mindefull of those things which were done in the land where they dwelt, how the ground brought forth flies in stead of cattell, and how the riuer scauled with the multitude of frogs in stead of fishes.

11 But at the last they saw a new generacion of birds when they were intiled with lust, and desired delicate meates.

12 For the quailles came forth of the sea vnto them for comfort, but punishments came vpon the sinners not without signes that were giuen by great thundrings : for they suffered worthily according to their wickednesse, because they shewed a cruell hatred toward strangers.

13 For the one sort would not receiue them when they were present, because they knew them not : the other sort brought the strangers into bondage that had done them good.

14 Beside all these things some would not suffer, that any regard should be had of them : for they handled the strangers despitefully.

15 Others that had receined them with great banquetting, and admitted them to bee partakers of the same lawes, did afflict them with great labours.

16 Therefore they were stricken with blindness, as in old time certaine were at the doores of the righteous, so that euery one being compassed with darknesse, sought the entrance of his doore.

17 Thus the elements agreed among themselves in this change, as when one tune is changed vpon an instrument of musicke, and the melodie still remaineth, which may easily be perceived by the sight of the things that are come to passe.

18 For the things of the earth were changed into things of the water, and the thing that did swimme, went vpon the ground.

19 The fire had power in the water contrary vnto his owne vertue, and the water forgate his owne kinde to quench.

20 Againe, the flames did not hurt the flesh of the corruptible beasts that walked therein, neither melted they that seemed to bee yce, and was of a nature that would melt, and yet was an immortall meat.

21 For in all things, O Lord, thou hast magnified and glorified thy people, and hast not despised to assist them in euery time and place.

The wisdom of Iesus the sonne of Sirach, called Ecclesiasticus.

¶ This argument was found in a certaine Greeke copie.

This Iesus was the sonne of Sirach, and Sirachs father was also called Iesus, and he liued in the latter time after the people had been led away captiue, and brought home againe, and almost after all the Prophets. Now his grandfather, as he himselfe witnesseth, was a man of great diligence, and wisdom among the Hebrews, who did not onely gather the graue sentences of wise men that had bene before him, but he himselfe also spake many full of great knowledge and wisdom. So this first Iesus died, and left this which he had gathered, and Sirach afterward left it to Iesus his sonne, who tooke it and put it in order in a booke, & called it Wisdom, intitling it both by his owne name, his fathers name, and his grandfathers: thinking, by this title of Wisdom, to allure the Reader to read this booke with more great desire, and to consider it more diligently. Therefore this booke containeth wise sayings, and darke sentences, and similitudes, with certaine diuine histories which are notable and ancient, euen of men that were approoued of God, and certaine prayers and songs of the authour himselfe: moreover, what benefits the Lord had bestowed vpon his people, and what plagues he had heaped vpon their enemies. This Iesus did imitate Salomon, and was no lesse famous in wisdom and doctrine, who was therefore called a man of great knowledge, as he was indeed.

The Prologue of the wisdom of Iesus the sonne of Sirach.

Whereas many and great things haue bene giuen vs by the Law and the Prophets, and by others that haue followed them, (for the which things Israel ought to be commended by the reason of doctrine and wisdom, whereby the readers ought not onely to become learned themselves, but also may be able by the diligent study thereof to be profitable vnto strangers both by speaking and writing) after that my grandfather Iesus had giuen himselfe to the reading of the Law and the Prophets, and other bookes of our fathers, and had gotten therein sufficient iudgement, he purposed also to write something pertaining to learning and wisdom, to the intent that they which were desirous to learne, and would giue themselves to these things, might profit much more in liuing according to the Law. Therefore, I exhort you to receiue it louingly, and to read it with diligence, and to take it in good worth, though we seeme to some in some things not able to attaine to the interpretation of such words as are hard to be expressed: for y things that are spoken in the Hebrew tongue, haue another force in themselves then when they are translated into another tongue: and not onely these things, but other things also, as the Law itselfe, and the Prophets, and other bookes haue no smal difference when they are spoken in their owne language. Therefore in the eight and thirtieth yere, when I came into Egypt vnder king Euergetes, and continued there I found a copy full of great learning, and I thought it necessary to bestow my diligence and trauel to interpret this booke. So for a certaine time with great watching & study I gaue myselfe to the finishing of this booke, that it might be published, that they which remaine in banishment, and are desirous to learne, might apply themselves vnto good maners, and liue according to the Law.

CHAP. I.

1 Wisdom commeth of God. 11 A praise of the fiare of God. 29 The meanes to come by Wisdom.

1. King. 3. 9. and 4. 19. That which is marked with these two marks [] is read in the Latine copie, and not in the Greeke.

All wisdom * commeth of the Lord, [and hath bene euer with him] and is with him for euer.

2 Who can number the land of the sea, and the drops of the raine, and the dayes of the world? [who can measure] the height of heauen, the breadth of the earth, and the depth?

3 Who can finde the wisdom [of God] which hath bene before all things?

4 Wisdom hath bene created before all things, and the vnderstanding of prudence from euerslasting.

5 [The word of God most high is the fountaine of wisdom, and the euerslasting Commandements are the entrance vnto her.]

6 * Vnto whom hath the roote of wisdom bene declared? or who hath known her wise counsels?

7 [Vnto whom hath the doctrine of wisdom bene discovered & shewed? and who hath vnderstood the manifold entrance vnto her?]

8 There is one wise, [euen the most high] Creator of all things, the Almighty, the King of power] and very terrible, which sitteth vpon his throne.

9 He is the Lord that hath created her [thorow the holy Ghost]: he hath seene her, numbered her, [and measured her.]

10 He hath powred her out vpon all his workes, and vpon all flesh, according to his gift, and giueth her abundantly vnto them that loue him.

11 The feare of the Lord is glory, and gladnesse, and reioycing, and a topfull crowne.

12 The feare of the Lord maketh a merry heart, and giueth gladnesse, and ioy, & long life.

13 Who so feareth the Lord, it shall goe well with him at the last, and he shall finde fauour in the day of his death.

14 [The loue of God is honourable wisdom, and vnto whom it appeareth in a vision, they loue it for the vision, and for the knowledge of the great workes thereof.]

15 * The feare of the Lord is the beginning of wisdom, & was made with the faithfull in the wombe: [she goeth with the cholen women, and is known with the righteous & faithfull.]

16 The feare of the Lord is an holy knowledge.

17 Holinesse shall preferne, and iustifie the heart, and giueth mirth and gladnesse.

19 She hath built her everlasting foundations with men, and is given to be with their seed.

20 To feare God is the fulnesse of wisdom, and filleth men with her fruits.

21 She filleth their whole house with all things desireable, & the garners with the things that they bringeth forth, and both twaine are gifts of God.

22 The feare of the Lord is the crowne of wisdom, and giueth peace and perfect health: he hath seene her, and numbred her.

¶ Or, wisdom.

23 She raineth downe knowledge, and vnderstanding of wisdom, and hath brought vnto honour them that possessed her.

24 The feare of the Lord is the roote of wisdom, and her branches are long life.

25 In the treasures of wisdom is vnderstanding, and holy knowledge, but wisdom is abhorred of sinners.]

26 The feare of the Lord driueth out sinne, and when she is present, she driueth away anger.

27 For wicked anger cannot be iustified: for his rashnesse in his anger shall be his destruction.

28 A patient man will suffer for a time, and then shall he haue the reward of ioy.

29 He will hide his words for a time, and many mens lips shall speake of his wisdom.

30 In the treasures of wisdom, are the secrets of knowledge, but the sinner abhorreth the worship of God.

31 If thou desire wisdom, keepe the Commandements, and the Lord shall giue her vnto thee [and will fill her treasures.]

32 For the feare of the Lord is wisdom and discipline: he hath pleasure in faith and meeknesse.

33 Be not disobedient to the feare of the Lord, and come not vnto him with a double heart.

34 Be not an hypocrite that men should speake of thee, but take heed what thou speakest.

35 Exalt not thyselfe, lest thou fall and bring thy soule to dishonour, and so God discouer thy secrets, and cast thee downe in the mids of the congregation, because thou wouldest not receiue the true feare of God, and thine heart is full of deceit.

CHAP. II.

1 He exhorteth the seruants of God to righteousness, loue, vnderstanding, and patience. 11 To trust in the Lord. 13 A curse vpon them that are faint hearted and impatient.

¶ MY sonne if thou wilt come into the service of God [stand fast in righteousness and feare and] prepare thy soule to temptation.

2 Settle thine heart, and be patient: [bow down thine eare, and receiue the words of vnderstanding] and shrinke not away when thou art assailed, [but wait vpon God patiently]

3 Ioyne thy selfe vnto him, and depart not away, that thou mayst be increased at thy last end.

4 Whatsoeuer cometh vnto thee, receiue it patiently, and be patient in the change of thine affliction.

8 See that feare the Lord, beloue him, and your reward shall not faile.

9 O see that feare the Lord, trust in good things, and in the everlasting ioy and mercy.

10 [See that feare the Lord, loue him, & your hearts shall be lightened.]

John. 14. 23. 24.

17 They that feare the Lord, will seeke out the things that are pleasant vnto him: and they that loue him, shall be fulfilled with his Law.

18 They that feare the Lord, will prepare their hearts, and humble their soules in his sight.

19 They that feare the Lord, keepe his Commandements, and will be patient til he see them, 20 Saying, if we doe not repent, we shall fall into the hands of the Lord, & not into the hands of men.

21 Yet as his greatnesse is, so is his mercy.

CHAP. III.

2 To our father and mother ought wee to giue double honour. 10 Of the blessing and curse of the father and mother. 22 No man ought ouer curiously to search out the secrets of God.

¶ The children of wisdom are the Church of the righteous, and their offspring is obedience and loue.]

2 Heare your fathers iudgement, O children, and doe thereafter, that ye may be safe.

3 For the Lord will haue the father honoured of the children, and hath confirmed the authority of the mother ouer her children.

4 Who so honoureth his father, his sinnes shall be forgiven him, [and he shall abstaine from them, and shall haue his dayly desires]

5 And he that honoureth his mother, is like one that gathereth treasure.

6 Who so honoureth his father, shall haue ioy of his owne children, and when he maketh his prayer, he shall be heard,

7 See that honoureth his father, shall haue a long long life, and hee that is obedient vnto the Lord, shall comfort his mother.

8 Hee that feareth the Lord, honoureth his parents; and doeth seruice vnto his parents, as vnto lords.

11 Reioyce not at the dishonour of thy father: for it is not honour vnto thee, but shame.

12 Seeing that mans glory cometh by his fathers honour, and the reproch of the mother is dishonour to the children.

13 My sonne, helpe thy father in his age, and grieue him not as long as he liueth.

14 And if his vnderstanding faile, haue patience with him, and despise him not when thou art in thy full strength.

15 For the good entreatie of thy father shall not be forgotten, but it shall be a fortress for thee against sinnes, [and for thy mothers offence thou shalt be recompensed with good, and it shall be founded for thee in righteousness.]

16 And in the day of trouble thou shalt be remembered: thy sinnes also shall melt away as the yce in the fater weather.

24 Be not curious in superfluous things: for many things are shewed vnto thee about the capacitie of men.

25 The meddling with such hath beguiled many, and an euill opinion hath decieded their iudgement.

26 Thou canst not see without eyes: professe not the knowledge therefore that thou hast not.

28 An heart that goeth two wayes, shall not prosper: and hee that is froward of heart, shall stumble therein.

29 An obstinate heart shall be laden with sorowes: and the wicked man shall heape sinne vpon sinne.

30 The perswasion of the proud is without remedie, and his steps shall be plucked up: for the plant of sinne hath taken root in him, [and hee shall not be effeced.]

31 The heart of him that hath vnderstanding, shall perceiue secret things, and an attentive eare is the desire of a wise man.

2 Make not an hungry soule sorrowfull, neither bere a man in his necessitie.

3 Trouble not the heart that is grieved, and deferre not the gift of the needy.

4 Refuse not the prayer of one that is in trouble: * turne not thy face away from the poore.

5 Turne not thine eyes aside [in anger] from the poore, and giue him noie occasion to speake euill of thee.

6 For if he curse thee in the bitterness of his soule, his prayer shall be heard of him that made him.

7 Be courteous vnto the company [of poore, and humble thy soule vnto the Elder,] and bow downe thine head to a man of worship.

8 Let it not grieue thee to bow downe thine eare vnto the poore, [but pay thy debt] and giue him a friendly answer.

9 Deliuer him that suffereth wrong, from the hand of the oppressour, and bee not faint hearted // when thou iudgest.

10 Be as a father vnto the fatherlesse, and as an husband vnto their mother: so shalt thou bee as the sonne of the most High: and he shall loue thee more then thy mother doeth.

20 [¶ By sonne.] make much of time, and *eschew the thing that is euill, 21 And be not ashamed [to say the trueth] for thy life: for there is a shame that bringeth sinne, and a shame that bringeth worship and fauour.

22 Accept no person against thine owne conscience, that thou bee not confounded to thine owne decay, [and forbeare not thy neighbour in his fault.]

23 And keepe not backe counsell when it may doe good, neither hide thy wisdom when it may be famous.

24 For by the talke is wisdom knowne, and learning by the words of the tongue, [and counsell, wisdom and learning by the talking of the wise, and stedfastnesse in the workes of righteousness.]

25 In no wise speake against the worde of trueth, but bee ashamed of the lies of thine owne ignorance.

26 Be not ashamed to confesse thy sinnes, and resist not the counsell of the riuer.

27 Submit not thy selfe vnto a foolish man, neither accept the person of the mighty.

28 Striue for the trueth vnto death, [and defend iustice for thy life.] and the Lord God shall fight for thee [against thine enemies.]

29 Be not hastie in thy tongue, neither slacke and negligent in thy works.

30 Be not as a lyon in thine owne house, neither beare thy seruants for thy fantasie, [nor oppress them that are vnder thee.]

31 * Let not thine hand be stretched out to receiue, and shut when thou shouldest giue.

CHAP. V.

1 In riches may wee not put any confidence. 7 The vengeance of God ought to be feared, and repentance may not be desired.

¶ But not vnto thy * riches, and say not, I haue enough for my life: for it shal not helpe in the time of vengeance and indignation.]

2 Follow not thine owne minde and thy strength to walke in the wayes of thine heart:

3 Neither say thou, [Howe haue I had strength?] or who will bring mee vnder for my works: for God the auenger will reuenge the wrong done by thee.

4 And say not, I haue sinned, and what euill hath come vnto mee: for the Almighty is a patient rewarder, but he will not leaue thee unpunished.

5 Because thy sinne is forgiven, be not without feare, to heape sinne vpon sinne.

6 And say not, The mercy of God is great: he will forgive my manifold sinnes: for mercy and wrath come from him, and his indignation cometh downe vpon sinners.

7 Make no tarrying to turne vnto the Lord, and put not off from day to day: for suddenly shall the wrath of the Lord breake forth, and in thy securitie thou shalt bee destroyed, and thou shalt perish in time of vengeance.

8 Trust not in wicked riches: for they shall not helpe thee in the day of punishment [and vengeance.]

9 Be not tarried about with euery wind, and goe not into euery way: for so doth the sinner that hath a double tongue.

10 Stand fast in thy iure vnderstanding [and in the way and knowledge of the Lord:] and haue but one manner of word, [and follow the word of peace and righteousness.]

11 Be humble to heare the word of God, that thou mayest vnderstand it, and make a true answer with wisdom.]

12 * Bee swift to heare good things, and let thy life be pure, and giue a patient answer.

13 If thou hast vnderstanding, answer thy neighbour, if not, lay thine hand vpon thy mouth, [lest thou bee trapped in an indiscreet word, and so be blamed.]

14 Honour and shame is in the talke, and the tongue of a man causeth him to fall.

15 Be not counted a * talebearer, and lie not in wait with thy tongue: for shame [and repentance] follow the thief, and an euill condemnation is our him: that is double tongued: [but he that is a backbiter, shall be hated, enuied and confounded.]

16 Doe not rashly, neither in small things nor in great.

CHAP. VI.

1 It is the propertie of a sinner to bee euill tongued. 6 Off friendship. 33 Desire to be taught.

¶ Be not of a friend [thy neighbours] a enemy: for such shall haue an euill name, shame and reproch, and he shall be in infamie as the wicked that hath a double tongue.

2 Bee not proud in the deuice of thine owne minde, lest thy soule rent thee as a bull,

3 And eate vp thy leaues, and destroy thy fruit, and so thou bee left as a dry tree [in the wilderness.]

4 For a wicked soule destroyeth him that hath it, and maketh him to be laughed to scoorne of his enemies, [and bringeth him to the portion of the vngodly.]

5 A sweet talke multiplieth the friends [and pacifieth them that be at variance,] and a sweet tongue increaseth much good talke.

6 Bold friendship with many, neuertheless, haue but one counsellor of a thousand.

7 If thou gettest a friend, proue him first, and be not hastie to credit him.

8 For some man is a friend for his owne occasion, & will not abide in the day of thy trouble.

9 And there is some friend that turneth to enmitie, and taketh part against thee, and in contention he will declare thy shame.

10 Again, some * friend is but a companion at the table, and in the day of thine affliction he continueth not.

11 But in thy prosperity he wil be as thou thy selfe, and will be libertie ouer thy seruants.

12 If thou be brought low, he will be against thee, and will hide himselfe from thy face.

13 Depart from thine enemies, and betwaxe of thy friends.

14 A faithfull friend is a strong defence, and he that findeth such a one, findeth a treasure.

15 A faithfull friend ought not to be changed for any thing, and the weight [of gold and silver] is not to be compared to the goodness [of his faith.]

27 Come vnto her with thy whole heart, and keepe her wayes with all thy power.

30 Then shall her fetters be a strong defence for thee, [and a sure foundation] & her chaines a glorious raiment.

31 For there is a golden ornament in her, and her bands are the laces of purple colour.

32 Thou shalt put her on as a robe of honour, and shalt put her vpon thee as a crowne of ioy.

33 My sonne, if thou wilt, thou shalt bee taught, and if thou wilt apply thy minde, thou shalt be wittie.

De no euill: so shall no harme come vnto thee.

5 Iustifie not thy selfe before the Lord: for he knoweth thine heart, and boast not thy wisdom in the presence of the king.

6 Seeke not to be made a Iudge, least thou bee not able to take away iniquitie, and least thou, fearing the person of the mightie, shouldest commit an offence against thine vprightnesse.

7 Offend not against the multitude of a citie, and cast not thy selfe among the people.

8 Binde not two sinnes together: for in one sinne shalt thou not be unpunished.

9 Say not, God will looke vpon the multitude of mine oblations, and when I offer to the most High God, he will accept it.

10 Be not faint hearted, when thou makest thy prayer, neither slacke in giuing of almes.

11 Laugh no man to scorne in the beautifullnesse of his soule: for [God which seeth all things] is hee that can bring downe, and set vp againe.

12 Sowe not a lie against thy brother, neither doe the same against thy friend.

14 Make not many wordes when thou art among the elders, neither repeate a thing in thy prayer.

15 Hate not laborious worke, neither the husbandry which the most High hath created.

16 Remember not thy selfe in the multitude of the wicked, but remember that vengeance will not slacke.

17 Humble thy minde greatly: for the vengeance of the wicked is fire and wormes.

18 Giue not ouer thy friend for any good, nor thy true brother for the gold of Ophir.

19 Depart not from a wise and good woman, [that is fallen vnto thee for thy portion in the feare of the Lord:] for her grace is aboue gold.

20 Whereas thy seruant worketh truly, intreate him not euill, nor the hireling that belongeth himselfe wholly for thee.

21 Let thy soule loue a good seruant, and defraude him not of libertie, [neither leaue him a poore man.]

22 If thou haue cattell, looke well to them, and if they be for thy proffite, keepe them with thee.

23 If thou haue sonnes, instruct them, and hold their necke from their youth.

24 If thou haue daughters, keepe their bodie, and shew not thy face cherefull toward them.

25 Marry thy daughter, & so shalt thou performe a weightie matter: but giue her to a man of vnderstanding.

26 If thou haue a wife after thy minde, forsake her not, but commit not thy selfe to the hatefull.

27 Honour thy father from thy whole heart, and forget not the sorowes of thy mother.

24 It is not meet to despise the poore man that hath understanding, neither is it convenient to magnifie the rich that is a wicked man.

25 The great man and the Judge, and the man of authority, are honourable, yet is there none of them greater then hee that feareth the Lord.

31 The poore is honoured for his knowledge [and his feare,] but the rich is had in reputation because of his goods.

32 Hee that is honourable in pouerty, how much more shall he bee when he is rich: and he that is dishonest being rich, how much more will he be so when he is in pouerty?

15 ¶ Wisdom and knowledge, and vnderstanding of the Law are of the Lord: loue and good workes come of him.

16 Error and darkenesse are appointed for sinners, and they that exalt themselves in euill, waxe old in euill.

17 The gift of the Lord remaineth for the godly, and his good will giueth prosperity for euer.

Luke 12. 19.

18 ¶ Some man is rich by his care and nigardship, and this is the portion of his wages.

19 ¶ In that he saith, I haue gotten rest, and now will I eate continually of my goods, yet he considereth not that the time draweth neere, that he must leaue all these things vnto other men, and die himselfe.

20 Stand thou in thy state, and exercise thy selfe therein, and remaine in thy worke vnto thine age.

21 ¶ Maruile not at the workes of sinners, but trust in the Lord, and abide in thy labour: for it is an easie thing in the sight of the Lord, suddenly to make a poore man rich.

22 The blessing of the Lord is in the wages of the godly, and he maketh his prosperity soone to flourish.

23 ¶ Say not, What profit and pleasure shall I haue? and what good things shall I haue hereafter?

24 Againe, say not, I haue enoughe, and possess many things, and what euill can come to me hereafter?

Chap. 18. 24.

25 ¶ In thy good state remember aduersity, and in aduersity forget not prosperity.

26 For it is an easie thing vnto the Lord in the day of death to reward a man according to his wayes.

27 The aduersitie of an houre maketh one to forget pleasure: and in a mans end, his workes are discovered.

28 Judge none blessed before his death: for a man shall be knowen by his children.

29 ¶ Bring not euery man into thine house: for the deceitfull haue many traines, [and are like stomacks that belch stinkingly.]

30 As a partridge is taken vnder a baskett, [and the hinde is taken in the snare,] so is the heart of the proud man, which like a spie watcheth for thy fall.

31 For he lieth in wait, and turneth good vnto euill, and in things worst by praise he will finde some fault.

32 ¶ Of one little sparke is made a great fire, [and of one deceitfull man is blood increased:] for a sinfull man layeth wait for blood.

33 Beware of a wicked man: for hee imagineth wicked things to bring thee into a perpetuall shame.

34 Lodge a stranger and he will destroy thee with inquietnesse, and driue thee from thine owne.

CHAP. XII.

2 Unto whom we ought to do good. 10 Enemies ought not to be troubled.

¶ When thou wilt doe good, know to whom thou doest it, so shalt thou be thanked for thy benefits.

3 ¶ Wee cannot haue good that continueth in euill, and giueth no almes: [for the most High hateth the sinners, and hath mercy vpon them that repent.]

4 Giue vnto such as feare God, and receiue not a sinner.

5 Doe well vnto him that is lowly, but giue not to the vngodly: hold backe thy bread, and giue it not vnto him, lest he overcome thee thereby: else thou shalt receiue twise as much euill for all the good that thou doest vnto him.

6 For the most High hateth the wicked, and will repay vengeance vnto the vngodly, & keepe them against the day of horrible vengeance.

7 Giue vnto the good, and receiue not the sinner.

8 A friend cannot be knowen in prosperity, neither can an enemy be unknowen in aduersity.

9 ¶ When a man is in wealt, it grieveeth his enemies, but in beautiesse and trouble a mans very friend will depart from him.

10 Trust neuer thine enemy: for like as an yron rusteth, so doth his wickednesse.

11 And though he make much crouching and kneeling, yet aduise thy selfe, and beware of him, and thou shalt bee to him, as hee that wipeth a glasse, and thou shalt know that all his rust hath not bene well wiped away.

12 Set him not by thee, lest he destroy thee, and stand in thy place.

13 Neither set him at thy right hand, lest he seeke thy roume, and thou at the last remember my words, and bee picked with my sayings.

17 *An enemie is sweet in his lippes: he can make many good words, and speake many good things: yea, he can wepe with his eyes, but in his heart hee imagineth how to throw thee into the pit: and if he may finde opportunitie, he will not be satisfied with blood.

18 If aduersitie come vpon thee, thou shalt finde him there first, and though he pretend to helpe thee, yet shall he undermine thee: hee will shake his head, and clasp his hands, & will make many words, and disguise his countenance.

CHAP. XIII.

1 The companies of the proud and of the rich are to be eschewed. 15 The loue of God, 17 Like doe company with their like.

Dent. 7. 2.

HE* that toucheth pitch, shall be defiled with it: and hee that is familiar with the proud, shall be like vnto him.

2 Burthen not thy selfe aboue thy power, whildest thou livest, and company not with one that is mightier, and richer then thy selfe: for how agree the kettle and the earthen pot together: for if the one be smitten against the other, it shall be broken.

3 The rich dealeth vnrighteously, & threatneth withall: but the poore being oppressed must intreat: if the rich haue done wrong, hee must yet be intreated: but if the poore haue done it, he shall straightwayes be threatened.

4 If thou be for his profit, he vseth thee: but if thou haue nothing, he will forsake thee.

5 If thou haue any thing, hee will liue with thee: yea, he will make thee a bare man, and will not care for it.

6 If hee haue need of thee, hee will defraud thee, and will laugh at thee, and put thee in hope, and giue thee all good words, and say, What wantest thou?

7 Thus will he shame thee in his meate, vntill hee hath supt thee cleane by twise or thrise, and at the last he will laugh thee to scoorne: afterward when he seeth thee, he will forsake thee, and shake his head at thee.

8 Submit thy selfe vnto God, and waite vpon his hand.]

9 Beware that thou be not deceived in thine owne conceit, and brought down by thy simple- nesse: [be not too humble in thy wisdom.]

10 If thou be called of a mightie man, absent thy selfe: so shall he call thee the more oft.

11 Preake not thou vnto him, that thou bee not shut out, but go not thou farre off, lest he forget thee.

12 Withdraw not thy selfe from his speech, but hearken not his many words: for with much communication will he tempt thee, and languishingly will he grope thee.

13 He is vnnmercifull, and keepeth not promise: he will not spare to doe thee hurt, and to put thee in prison.

14 Beware and take good heed: for thou walkest in perill of thine overthrowing: when thou hearest this, awake in thy sleepe.

15 Loue the Lord all thy life, and call vpon him for thy saluation.

16 Every beast loneth his like, and euery man loneth his neighbour.

17 All flesh will resort to their like, and euery man wil keepe company with such as he is himselfe.

18 How can the wolfe agree with the lambe: no more can the vngodly with the righteous.

19 What fellowship hath hyena with a dog: and what peace is betweene the rich and the poore?

20 As the wilde asse is the Lyons pray in the wilderness, so are poore men the meate of the rich.

21 As the proud hate humility, so doe the rich abhorre the poore.

22 If a rich man fall, his friends set him by againe: but when the poore falleth, his friends digne him away.

23 If a rich man offend, hee hath many helpers: he speaketh proud words, & yet men iustifie him: but if a poore man faile, they rebuke him, & though he speake wisely, yet can it haue no place.

24 When the rich man speaketh, euery man holdeth his tongue: and looke what hee sayeth, they prayle it vnto the cloudes: but if the poore man speake, they say, What fellow is this: and if he doe amisse, they will destroy him.

25 Riches are good vnto him that hath no sinne [in his conscience,] and pouertie is euill in the mouth of the vngodly.

26 The heart of a man changeth his countenance, whether it be in good or euill.

27 A cheerefull countenance is a token of a good heart: for it is an hard thing to know the secrets of the thought.

CHAP. XIII.

1 The offence of the tongue. 17 Man is but a vaine thing. 21 Happy is he that continueth in wisdom.

Chap. 19. 6.

2 Blessed is he that is not condemned in his conscience, and is not fallen from his hope in the Lord.

3 Riches are not comely for a niggard, and what should an enuious man doe with money?

4 He that gathereth together from his owne soule, heapeth together for others, that will make good cheere with his goods.

5 He that is wicked vnto himselfe, to whom will hee be good: for such one can haue no pleasure of his goods.

6 There is nothing worse, then when one ennieth himselfe: and this is a reward of his wickednesse.

7 And if hee doe any good, hee doeth it not knowing thereof, and against his will, and at the last he declareth his wickednesse.

8 The enuious man hath a wicked looke: he turneth away his face, and despiseth men.

1 The goodness that followeth him which feareth God. 8 God reuelath and casteth off the sinner. 11 God wrot the anthonr of euill.

He that feareth the Lord, will doe good: and he that hath the knowledge of the Law, will keepe it sure.

5 She shall exalt him aboue his neighbours, and in the middes of the Congregation shall she open his mouth, [with the spirit of wisdom and understanding shall she fill him, and clothe him with the garment of glory.]

6 She shall cause him to inherit for, and the crowne of gladnesse, and an everlasting name.

a As a pure virgin newly married, doth friendly intreate her husband so shall iustice pure & vndeiled gently enter-taine her followers.
Lehn 4. 10.

7 But foolishly men will not take holde vpon her: [but such as haue understanding, will meet her:] the sinner shall not see her.

8 For she is farre from pldes [and deceit,] and men that lie, cannot remember her: [but men of truth shall haunt her, and shall prosper euen vnto the beholding of God.]

9 Praise is not secretly in the mouth of the sinner: for that is not sent of the Lord.

10 But if people come of wisdom, [and bee plentiful in a faithfull mouth,] then the Lord will prosper it.

11 Say not thou, It is through the Lord that I turne backe: for thou oughtest not to doe the things that hee hateth.

12 Say not thou, He hath caused me to erre: for he hath no need of the unskillfull man.

13 The Lord hateth all abomination [of re-our], and they that feare God, loue it not.

14 We made man from the beginning, and test him in the hand of his counsell, and gaue him his commandments and precepts.

15 If thou wilt, thou shalt obserue the commandments, and testifie thy good will.

16 Wee hath set water and fire before thee: stretch out thine hand vnto which thou wilt.

17 Before man is life and death, [good and euill:] what him liketh shall hee chuse him.

18 For the wisdom of the Lord is great, and he is mighty in power, and beholdeth all things [continually.]

19 And the eyes [of the Lord] are vpon them that feare him, and he knoweth all the workes of man.

20 Wee hath commanded no man to doe vngodly, neither hath hee giuen any man licence to sinne: [for hee desireth not a multitude of sinners and vnpittiable children.]

Desire not the multitude of vnpittiable children, neither delight in vngodly children: though they be many, reioyce not in them, except the feare of the Lord be with them.

2 Trust not thou to their life, neither rest vpon their multitude.

3 For one that is iust, is better then a thousand such, and better it is to die without children, then to leaue behinde him vngodly children.

4 For by one that hath understanding, shall the citie be inhabited: but the rocke of the wicked shall be walled incontinently.

5 Many such things haue I seene with mine eyes, and mine eare hath heard greater things then these.

6 In the congregation of the vngodly shall a fire be kindled, and among vnpittiable people shall the wrath be set on fire.

22 Who can declare the wonders of his righteousness? or who can abide them? for his habitation is far off, and the trying out of all things faileth.

9 As drops of raine are vnto the Sea, and as a grauell stone is in comparison of the sand, so are a * thousand yeres to the dayes euerlasting. 2. Pet. 3. 8.

10 Therefore is [God] patient with them, and pouerth out his mercy vpon them.

11 Hee saw and perceined, that [the arrogancie of their heart, and their ruine was euill: therefore heaped hee vpon his mercy vpon them, and shewed them the way of righteounesse.]

12 The mercy that a man hath, reacheth to his neighbour: but the mercy of the Lord is vpon all flesh: he chasteneth, and nutureth, and teacheth, and bringeth backe, as a shepheard his flocke.

13 We hath mercy of them that receiue discipline, and that diligently seeke after his iudgements.

14 * O my sonne, when thou doest good, reprove not: and whatsoever thou giuest, vse no discomfortable words.

15 Shall not the deaw allwaie the brate? so is a word better then a gift.

16 Lo, is not a word better then a good gift? but a gracious man giueth them both.

17 A scold will reproch churlishly, and a gift of the enuious putteth out the eyes.

18 [Set thee righteounesse before thou come to iudgement:] learne before thou speake, and vse physicke or euer thou be sicke.

19 * Examine thy selfe before thou be iudged, and in the day of the visitation thou shalt finde mercy. 1. Cor. 11. 31

20 Humble thy selfe before thou be sicke, and whiles thou mayest yet sinne, shew thy conuersion.

21 Let nothing let thee to pay thy vow in time, and deferre not vnto death to bee reformed: [for the rewarde of God endureth for euer.]

22 Before thou prayest, prepare thy selfe, and be not as one that tempteth the Lord.

23 Thinke vpon the * wrath that shall be at the end, and the houre of vengeance, when hee shall turne away his face. Chap. 7. 17, 36.

24 * When thou hast enough, remember the time of hunger: and when thou art rich, thinke vpon pouerty and neede. Chap. 11. 25.

25 From the morning vntill the evening, the time is changed: and all such things are soone done before the Lord.

26 A wise man feareth in all things, and in the dayes of transgression he keepeth himselfe from sinne: but the foole doeth not obserue the time.

27 * Every wise man knoweth wisdom, and knowledge, and prayeth him that findeth her.

28 They that haue vnderstanding, deale wisely in words: [they vnderstand the truerth and righteounesse,] and pouerth out with moderate graue sentences for mans life.

29 The chiefe authority of speaking is of the Lord alone: for a mortall man hath but a dead heart.

30 * Follow not thy lustes, but turne thee from thine own appetites. Rom. 6. 6. and 13. 14.

31 For if thou giuest thy soule her desires, it shall make thine enemies that enuy thee, to laugh thee to scorn.

32 Take not thy pleasure in great voluptuousnes, ousnes, and entangle not thy selfe with such company.

33 Become not a begger by making bankets of that that thou hast borrowed, and so leave nothing in thy purse; else thou shouldest stande roundly in wait for thine owne life.

CHAP. XIX.

2 Wine and whoredome bring men to powertie. 6 In thy words use discretion. 22 The difference of the wisdom of God and man. 27 Whereby thou mayest know what is in man.

A Laboring man that is given to drunkennes, shall not be rich: and hee that contemneth small things, shall fall by little and little.

2 *Celine and women leade wise men out of the way, and put men of understanding to reproofe.]

3 And hee that companieth adulterers, shall become impudent: rofennesse and whornes shall haue him to heritage, and hee that is too bolde, shall bee taken away, and be made a publike example.

4 *Hee that is hastie to giue credit, is light minded, and hee that erreth, sinneth against his owne soule.

5 Who so refoyceth in wickednes, shall be punished: he that hateth to bee reformed, his life shall be shortned, and he that abhorreth babling of words, quencheth wickednesse: but he that resisteth pleasures, crowneeth his owne soule.

6 Hee that restraineth his tongue, may liue with a troublefome man, and hee that hateth babling, shall haue lesse euill.

7 Reheare not to another that which is told vnto thee: so thou shalt not be hindered.

8 Declare not other mens manners, neither to friend nor foe: and if the sinne appertaine not vnto thee, reueale it not.

9 For he will hearken vnto thee, and marke thee: and when he findeth opportunity, he will hate thee.

10 *If thou hast heard a word [against thy neighbour,] let it die with thee, and be sure it will not hurt thee.

11 A foole tranfleth when hee hath heard a thing, as a woman that is aduocet to bring forth a child.

12 As an arrow that sticketh in ones thigh, so is a word in a fooles heart.

13 *Reproue a friend, lest he doe euill, and if he haue done it, that he doe it no more.

14 Reproue a friend, that he may keepe his tongue, and if he haue spoken, that hee say it no more.

15 Tell thy friend his fault: for oftentimes a slander is raised: and giue no credence to euery word.

16 A man falleth with his tongue: hee not with his will: and who is he that hath not offended in his tongue?

17 Reproue thy neighbour before thou threaten him, and being without anger, giue place vnto the Law of the most High.

18 The feare of the Lord is the first degree to be recheued of him, and wisdom obtaineth his loue.

19 The knowledge of the commandments of the Lord is the doctrine of life, and they that obey him, shall receiue the fruite of immortallitie.

20 The feare of the Lord is all wisdom, and the performing of the Law is perfect wisdom, and the knowledge of his almightie power.

21 If a seruane say vnto his master, I wil not doe as it please thee, though afterward he doe it, he shall displease him that nourisheth him.

22 The knowledge of wickednes is not wisdom, neither is there prudence whereas the counsell of sinners is: but it is enen execrable malice: and the foole is voyde of wisdom.

23 He that hath small understanding, and feareth God, is better then one that hath much wisdom, and transgresseth the Law of the most High.

24 There is a certaine subtiltie that is fine, but it is vnrighteous: and there is that wresteth the open and manifest Law: yet there is that is wise, and iudgeth righteously.

25 There is some, that being about wicked purposes, doe bow downe themselves, & are sad, whose inward parts burne altogether with deceit: he looketh down with his face, and faineth himselfe deafe: yet before thou perceiue, he will be vpon thee to hurt thee.

26 And though hee be so weake, that he can doe thee no harme, yet when he may finde opportunity, he will doe euill.

27 A man may be knowen by his looke, and one that hath understanding, may be perceiued by the marking of his countenance.

28 A mans garment, & his excellencie laughter, and going, declare what person he is.

CHAP. XX.

Of correction and repentance. 6 To speake and keepe silence in time. 17 The fall of the wicked. 23 Ofling. 24 The thiefe and the murderer. 28 Gifts blinde the eyes of the wise.

There is some rebuke that is not comely: againe, some man holdeth his tongue, and he is wise.

2 It is much better to reprove, then to beare euill will, and he that acknowledgeth his fault, shall be preserued from hurt.

3 As when a gelded man, though lust should reuile a maid, so is he that vseth violence in iudgement.

4 How good a thing is it, when thou art reproued, to shew repentance: for so shalt thou escape with full sinne.

5 Some may keepe silence, and so sound wise, and some by much babbling becommeth they foolish.

6 Some man holdeth his tongue, because he hath not to answer: and some keepe silence, waiting a comenient time.

7 A wise man will hold his tongue, till he see opportunity: but a trifled and a foole will regard no time.

8 He that bleth many words, shall be abhorred, and hee that taketh authority to himselfe, shall be hated.

9 Some man hath oftentimes prosperitie in wicked things, & sometime a thing that is sound, bringeth losse.

10 There is some gift that is not profitable for thee, and there is some gift, whose reward is doubtful.

ing: [for then shall not be diminished for such things.]

10 For as a servant which is yet punished, cannot be without some scarre: so he that sweareth, and nameth God continually, shall not be faultlesse.

11 A man that sweth much swearing, shall be filled with wickednesse, and the plague shall neuer goe from his house: when he shall offend, his fault shall be upon him, and if he knowe not his sinne, he maketh a double offence: and if hee sweare in vaine, he shall not be innocent, but his house shall be full of plagues.

12 There is a worde which is clothed with death: God grants that it be not found in the heritage of Jacob: but they that feare God, eschew all such, and are not wrapped in sinne.

13 Use not thy mouth so lightly, but rather: for therein is the occasion of sinne.

14 Remember thy father and thy mother when thou art set among great men, lest thou bee forgotten in their sight, and so through thy custome become a foole: and wish that thou hadst not borne home, and ended the day of thy nativité.

15 The man that is accustomed to opprobrious wordes, will neuer bee reformed all the dayes of his life.

16 There are two sortes [of men] that abound in sinne, and the third bringeth wrath [and destruction]: a minde hot as fire that cannot bee quenched, till it be consumed: an adulterous man that giveth his body no rest, till he have kindled a fire.

17 [All bread is sweete to a whoremonger: he will not leave off till he perish.]

18 A man that breaketh wedlocke, and thinketh thus in his heart, "Who seeketh mee? I am compassed about with darkness: the walles count mee: no body seeketh mee: whom neede I to feare? the most High will not remember my finnes."

19 Such a man only feareth the eyes of men, and knoweth not that the eyes of the Lord are tenthousand times brighter then the sunne, beholding all the wayes of men, [and the ground of the deeps,] and considereth the most secret parts.

20 Wee knowe all things, or ever they were made, and after they be brought to passe also, he looketh upon them all.

21 The same man shall bee punished in the streetes of the citie, [and shall bee chaled like a yong hoise foale,] and when he thinketh not upon it, hee shall be taken: [thus shall hee be put to shame of every man, because hee would not understand the feare of the Lord.]

22 And thus shall it goe also with every wife that leaveth her husband, and getteth inheritance by another.

23 For first she hath disobeyed the law of the most High, and secondly she hath swelled against her owne husband, and thirdly, she hath played the whore in adultery, and gotten her children by another man.

24 Shee shall be brought out into the congregation, and examination shall bee made of her children.

25 Her children shall not take roote, and her branches shall bring forth no fruit.

26 A shameful report shall shee leave, and her report shall not be put out.

27 And they that remaine, shall knowe that there is nothing better then the feare of the Lord, and that there is nothing sweeter then to take heed unto the commandments of the Lord.

28 It is great glory to follow the Lord, and to be received of him is long life.

CHAP. XXIII.

1 A prayer of wisdom proceeding forth of the mouth of God. 6 Of her workes and place where she resisteth. 20 She is given to the children of God.

WISDOME shall praise her selfe, [and be honoured in God,] and rejoyce in the midst of her people.

2 In the congregation of the most High shall shee open her mouth, and triumph before his power.

3 In the midst of her people shall shee be exalted, and wondered at in the holy assembly.

4 In the multitude of the chosen shee shall be commended, and among such as be blessed, shee shall be praised, and shall say,

5 I am come out of the mouth of the most High, [first borne before all creatures.]

6 I caused the light that faileth not, to arise in the heauen, [and covered the earth as a cloude.]

7 My dwelling is above in the height, and my throne is in the pillar of the cloude.

8 I alone have gone round about the compasses of heauen, and have walked in the bottome of the depth.

9 I possessed the manes of the sea, and all the earth, and all people, and nations [and with my power have I troden down the hearts of all, both high and low.]

10 In all these things I sought rest, and a dwelling in some inheritance.

11 So the creatour of all things gave mee a commandment, and he that made mee appointed me a tabernacle, and said, Let thy dwelling be in Jacob, and take thine inheritance in Israel, and roote thy selfe among my chosen.

12 We created me from the beginning, and before the world, and I shall never faile. In the holy habitation have I served before him, and so was I stablished in sinne.

13 In the welbelovéd citie gave he me rest, and in Jerusalem was my power.

14 I tooke roote in an honourable people, even in the portion of the Lords inheritance.

15 I am set upon his like a cedar in Libanus, and as a Cyprus tree upon the mountaines of Permon.

16 I am exalted like a palme tree [about the banks, and as a rose plant in Jericho, as a faire olive tree in a pleasaunt field, and am exalted as a plane tree by the water.]

17 I smelled as the cinamon, and as a bagge of spices: I gave a sweete odour as the best myrrhe, as Galbanum, and anise, and sweete storace, and perfume of incense in an house.

18 As the Terebinth, have I stretched out my branches, and my branches are the branches of honour and grace.

19 As the vine have I brought forth [fruit] of sweete savour, and my flowers are the fruit of honour and riches.

20 I am the mother of beautifull Iove, and of feare, and of knowledge, and of holy hope. I giue eternall things to all my children to whom God hath commaunded.

21 In me is all grace of life and truth: in me is all hope of life and vertue.

22 Come vnto mee all yee that be desirous of mee, and fill your selues with my fruits.

23 For the remembrance of mee is sweeter then hony, and mine inheritance [sweeter] then the hony combe: [the remembrance of me endureth for euermore.]

24 They that eate mee, shall haue the more hunger, and they that drinke me, shall thirst the more.

25 Who so hearkeneth vnto me, shall not come to confusion, and they that worke by me, shall not offend: they that make me to be knowne, shall haue eternall life.

26 All these things are the booke [of life] and the Couenant of the most High God, [and the knowledge of the truth,] and the Lawe that Moses [in the precepts of righteousness] commaunded for an heritage vnto the house of Iacob, [and the promises pertaining to Israel.]

27 Be not weary to behaue your selues valiantly with the Lord, that hee may also confirme you: cleaue vnto him: for the Lord Almighty is but one God, and besides him there is none other Sautour.

28 Out of Dauid his seruant hee ordeined to raise vp a most mighty King that should sit in the throne of honour for euermore.

29 Hee filleth all things with his wisdom, as Iohyson, and as Tygris in the time of the new fruits.

31 He maketh the doctrine of knowledge to appeare as the light, and ouerfloweth as Geon in the time of the vintage.

32 The first man hath not knowne her perfectly: no more shall the last seeke her out.

33 For her considerations are more abundant then the sea, and her counsell is profounder then the great deepe.

34 I wisdome [hane cast out floods:] I am as an arme of the ruler: I runne into Paradise as a water conduit.

35 I sayd, I will water my faire garden, and will water my pleasant ground: and loe, my ditch became a flood, and my flood became a sea.

36 For I make doctrine to shine as the light of the morning, and I lighten it for euer.

37 I will pearce thorow all the lower partes of the earth: I will looke vpon all such as hee sleepe, and lighten all them that trust in the Lord.

38 I will yet poure out doctrine, as prophesie, and cleaue it vnto all ages for euer.

39 Behold that I haue not laboured for my selfe onely, but for all them that seeke wisdom.

CHAP. XXV.

1 Of three things which please God, and of three which hee hateth. 7 Of nine things that be not so be suspected. 14 Of the malice of a woman.

Three things reioyce mee, and by them am I beautified before God and men: the unitie of brethren, the loue of neighbours, a man and wife that agree together.

2 Three sortes of men my soule hateth, and I utterly abhorre the life of them: a poore man that is proud, a rich man that is a lyar, and an old adulterer that doth.

3 If thou hast gathered nothing in thy youth, what canst thou finde in thine age?

4 Oh how pleasaunt a thing is it when gray headed men minister iudgement, and when the Elders can giue good counsell!

5 Oh, how comely a thing is wisdom vnto aged men, and vnderstanding and prudence to men of honour!

6 The crowne of olde men, is to haue much experience, and the feare of God is their glory.

7 There be nine things, which I haue indged in mine heart to be happy, and the tenth will I pronounce with my tongue: a man that wil be liuely, hath ioy of his children, and seeth the fall of his enemies.

8 Well is him that dwelleth with a wife of vnderstanding, and that hath not fallen with his tongue, and that hath not serued such as are vntoworthy of him.

9 Well is him that findeth prudence, and he that speaketh in yeares of them that will heare.

10 Oh, how great is he that findeth wisdom: yet is there none aboue him that feareth the Lord.

11 The feare of the Lord passeth all things in clearenesse.

12 [Blessed is the man vnto whom it is granted to haue the feare of God.] Vnto whom it all be belikened that hath attained it?

13 The feare of the Lord is the beginning of his loue, and faith is the beginning to be ioyed vnto him.

14 The greatest beautifull is the beautifull of the heart, and the greatest malice is the malice of a woman.

15 Giue me any plague, saue onely the plague of the heart, and any malice, saue the malice of a woman.

16 O any assault, saue the assault of them that hate, or any vengeance, saue the vengeance of the enemy.

17 There is not a more wicked head then the head of the serpent, and there is no wrath aboue the wrath of an enemy.

18 I had rather dwell with a lion and dragon, than to keepe house with a wicked wife.

19 The wickednesse of a woman changeth her face, and maketh her countenance blacke as a lacke.

20 Her husband is sitting among his neighbours: because of her hee fighteth for or hee beware.

21 All wickednesse is but like to the wickednesse of a woman: let the porcion of the sinner fall vpon her.

22 As the climbing vp of a sandy way is to the feete of the aged, so is a wife full of wordes to a quiet man.

23 Strimble not at the beauty of a woman, and desire her not for thy pleasure.

24 If a woman nourish her husband, shee is angry and impudent, and full of reproch.

25 A wicked wife maketh a fopp heart, and draweth

CHAP. XXVI.

1 The praise of a good woman. 5 Of the feare of three things, and of the fourth. 6 Of the zealous and drunken woman. 29 Of two things that cause sorrow, and of the third which manneeth wraile.

Blessed is the man that hath a vertuous wife: For the number of his yeeres shall be double.

2 An honest woman rejoyceth her husband, and she shall fill the yeeres of his life with peace.

3 A vertuous woman is a good portion, which shall be given for a gift unto such as feare the Lord.

4 Whether a man be rich or poore, he hath a good heart toward the Lord, and they shall at all times have a cheerful countenance.

5 There bee three things that mine heart feareth, and my face is afraid of the fourth: treason in a city, the assembly of the people, and false accusation: all these are heavier then death.

6 But the sorrow and griefe of the heart is a woman that is zealous over an other: and shee that communeth with all, is a scourge of the tongue.

7 An evill wife is as a poke of oven that draw diuers wayes: hee that hath her, is as though he held a scorpion.

8 A drunken woman, and such as cannot be tamed, is a great plague: for shee cannot couer her owne shame.

9 The whooredome of a woman may be known in the pride of her eyes, and eyelids.

Chap. 43. 11. 10 If thy daughter be not shamefast, hold her straitly, lest she abuse her selfe through overmuch libertie.

11 Take heed of her that hath an unshamefast eye: and marvile not if she trespass against thee.

12 As one that goeth by the way, and is thirsty, so shall she open her mouth, & drinke of every next water: by every hedge shall she sit downe, and open her quiver against every arrow.

13 The grace of a wife rejoyceth her husband, and feedeth his bones with her understanding.

14 A peaceable woman, and of a good heart, is a gift of the Lord, & there is nothing so much worth as a woman well instructed.

15 A shamefast and faithful woman is a double grace, and there is no waight to bee compared unto her continent minde.

16 As the sunne when it riseth in the high places of the Lord, so is the beautie of a good wife the ornament of her house.

17 As the cleere light is upon the holy candlestick, so is the beautie of the face in a ripe age.

18 As the golden pillars are upon the sockets of silver: so are faire words with a constant minde.

19 Perpetuall are the foundations that he layd upon a strong rocke: so are the commandments of God in the heart of an holy woman.

20 By longne, keepe the strength of thine age stable, and give not thy strength to strangers.

21 When thou hast gotten a fruitfull possession, charge all the fields, sow it with thine own seed, trusting in thy nobilitie.

22 So thy stocke that shall live after thee, shall growe, trulling in the great liberalitie of their nobilitie.

23 An harlot is compared to a sowe: but the wife that is married, is counted as a tower against death to her husband.

24 A wicked woman is given as a reward to a wicked man: but a good woman is given to him that feareth the Lord.

25 A shamelesse woman contemneth shame: but a shamefast woman will reuerence her husband.

26 A shamelesse woman is compared to a dogge: but she that is shamefast, reuerenceth the Lord.

27 A woman that honoureth her husband, shall be judged wife of all: but she that despiseth him, shall be blazed for her pride.

28 A loud crying woman & a babler, let her bee sought out to drive away the enemies: the minde of every man that liueth with such, shall be conuersant among the troubles of warre.

29 There bee two things that grieve mine heart, and the third maketh mee angry: a man of warre that suffereth pouerty: and men of vnderstanding that are not let by: and when one departeth from righteousnesse unto sinne: the Lord appointeth such to the sword.

30 There bee two things which me thinke to bee hard and perillous, a merchant cannot lightly keepe him from wrong, and a vitaller is not without sinne.

CHAP. XXVII.

10 As the lion murthereth for the beast, so doeth sinne upon them that doe euill.

11 The talking of him that feareth God, is all wisdom: as for a fool, hee changeth as the Moone.

26 Who so diggeth a pit, shall fall therein, [and hee that layeth a stone in his neighbours way, shall stumble thereon:] and he that layeth a snare for another, shall be taken in it himselfe.

27 He that worketh euill, shall be wrapped in euill, and shall not know from whence they come vnto him.

28 Mockerie and reproch followe the proude, and vengeance lurketh for them as a lion.

29 They that reioyce at the fall of the righteous shall be taken in the snare, and anguish shall consume them before they die.

30 Despise and anger are abominable things, and the sinfull man is subiect to them both.

CHAP. XXVIII.

1 Wee ought not to desire vengeance, but to forgive the offence. 2 Of the vices of the tongue, and of the dangers thereof.

1 Who that seeketh vengeance, shall finde vengeance of the Lord: and hee will surely keepe his finnes.

Deut. 32. 35. rom. 12. 19.

2 Forgiue thy neighbour the hurt that hee hath done to thee, so shall thy finnes be forgiven thee also when thou prayest.

† Man ought not to seeke vengeance.

3 Should a man beare hatred against man, and desire forgiveness of the Lord?

Mat. 6. 14.

4 He will shew no mercy to a man, which is like himselfe: he will bee alke forgiveness of his owne finnes.

5 If he that is but flesh, nourish hatred, [and alke pardon of God:] who will increate for his finnes?

6 Remember the end, and let enmitie passe: imagine not death and destruction to another through anger, but perseuere in the commandments.

7 Remember the commandments: so shalt thou not be rigorous against thy neighbour: [consider diligently] the Covenant of the most high, and forgive his ignorance.

Chap. 8. 1.

8 Beware of strife, and thou shalt make thy finnes fewer: for an angry man kindleth strife.

9 And the unskillful man disquieteth friends, and bringeth in false accusations among them that be at peace.

Prov. 26. 21

10 As the matter of the fire is, so it burneth, and mans anger is according to his power: and according to his riches his anger increaseth, and the more vehement the anger is, the more is hee inflamed.

11 An haile beateth kindling a fire, and an haile fighting sheddeth blood: [a tongue that beareth false witness, bringeth death.]

12 If thou blow the sparke, it shall burne: if thou spit vpon it, it shall be quenched, and both these come out of the mouth.

13 Abhorre the slanderer and double tongue: for such haue destroyed many that were at peace.

† The tongue.

Chap. 21. 28.

14 The double tongue hath disquieted many, & diuised them from nation to nation: strong cities hath it broken downe, & ouerthrowen the boules of great men: [the strength of the people hath it brought downe, and bene the decay of mightie nations.]

a That is, the tongue which faith, and vnfaith, or speaketh one thing, & thinketh another. Or, the tongue which speaketh neither out of the new or old Testament, but of their own braine.

15 The double tongue hath cast out many vertuous women, and robbed them of their labours.

16 Who so hearkeneth vnto it, shall neuer finde rest, and neuer dwell quietly.

17 The stroke of the rod maketh marks in the flesh, but the stroke of the tongue breaketh the bones.

18 There be many that haue perished by the edge of the sword, but not so many as haue fallen by the tongue.

19 Well is him that is kept from an euill tongue, and commeth not in the anger thereof, which hath not drawen in that yoke, neither hath bene bound in the bands thereof.

20 For the yoke thereof is a yoke of yron, and the bands of it are bands of brass.

21 The death thereof is an euill death: hee were better then such one.

22 It shall not haue rule ouer them that feare God, neither shall they be burnt with the flame thereof.

23 Such as forsake the Lord, shall fall therein:

and

and it shall burne them, and no man shall be able to quench it: it shall fall upon them as a lion, and deuoure them as a leopard.

24 Hedge thy possession with thornes, & make doores and barres for thy mouth.

25 Binde by thy silver and golde, and weigh thy wordes in a Balance, and make a doore and a barre, [and a sure hyde] for thy mouth.

26 Beware that thou slide not by it and to fall before him that lieth in wait, [and thy fall be incurable, euen vnto death.]

HE that will shewe mercie, † lendeth to his neighbour: and hee that hath power ouer himselfe, keepeth the commandments.

2 * Lend to thy neighbour in time of his need, and pay thou thy neighbour againe in due season.

3 Keepe thy word, and deale faithfully with him, and thou shalt finde the thing that is necessary for thee.

4 Many when a thing was lent them, reckoned it to be found, and grieved them that had helped them.

5 Will they receiue, they kisse his hands, and for their neighbours good they humble their voice: but when they should pay againe, they prolong the terme, and giue a carelesse answer, and make excuses by reason of the time.

6 And though he be able, yet giueth he scarce the halfe againe, & reckoneth the other as a thing found: else he deceiueth him of his money, and maketh him an enemy without cause: he payeth him with cursing and rebuke, and giueth him euill words for his good deed.

7 There be many which refuse to lend because of this inconueniente, fearing to be defrauded without cause.

8 Yet haue thou patience with him that humbly humbleth himselfe, and desire not mercy from him.

9 Helpe the poore for the commandments sake, and turne him not away, because of his povertie.

10 Lose thy money for thy brothers and neighbours sake, and let it not rust vnder a stone to thy destruction.

11 * Bestow the treasure after the commandment of the most High, and it shall bring thee more profit then gold.

12 * Lay by thine almes in thy secret chambers, and it shall keepe thee from all affliction.

13 [A mans almes is as a purie with him, and shall keepe a mans fauour as the apple of the eye, and afterward shall it arise, and pay euery man his reward vpon his head.]

14 It shall fight for thee against thine enemies, better then the shield of a strong man, or speare of the mightie.

15 An honest man is † suretie for his neighbour: but he that is impudent, forsaketh him.

16 Forget not the friendship of thy suretie: for he hath layd his life for thee.

17 The wicked despiseth the good deede of his suretie.

18 The wicked will not become suretie: and hee that is of an vnthankfull minde, forsaketh him that hath helpered him.

19 [Some man promisseth for his neighbour: and when he hath lost his honestie, he will forsake him.]

20 Some which hath destroyed many a rich man, and remooued them as the waues of the sea: mighty men hath it diuen away from their houses, and caused them to wander among strange nations.

21 A wicked man transgressing the commandments of the Lorde, shall fall into suretieship: and he that medleth much with other mens business, is entangled in controuersies.

22 Helpe thy neighbour according to thy power, and beware that thou thy selfe fall not.

23 * The chiefe thing of life is water, and bread, and clothing, and lodging to couer thy shame. Chap. 36. 26.

24 † The poore mans life in his owne lodge, † Sober living.

25 Be it little or much, holde thee contented, that the house speake not euill of thee.

26 For it is a miserable life to goe from house to house: for where thou art a stranger, thou darrest not open thy mouth.

27 * Hail lodge and feede vnto thankfull men, and after shalt haue bitter wordes for the same, saying, 28 Come, thou stranger, and prepare the table, and feede me of that thou hast readie.

29 Giue place, thou stranger, to an honourable man: my brother cometh to be lodged, and I haue need of mine house.

30 These things are heauy to a man that hath understanding, the vnpaying of the house, and the reproch of the lender.

2 Hee that chastiseth his sonne, shall haue ioy in him, and shall reioyce of him among his acquaintance.

3 Hee that teacheth his sonne, grieved the enemy, and before his friends he shall reioyce of him. Dent. 6. 7.

4 Though his father die, yet is he as though he were not dead: for he hath left one behynd him that is like him.

5 In his life he saw him, and had ioy in him, and was not sorry in his death, neither was he ashamed before his enemies.]

6 We left behynd him an auenger against his enemies, and one that should shew fauour vnto his friends.

7 He that flattereth his sonne, blindeth by his wounds, and his heart is grieved at euery cry.

9 If thou bring by thy sonne delicately, hee shall make thee afraide: and if thou play with him, he shall bring thee to heauinesse.

2 This waking care breaketh the sleepe, as a great sickenesse breaketh the sleepe.

3 The rich hath great labour in gathering riches together, and in his rest he is filled with pleasures.

4 The poore laboureth in liuing poorely, and when he leaueth off, he is still poore.

5 He that loueth golde, shall not be iustified, and hee that followeth corruption, shall haue enough thereof.

Chap. 8. 2.

10 Who hath bene tried thereby, and found perfect: let him be an example of glory, who might offend, and hath not offended, or doe euill, and hath not done it.

11 Therefore shall his goods bee stablished, and the congregation shall declare his almes.

13 Remember that an euill eye is a shew; and what thing created is worse then a wicked eye? for it weepeth for enery cause.

14 Stretch not thine hand wherefore it lo- keth, and thrust it not wick it into the dish.

15 Consider by thy selfe him that is by thee, and marke euery thing.

16 Eate modestly that which is set before thee, and deuoure not lest thou be hated.

17 Leane thou off first for natures sake, and be not vnstable, lest thou offend.

21 If thou hast bene forced to eate, arise, goe forth, vomite, and then take thy rest: [so thou shalt bring no sicknesse vnto thy body.]

24 But against him that is a niggard of his meate, the whole citie shall murmur: the testi- monies of his niggardnesse shall be sure.

25 Shewe not thy valiantnesse in wine: for wine hath destroyed many.

26 The fornice prouoketh the edge in the tem- pering: so doeth wine the hearts of the proud by drunkennesse.

27 Wine soberly drunken, is profitable for the life of man: what is his life that is overcome with wine?

28 Wine was made [from the beginning] to make men glad, [and not for drunkennesse.] Wine measurably drunke and in time, bringeth glad- nesse and cheerefulness of the minde.

29 But wine drunken with excessse, maketh bitterness of mind with brawlings & scoldings.

30 Drunkennesse increaseth the courage of a foole, till he offend: it diminisheth his strength and maketh wounds.

31 Reboke not thy neighbour at the wine, and despise him not in his mirth: giue him no despitefull words, and presse not vpon him with contrary words.

6 Wheras such visions come not of the most High to trie thee, let not thine heart vpon them.

7 For dreames haue deceiued many, and they haue failed that put their trust therein.

8 The law shalbe fulfilled without lies, and wisdom is sufficient to a faithfull mouth: What knowledge hath he that is not tried?

9 A man that is instructed, vnderstandeth much, and hee that hath good experience, can talke of wisdom.

12 I was oft times in danger of death, yet I was deliuered by these things.

13 The spirit of those that feare the Lord, shall liue: for their hope is in him that can helpe them.

23 He that taketh away his neighbors lining, slayeth him, * and he that defraudeth the labourer of his hire, is a bloodshedder.

24 When one buildeth & another breaketh downe, what profit haue they then but labour?

25 When one prayeth, and another curseth, whose voice will the Lord heare?

2 Hee that is thankfull to them that haue well deserued, offereth fine flowre: * and he that giueth almes, sacrificeth praise.

4 * Thou shalt not appeare empty before the Lord.

6 * The offering of the righteous maketh the altar fat, and the smell thereof is sweet before the most High.

7 The sacrifice of the righteous is acceptable, and the remembrance thereof shall neuer be forgotten.

15 Doth not the teares runne downe the widowes cheekes: and her crie is against him that caused them: [for from her cheekes doe they goe vnto heauen, and the Lord which heareth them doeth accept them.]

16 He that serueth the Lord shall be accepted with fauour, and his prayer shall reach vnto the cloudes.

17 The prayer of him that humbleth himselfe, goeth thorow the cloudes, and ceaseth not till it come nere, and wil not depart til the most high haue respect thereunto to iudge righteously, and to execute iudgement.

18 And the Lord will not be slacke, nor the Almighty will tarte long from them, till he hath smitten in sunder the loynes of the vnnmercifull, and auenged himselfe of the heathen, till he haue taken away the multitude of the cruell, & broken the scepter of the vnrightheous, till he giue euery man after his workes, add reward them after their deuices, till he haue iudged the cause of his people, and comforted them with his mercy.

3 Lift vp thine * hand vpon the strange nations, that they may see thy power.

4 As thou art sanctified in vs before them, so be thou magnified among them before vs,

5 That they may know thee, as wee know thee: for there is none other God but onely thou, O Lord.

6 Renewe the signes, and change the wonders, shew the glory of thine hand, and thy right arme, that they may shew forth thy wonderous actes.

7 Raise vp thine indignation, and powre out wrath: take away the aduersary, and smite the enemye.

8 Make the time short: remember thine oath, that thy wonderous works may be praised.

9 Let the wrath of the fire consume them that escape, and let them perish that oppresse the people.

10 Smite in sunder the heads of the princes that bee our enemies, and say, There is none other but we.

11 † Gather all the tribes of Jacob together, [that they may know that there is none other God but onely thou, and that they may shew thy wonderous works] and inherite thou them as from the beginning.

Exod. 4. 22.

12 O Lord, haue mercy vpon the people, that is called by thy Name, and vpon Israel, * whom thou hast likened to a first borne sonne.

13 Oh, be mercifull vnto Jerusalem the citie of thy Sanctuary, the citie of thy rest.

14 Fill Sion, that it may magnifie thine opecles, and fill thy people with thy glory.

15 Gine witnesse vnto those that thou hast possessed from the beginning, & raise vp the prophecies that haue bene shewed in thy Name.

16 Reward them that wait for thee, that thy Prophets may be found faithfull.

17 O Lord, heare the prayer of thy seruants, according to the * blessing of Aaron ouer thy people, [and guide thou vs in the way of righteou- nesse] that all they which dwell vpon the earth, may know that thou art the Lord the eternall God.

Num. 6. 23.

18 The belly deuoureth all meates, yet is one meat better then another.

19 As the throat tasteth venison, so doeth a wise mind discerne false words.

20 A froward heart bringeth griefe, but a man of experience will resist it.

21 A woman is apt to receiue euery man: yet is one daughter better then another.

22 The beauty of a woman cheareth the face, and a man loueth nothing better.

23 If there be in her tongue gentlenes, meek- nesse, and wholesome talke, then is not her hus- band like other men.

24 Hee that hath † gotten a [vertuous] wo- man, hath begun to get a possession: shee is an helpe like vnto himselfe, and a pillar to rest vpon.

26 Who wil trust a thiefe that is alway rea- dy, and wandereth from towne to towne: and likewise him that hath no rest, and lodgeth wheresoeuer the night taketh him.

CHAP. XXXVII.

1 How a man should know friends and counsellors. 12 To keepe his companie that feareth God.

Euery friend saith, † I am a friend vnto him also: but there is some friend, which is onely a friend in name.

† Of friend- ship.

2 Remaineth not there heauines vnto death, when a companion and friend is turned to an enemye?

3 O wicked presumption, from whence art thou sprung vp to couer the earth with deceit?

4 * There is some companion which in pro- spectie reioyceth with his friend: but in the time of trouble he is against him.

Chap. 6. 10.

5 There is some companion that helpeth his friend for the bellies sake, and taketh vp the buckler against the enemye.

6 Forget not thy friend in thy minde, and thinke vpon him in thy riches.

7 Seeke † no counsell at him of whom thou art suspected, and disclose not thy counsell vnto such as hate thee.

† Of whom we should take counsel. Chap. 8. 19. and 9. 16.

8 * Euery counsellor praiseth his owne coun- sell: but there is some that counselleth for him- selfe.

9 Beware of the counsellor, and be aduised afore || whereto thou wilt vse him: for hee will counsell for himselfe, lest he cast the lot vpon thee.

|| Or, what need he hath.

10 And say vnto thee, Thy way is good, and afterward he stand against thee, and looke what shall become of thee.

11 [Like no counsell for religion of him that is without religion, nor of iustice, of him that hath no iustice,] nor of a woman touching her her of whom thee is felous, nor of a coward in matters of warre, nor of a merchant concerning exchange, nor of a buyer for the sale, nor of an envious man touching thankfulness, nor of the unmercifull touching kindnesse, [nor of an vn honest man of honestie] nor of the slouthfull for any labour, nor of an hireling for the finishing of a worke, nor of an idleseruant for much businesse: hearken not vnto these in any matter of counsell.

12 But see continuall with a godly man whom thou knowest to keepe the commandments of the Lord, whose minde is according to thy minde, and is loy for thee when thou stumblest.

13 Take counsell of thine owne heart: for there is no man more faithfull vnto thee, then it.

14 For a mans minde is sometime more accustomed to shewe more then seven watchmen that sit aboue in an high tower.

15 And aboue all this pray to the most High, that he will direct thy way in trueth.

16 Let reason goe before euery enterpryse, and counsell before euery action.

17 The [changing] of the countenance is a signe of the changing of y heart: foure things appeare, good and euill, life and death, but the tongue hath enermore the gouernment ouer them.

18 Some man is wittie, and hath instructed many, and yet is vnprofitable vnto himselfe.

19 Some man will be wise in words, and is hated, yea, he is destitute of all food.

20 Because grace is not giuen him of the Lord: for he is destitute of all wisdom.

21 Another is wise for himselfe, and the fruits of vnderstanding are faithfull in his mouth.

22 A wise man instructeth his people, and the fruites of his wisdom faile not.

23 A wise man shall bee plenteously blessed and all they that see him, shall thinke him blessed.

24 The life of man standeth in the number of dayes: but the dayes of Israel are innumerable.

25 A wise man shall obtaine credite among his people, and his name shall be perpetual.

26 By sonne, proue thy soule in thy life, and see what is euil for it, and permit it not to doe it.

27 For all things are not profitable for all men, neither hath euery soule pleasure in euery thing.

28 Be not + greedy in all delights, and bee not too hastie vpon all meates.

29 * For excesse of meates bringeth sicknesse, and gluttony commeth into cholericke diseases.

30 By surfet haue many perished: but he that dieteth himselfe, prolongeth his life.

CHAP. XXXVIII.

1 A Physician is commendable. 16 To bury the dead. 24 The wisdom of him that is learned.

Honour the + Physician with that honoz that is due vnto him, because of necessitie: for the Lord hath created him.

2 For of the most High commeth healing, and he shall receiue gifts of the king.

3 The knowledge of the Physician lifeth vp his head, and in the sight of great men hee shall be in admiration.

4 The Lord hath created medicines of the earth, and hee that is wise, will not abhorre them.

5 * Was not the water made sweete with wood, that men might know the vertue thereof?

6 So he hath giuen men knowledge, that he might be glorified in his wonderous works.

7 With such doth he heale men, and taketh away their paines.

8 Of such doth the Apothecary make a confection, & yet he cannot finish his owne works: for of the Lord commeth prosperitie and wealth ouer all the earth.

9 By sonne, faile not in thy sicknesse, but * pray vnto the Lord, and he will make thee whole.

10 Leave off from sinne, & order thine hands aright, and cleanse thine heart from all wickednesse.

11 Offer sweete incense, and fine flour for a remembrance: make the offering fat, for thou art not the + first giuer.

12 Then giue place to the Physician: for the Lord hath created him: let him not goe from thee, for thou hast need of him.

13 The houre may come, that their enterprises may haue good successe.

14 For they also shall pray vnto the Lord, that he would prosper that, which is giuen for ease, and their phisicke for the prolonging of life.

15 We that sinne before his maker, let him fall into the hands of the Physician.

16 By sonne, * powze forth teares ouer the dead, + and begin to mourne, as if thou haddest suffered great harme thy selfe, and then couer his body according to his + appointment, and neglect not his buriall.

17 Make a grieuous lamentation, and be earnest in mourning, and vse lamentation, as hee is worthy, and that a day or two, least thou be euil spoken of, and then comfort thy selfe for thine heauinesse.

18 * For of heauinesse commeth death, & the heauinesse of the heart breaketh the strength.

19 Of the affection of the heart commeth sorrow, and the life of him that is afflicted, is according to his heart.

20 Take no heauinesse to heart: driue it away and remember the last end.

21 Forget it not: for there is no turning againe: thou shalt doe him no good but hurt thy selfe.

22 Remember his iudgement: thine also shall be likewise, vnto me yester day, and vnto thee to day.

23 * Seeing the dead is at rest, let his remembrance rest, and comfort thy selfe againe for him, when his spirit is departed from him.

24 The wisdom of a learned man commeth by vsing well his vacant time: and he that cealeth from his owne matters and labour, may come by wisdom.

25 How can hee get wisdom that holdeth the plough, and hee that hath pleasure in the goade, and in driving oren, and is occupied in their labours, and talketh but of the breede of bullockes?

27 So is it of every carpenter, and worke-maister that laboureth night and day: and they that cut and graue seales, and make sundry diuersities, and giue themselves to counterfeit imagerie, and watch to performe the worke.

28 The Smith in like maner abideth by his anvil, and doth his diligence to labour the yron: the vapor of the fire drieth his flesh, and he must fight with the heate of the fornace: the noise of the hammer is euer in his eares, & his eyes looke still vpon the thing that he maketh: hee setteth his minde to make by his workes: therefore hee watcheth to polishe it perfectly.

29 So doeth the potter sit by his worke: hee turneth the wheele about with his feete: hee is carefull alway at his worke, and maketh his worke by number.

30 He fashioneth the clay with his arme, and with his feete he tempereth the hardnesse thereof: his heart imagineth how to couer it with leade, and his diligence is to clesse the ouen.

31 All these hope in their handes, and every one bestoweth his wisdom in his worke.

32 Althoht these cannot the cities be maintained, nor inhabited nor occupied.

33 And yet they are not alked their iudgement in the councell of the people, neither are they he in the congregation, neither sit they vpon the iudgement seates, nor vnderstande the order of iustice: they cannot declare matters according to the forme of the Law, and they are not meete for hard matters.

34 But they maintain the state of the world, and their desire is concerning their worke and occupation.

CHAP. XXXIX.

1 A wise man. 16 The workes of God. 24 Vnto the good, good things profite, but vnto the euill, euen good things are euill.

¶ Or, true wisdom.

He onely that applieth his minde to the Law of the most High, and is occupied in the meditation thereof, seeketh out the wisdom of all the ancient, and exerciseth himselfe in the prophesies.

2 Hee keepeth the sayings of famous men, and entrench in also to the secrets of darke sentences.

3 He seeketh out the myserie of grane sentences, and exerciseth himselfe in darke parables.

4 He shall serue among great men, and appeare before the prince: he shall trauaile through strange countreyes: for hee hath tryed the good and the euill among men.

5 He will giue his heart to resoit early vnto the Lord that made him, and to pray before the most High, and will open his mouth in prayer, and pray for his sinnes.

6 When the great Lord will, he shall be filled with the Spirit of vnderstanding, that hee may poure out wise sentences, and giue thanks vnto the Lord in his prayer.

¶ Or, the Lord. 7 He shall direct his counsell and knowledge: so shall he meditate in his secrets.

8 He shall shew forth his science and learning, and reioyce in the Law and covenant of the Lord.

9 Many shall commend his vnderstanding, and his memory shall neuer be put out, nor depart away: but his name shall continue from generation to generation.

10 * The congregation shall declare his wisdom, and shew it. Chap. 44. 15.

11 Though he be dead, he shall leaue a greater fame then a thousand: and if he liue still, hee shall get the same.

12 Yet will I speake of moe things: for I am full as the nicone.

13 Hearken vnto me, ye holy children, and bring forth fruit as the rose that is planted by the brookes of the field,

14 And giue ye a sweet smell as || incense, and bring forth flowers as the lillie: giue a smell, and sing a song of prayse: blesse the Lord in all his workes. ¶ Or, Libanus.

15 Giue honour vnto his Name, and shew forth his prayse with the songs of your lippes, and with harpes, and yee shall say after this manner, 16 * All the workes of the Lord are exceeding good, and all his commandements are done in due season. Gen. 1. 31. mar. 7. 37.

17 And none may say, What is this, wherefore is that? for at time conuenient, they shall all bee sought out: at his commandement the water stood as an heape, and at the word of his mouth the waters gathered themselves.

18 His whole fauour appeared by his commandement, and none can diminish that which he will saue.

19 The workes of all flesh are before him, and nothing can be hid from his eyes.

20 He seeth from euermlasting to euermlasting, and there is nothing wonderfull vnto him.

21 A man neede not to say, What is this? wherefore is that? for hee hath made all things for their owne vse.

22 His blessing shall run ouer as the streame, and mouen the earth like a flood.

23 As hee hath turned the waters into salt-nesse, so shall the heathen feelee his wrath.

24 As his wayes are plaine and right vnto the iust, so are they stumbling blockes to the wicked.

25 ¶ For the good are good things created from the beginning, and euill things for the sinners.

26 * The principall things for the whole vse of mans life is water, fire, and yron, and salt, and meale, wheate and hony, and milke, the blood of the grape, and oyle, and clothing. Chap. 29. 23.

27 All these things are for good to the godly: but to the sinners they are turned vnto euill.

28 There be spirits that are created for vengeance, which in their rigor lay on sure strokes: in the time of destruction they shew forth their power, and accomplish the wrath of him that made them.

29 * Fitte, and haille, and famine, and death: all these are created for vengeance. Chap. 40. 9. 10.

30 The teeth of wilde beasts, & the scorpions, and the serpents, and the sword execute vengeance for the destruction of the wicked.

31 They shall be glad to doe his commandements: and when need is, they shall be ready vpon earth: and when their houre is come, they shall not ouerpasse the commandement.

32 There-

Gen. 1. 31.

22 Therefore haue I taken a good courage vnto me from the beginning, and haue thought on these things, and haue put them in writing.

23 All the works of the Lord are good, and hee giueth euery one in due season, and when neede is:

24 So that a man neede not to say, This is worse then that: for in due season they are all worthy praise.

25 And therefore praise the Lord with whole heart and mouth, and blesse the Name of the Lord.

CHAP. XL.

1 Many miseries in mans life. 14 Of the blessing of the righteous, and prerogative of the feare of God.

† The miseries of mans life.

Great † trauell is created for all men, and an heauy yoke vpon the sonnes of Adam from the day that they go out of their mothers wombe till the day that they returne to the mother of all things.

2 Namely, their thoughts, & feare of the heart, and their imagination of the things they waite for, and the day of death.

3 From him that sitteth vpon the glorious throne, vnto him that is beneath in the earth and ashes:

4 From him that is clothed in blue silke, and weareth a crowne, euen vnto him that is clothed in simple linnen.

5 Wrath and enuie, trouble and vniquietnes, and feare of death, and rigour, and strife, and in the time of rest, the sleepe in the night vpon his bed, change his knowledge.

6 A little or nothing is his rest, and afterward in sleeping he is as in a watchtoure in the day: he is troubled with the visions of his heart, as one that runneth out of a battell.

7 And when all is safe, he awaketh, and maruellet that the feare was nothing.

8 Such things come vnto all flesh, both man and beast, but seven fold to the vngodly.

Chap. 39. 29, 30.

9 Poisoner, death, and blood, and strife, and word, oppression, famine, destruction, and punishment.

10 These things are all created for the wicked, and for their sakes came the flood also.

† Faithfulness.

11 All things that are of the earth, shall turne to earth againe: and they that are of the waters, shall returne into the sea.

12 All baibes and vnrightheousnes shall be put away: but † faithfulness shall endure for euer.

13 The substance of the vngodly shall be dried vp like a river, and they shall make a sound like a great thunder in the raine.

14 When hee openeth his hand, he reioyceth: but all the transgressors shall come to nought.

15 The children of the vngodly shall not obtaine many branches: for the vncleane rootes are as vpon the high rocks.

16 Their tender stalkes by what water soeuer it be of water banke, it shall be pulled vp before all other herbes.

17 Friendliness is as a most plentiful garden of pleasure, and mercy endureth for euer.

Phil. 4. 12.

1. tim. 6. 6.

18 To labour and to be content with that a man hath, is a sweet life: but he that findeth a treasure, is about them both.

19 Children, and the building of the city maketh a perpetuall name: but an honest woman is counted about them both.

20 Wine and musike reioyce the heart: but the loue of wiledome is about them both.

21 The pipe and the psalterion make a sweet noyse: but a pleasant tongue is about them both.

22 Thine eye desireth fauour and beauty: but a Greene leede time rather then them both.

23 A friend and companion come together at opportunity: but about them both is a wife with her husband.

24 Friends and helpe are good in the time of trouble: but almes shall deliuer more then them both.

25 Gold and silver fasten the feet: but counsel is esteemed about them both.

26 Riches and strength lift vp the mind: but the feare of the Lord is about them both: there is no want in the feare of the Lord, and it needeth no helpe.

27 The feare of the Lord is a pleasant garden of blessing, and there is nothing so beautiful as it is.

28 My sonne, leade not a beggars life: for better it were to die then to begge.

29 The life of him that dependeth on another mans table, is not to be counted for a life: for hee tormenteth himselfe after other mens meate: but a wise man and well nurtured will beware thereof.

30 Begging is sweet in the mouth of the vniamefast, and in his belly there burneth a fire.

CHAP. XLI.

1 Of the remembrance of death. 3 Death is not to be feared. 8 A curse vpon them that forsake the Law of God. 12 Good name and fame. 14 An exhortation to giue heede vnto wisdoms. 17 Of what things man ought to be ashamed.

† Death, how bitter is the remembrance of thee to a man that liueth at rest in his possessions, vnto the man that hath nothing to bere him, and that hath prosperitie in all things: yea, vnto him that yet is able to receiue meate!

† Of death.

2 Death, how acceptable is thy iudgement vnto the needfull, and vnto him whose strength faileth, and that is now in the last age, and is viced with all things, and to him that despaieth, and hath lost patience!

3 Feare not the iudgement of death, remember them that haue bene before thee, and that come after: this is the ordinance of the Lord ouer all flesh.

4 And why wouldest thou bee against the pleasure of the most High? whether it be ten, or an hundred, or a thousand yeeres, there is no defence for life against the graue.

5 The children of the vngodly are abominable children, and so are they that keepe company with the vngodly.

6 The inheritance of vngodly children shall perish, and their posterity shall haue a perpetuall shame.

7 The children complaine of an vngodly father, because they are reproched for his sake.

8 Doe not bee vnto you, O ye vngodly, which haue forsaken the Law of the most High God: for though you increase, yet shall you perish.

9 If ye be boine, ye shall be boine to cursing: if ye die, the curse shall be your portion.

10 All that is of the earth, shall turne to earth againe: Chap. 40. 32.

again: so the vngodly goe from the curse to destruction.

11 Though men mourne for their body, yet the wicked name of the vngodly shal be put out.

12 Haue regard to thy name: for that shall continue with thee aboue a thousand treasures of gold.

13 A good life hath the dayes numbred: but a good name endureth for ever.

14 My children, keepe wisedome in peace: for wisedome that is hid, and a treasure that is not leene, what profit is in them both?

15 A man that hideth his foolishnesse, is better then a man that hideth his wisedome.

16 Therfore heare reuerence vnto my words: for it is not good in all things to be ashamed: neither are all things allowed as faithfull in all men.

17 Be ashamed of whoredome before father and mother, be ashamed of lies before the prince and men of authority:

18 Of sinne before the iudge and ruler: of offence before the congregation and people: of vnrightheousnesse before a companion and friend.

19 And of theft before the place where thou dwellest, and before the treach of God and his Couenant, and to leane with thine elbowes vpon the bread, or to be repproued for giuing or taking,

20 And of silence vnto them that salute thee, and to looke vpon an harlot,

21 And to turne away thy face from thy kinsman: or to take away a portion or a gift, or to be euill minded toward another mans wife,

22 Or to sollicite any mans maide, or to stand by her bed, or to reproch thy friendes with words, 23 Or to vpbraid when thou giuest any thing, or to report a matter that thou hast heard, or to reueale secret words.

24 Thus mayest thou well be shamefast, and shalt finde fauour with all men.

CHAP. XLII.

2 The Law of God must be taught. 9 A daughter. 14 A woman. 18 God knoweth all things, yea, euen the secrets of thine heart.

Of these things be not thou ashamed, neither haue regard to offend for any person:

2 Of the Law of the most high and his Couenant, and of iudgement to iustitie the godly:

3 Of the cause of thy companion, & of strangers, or of distributing the heritage among friends:

4 To be diligent to keepe true balance, and weight, whether thou haue much or little:

5 To sell merchandise at an indifferent price, and to correct thy children diligently, and to beate an euill seruant to the blood:

6 To set a good locke where an euill wife is, and to locke where many hands are:

7 If thou giue any thing by number, and weight, to put all in writing, both that that is giuen out, and that that is receiued againe:

8 To teach the vnlerned, and the vniwise, and the aged, that contend against the young: thus shalt thou be well instructed, and approued of all men liuing.

9 The daughter maketh the father to watch secretly, and the carefulnesse that hee hath for her, taketh away his sleepe in the pouth, lest she should passe the flower of her age: and when she hath an husband, lest she should be bared.

10 In her virginittie, lest she should be defiled, or gotten with childe in her fathers house, and, when she is with her husband, lest she misbehaue her selfe: and when she is married, lest she continue vnfruitfull.

11 If thy daughter bee vnshamefast, keepe her straitly, lest she cause thine enemies to laugh thee to scoorne, and make thee a common talke in the city, and defame thee among the people, and bring thee to publike shame.

12 Behold not euery bodie beauntic, and company not among women.

13 For as the mothy committeth out of garments: so doeth wickednesse of the woman.

14 The wickednesse of a man is better then the good intreacie of a woman, to wit, of a woman that is in shame and reproch.

15 I will remember the workes of the Lord, and declare the thing that I haue seene: by the word of the Lord are his workes.

16 The Sunne that shineth, looketh vpon all things, and all the worke thereof is full of the glory of the Lord.

17 Hath not the Lord appoynted that his saints should declare all his wonderous workes, which the Almighty Lord hath stablished to confirme all things by in his Majesty?

18 Hee seeketh out the depth, and the heare, and he knoweth their practises: for the Lord knoweth all science, and he beholdeth the signes of the world.

19 He declareth the things that are past, and for to come, and discloseth the paths of things that are secret.

20 No thought may escape him, neither may any word be hid from him.

21 He hath garnished the excellent workes of his wisdom, and he is from euertasting to euertasting, and for ever: vnto him may nothing be added, neither can he be diminished: hee hath no neede of any counsellor.

22 Oh, how delectable are all his workes, and to be considered euen vnto the sparkes of fire!

23 They liue all and endure for ever: and whensoever neede is, they are all obedient.

8 The moneth is called after the name thereof, and groweth wonderously in her changing.

9 It is a campe pitched on high, shining in the firmament of heauen: the beautie of heauen are the glorious starres, and the ornament that shineth in the high places of the Lord.

15 In his power hath hee strengthened the clouds, and broken the hailstones.

16 The mountaines leape at the sight of him: the South wind bloweth according to his will.

17 The sound of his thunder beateth the earth: so doth the storme of the North, the whirlewind also, as birds that flie, scattereth the snow, and the falling downe thereof is as the grasshoppers that light downe.

The praise of certaine holy men, Enoch, Noe, Abraham, Isaac and Iacob.

¶ Et vs now commend the famous men, and our fathers, of whom we are begotten.

2 The Lord hath gotten great glory by them, and that through his great power from the beginning.

3 They haue borne rule in their kingdomes, and were renowned for their power, and were wise in counsell, and declared propheties.

4 They gouerned the people by counsell, and by the knowledge of learning meete for the people, in whose doctrine were wise sentences.

Exod. 18. 25.

5 They invented the melody of musike, and expounded the verses that were written.

6 They were rich and mighty in power, and lined quietly at home.

7 All these were honourable men in their generations, and were well reported of in their times.

8 There are of them that haue left a name behinde them, so that their prayse shall bee spoken of.

9 There are some also which haue no memoriall, and are perished as though they had neuer bene, and are become as though they had neuer bene borne, and their children after them.

Gen. 7. 22.

10 But the former were merciful men, whose righteousness hath not bene forgotten.

11 For whole posterity a good inheritance is reserved, and their seed is contained in the covenant.

12 Their stocke is contained in the covenant, and their posterity after them.

13 Their seed shall remaine for euer, and their praise shall neuer be taken away.

14 Their bodies are buried in peace, but their name liueth for euermore.

19 This the Lord saw, and it displeased him, and in his wrathfull indignation were they consumed: hee bid wonders vpon them and consumed them with the fiery flame.

destroyed the adversaries, that they might knowe his weapons, and that he fought in the sight of the Lord: for he followed the Almighty.

7 * In the time of Boyles also he did a good worke: hee and Caleb the sonne of Iephune stood against the enemye and withheld the people from sinne, and appeased the wicked murmuring.

8 * And of sixe hundred thousand people of foote, they two were preferred to bring them into the heritage, such into the land that floweth with milke and hony.

9 * The Lord gaue strength also vnto Caleb, which remained with him vnto his olde age, so that he went vp into the high places of the land, and his seed obtained it for an heritage.

10 That all the children of Israel might see, that it is good to follow the Lord.

11 Concerning the Judges, every one by name, whose heart went not a whoring, nor departed from the Lord, their memoire be blessed.

12 Let their bones flourish out of their place, and their names by succession remaine to them, that are most famous of their children.

13 * Samuel the Prophet of the Lord, beloved of his Lord, ordained kings, and anointed the princes out of his people.

14 By the Lawe of the Lord hee iudged the congregation, and the Lord had respect vnto Jacob.

15 This Prophet was approued for his faithfulness, & he was knowne faithfull in his words and visions.

16 * He called vpon the Lord Almighty, when his enemies preased vpon him on every side, when he offered the sucking lambe.

17 And the Lord thundered from heauen, and made his voice to be heard with a great noise.

18 So he discomfited the princes of the Tyrians, and all the rulers of the Philistines.

19 * And before his long sleepe hee made protestation in the sight of the Lord, and his anointed, that he took no substance of any man, no not so much as a shoe, and no man could accuse him.

20 * After his sleepe also he told of the kings death, and from the earth lift hee vp his voyce, and prophesied that the wickednes of the people should perish.

CHAP. XLVII.

The praise of Nathan, David, and Salomon.

† Nathan. After him rose vp * Nathan to prophesie in the time of Dauid.

2 For as the fat is taken away from the peace offering, so was Dauid chosen out of the children of Israel.

3 * He played with the Lyons, as with kids, and with beares as with lambes.

4 * Slew he not a giant when he was yet but yong, and tooke away the rebuke from the people, when hee lift vp his hand with the stone in the sling, to beat downe the pride of Goliath.

5 For hee called vpon the most High Lord, which gaue him strength in his right hand, to slay that mightie warrior, and that hee might set vp the borne of his people againe.

6 * So hee gaue him the praise of ten thousand, and honoured him with great praises, and gaue him a crowne of glory.

7 * For hee destroyed the enemies on every side, and rooted out the Philistines his adversaries, and brake their borne in sunder vnto this day.

8 In all his workes hee praised the Holy one, and the most High with honourable words, and with his whole heart hee sung songs, and loued him that made him.

9 * He set fingers also before the altar, and according to their time hee made sweet songs, that they might praise God dayly with their songs.

10 He ordained to keepe the feast dayes comely, and appointed the times perfectly, that they might praeise the holy Name of God, and make the Temple to sound in the morning.

11 * The Lord tooke away his sinnes, and exalted his borne for ever: hee gaue him the covenant of the kingdome, and the throne of glory in Israel.

12 After him rose by a wife sonne, who by him dwelt in a large possession.

13 * Salomon reigned in a peaceable time, and was glorious: for God made all quiet round about, that he might build an house in his name, and prepare the Sanctuary for euer.

14 * How wise wast thou in thy youth, & wast filled with vnderstanding as with a flood.

15 Thy mind couered the whole earth, & hath filled it with grane and darke sentences.

16 Thy name went abroad in the yeres, & for thy peace thou wast beloved.

17 * The countreyes marvelled at thee, for thy songs, and proverbes, and similitudes, and interpretations.

18 By the Name of the Lord God, which is called the God of Israel, thou hast gathered gold as tinne, and hast had as much siluer as lead.

19 * Thou diddest bow thy loynes to women, and wast overcome by thy body.

20 Thou diddest staine thine honour, and hast defiled thy posteritie, & hast brought wrath vpon thy children and hast felt sorow for thy folly.

21 * So the kingdome was diuided, and Ephraim began to be a rebellious kingdome.

22 * Neuertheless, the Lord left not off his mercy, neither was he destroyed for his workes: neither did hee abolish the posteritie of his elect, nor tooke away the seed of him that loued him, but he left a remnant vnto Jacob, and a roote of him vnto Dauid.

23 Thus reued Salomon with his fathers, and of his seed he left behind him † Roboam, euen || the foolishnesse of the people, & one that had no vnderstanding, who turned away the people through his counsell, and † Iereboam the sonne of Nebat, which caused Israel to sinne, and shewed Ephraim the way of sinne.

24 So that their sinnes were so much increased, that they were diuen out of the land.

25 For they sought out all wickednesse, til the vengeance came vpon them.

1 Of Simon the sonne of Onias. 23 An exhortation to praise the Lord. 27 The authour of this booke.

Simon * the sonne of Onias the high Priest which in his life set vp the house againe, and in his dayes established the || Temple.

2 Under him was the foundation of the double height, and the high walled that compasseth the Temple.

3 In his dayes the places to receiue water, that were decayed, were restored, and the brasse a Which Salomon made, 1. king. 7. 23.

4 Hee tooke care for his people, that they should not fall, and fortified the citie against the siege.

5 How honourable was his conuersation among the people, and when hee came out of the house covered with the baste!

6 He was as the morning starre in the mids of a cloud, and as the moone when it is full,

7 And as the Sun shining upon the Temple of the most high, and as the rainbowe that is bright in the faire clouds,

8 And as the flower of the roses in the spring of the yere, and as lillies by the springs of waters, and as the branches of the frankincense tree in the time of Summer,

9 As a fire and incense in the censer, and as a vessel of masse gold set with all maner of precious stones,

10 And as a faire olive tree that is fruitfull, and as a cypresse tree, which groweth up to the clouds.

11 When hee put on the garment of honour, and was clothed with all beauty, hee went up to the holy altar, and made the garment of holines honourable.

12 When hee tooke the portions out of the Priests hands, he himselfe stood by the hearth of the altar, compassed with his brethren round about, as the branches doe the cedar tree in Libanus, and they compassed him as the branches of the palme trees.

13 So were all the sonnes of Aaron in their glory, & the oblations of the Lord in their hands, before all the congregation of Israel.

14 And that hee might accomplish his ministry vpon the altar, and garnish the offering of the most high and Almighty, 15 He stretched out his hand to the drinke offering, & powred of the blood of the grape, and he powred at the foote of the altar a perfume of good sauour vnto the most high King of all.

16 Then shouted the sonnes of Aaron, and blowed with brazen trumpets, and made a great noyse to be heard, for a remembrance before the most high.

17 Then all the people together halted, and fell downe to the earth vpon their faces to worship their Lord God Almighty and most high.

18 The singers also sang with their voices, so that the sound was great, and the melody sweet.

19 And the people prayed vnto the Lord most high, with prayer before him that is mercifull, till the honour of the Lord were performed, and they had accomplished his seruice.

20 Then went he downe, and stretched out his hands ouer the whole Congregation of the children of Israel, that they should giue praise with their lips vnto the Lord, and reioyce in his Name.

21 He began againe to worship, that he might receiue the blessing of the most high.

22 Now therefore giue praise all ye vnto God, that worketh great things euery where, which hath increased our dayes from the wombe, and dealt with vs according to his mercie,

23 That he would giue vs toy fauines of heart, and peace in our dayes in Israel, as in old time, 24 That he would confirme his mercie with vs, and deliuer vs at his time.

25 ¶ There be two manner of people that my heart abhorreth, and the third is no people:

26 They that sit vpon the mountaine of Sennar, the Philistines, and the foolish people that dwell in Sitis.

¶ Or, Sitchem

27 ¶ Iesus the sonne of Sirach, the sonne of Eleazar of Jerusalem, hath written the doctrine of vnderstanding and knowledge in this booke, and hath powred out the wisdom of his heart.

28 Blessed is he that exerciseth himselfe therein: and he that layeth up these in his heart shall be wise.

29 For if he do these things, he shall be strong in all things: for he setteth his steps in the light of the Lord, which giueth wisdom to the godly. The Lord be praised for euermore. So be it, so be it.

CHAP. LI.

A prayer of Iesus the sonne of Sirach.

¶ I will confesse thee, O Lord my King, and I praye thee, O God my Saviour: I will giue thanks vnto thy Name.

2 For thou art my defender and helper, and hast preserved my body from destruction, & from the snare of the slanderous tongue, and from the lips that are occupied with lies: thou hast holpen me against mine aduersaries,

3 And hast deliuered mee according to the multitude of thy mercie, and for thy Names sake, from the roaring of them that were ready to deuoure me, and out of the hands of such as sought after my life, and from the manifold afflictions which I had,

4 And from the fire that choked me round about, and from the mids of the fire that I burned not,

5 And from the bottome of the belly of hell, from an vnrightheous tongue, from lying wordes, from false accusation to the King, and from the slander of an vnrightheous tongue.

6 ¶ My soule shall praye the Lord vnto death: for my soule desireth neere vnto death: my life was neere to the hell beneath.

7 They compassed me on euery side, & there was no man to helpe mee: I looked for the succour of men, but there was none.

8 Then thought I vpon thy mercy, O Lord, and vpon thine acts of olde, how thou deliuerest such as waite for thee, and sauest them out of the hands of the enemies.

¶ Or, nas. om.

9 Then lifted I up my prayer from the earth, and prayed for deliuerance from death.

10 I called vpon the Lord, the Father of my Lord, that he would not leaue me in the day of my trouble, and in the time of the proud, without helpe.

11 I will praise thy Name continually, and will sing praise with thanksgiving: and my prayer was heard.

12 Thou hauest me from destruction, and deliueredst me from the euill time: therefore will I giue thanks, and praise thee, and blesse the name of the Lord.

13 When I was yet young, or euer I went abroad, abroad, I desired wisdom openly in my prayer.

14 I prayed for her before the Temple, and sought after her unto farre countries, & she was as a grape that waxeth ripe out of the flower.

15 Mine heart reioyced in her: my foot walked in the right way, & from my youth by sought I after her.

16 I bowed some what downe mine eare, and receiued her, and gate me much wisdom.

17 And I profited by her: therefore will I ascribe the glory vnto him, that giueth me wisdom.

18 For I am aduised to do thereafter: I will be iealous of that that is good: so shall I not be confounded.

19 My soule hath wrestled with her, and I haue examined my workes: I lifted up mine hands on high, and considered the ignorances thereof.

20 I directed my soule vnto her, and I found her in purenesse: I haue had mine heart toynd with her from the beginning: therefore shalt I not be forsaken.

21 My bowels are troubled in seeking her: therefore haue I gotten a good possession.

22 The Lord hath giuen me a tongue for my reward, wherewith I will praise him.

23 Draw neere vnto mee, ye vncircumcised, and dwell in the house of learning.

24 Therefore are yee slowe: and what say you of these things: seeing your soules are very thirlike?

25 I opened my mouth and sayd, * Buy her 1/a. 55. 1. for you without money.

26 Bow downe your necke vnder the yoke, and your soule shall receiue instruction: shee is ready that ye may find her.

27 Beholde with your eyes, * howe that I Chap. 6. 18. haue had but little labour, and haue gotten vnto me much rest.

28 Get learning with a great summe of money: for by her ye shall possesse much gold.

29 Let your soule reioyce in the mercy of the Lord, and be not ashamed of his praise.

30 Doe your duty betimes, and he will giue you a reward at his time.

Baruch.

CHAP. I.

1 Baruch wrote a booke during the captivity of Babylon which he read before Iechoniah and all the people. 10 The Iewes sent the booke with money vnto Ierusalem to their other brethren, to the intent that they should pray for them.

And these are the words of the booke, which Baruch the son of Nerias, the son of Maasias the son of Sedecias, the sonne of Maasias, the sonne of Iechoniah wrote in at Babylon,

2 In the first yeere, and in the seventh day of the moneth, what time as the Chaldeansooke Ierusalem, and burnt it with fire.

3 And Baruch did reade the words of his booke, that Iechonias the sonne of Ioaquim king of Iuda might heare, & all the people that were come to heare the booke.

4 And in the audience of the gouernour, and of the kings sonnes, and before the Elders, and before the whole people, from the lowest vnto the highest, before all them that dwell at Babylon by the riuer of Soud.

5 Which when they heard it, wept, fasted, and made prayers before the Lord.

6 They made a collection also of money, according to euery mans power.

7 And sent it to Ierusalem vnto Ioaquim the sonne of Iechoniah the sonne of Salom Priest, and vnto the other priests, & to all the people, which were with him at Ierusalem.

8 When hee had receiued the vessels of the Temple of the Lord, that were taken away out of the Temple, to bring them againe into the land of Iuda, the tenth day of the moneth of Sivan, to wit, silver vessels, which Sedecias the sonne of Iosias king of Iuda had made,

9 After that Nabuchodonosor King of Babylon had ledde away Iechonias from Ierusalem, and his Princes and his Nobles, prisoners, and the people, and caried them to Babylon.

10 And they said, Behold, wee haue sent you money, wherewith ye shall buy burnt offerings for sinne, and incense, and prepare a meate offering, and offer vpon the altar of the Lord our God,

11 And pray for the life of Nabuchodonosor king of Babylon, and for the life of Baltasar his sonne, that their dayes may be vpon earth, as the dayes of heauen.

12 And that God would giue vs strength and lighten our eyes, that we may liue vnder the shadow of Nabuchodonosor King of Babylon, and vnder the shadow of Baltasar his sonne, that we may long doe them seruite, and finde fauour in their sight.

13 Pray for vs also vnto the Lord our God, (for we haue sinned against the Lord our God, and to this day the furie of the Lord, and his wrath is not turned from vs)

14 And reade this booke (which wee haue sent to you to be rehearsed in the Temple of the Lord) vpon the feast dayes, and at time conuenient.

15 Thus shall yee say, * To the Lord our God Chap. 2. 6. belongeth redemption, but vnto vs the confusion of our faces, as it is come to passe this day vnto them of Iuda, and to the inhabitants of Ierusalem,

16 And to our Kings and to our princes, and to our priests, and to our prophets, and to our fathers, 17 Because we haue * sinned before the Lord Dan. 9. 5. our God.

18 And haue not obeyed him, neither hearkened vnto the voyce of the Lord our God, to walke in the commandements that hee gaue vs openly.

19 From the day that the Lord brought our fathers out of the land of Egypt, euen vnto this day, we haue bin disobedient vnto the Lord our God, and wee haue bene negligent to heare his voyce.

20 * Where-

20 * Wherefore these plagues are come vpon vs, and the curse which the Lord appointed by Moyses his seruant at the time that hee brought our fathers out of the land of Egypt to giue vs a land that floweth with milke and hony, as appeareth this day.

21 Nevertheless, we haue not hearkened vnto the voyce of the Lord our God, according to all the words of the Prophets, whom he sent vnto vs.

22 But every one of vs followed the wicked imagination of his owne heart, to serue strange gods, and to doe euill in the sight of the Lord our God.

CHAP. II.

1 The Iewes confesse that they suffer iustly for their finnes. The true confession of the Christians. 11 The Iewes desire to haue the wrath of God turned from them.

32 He promisceth that he will call againe the people from captiuitie, and giue them a new and euerslasting Testament.

Therefore the Lord our God hath performed his word, which he pronounced against vs, and against our Iudges that gouerned Israel, and against our Kings, and against our Princes, and against the men of Israel and Iuda,

2 So bring vpon vs great plagues, such as neuer came to passe vnder the whole heauen, as they that were done in Ierusalem, according to things, that were written in the law of Moyses,

Dent. 28. 53.

3 That some among vs should eat the flesh of his owne sonne, and some the flesh of his owne daughter.

4 Moreover he hath deliuered them to be in subiection to all the kingdomes that are round about vs, to be as a reproch & desolation among all the people round about where the Lord hath scattered them.

5 Thus they are brought beneath, and not aboue, because wee haue sinned against the Lord our God, and haue not heard his voyce.

Chap. i. 15.

6 * To the Lord our God appertaineth righteousnesse, but vnto vs and to our fathers open shame, as appeareth this day,

7 For all these plagues are come vpon vs, which the Lord hath pronounced against vs.

8 Yet haue we not prayed before the Lord that we might turne every one from the imaginations of his owne wicked heart.

9 So the Lord hath watched ouer the plagues, and the Lord hath brought them vpon vs: for the Lord is righteous in all his workes, which he hath commanded vs.

10 Yet we haue not hearkened vnto his voyce, to walke in the commandements of the Lord that he hath giuen vnto vs.

Dent. 9. 15.

11 * And now, O Lord God of Israel, that hast brought thy people out of the land of Egypt with a mighty hand, and an hie harine, and with signes, and with wonders, and with great power, and hast gotten thy selfe a Name, as appeareth this day.

12 O Lord our God, we haue sinned, we haue done wickedly: we haue offended in all thine ordinances.

13 Let thy wrath turne from vs: for wee are but a few left among the heathen, wherethou hast scattered vs.

14 Heare our prayers, O Lord, and our petitions, and deliuer vs for thine owne sake, & giue vs fauour in the sight of them, which haue led vs away, 15 That all the earth may know that thou art the Lord our God, & that thy Name is called vpon Israel, and vpon their posterity.

16 Therefore looke downe from thine holy Temple, and thinke vpon vs: incline thine eare O Lord, and heare vs.

17 * Open thine eyes, & behold: for the dead, that are in the graues, and whose soules are out of their bodies, * giue vnto the Lord, neither praise nor righteousnesse.

18 But the soule that is vexed for the greatness of sinne, and hee that goeth crookedly, and weake, and the eyes that faile, and the hungry soule will giue thee praye and righteousnesse, O Lord.

19 For we do not require mercie in thy sight, O Lord our God, for the righteousnes of our fathers, or of our Kings,

20 But because thou hast sent out thy wrath and indignation vpon vs, as thou hast spoken by thy seruants the Prophets, saying,

21 * Thus sayth the Lord, Bow downe your shoulders, & serue the King of Babylon: so shall ye remaine in the land, that I gaue vnto your fathers.

22 But if yee will not heare the voyce of the Lord, to serue the King of Babylon, 23 I will cause to cease in the cities of Iuda, and in Ierusalem, I will cause to cease the voyce of mirth, and the voyce of ioy, and the voyce of the bridegrome, and the voyce of the bride, and the land shall bee desolate of inhabitants.

24 But wee would not hearken vnto thy voyce, to serue the King of Babylon: therefore hast thou performed the wordes that thou spakest by thy seruants the Prophets, namely, that the bones of our Kings, and the bones of our fathers should be caried out of their places.

25 And loe, they are cast out to the heat of the day, and to the cold of the night, and are dead in great misery with famine, and with the sword, and in banishment.

26 And the Temple wherein thy Name was called vpon, thou hast brought to the state, as appeareth this day, for the wickednesse of the house of Israel, and the house of Iuda.

27 O Lord our God, thou hast intreated vs according to equitie, and according to all thy great mercie,

28 As thou spakest by thy seruant Moyses, in the day when thou diddest commaund him to write thy Law before the children of Israel, saying,

29 * If yee will not obey my voyce, then shall this great swarme and multitude bee turned into a very few among the nations where I will scatter them.

30 For I know that they will not heare me: for it is a stiffnecked people: but in the lande of their captiuitie they shall remember themselves, 31 And know that I am the Lord their God: then will I giue them an heart to vnderstand, and eares.

32 And they shall heare, and praye mee in the land of their captiuitie, and thinke vpon me

33 Then shall they turne them from their hard backs, and from their euill workes: for they shall remember the way of their Fathers, which sinned before the Lord.

34 And I will bring them againe into the land, which I promised with an othe vnto their Fathers, Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob, and they shall be Lords of it: and I will increase them, and they shall not be diminished.

35 And I will make an euertlasting covenant with them, that I will be their God, and they shall be my people: and I will no more drine my people of Israel out of the land that I haue giuen them.

C H A P. I I I.

1 The people continueth in their prayer begonne for their deliuerance. 9 Hee prayeth wisdom vnto the people, shewing that so great aduersities came vnto them for the despising thereof. 36 Only God was the finder of wisdom. 37 Of the incarnation of Christ.

O Lord Almighty, O God of Israel, the soule that is in trouble, and the spirit that is vexed, cryeth vnto thee.

2 Heare, O Lord, and haue mercie: for thou art mercifull, and haue pity vpon vs, because we haue sinned before thee.

3 For thou enduwest for ever, and we utterly perish.

4 O Lord Almighty, the God of Israel, heare now the prayer of the dead Israelites, and of their children, which haue sinned before thee, and not hearkened vnto the voyce of thee their God, wherefore these plagues hang vpon vs.

5 Remember not the wickednesse of our Fathers, but think vpon thy power, and thy Name at this time.

6 For thou art the Lord our God, and thee O Lord, will we praise.

7 And for this cause hast thou put thy feare in our hearts, that wee should call vpon thy Name, and praise thee in our captiuitie: for wee haue considered in our minds all the wickednesse of our Fathers, that sinned before thee.

8 Behold, we are yet this day in our captiuitie, where thou hast scattered vs, to be a reproch and a curse, and subject to payments, according to all the iniquities of our Fathers, which are departed from the Lord their God.

9 O Israel, heare the commandements of life: hearken vnto them, that thou mayst learne wisdom.

10 What is the cause, O Israel, that thou art in thine enemies land, and art waxed old in a strange countrey.

11 And art defiled with the dead, and art counted with them, that goe downe to the graues?

12 Thou hast forsaken the fountaine of wisdom:

13 For if thou haddest walked in the way of God, thou shouldest haue remained safe for ever.

14 Learne where is wisdom, where is strength, where is vnderstanding, that thou mayest know also from whence cometh long continuance, and life, and where the light of the eyes and peace is.

15 Who hath found out her place? or who hath come into her treasures?

16 Where are the princes of the heathen, and such as ruled the beasts vpon the earth?

17 They that had their pastime with the foules of the heauen, that hoarded vp siluer and golde, wherein men trust and made none end of their gathering?

18 For they that coined siluer, and were so carefull of their work, and whose inuention had none end, 19 Are come to nought, and gone downe to hell, and other men are come by in their steads.

20 When they were young, they sawe the light, and dwelt vpon the earth: but they vnderstand not the way of knowledge.

21 Neither perceived the paths thereof, neither haue their children receiued it: but they were farre off from that way.

22 It hath not bene heard of in the land of Chanaan, neither hath it bene seene in Cheman.

23 Nor the Agarines that sought after wisdom vpon the earth, nor the merchants of Arran, and of Cheman, nor the expounders of fables, nor the searchers out of wisdom haue knowne the way of wisdom, neither doe they thinke vpon the paths thereof.

24 O Israel howe great is the house of God! and howe large is the place of his possession!

25 It is great and hath none end, it is high, and vnumerable.

26 There were the gyants, famous from the beginning: that were of so great stature, and so expert in warre.

27 Those did not the Lord chuse, neither gaue he the way of knowledge vnto them.

28 But they were destroyed, because they had no wisdom, and perished through their owne foolishnesse.

29 Who hath gone by into heauen, to take her, and brought her downe from the cloudes?

30 Who hath gone ouer the sea to finde her, and hath brought her rather then fine golde?

31 No man knoweth her wayes, neither considereth her paths.

32 But he that knoweth all things, knoweth her, and he hath found her out with his vnderstanding: this same is hee which hath prepared the earth for euermore, and hath filled it with foure footed beasts.

33 When hee sendeth out the light, it goeth: and when hee calleth it againe, it obeyeth him with feare.

34 And the starres shine in their watch, and reioyce. When he calleth them, they say, Here we be: and so with cheerefulnesse they shew light vnto him that made them.

35 This is our God, and there shall none other be compared vnto him.

36 Hee hath found out all the way of knowledge, and hath giuen it vnto Jacob his seruant, and to Israel his beloued.

37 Afterward he was seene vpon earth, and dwelt among men.

CHAP. IIII.

1 The reward of them that keepe the Law, and the punishment of them that dispeise it. 12 A comforting of the people being in captiuitie. 19 A complaint of Ierusalem, and vnder the figure thereof the Church. 25 A consolation and comforting of the same.

This is the booke of the commaundements of God, and the Lawe that endureth for euer: all they that keepe it, shall come to life: but such as forsake it shall die.

2 Turne thee, O Iacob, and take holde of it: walke by this brightnesse before the light thereof.

3 Giue not thine honour to another, nor the things that are profitable vnto thee, to a strange nation.

4 O Israel wee are blessed: for the things that are acceptable vnto God, are declared vnto vs.

5 Be of good comfort, O my people, which are the memorie of all of Israel.

6 We are sold to the nations, not for your destruction: but because ye prouoked God to wrath ye were deliuered vnto the enemies.

7 For ye haue displeased him that made you, offering vnto deuils, and not to God.

8 Pee haue forgotten him that created you, euen the everlasting God, and pee haue grieved Ierusalem, that nourished you.

9 When he saw the wrath comming vpon you from God, he sayd, Hearken, ye that dwell about Sion: for God hath brought me into great heauinesse.

10 I see the captiuitie of my sonnes & daughters, which the everlasting will bring vpon them.

11 Which ioy did I nourish them, but I must leaue them with weeping and mourning.

12 Let no man reioyce ouer me a widow, and forsaken of many, which for the sinnes of my children am desolate, because they departed from the Law of God.

13 They would not know his righteousness, nor walke in the waies of his commaundementes: neither did they enter into the pathes of discipline, through his righteousness.

14 Come, ye that dwell about Sion, and call to remembrance the captiuitie of my sonnes and daughters, which the everlasting hath brought vpon them.

15 For he hath brought vpon them a nation from farre, an impudent nation, and of a strange language.

16 Which neither reuerence the aged, nor pitie the young: these haue caried away the deare beloued of the widowers, leauing me alone, and destitute of my daughters.

17 But what can I helpe you?

18 Surely he that hath brought these plagues vpon you, can deliuer you from the hands of your enemies.

19 See your way, O children, goe your way, for I am left desolate.

20 I haue put off the clothing of peace, and put vpon me the sackcloth of prayer, and so long as I liue, I will call vpon the everlasting.

21 Be of good comfort, O children: cry vnto God, and he will deliuer you from the power, and hand of the enemies.

22 For I haue hope of your saluation tho-row the everlasting, and ioy is come vpon mee from the holy One, because of the mercie which shall quickly come vnto you from our everlasting Saviour.

23 For I sent you away with weeping, and mourning: but with ioy and perpetual gladnes will God bring you againe vnto me.

24 Like as now the neighbours of Sion saw your captiuitie, so shall they also see shortly your saluation from God, which shall come vnto you with great glorie and brightnes from the Everlasting.

25 My children, suffer patiently the wrath that is come vpon you from God: for thine enemy hath persecuted thee, but shortly thou shalt see his destruction, and shalt tread vpon his necke.

26 My darlings haue gone by rough wayes, and were led away as a flocke that is scattered by the enemies.

27 Be of good comfort, my children, and cry vnto God: for he that led you away, hath you in remembrance.

28 And as it came into your minde to goe astray from your God: so endeavour your liues tenne times more, to turne againe and to seeke him.

29 For hee that hath brought these plagues vpon you, will bring you everlasting ioy againe, with your saluation.

30 Take a good heart, O Ierusalem: for he which gaue thee that name, will comfort thee.

31 They are miserable that afflict thee, and such as reioyce at thy fall.

32 The cities are miserable whom thy children serue: miserable is he that hath taken thy sonnes.

33 For as she reioyced at thy decay, and was glad of thy fall, so shall shee be forry for her owne desolation.

34 For I will take away the reioycing of her great multitude, and her ioy shall be turned into mourning.

35 For a fire shall come vpon her from the Everlasting, long to endure, and she shall be inhabited of deuils for a great season.

36 O Ierusalem looke toward the East, and behold the ioy that cometh vnto thee from thy God.

37 Lo, thy sonnes (whom thou hast let goe) come gathered together from the East, vnto the West, reioycing in the word of the holy One vnto the honour of God.

CHAP. V.

1 Ierusalem is moued vnto gladnesse for the returne of her people, and vnder the figure thereof the Church.

Put off thy mourning clothes, O Ierusalem, and thine affliction, and decke thee with the worship and honour that cometh vnto thee from God for euer more.

2 Put on the garment of righteousness, that cometh from God, and let a crowne vpon thine head of the glory of the Everlasting.

3 For God will declare thy brightnesse to euery countrey vnder the heauen.

4 And God will name thee by this name for euer, The peace of righteousness, and the glory of the worship of God.

5 Arise, O Jerusalem, and stand by on hie, and looke about thee toward the East, and behold thy children gathered from the East unto the West by the word of the holy One, reioycing in the remembrance of God.

6 For they departed from thee on foote, and were led away of their enemies: but God will bring them againe unto thee, exalted in glory, as children of the kingdome.

7 For God hath determined to bring downe every high mountaine, and the long enduring rocks, and to fill the valleys, to make the ground plaine, that Israel may walke safely unto the honour of God.

8 The woods and all sweete smelling trees shall overshadow Israel at the commandement of God.

9 For God shall bring Israel with joy in the light of his maiestie, with the mercie and righteousness that cometh of him.

CHAP. VI.

A COPIE OF THE EPISTLE THAT Jeremias sent unto them that were led away captiues into Babylon by the King of the Babylonians, to certifie them of the thing that was commanded him of God.

In this chapter are the makers and maintainers of images mightily confuted. That is, seventy yeeres. Isa. 44. 8, 9, 10. & 46. 5, 7. psal. 115. 4. wis. 13. 10.

Because of the sinnes that yee haue committed against God, ye shal be led away captiues unto Babylon, by Nabuchodonosor, King of the Babylonians.

2 So when ye be come into Babylon, ye shal remaine there many yeeres, and a long season, euen seven generations, and after that will I bring you away peaceably from thence.

3 Now shall ye see in Babylon gods of siluer, and of gold, and of wood, borne vpon mens shoulders, to cause the people to feare:

4 Beware therefore that ye in no wise be like the strangers, neither be ye afraid of them, when yee see the multitude before them and behinde them worshipping them.

5 But lay ye in your hearts, O Lord, we must worship thee.

6 For mine Angel shal be with you, and shal care for your soules.

7 As for their tongue, it is polished by the carpenter, and they themselves are gilted, and layd ouer with siluer: yet are they but lyes and cannot speake.

8 And as they take golde for a maid that lo- ueth to be deckt,

9 So make they crownes for the heads of their gods: sometimes also the Priests themselves conuey away the golde and siluer from their gods, and bestow it vpon themselves.

10 Yea, they glue of the same vnto the harlots, that are in their houses: againe they decke these gods of siluer, and gods of golde; and of wood, with garments like men.

11 Yet cannot they be preserved from rust and wormes,

12 Though they haue covered them with clothing of purple, and wipe their faces because of the dust of the Temple, whereof there is much vpon them.

13 One holdeth a scepter, as though he were a certaine Iudge of the countrey: yet can he not slay such as offend him.

14 An other hath a dagger or an are in his right hand: yet is he not able to defend himselfe from the battell, nor from the eues: so then it is euident that they bee no gods.

15 Therefore feare them not: for as a vessell that a man vseth, is nothing woorth when it is broken, 16 So h are their gods: when they be set vp in their temples, their eyes be full of dust by reason of the feete of those that come in.

17 And as the gates are shut in round about vpon him that hath offended the King: or as one that should be led to be put to death, so the Priests keepe their temples with doores, & with locks, and with barres, least their gods should be spoiled by robbers.

18 They light vp candles before them: yea, more then for themselves, whereof they cannot see one: for they are but as one of the posts of the temple.

19 They confesse, that euen their hearts are gnawen vpon: but when the things that creepe out of the earth, eat them and their clothes, they feele it not.

20 Their faces are blacke through the smoke that is in the Temple.

21 The owles, swallows & birdes flie vpon their bodies, and vpon their heads, yea, and the cats also.

22 By this ye may be sure that they are not gods: therefore feare them not.

23 Notwithstanding the golde, that is about them to make them beautifull, except one wipe off the rust, they cannot shine: neither when they were molten, did they feele it.

24 The things wherein is no breath, are bought for a most high price.

25 They are borne vpon mens shoulders, because they haue no feet, whereby they declare vnto men, that they be nothing woorth, yea, and they that worship them are ashamed.

26 For if they fall to the ground at any time, they cannot rise vp againe of themselves, neither if one set them vpright, can they moue of themselves, neither if they be bowed downe can they make themselves straight: but they let gifts before them as vnto dead men.

27 As for the things that are offered vnto them, their Priests sell them and abuse them: likewise also the women lay vp of the same: but vnto the poore and sicke they glue nothing.

28 The menstruous women, and they that are in childbed touch their sacrifices: by these things yee may know that they are no gods: feare them not.

29 From whence cometh it then, that they are called gods: because the women bring gifts to the gods of siluer, and gold, and wood.

30 And the Priests sit in their temples, hauing their clothes rent, whose heads and beards are shauen, and being bare headed,

31 They roare and cry before their gods, as men doe at the feast of one that is dead.

32 The Priests also take away of their garments, and cloth their wiues and children.

33 Whether it bee euill that one doeth vnto them or good, they are not able to recompense it: they can neither set vp a King, nor put him downe.

34 In like manner they can neither giue riches nor money: though a man make a house vnto them, and keepe it not, they will not requite it.

35 They

35 They can save no man from death, neither deliver the weak from the mighty.

36 They cannot restore a blinde man to his sight, nor helpe any man at his need.

37 They can shew no mercy to the widow, nor doe good to the fatherlesse.

38 Their gods of wood, gold, and silver, are as stones that bee hewn out of the mountaine, and they that worship them, shall bee confounded.

39 How should a man then thinke or say, that they are gods?

40 Moreover, the Chaldeans themselves dishonour them: for when they see a dumbe man, that cannot speake, they present him to Bel, 41 And desire that he would make him to speake, as though hee had any feeling: yet they that understand these things, cannot leave them: for they also have no sense.

† Or, branne.

42 Furthermore, the women, girded with coards, sit in the streets, and burne || straws.

43 And if one of them be draywen away, and lie with any such as come by, shee casteth her neighbour in the teeth, because shee was not so worthily reputed, nor her coard broken.

44 Whatsoever is done among them, is lies: how may it then be thought or laid, that they are gods?

45 Carpenters and goldsmithes make them, neither bee they any other thing, but even what the workman will make them.

46 Yea, they that make them, are of no long continuance: how should then the things that are made of them, be gods?

47 Therefore they leave lies, and shame for their posterity.

48 For when there cometh any warre, or plague upon them, the Priestes imagine with themselves, where they may hide themselves with them.

49 How then can men not perceiue, that they bee no gods, which can neither defend themselves from warre, nor from plagues?

Psal. 115. 4.
Wisd. 13. 10.

50 For seeing they be but of wood, and of silver, and of gold, men shall know hereafter that they are but lies, and it shall be manifest to all nations and kings, that they bee no gods, but the works of mens hands, and that there is no worke of God in them.

51 Whereby it may be knowen that they are no gods.

52 They can set by no king in the land, nor give raine unto men.

53 They can give no sentence of a matter, neither preserve from iniurie: they have no power, but are as crows betwene the heauen and the earth.

54 When there falleth a fire upon the house of those gods of wood, and of silver, and of gold, the Priests will escape and save themselves, but they burne as the balkes therein.

55 They cannot withstand any king or enemies: how can it then bee thought or sayd that they be gods?

56 Moreover, these gods of wood, of gold, and of silver can neither defend themselves from thieves nor robbers.

57 For they that are strongest, take away their gold and silver, and apparell, wherewith they be clothed: and when they haue it, they get them away: yet can they not helpe themselves.

58 Therefore it is better to be a king, and so to shew his power, or eile a profitable vessell in an house, whereby he that oweth it, might haue profit, then such false gods: or to bee a dooze in an house, to keepe such things safe as be therein, then such false gods: or a pillar of wood in a palace, then such false gods.

59 For the Sunne, and the Moone, and the starres that shine, when they are sent downe for necessary vles, obey.

60 Likewise also the lightning, when it shineth, it is euident: and the wind bloweth in euery country.

61 And when God commandeth the cloudes to goe about the whole world, they doe as they are bidden.

62 When the fire is sent downe from aboue to destroy hills and woods, it doth that which is commanded: but these are not like any of these things, neither in forme nor power.

63 Therefore men should not thinke, nor say that they bee gods, seeing they can neither give sentence in iudgement, nor doe men good.

64 For so much now as ye are sure, that they be no gods, feare them not.

65 For they can neither curse, nor bless kings.

66 Neither can they shew signes in the heauen among the heathen, neither shine as the Moone.

67 The beasts are better then they: for they can get them vnder a couert, and doe themselves good.

68 So ye may be certified that by no manner of meanes they are gods: therefore feare them not.

69 For as a scarcrow in a garden of cucumbers, keepeth nothing, so are their gods of wood and of silver and of gold:

70 And likewise their gods of wood, and gold, and silver, are like to a white thorne in an orchard, that euery bird sitteth upon, and as a dead body that is cast in the darke, 71 By the purple also and brightnesse which fadeth upon them, ye may vnderstand, that they be no gods: yea, they themselves shall be consumed at the last, and they shall bee a shame to the country.

72 Better therefore is the iust man, that hath none idoles: for hee shall be farre from reproofe.

The

The song of the three holy children, which followeth in the third Chapter of Daniel, after this place, They fell downe bound into the mids of the hote fiery furnace.

25 The prayer of Azarias. 46 The cruelty of the king. 48 The flame deuoureth the Chaldeans. 49 The Angel of the Lord was in the furnace. 51 The three children praise the Lord, and prouoke all creatures to the same.

24 And they walked in the middes of the flame, praising God, and magnified the Lord.

25 Then Azarias stood vp, and prayed on this manner, and opening his mouth in the middes of the fire, said, 26 Blessed bee thou, O Lord God of our fathers: thy Name is worthy to be praised and honoured for euermore.

27 For thou art righteous in all the things, that thou hast done vnto vs, and all thy works are true, and thy wayes are right, and all thy iudgements certaine.

28 In all the things that thou hast brought vpon vs, and vpon Ierusalem, the holy Citie of our fathers, thou hast executed true iudgements: for by right and equitie hast thou brought all these things vpon vs because of our sinnes.

29 For wee haue sinned and done wickedly, departing from thee: in all things haue we trespassed, 30 And not obeyed thy commandements, nor kept them, neither done as thou hadst commaunded vs, that we might prosper.

31 Wherefore in all that thou hast brought vpon vs, and in euery thing that thou hast done to vs, thou hast done them in true iudgement:

32 As in deliuering vs into the hands of our wicked enemies, and most hateful traitours, and to an vnrightheous king, and the most wicked in all the world.

33 And now we may not open our mouthes: we are become a shame and reprobate vnto thy seruants, and to them that worship thee.

34 Yet for thy Names sake we beseech thee, giue vs not by for euer, neither breake thy Couenant, 35 Neither take away thy mercy from vs, for thy beloued Abrahams sake, and for thy seruant Isaacs sake, and for thine holy Israels sake.

36 O whom thou hast spoken and promised, that thou wouldest multiply their seeds as the barres of heauen, and as the sand, that is vpon the sea shore.

37 For wee, O Lord, are become lesse then any nation, and be kept vnder this day in all the world, because of our sinnes:

38 So that now we haue neither prince, nor prophet, nor gouernour, nor burnt offering, nor sacrifice, nor oblation, nor incense, nor place to offer the first fruits before thee, that we might finde mercy.

39 Nevertheless, in a contrite heart, and an humble spirit let vs be received.

40 As in the burnt offering of rammes and bullocks, and as in ten thousand of fat lambs, so let our offering be in thy sight this day, that it may please thee: for there is no confusion vnto them, that put their trust in thee.

41 And now we follow thee with all our heart, and feare thee, and seeke thy face.

42 But vs not to shame, but deale with vs after thy louing kindnesse, and according to the multitude of thy mercies.

43 Deliuer vs also by thy miracles, and giue thy Name the glory, O Lord.

44 That all they that doe thy seruants enill, may be confounded: euen let them be confounded by thy great force and power, and let their strength be broken,

45 That they may know, that thou onely art the Lord God, & glorious ouer the whole world.

46 How the kings seruants that had cast them in, ceased not to make the oven hote with naphtha, and with pitch, and with towre, and with fagots, 47 So that the flame went out of the furnace, fourtie and nine cubits.

48 And it brake forth, and burnt those Chaldeans, that it found by the furnace.

49 And the Angel of the Lord went down into the furnace with them that were with Azarias, and smote the flame of the fire out of the furnace;

50 And made in the mids of the furnace like a most hissing wind, so that the fire touched them not at all, neither grieved nor troubled them.

51 Then these three (as out of one mouth) praised, and glorified, and blessed God in the furnace, saying,

52 Blessed be thou, O Lord God of our fathers, and praised and exalted about all things for euer, and blessed bee thy glorious and holy Name, and praised about all things, and magnified for euer.

53 Blessed be thou in the Temple of thine holy glory, and praised about all things, and exalted for euer.

54 Blessed be thou that beholdest the depths, and sittest vpon the Cherubims, and praised about all things, and exalted for euer.

55 Blessed be thou in the glorious throne of thy kingdome, and praised about all things, and exalted for euer.

56 Blessed be thou in the firmament of heauen, and praised about all things, and glorified for euer.

57 All yee workes of the Lord, blesse yee the Lord: praise him, and exalt him about all things for euer.

58 O heauens, blesse ye the Lord: praise him, and exalt him about all things for euer.

59 O Angels of the Lord, blesse ye the Lord, praise him, & exalt him about all things for euer.

60 All ye waters that bee above the heauen, blesse yee the Lord, praise him, and exalt him about all things for euer.

61 All yee powers of the Lord, blesse yee the Lord: praise him, and exalt him about all things

67 O winter and summer, blesse ye the Lord: praise him, and exalt him above all things for ever.

68 O dewes and stormes of snow, blesse ye the Lord: praye him, and exalt him above all things for ever.

69 O frost and cold, blesse ye the Lord: praise him, and exalt him above all things for ever.

70 O yee and snow, blesse ye the Lord: praise him, and exalt him above all things for ever.

71 O nights and dayes, blesse ye the Lord: praise him, and exalt him above all things for ever.

72 O light and darkenesse, blesse ye the Lord: praise him, and exalt him above all things for ever.

73 O lightnings and cloudes, blesse ye the Lord: praise him, and exalt him above all things for ever.

74 Let the earth blesse the Lord: let it praise him, and exalt him above all things for ever.

75 O mountaines and hilles, blesse ye the Lord: praise him, and exalt him above all things for ever.

76 All things that grow on the earth, blesse ye the Lord: praise him, and exalt him above all things for ever.

77 O fountaines, blesse ye the Lord: praye him, and exalt him, above all things for ever.

78 O Sea and floods, blesse ye the Lord: praye him, and exalt him above all things for ever.

79 O Whales, and all that moue in the waters, blesse ye the Lord: praise him, and exalt him above all things for ever.

80 All ye fowles of heauen, blesse ye the Lord: praise him, and exalt him above all things for ever.

81 All ye beastes and cattell, blesse ye the Lord: praise him, and exalt him above all things for ever.

82 O children of men, blesse ye the Lord: praise him, and exalt him above all things for ever.

83 Let Israel blesse the Lord, praye him, and exalt him above all things for ever.

84 O Preests of the Lord, blesse ye the Lord: praye him, and exalt him above all things for ever.

85 O seruants of the Lord, blesse ye the Lord: praye him, and exalt him above all things for ever.

86 O spirits and soules of the righteous, blesse ye the Lord: praye him, and exalt him above all things for ever.

87 O Saines and humble of heart, blesse ye the Lord: praye him, and exalt him above all things for ever.

88 O Ananias, Azarias, and Misael, blesse ye the Lord: praye him, and exalt him above all things for ever: for he hath deliuered vs from the hell, and saued vs from the hand of death, and deliuered vs out of the middes of the furnace, and burning flame: euen out of the middes of the fire hath he deliuered vs.

89 Confesse vnto the Lord, that hee is gracious: for his mercy endureth for ever.

90 All ye that worship the Lord, blesse the God of gods: praye him, and acknowledge him: for his mercy endureth worlde without ende.

For, colde.

For, frosts.

For, Susanna.

The historie of || Susanna, which some ioyne to the end of Daniel, and make it the thirteenth Chapter.

8 The two gouernours are taken with the loue of Susanna. 19 They take her alone in the garden. 20 They solicite her to wickednesse. 23 Shee chuseth rather to obey God, though it be to the danger of her life. 34 Shee is accused. 45 Daniel doeth deliuer her. 62 The gouernours are put to death.

There dwelt a man in Babylon called Ioachim.

2 And he tooke a wife, whose name was Susanna, the daughter of Helcias, a very fayre woman, and one that feared God.

3 Her father and her mother also were godly people, and taught their daughter according to the Law of Moyses.

4 Now Ioachim was a great rich man, and had a faire garden ioyning vnto his house, and to him resorted the Iewes, because hee was more honourable then all others.

5 The same yere were appointed two of the ancients of the people to be Iudges, such as the Lord speaketh of, that the iniquitie came from Babylon, and from the ancient Iudges, which seemed to rule the people.

6 These hunted Ioachims house, and all such as had any thing to doe in the Law, came thither vnto them.

7 Now when the people departed away at noone, Susanna went into her husbands garden to walke.

8 And the two Elders saw her that she went in dayly and walked, so that their lust was inflamed toward her.

9 Therefore they turned away their minde, and cast downe their eyes, that they should not see heauen, nor remember lust iudgement.

10 And albeit they were both wounded with a To wit, from God.

her loue, yet durst not one shew another his griefe.

11 For they were ashamed to declare their lust, that they desired to haue to doe with her.

12 Yet they watched diligently from day to day to see her.

13 And the one sayd to the other, Let vs goe now home, for it is dinner time.

14 So they went their way, and departed one from another: yet they returned againe, and came into the same place, and after that they had asked one another the cause, they acknowledged their lust: then appoynted they a time both together when they might finde her alone.

15 Now when they had spied out a conuenient time, that shee went in, as her manner was, with two maydes onely, and thought to wash her selfe in the garden, (for it was an hote season)

16 And there was no body there, saue the two Elders that had hid themselves, and watched for her:

17 Shee sayd to her maydes, Bring me oyle and sope, and shut the garden doores, that I may wash me.

18 And they did as shee bade them, and shut the garden doores, and went out themselves at a backe doore, to see the thing that shee had commanded them: but they saw not the Elders, because they were hid.

19 Now when the maydes were gone forth, the two Elders rose vp and ranne vnto her, laying,

20 Behold, the garden doores are shut, that no man can see vs, and wee burne in loue with thee: therefore consent vnto vs, and lie with vs.

21 If thou wilt not, wee will beare witness against thee, that a young man was with thee, and therefore thou dost lend away thy maydes from thee.

22 Then Susanna sighed, and said, I am in trouble on euery side: for if I doe this thing, it is death vnto me: and if I doe it not, I cannot escape your hands.

23 It is better for me to fall into your hands, and not doe so, then to liue in the sight of the Lord.

24 With that Susanna cryed with a loude voice, and the two Elders cryed out against her.

25 Then ranne the one, and opened the garden doore.

26 So when the seruants of the house heard the cry in the garden, they rushed in at the backe doore, to see what was done vnto her.

27 But when the Elders had declared their matter, the seruants were greatly ashamed: for there was neuer such a report made of Susanna.

28 On the morrow after, came the people to Joacim her husband, and the two Elders came also, full of mischieuous imagination against Susanna to put her to death, 29 And said before the people, Send for Susanna the daughter of Velcias Joacims wife. And immediately they sent.

30 So she came with her father and mother, her children and all her kindred.

31 Now Susanna was very tender, and faire of face.

32 And these wicked men commanded to uncover her face, (for she was covered) that they might be satisfied with her beautie.

33 Therefore they that were about her, and all that knew her, wept.

34 Then the two elders stood vp in the midst of the people, and laid their hands vpon her head, 35 Which wept, and looked vp toward heauen: for her heart trusted in the Lord.

36 And the Elders sayd, as wee walked in the garden alone, she came in with two maydes, whom she sent away from her, and shut the garden doores.

37 Then a yong man, which there was hid, came vnto her and lay with her.

38 Then wee which stood in a corner of the garden, seeing this wickednesse, ran vnto them, and we saw them as they were together.

39 But we could not hold him: for hee was stronger then wee, and opened the doore and leaped out.

40 Now when wee had taken this woman, wee asked her what yong man this was, but shee would not tell vs: of these things are wee witness.

41 Then the assembly beleued them, as those that were the Elders and iudges of the people: so they condemned her to death.

42 Then Susanna cryed out with a loude voyce, and sayd, O euerlasting God, that knowest the secrets, and knowest all things afoze they come to passe, 43 Thou knowest, that they haue borne false witness against mee, and behold, I must die, whereas I neuer did such things as these men haue maliciously inuented against me.

44 And the Lord heard her voyce.

45 Therefore when shee was led to bet put to death, the Lord rayled vpon the holy spirit of a yong childe, whose name was Daniel, 46 Who cryed with a loude voyce, I am cleare from the blood of this woman.

47 Then all the people turned them toward him, and sayd, What meane these wordes, that thou hast spoken?

48 Then Daniel stood in the midst of them, and sayd, Are yee such fooles, O Israelites, that without examination, or knowledge of the truerh, yee haue condemned a daughter of Israel?

49 Returne againe to iudgement: for they haue borne false witness against her.

50 Therefore the people turned againe in al haste, and the Elders sayd vnto him, Come, sit downe among vs, and shew it vs, seeing God hath giuen thee the office of an Elder.

51 Then sayd Daniel vnto them, Put these two aside, one farre from another, and I will examine them.

52 So when they were put asunder one from another, hee called one of them, and sayd vnto him, O thou that art olde in a wicked life, now thy sins which thou hast committed afozetime, are come to light.

53 For thou hast pronounced false iudgements, and hast condemned the innocent, and hast let the guiltie goe free, albeit the Lord saith, The innocent and righteous shalt thou not slay.

54 Now then, if thou hast seene her, tell me, Under what tree sawest thou them committing nying together: Who answered, Under a lime-like tree.

55 Then said Daniel, Verily thou hast lyed against thine owne head: for loe, the Angel of God hath receiued the sentence of God, to cut thee in two.

56 So put hee him aside, and commaunded to bring the other, and said vnto him, O thou freede of Chanaan, and not of Iuda, beauntie hath deceiued thee, and lust hath subuerred thine heart.

57 Thus haue ye dealt with the daughters of Israel, and they for feare companied with you:
but the daughter of Iuda would not abide your wickednesse.

58 Now therefore tell mee, vnder what tree diddest thou take them, companying together?
Who answered, Under a lime tree.

59 Then said Daniel vnto him, Verily thou hast also lied against thine head, for the Angel of God waiteth with the sword to cut thee in two, and so to destroy you both.

60 Which that all the whole assembly cried with a lowde voyce, and praised God, which saueth them that trust in him.

61 And they arose against the two Elders, (for Daniel had conuict them of false witness by their owne mouth.)

62 And according to the Law of Moyses Deut. 19. 19.
they dealt with them, as they dealt wickedly Prov. 19. 5.
against their neighbour, and put them to death.
Thus the innocent blood was saued the same day.

63 Therefore Helcias and his wife praised God for their daughter Susanna, with Iocim her husband, and all the kinred, that there was no dishonestie found in her.

64 From that day forth was Daniel had in great reputation in the sight of the people.

65 And King Astyages was layd with his fathers, and Cyrus of Persia reigned in his stead.

The historie of Bel and the Dragon, which is the fourteenth Chapter of Daniel after the Latine.

Now when king Astyages was layd with his fathers, Cyrus the Persian receiued his kingdome.

2 And Daniel did eate at the Kings table, and was honoured aboue all his friends.

3 Now the Babylonians had an idole called Bel, and there were spent vpon him euery day twelue great measures of fine flour, and fortie shepe, and fixe great pots of wine.

4 And the King worshipped it, and went dayly to honour it: but Daniel worshipped his owne God. And the King said vnto him, Why doest not thou worship Bel?

5 Who answered, and said, Because I may not worship idoles made with hands, but the liuing God, which hath created the heauen and the earth, and hath power vpon all flesh.

6 Then said the King vnto him, Thinkest thou not that Bel is a liuing God? Seest thou not how much hee eateth and drinketh euery day?

7 Then Daniel smiled and said, O King, be not deceiued: for this is but clay with brasse without, and did neuer eate any thing.

8 So the king was wroth, and called for his priests, and said vnto them, If ye tel me not who this is that eateth by these expences, ye shall die:

9 But if ye can certifie mee that Bel eateth them, then Daniel shall die: for hee hath spoken blasphemie against Bel. And Daniel said vnto the king, Let it be according to thy word.

10 (Now the priests of Bel were threescore and ten, besides their wives and children:) and the King went with Daniel into the temple of Bel.

11 So Bels priests said, Behold, we will goe out, and let thou the queate there, O King, and let the wine be filled: then shut the doore fast, and seale it with thine owne signet.

12 And to morrow when thou comest in, if thou findest not that Bel hath eaten vp all, wee will suffer death, or else Daniel that hath lyed vpon vs.

13 Now they thought themselves sure enough: for vnder the table they had made a pri-uie entrance, and there went they in euer, and tooke away the things.

14 So when they were gone forth, the king set meates before Bel. Now Daniel had commaunded his seruants to bring ashes, and these they strowed throughout all the temple, in the presence of the King alone: then went they out, and shut the doore, and sealed it with the Kings signet, and so departed.

15 Now in the night came the priests with their wives and children, (as they were wont to doe) and did eate and drinke vp all.

16 In the morning betimes, the King arose and Daniel with him.

17 And the King said, Daniel, are the scales whole? Who answered, Yea, O King, they be whole.

18 And as soone as hee had opened the doore, the King looked vpon the table, and cried with a loud voyce, Great art thou, O Bel, and with thee is no deceit.

19 Then laughed Daniel, and held the King that he should not goe in, and said, Behold now the pavement, and marke well whole footsteps are these.

22 Therefore the king slew them, and delivered Bel into Daniels power, who destroyed him and his temple.

23 Moreover in that same place there was a great Dragon, which the Babylonians worshipped.

24 And the king said unto Daniel, Sayest thou that this is of brass also? for hee lieth, and eateth and drinketh, so that thou canst not say that he is no living God: therefore worship him.

25 Then said Daniel unto the king, I will worship the Lord my God: for hee is the living God.

26 But give mee leave, O King, and I will slay this Dragon without sword or staffe. And the king said, I give thee leave.

27 Then Daniel tooke pitch, and fatte, and haire, and did sethe them together, and made lumpes thereof: this he put in the Dragons mouth, and so the Dragon burst in sunder. And Daniel sayd, Behold whom ye worship.

28 When the Babylonians heard it, they were wonderfull wroth, and gathered them together against the king, saying, The king is become a Jew: for hee hath destroyed Bel, and hath slaine the Dragon, and put the priests to death.

29 So they came to the king, and said, Destroyer vs Daniel, or else we will destroy thee and thine house.

30 Now when the king saw, that they pressed sore upon him, and that necessitie constrained him, hee delivered Daniel unto them:

31 Who cast him into the Lions den, where he was six dayes.

32 In the denne there were seven Lions, and they had given them every day two bodies and two sheepe, which then were not given them, to the intent that they might devour Daniel.

33 Now there was in Iewrie a Prophet called Abbacuc, which had made portage, and broken bread into a bowle, and was going into the field, for to bring it to the reapers.

34 But the Angel of the Lord said unto Abbacuc, Go, carry the meate that thou hast, into Babylon unto Daniel, which is in the Lyons denne.

35 And Abbacuc said, Lord, I never saw Babylon, neither doe I know where the denne is.

36 Then the Angel tooke him by the crowne of the head, & bare him by the haire of the head, and through a mighty wind set him in Babylon vpon the denne.

37 And Abbacuc cryed, saying, O Daniel, Daniel, take the dinner that God hath lent thee.

38 Then sayd Daniel, O God, thou hast thought vpon mee, and thou neuer failest them that like thee and loue thee.

39 So Daniel arole, and did eate, and the Angel of the Lord set Abbacuc in his own place againe immediatly.

40 Upon the seventh day the king went to bewaile Daniel, and when he came to the denne, he looked in, and beheld, Daniel sate in the midst of the Lions.

41 Then cried the king with a loud voyce, saying, Great art thou, O Lord God of Daniel, and there is none other besides thee.

42 And he drew him out of the den, and cast them that were the cause of his destruction, into the denne, and they were devoured in a moment before his face.

CHAP. I.

8 The death of Alexander the king of Macedonia. 11 Antiochus taketh the kingdome. 12 Many of the children of Israel make covenant with the Gentiles. 31 Antiochus subdueth Egypt and Ierusalem unto his dominion. 50 Antiochus setteth up idoles.

a The first battell with the Carthaginenses was fought at this time.

b The beginning of the kingdome of Egypt.

After that Alexander the Macedonian, the sonne of Philip, went forth of the land of Chettim, and slew Darius King of the Persians and Medes, and reigned for him as he had before in Grecia,

2 We tooke great warres in hand, and wanne strong holds, and slew the kings of the earth.

3 So went hee thorow to the endes of the world, and tooke spoiles of many nations, in so much that the world stood in awe of him: therefore his heart was puffed up and was haughty.

4 Now when hee had gathered a mightie strong holste,

5 And had reigned ouer regions, nations, and kingdomes, they became tributaries vnto him.

6 After these things hee fell sicke, and knew that he should die.

7 Then hee called for the chiefe of his servants, which had bene brought vp with him of childe, and parted his kingdome among them, while he was yet alive.

8 So Alexander had reigned twelue yeeres when he died.

9 And his servants reigned euery one in his roome.

10 And they all caused themselves to be crowned after his death, and so did their children after them many yeeres, and much wickedness increased in the world.

11 For out of these came the wicked roote, even Antiochus Epiphanes, the sonne of king Antiochus, which had bene an hostage at Rome, and hee reigned in the hundredth and seven and thirtieth yeere of the kingdome of the Grekes.

12 In those dayes went there out of Israel wicked men, which entiled many, saying, Let vs goe and make a covenant with the the heathen that are round about us: for since we departed from them, we haue had much sorrow.

13 So this drinke pleased them well.

14 And certaine of the people were ready and went to the king, which gaue them licence to doe after the ordinances of the heathen.

15 Then set they vp a place of exercise at Ierusalem, according to the fashions of the heathen.

16 And made themselves vncircumcised and forsooke the holy Couenant, and ioyned themselves to the heathen, and were sold to doe unchaste.

17 So when Antiochus kingdome was set in order, he went about to reigne ouer Egypt, that hee might haue the dominion of two Realmes.

18 Therefore hee entred into Egypt with a mightie company, with charrets, and Elephants, and with horsemen, and with a great traine.

19 And moued warre against Ptolemus, King of Egypt: but Ptolemus was afraide of him, and fled, and many were wounded to death.

20 Thus Antiochus tooke many strong cities in the land of Egypt, and tooke away the spoiles of the land of Egypt.

21 And after that Antiochus had smitten Egypt, he returned againe in the hundredth fouerth and three yeere.

22 And went by toward Israel and Ierusalem with a mighty people.

23 And entred proudly into the Sanctuary, and tooke away the golden Altar, and the Candlesticke for the light, and all the instruments thereof, and the Table of the Shewbread, and the pouring vessels, and the howles, and the golden balens, and the vaille, and the crownes, and the golden apparell, which was before the Temple, and brake all in pieces.

24 Hee tooke also the siluer and golde, and the precious Jewels, and hee tooke the secret treasures that hee found, and when hee had taken away all, hee departed into his owne land.

25 After hee had murdered many men, and spoken very proudly.

26 Therefore there was a great lamentation in euery place of Israel.

27 For the Princes and the Elders mourned: the young women, and the young men were made feeble, and the beautie of the women was changed.

28 Euery bridegrome tooke him to mourning, and hee that late in the marriage chamber was in heavinesse.

29 The land also was moued for the inhabitants thereof: for all the house of Iacob was couered with confusion.

30 After two yeeres the king sent his chiefe taskemaster into the cities of Iuda, which came to Ierusalem with a great multitude.

31 Who spake peaceable words vnto them in deceit, and they gaue credit vnto him.

32 Then he fell suddenly vpon the citie, and smote it with a great plague, and destroyed much people of Israel.

33 And when he had spoiled the citie, hee set fire on it, casting downe the houses thereof, and walles thereof on euery side.

34 The women and their children tooke they captiue, and led away the cattell.

35 Then fortified they the citie of Iuda with a great and thicke wall, and with mightie towers, and made it a strong hold for them.

36 Moreover they set wicked people there, and vngodly persons, and fortified themselves therein.

37 And they stored it with weapons and vittalles, and gathered the spoyle of Ierusalem, and laid it by there.

38 Thus became they a sore snare, and were in ambushment for the Sanctuary, and were wicked enemies euermore vnto Israel.

39 For they shedde innocent blood on euery side of the Sanctuary, and defiled the Sanctuary.

40 Insomuch that the citizens of Ierusalem fled away because of them, and it became an habitation of strangers, being desolate of them whom she had borne: for her owne children did leaue her.

41 Her Sanctuary was left waste as a wilderness: her holy dayes were turned into mourning, her Sabbaths into reproch, and her hono- brought to nought.

42 As her glory had bene great, so was her dishonour, and her excellencie was turned into sorrow.

43 Also the King wrote vnto all his kingdome, that all the people should bee as one, and that euery man should leaue his lawes.

44 And all the heathen agreed to the commandement of the king.

45 Yea, many of the Israelites consented to his religion, offering vnto idoles, and defiling the Sabbath.

46 So the King sent letters by the messengers vnto Ierusalem, and to the cities of Iuda, that they should follow the strange lawes of the countrey.

47 And that they should forbid the burnt offerings and sacrifices, and the offerings in the Sanctuary.

48 And that they should defile the Sabbaths and the feasts.

49 And pollute the Sanctuary and the holy men.

50 And to set vp altars and grones, and chappels of idoles, and offer by swines flesh, and vncleane beasts.

51 And that they should leaue their children vncircumcised, and defile their soules with vncleannesse, and pollute themselves, that they might forget the Law, and change all the ordinances.

52 And that whosoener would not doe according to the commandement of the king, should suffer death.

53 In like manner wrote hee thorowout all his kingdomes, and set ouerletters ouer all the people, for to compell them to doe these things.

54 And hee commanded the cities of Iuda to doe sacrifice, citie by citie.

55 Then went many of the people vnto them by heapes, euery one that forsooke the Law, and so they committed guilt in the land.

56 And they dyone the Israelites into secret places, even whersoever they could flee for succour.

57 The fifteenth day of Cassieu, in the hundredth and nine and fourtieth yeere, they set by the abomination of desolation upon the altar, and they builded altars thowout the cities of Juda on every side.

58 And before the doores of the houses, and in the streets they burnt incense.

59 And the bookes of the Law, which they found, they burnt in the fire, and cut in pieces.

i It is a manifest note of the enemies of God, to burne the bookes of the Law, Hist. eccles. lib. 8. cap. 2.

60 Whosoever had a booke of the Testament found by him, or whosoever consented unto the Law, the kings commandment was, that they should put him to death by their authority.

61 And they executed these things every moneth upon the people of Israel that were found in the cities.

62 And in the nine and twentieth day of the moneth, they did sacrifice upon the altar, which was in the stead of the altar of sacrifices.

63 And according to the commaundement they put certaine women to death, which had caused their children to be circumcised.

64 And they hanged up the children at their neckes, and they spoiled their houses, and slew the circumcisers of them.

65 Yet were there many in Israel, which were of courage, and determined in themselves, that they would not eat unclean things.

66 But chose rather to suffer death, then to bee defiled with those meates: so because they would not breake the holy covenant, they were put to death.

CHAP. II.

1 The mourning of Mattathias and his sonnes for the destruction of the holy citie. 29 They refuse to doe sacrifice unto idols. 24 The zeale of Mattathias for the Law of God. 33 They are slaine, and will not fight againe because of the Sabbath day. 49 Mattathias dying commaundeth his sonnes to stick by the word of God, after the example of the fathers.

Joseph. Ant. 12. cap. 7.

1 In those dayes stood by Mattathias the Priest, the sonne of Joannes, the sonne of Simeon, of the sonnes of Joarib of Jerusalem, and dwelt in Modin.

2 And hee had five sonnes, Joanan called Gaddis,

3 Simon called Thassi,

4 Judas which was called Maccabeus,

Dr. Anan.

5 Eleazar called // Abaron, and Jonathan, whose name was Apphus.

6 Now he saw the blasphemies, which were committed in Juda and Jerusalem:

7 And he sayd, Woe is mee: wherefore was I borne, to see this destruction of my people, and the destruction of the holy citie, and thus to sit still: it is delivered into the hands of the enemies.

8 And the Sanctuary is in the handes of strangers: her Temple is as a man that hath no renoume.

9 Her glorious vessels are caried away into captiuitie: her infants are slaine in the streets, and her young men are fallen by the sword of the enemies.

10 What people is it that hath not some possession in her kingdome, or hath not gotten of her spoiles?

11 All her glory is taken away: of a free woman, she is become an handmaid.

12 Behold, our Sanctuary, and our beautie, and honour is desolate, and the Gentiles haue defiled it.

13 What helpeth it vs then to live any longer?

14 And Mattathias rent his clothes, he, and his sonnes, and put sackcloth upon them, and mourned very sore.

15 Then came men from the King to the citie of Modin, to compell them to forsake God, and to sacrifice.

16 So many of the Israelites consented unto them: but Mattathias and his sonnes assembled together.

17 Then spake the commissioners of the king, and sayd unto Mattathias, Thou art the chiefe and an honourable man, and great in this citie, and hast many children and brethren.

18 Come thou therefore first, and fulfill the Kings commaundement, as all the heathen haue done, and also the men of Juda, and such as remaine at Jerusalem: so shalt thou and thy familie bee in the Kings fauour: and thou and thy children shall be enriched with silver and gold, and with many rewards.

19 Then Mattathias answered and said with a loud voice, Though all nations that are vnder the kings dominion, obey him, and fall away euery man from the religion of their fathers, and consent to his commandments, 20 Yet will I and my sonnes, and my brethren walke in the covenant of our fathers.

21 God be mercifull vnto vs, that we forsake not the law and the ordinances.

22 Wee will not hearken vnto the Kings words to transgresse our religion, neither on the right side, nor on the left.

23 And when hee had left off speaking these words, there came one of the Jewes, in the sight of all, to sacrifice vpon the altar which was at Modin, according to the kings commaundement.

24 Now when Mattathias saw it, he was so inflamed with zeale, that his retires shooke, and his wrath was kindled according to the ordinance of the law: therefore hee ranne vnto him, and killed him by the altar:

25 And at the same time hee slew the kings commissioner, that compelled him to doe sacrifice, and destroyed the altar.

26 Thus bare he a zeale to the Law of God, * doing as Phinees did vnto Zambri the sonne of Salom.

27 Then cryed Mattathias with a loud voice in the citie, saying, Whosoever is zealous of the Law, and will stand by the covenant, let him come forth after me.

28 So he and his sonnes fled into the mountaines, and left all that they had in the city.

29 Then many that // sought after iustice and judgement, went downe into the wilderness to dwell there, both they, and their children, and their wiues and their cattell: for the afflictions increased sore vpon them.

31 Then when it was told vnto the kings seruants, a The father promisseth for his children, that they shall serue God: so doeth Joshua for his household, Josh. 24. 15.

servants, and to the garlsons, which were in Jerusalem in the cite of David, that men had broken the Kings commaundement, and were gone downe into the secret places in the wilderness,

32 Then many pursued after them: and having overtaken them, they camped against them and set the battell in aray against them on the Sabbath day, 33 And sayd vnto them, Let this now be sufficient: come forth and do according to the commaundement of the King, and ye shall live.

34 But they answered, We will not goe forth, neither will we doe the Kings commaundement, to defile the Sabbath day.

35 Then they gaue them the battel.

36 But the other answered them nothing, neither cast any one stone at them, or stopped the priue places, 37 But said, We will die all in our innocencie: the heauen and earth shall testifie for vs, that wee destroy vs wrongfully.

38 Thus they gaue them the battel vpon the Sabbath, and slew both men and cattell, their wiues & their children to the number of a thousand people.

39 When Mattathias and his friends vnderstood this, they mourned for them greatly,

40 And said one to another, If we all doe as our brethren haue done, and fight not against the heathen for our liues, and for our Lawes, then shall they incontinently destroy vs out of the earth.

41 Therefore they concluded at the same time, saying, Whosoever shall come to make battell with vs vpon the Sabbath day, we will fight against him, that wee die not all, as our brethren that were murdered in the secret places.

42 Then came vnto them the assembly of the Audeans, which were of the strongest men of Israel, all such as were well minded toward the Law.

43 And all they that were fled for persecuti- on, joynded themselves vnto them, and were an helpe vnto them.

44 So they gathered a power, and smote the wicked men in their wrath, and the vngodly in their anger, but the rest fled vnto the heathen and escaped.

45 Then Mattathias and his friends went about and destroyed the Altars, 46 And circumcised the children by force that were vncircumcised: as many as they found with in the coasts of Israel, 47 And they pursued after the prouidemen: and this act prospered in their hands.

48 So they recovered the Lawe out of the hand of the Gentiles, and out of the hand of kings, and gaue not place to the wicked.

49 Now when the time drew nere, that Mattathias should die, he sayd vnto his sonnes, Now is pride and persecuti- on increased, and the time of destruction, and the wrath of indignation.

50 Now therefore, my sonnes, bee ye zealous of the Law, and giue your liues for the covenant of our fathers.

51 Call to remembrance what actes our fathers did in their time: so shall ye receiue great honour and an euerslasting name.

52 Was not Abraham found faithfull in tentation, and it was imputed vnto him for righteousness?

53 Joseph in the time of his trouble kept the commaundement, and was made the Lord of Egypt.

54 Whence our father, because he was zealous and feruent, obtained the covenant of the euerslasting Testament.

55 Jesus for fulfilling the word, was made the gouernour of Israel.

56 Caleb, because he bare witness befoze the congregation, receiued the heritage of the land.

57 David, because of his mercie, obtained the throne of the kingdome for euermore.

58 Elias, because hee was zealous and feruent in the Lawe, was taken vp euen vnto heauen.

59 Ananias, Azarias, and Misael by their faith were deliuered out of the flame.

60 Daniel, because of his innocencie, was deliuered from the mouth of the Lions.

61 And thus ye may consider thorowout all ages, that whosoever put their trust in him shall not want strength.

62 Feare not ye then the words of a sinfull man: for his glory is but dung and wormes.

63 To day is he set vp, and to morrow he shall not be found: for he is turned into his dust, and his purpose perisheth.

64 Wherefore my sonnes, take good hearts, and shew your selues men for the Law: for by it shall you obtaine glory.

65 And beholde, I know that your brother Simon is a man of counsell: giue eare vnto him alway: he shall be a father vnto you.

66 And Judas Maccabeus hath bene mightie and strong, euen from his youth by: let him be your capitaine, and fight you the battel for the people.

67 Thus shal ye bring vnto you all those that obserue the Law, and shall auenge the iniuries of your people.

68 Recompense fully the heathen, and giue your selues to the commaundement of the Law.

69 So he blessed them, and was laid with his fathers,

70 And died in the hundredth fortieth and first yeere, and his sonnes buried him in his fathers sepulchre at Modin, and all Israel made great lamentation for him.

12. chap. 9.

10 ¶ But Apollonius gathered the Gentiles: and a great hoste out of Samaria, to fight against Israel.

11 Which when Judas perceived, he went forth to meete him, and smote him, and slew him, so that many fell downe slaine, and the rest fled.

12 So Judas tooke their spoiles, and tooke also Apollonius sword, and fought with it al his life long.

13 ¶ Now when Seron a prince of the army of Syria, heard that Judas had gathered vnto him the congregation, and Church of the faithfull, and went forth to warre.

14 He said, I will get me a name, and will be glorious in the Realme: For I will go fight with Judas, and them that are with him, which haue despised the kings commandement.

15 So he made him ready to go vp, and there went with him a mighty hoste of the vngodly to helpe him, and to be auenged of the children of Israel.

16 And when he came nere to the going by of Beth horizon, Judas went forth to meet him with a small company.

17 But when they sawe the army comming against them, they sayd to Judas, how are we able being so fewe, to fight against so great a multitude, and so strong, seeing we be so weary, and haue fasted all this day?

18 Then said Judas, It is an easie thing for many to be shut vp in the handes of few, and there is no difference before the God of heauen, to deliuer by a great multitude, or by a small company.

19 For the victory of the battel standeth not in the multitude of the hoste, but the strength commeth from heauen.

20 They come against vs with a cruell and proude multitude to destroy vs, and our wiues, and our children, and to robbe vs.

21 But we doe fight for our liues, and for our Lawes.

22 And God himselfe will destroy them before our face: therefore be not ye afraid of them.

23 And when he had left of speaking, he leapt suddenly vpon them: so was Seron and his host destroyed before him.

24 And they pursued them from the going downe of Beth horizon vnto the plaine: where there were slaine eight hundred men of them, & the residue fled into the land of the Philistines.

25 Then the feare and terrour of Judas and his brethren fell vpon the nations round about.

26 So that his fame came vnto the King: for all the Gentiles could tell of the warres of Judas.

27 ¶ But when king Antiochus heard these tidings, he was angry in his minde: wherefore he sent forth, and gathered all the power of his Realme, a very strong armie, 28 And opened his treasure, and gaue his hoste a yeres wages in hand, commanding them to be ready for a yere for all occasions.

29 Nevertheless, when hee sawe that the money of his treasures failed, and that the tributes in the countrey were small, because of the dissension, and plagues that he had brought vpon the land, in taking away the Lawes which had bene of old time.

30 He feared least he should not haue now at the second time, as at the first, for the charges and gifts that he had giuen with a liberrall hand afore: for in liberalitie he farre passed the other Kings that were before him.

31 Wherefore he was heauie in his minde, and thought to goe into Persia, for to take tributes of the countreys, and to gather much money.

32 So he left Lysias a noble man, and of the Kings blood to oversee the kings businesse, from the riuer of Euphrates, vnto the borders of Egypt.

33 And to bring by his sonne Antiochus, till he came againe.

34 Moreover, he gaue him halfe of his hoste and Elephants, and gaue him the charge of all things that he would haue done,

35 And concerning those which dwelt in Iuda and Ierusalem, that he should send an army against them, to destroy and roote out the power of Israel and the remnant of Ierusalem, and to put out their memoriall from that place.

36 And to let strangers for to inhabite al their quarters, and part their land among them.

37 And the king tooke the halfe of the host that remained, and departed from Antiochia his royall city, in the yere an hundredth fourtie and seuen, and passed the riuer Euphrates, and went thorow the his countreys.

38 Then Lysias chose Ptolemeus the sonne of Doriminius, and Picanor, & Gorgias, mighty men and the kings friends.

39 And sent with them fortie thousand footmen, and seuen thousand horsemen, to goe into the land of Iuda, and to destroy it, as the king commanded.

40 So they went forth with all their power and came and pitched by Emmaus in the plain countrey. † Emmaus, 41 Now when the merchants of the countrey heard the rumour of them, they tooke very much siluer and gold, and seruants, and came into the campe to buy the children of Israel for slaues, and the strength of Syria and of strange nations toynd with them.

42 ¶ Now when Judas and his brethren sawe that trouble increased and that the hoste drew nere vnto their borders, considering the kings words, whereby he had commanded to destroy the people, and utterly abolish them.

43 They said one to another: Let vs redresse the decay of our people, and let vs fight for our people, and for our Sanctuarie.

44 Then the congregation were soone ready gathered to fight, and to pray, and to desire mercy and compassion.

45 As for Ierusalem, it was not inhabited, but was as a wilderness. There went none that was borne in it, in or out at it, and the Sanctuary

Sanctuary was troden downe, and the strangers kept the fortresse, and it was the habitation of the heathen: and the mirth of Jacob was taken away: the pipe and the harpe ceased.

46 So they gathered themselves together, and came to Belpha before Jerusalem: for in Belpha was the place where they prayed aforesome time in Israel.

47 And they fasted that day, and put sackcloth vpon them, and cast ashes vpon their heads and rent their clothes.

48 And opened the booke of the law, where in the heathen sought to paint the likenesse of their idoles.

49 And brought the Priests garments, and the first fruits, and the tithes, and set there the Nazarites, which accomplished their dayes.

50 And they cryed with a loud voyce toward heauen, saying, What shall we doe with these? and whither shall we carry them away?

51 For thy Sanctuary is troden downe and defiled, and thy Priestes are in beauienesse, and brought downe.

52 And behold, the heathen are come against vs, to destroy vs: thou knowest what things they imagine against vs.

53 How can we stand before them, except thou helpe vs?

54 Then they blew the trumpets, and cried with a loud voyce.

55 And after this Judas ordained captaines ouer the people, euen captaines ouer thousands and captaines ouer hundredes, and captaines ouer fifties, and captaines ouer ten.

56 And they commanded them that builded houses, or married wiues, or planted vineyards or were fearfull, that they should returne euery one to his owne house, according to the Law.

57 So the host remooued, and pitched vpon the Southside of Emmaus.

58 And Judas said, Arme yourselves and be valiant men, & be ready against the morning to fight with these nations, which are gathered together against vs, to destroy vs and our Sanctuary.

59 For it is better for vs to die in battel, then to see the calamities of our people, and of our Sanctuary.

60 Perseuereth, as the will of God is in heauen, so be it.

CHAP. IIII.

1 Judas goeth against Gorgias which lieth in wait
14 He putteth Gorgias and his hoste to flight. 28 Gorgias inuadeth Iudaea. 29 But Judas driueth him out.
43 Judas purifieth the Temple, and dedicateth the altar.

Then tooke Gorgias three thousand foote men and a thousand of the best horsemen, and departed out of the campe by night.

2 To inuade the campe of the Jewes, and to slay them suddenly and the men of the fortresse were his guides.

3 Now when Judas heard it, he remooued and they that were valiant men, to smite the Kings armie which was at Emmaus.

4 Whiles yet the army was dispersed from the campe.

5 In the mean season came Gorgias by night into Judas campe: and when he found no man there hee sought them in the mountaines: for layd he, they flee from vs.

6 But alsoone as it was day, Judas shewed himselfe in the field with three thousand men, which had neither harness nor swords to their minds.

7 And they saw that the armies of the heathen were strong, and well armed, and their hostmen about them, and that these were expert men of warre.

8 Then said Judas to the men that were with him, Feare ye not their multitude, neither be afraid of their assault.

9 Remember how our fathers were deliuered in the red Sea, when Pharaoh pursued them with an armie.

10 Therefore now let vs cry vnto heauen, and the Lord will haue mercy vpon vs, and remember the covenant of our fathers, and will destroy this host before our face this day.

11 So shall all the heathen know, that there is one, which deliuereth and sauerth Israel.

12 Then the strangers lift vp their eyes, and saw them comming against them.

13 And they went out of their tents into the battell, and they that were with Judas, blew the trumpets.

14 So they toynd together, and the heathen were discomfited, and fled by the plaine.

15 But the hindmost of them fel by the sword, and they pursued them vnto Gazeron, and into the plaines of Iounea, and of Azorus, and of Iamnia, so that there were slaine of them about three thousand men.

16 So Judas turned againe with his hoste, from pursuing them.

17 And said vnto the people, Be not greedy of the spoiles: for there is a battell before vs.

18 And Gorgias and the army is here by vs in the mountaine: but stand ye now fast against your enemies, and overcome them: then may ye safely take the spoiles.

19 As Judas was speaking these words, there appeared one part which looked from the mountaines.

20 But when Gorgias saw that his were fled, and that Judas soldiers burnt the tents: (for the inoake that was sent, declared what was done.)

21 When they saw these things, they were sore afraid, and when they saw also that Judas and his hoste were in the field ready to set themselves in aray.

22 They fled euery one into the land of strangers.

23 So Judas turned againe to spoyle the tents, where he gate much gold and silver, and precious stones, and purple of the sea, and great riches.

24 Thus they went home, and sung Psalmes and praised toward the heauen: for he is gracious and his mercy endureth for ever.

25 And so Israel had a great victory in that day.

26 And now all the strangers that escaped, came, and told Lysias all the things that were done.

27 Also when he heard these things was sore afraid & discouraged, because such things came not vpon Israel as he would, neither such things as the king had commanded him, came to passe.

28 Therefore the next yeere following, gathered Lysias threescore thousand chosen men.

men, and five thousand horsemen to fight against Jerusalem.

29 So they came into || Idumea, and pitched their tents at || Beth-lura, where Judas came against them with ten thousand men.

30 And when he saw that mightie armie, hee prayed, and sayd, Blessed be thou, O Saviour of Israel, which didst destroy the assault of the mighty man by the hand of thy seruant Dauid, * and gauest the holke of the strangers into the hand of Jonathan, the sonne of Saul, and of his armour bearer :

31 Shut vp this army in the hand of thy people of Israel, and let them be confounded with their power, and with their horsemen.

32 Make them afraid, and consume their boldnesse and strength, that they may be astonished at their destruction.

33 Cast them downe by the sword of them that loue thee: then shall all they that know thy Name, praise thee with songs.

34 So they ioynd together, and there were slain of Lysias host five thousand men, and they fell before them.

35 Then Lysias, seeing his army put to flight, and the manlinesse of Judas soldiers, and that they were ready, either to liue or die valiantly, he went into Antiochia, & gathered strangers, and when he had furnished his army, he thought againe (being prepared) to come against Judea, 36 Then said Judas & his brethren, Behold, our enemies are discomfited: let vs now goe vp, to cleanse, and to repaire the Sanctuary.

37 So all the hoste gathered them together, and went vp into the mountaine of Sion.

38 Now when they saw the Sanctuary laid waste, and the altar defiled, & the doores burnt vp, and the shrubs growing in the courts, as in a forest, or as on one of the mountaines, and that the Priests chambers were broken downe.

39 They rent their clothes, and made great lamentation, and cast ashes vpon their heads.

40 And fell downe to the ground on their faces, and blew an alarum with the trumpets, and cried toward heauen.

41 Then Judas commanded certaine of the men to fight against those which were in the castle, till he had cleansed the Sanctuary.

42 So he chole Priests that were vndefiled, such as delighted in the law.

43 And they cleansed the Sanctuary, and bare out the defiled stones into an vncleane place, 44 And consulted what to doe with the altar of burnt offerings which was polluted.

45 So they thought it was best to destroy it, lest it should be a reproch vnto them, because the heathen had defiled it: therefore they destroyed the altar, 46 And layd by the stones vpon the mountaine of the Temple in a conuenient place, till there should come a prophet, to shew what should be done with them.

47 So they tooke whole stones according to the Law, and builded a new altar according to the former.

48 And made by the Sanctuary, and the things that were within the Temple, and the courts, and all things.

49 They made also new holy vessels, and brought into the Temple the candlesticke, and the altar of burnt offerings, and of incense, and the table.

50 And they burnt incense vpon the altar, and lighted the lamps which were vpon the candlesticke, that they might burne in the Temple.

51 They set also the shew bread vpon the table, and hanged vp the vassels, and finished all the works that they had begun to make.

52 And vpon the five and twentieth day of the ninth moneth, which is called the moneth of Challeu, in the hundredth and eight and fortieth yeere they arose by betimes in the morning.

53 And offered sacrifice according to the Law, vpon the new altar of burnt offerings, that they had made.

54 According to the time, and according to the day, that the heathen had defiled it, in the same day, was it made new with songs, and harpes, and lutes, and cymbals.

55 And all the people fell vpon their faces, worshipping and praiising toward the heauen him that had giuen them good successe.

56 So they kept the dedication of the altar eight dayes, offering burnt offerings with gladnesse, and offered sacrifices of deliuerance and praise.

57 And decked the forefront of the Temple with crownes of gold and shields, and dedicated the gates and chambers, and hanged doores vpon them.

58 Thus there was very great gladnesse among the people, and the reproch of the heathen was put away.

59 So Judas and his brethren with the whole congregation of Israel ordeined that the dayes of dedication of the altar should be kept in their season from yeere to yeere, by the space of eight dayes, from the five and twentieth day of the moneth Challeu, with mirth and gladnesse.

60 And at the same time builded they vp mount Sion with hie walles and strong towres round about, lest the Gentiles should come and tread it downe, as they had done afore.

61 Therefore they set a garison there to keepe it, and fortified Beth-lura to keepe it, that the people might haue a defence against Idumea.

C H A P. V.

3 Judas vanquished the heathen that goe about to destroy Israel and is holpen of his brethren Simon and Jonathan. 50 He ouerthroweth the citie of Ephron, because they denied him passage thorew it.

NOW when the nations round about heard, that the altar was builded, and the Sanctuary renewed as afore, they were sore grieved.

2 Therefore they thought to destroy the generation of Jacob that was among them, and began to slay and destroy the people,

3 Then Judas fought against the children of Esau in Idumea at || Arabathene, because they besieged the Israelites, and he smote them with a great plague, and dioue them to straits, and tooke their wpones.

4 He thought also vpon the malice of the children of Bean, which had bin a snare and an hinderance vnto the people, when they lay in wait for them in the high way.

5 Therefore he shut them vp in towres, and besieged besieged them, and destroyed them utterly, and burnt their towers with fire, with all that were in them.

6 Afterward, went hee against the children of Ammon, where hee found a mighty power, and a great multitude with Timotheus their captain.

7 So hee had many battels with them, but they were destroyed before him, and so hee discomfited them.

8 And tooke Gazer, with the townes thereof, and so turned againe into Judea.

9 Then the heathen that were in Galaad, gathered them together against the Israelites that were in their quarters, to slay them: but they fled to the castle of Darcheman.

10 And sent letters to Judas, and to his brethren, saying, The heathen that are about vs, are gathered against vs, to destroy vs.

11 And they make them ready for to come, and to take the fortreffe, whereunto we are fled, and Timotheus is captaine of their hoste.

12 Come now therefore, and deliuer vs out of their hands: for many of vs are slaine.

13 And all our brethren that were at Tubin, are slaine, and they haue taken away their wines and their children, and their goods, & destroyed there almost a thousand men.

14 While these letters were yet a reading, behold, there came other messengers from Galile, with their clothes rent, which told the same tidings.

15 And sayd that they of Ptolemais, and of Tyrus, and of Sidon, and of all Galile of the Gentiles were gathered against them to destroy them.

16 When Judas and the people heard these words, a great Congregation came together, to consult what they might doe for their brethren that were in trouble, and whom they besieged.

17 Then saide Judas to Simon his brother, Chuse thee out men, and goe and deliuer thy brethren in Galile, and I and my brother Jonathan will goe into the country of Galaad.

18 So hee left Iesephus the sonne of Zacharias, and Azarias to bee captaines of the people, and to keepe the remnant of the hoste in Judea.

19 And commanded them saying, Take the oversight of this people, and make no warre against the heathen, untill we come againe.

20 And unto Simon were giuen three thousand men, to goe into Galile, and to Judas eight thousand men for the country of Galaad.

21 Then went Simon into Galile, and gaue diuers battels to the heathen, and the heathen were discomfited by him.

22 And hee pursued them vnto the gates of Ptolemais, and there were slaine of the heathen almost three thousand men: so hee tooke their spoiles.

23 Thus they rescued them that were in Galile and in Arbattis with their wines, and their children, and all that they had, & brought them into Judea with great ioy.

24 Judas Maccabeus also and his brother Jonathan went ouer Iordan, & trauelled three dayes iourney in the wilderness.

25 Where they met with the Nabathites, who receiued them louingly, & told them every thing that was done vnto their brethren in the country of Galaad.

26 And how that many of them were besieged in Bosora, and Bolo, in Aleinis, Chalboun, Haged and Carnaim (all these cities are strong and great.) Or, Casphor.

27 And that they were kept in other cities of Galaad, and to morrow they are appointed to bring their hoste vnto these fortes, and to take them, and to destroy them all in one day.

28 So Judas & his hoste turned in all haste by the way of the wilderness toward Bosora, and Dammeh the citie, and slew all the males with the edge of the sword, and tooke all their spoyle, and set fire vpon the citie.

29 And in the night he removed from thence: and went toward the fortreffe.

30 And betimes in the morning when they looked up, behold, there was an innumerable people bearing ladders, and instruments of warre, to take the fort, and had assaulted them.

31 When Judas saw that the battell was begun, and that the cry of the citie went up to heauen with trumpets, and a great sound, 32 Then he said vnto the armie, Fight this day for your brethren.

33 So he went forth behind them with three companies, and they blew the trumpets, and cried with prayer.

34 Then the hoste of Timotheus knew, that it was Maccabeus, and they fled from him, and he smote them with a great slaughter, so that there was killed of them the same day, almost eight thousand men.

35 Then departed Judas vnto Dalpna, and laid siege vnto it, and wanne it, and slew all the males thereof, and spoiled it, and set fire vpon it.

36 From thence went hee and tooke Chalboun, Haged, and Bolo, and the other cities in Galaad.

37 After these things gathered Timotheus another hoste, and he camped before Raphon beyond the flood.

38 Now Judas had sent to espie the hoste, & they brought him word againe, saying, All the heathen that bee round about vs, are gathered vnto him, and the hoste is very great.

39 And he hath hired the Arabians to helpe them, and they haue pitched their tents beyond the flood, and are ready to come & fight against thee. So Judas went to meete them.

40 Then Timotheus said vnto the captains of his hoste, When Judas and his hoste come neare the flood, if he passe ouer first vnto vs, we shall not be able to withstand him: for he will be too strong for vs.

41 But if he be afraid, and campe beyond the flood, we will goe ouer vnto him, and shall preuaile against him.

42 Now when Judas came neere to the flood, hee caused the gouernours of the people to remaine by the flood, & commanded them, saying, Suffer none to pitch a tent, but let euery man come to the battell.

43 So he went first slower toward them, and all the people after him: & all the heathen were discomfited before him, & cast away their weapons, and fled into the temple that was at Carnaim.

44 Which city Judas wanne, and burnt the Temple with all that were in it: so was Carnaim subdued, and might not withstand Judas.

45 Then Judas gathered all the Israelites that were in the country of Galaad from the least unto the most, with their wives and their children, and their baggage, a very great hoste, to come into the land of Juda.

46 So they came unto Ephraim, which was a great city by the way, and strongly defended: they could not passe neither at the right hand nor at the left, but must goe thorow it.

47 But they that were in the city, shut themselves in, and stopped by the gates with stones: and Judas sent unto them with peaceable words, saying,

48 Let vs passe thorow your land, that wee may goe into our owne country, and none shall hurt you: we will but onely goe thorow on foot: but they would not open unto him.

49 Therefore Judas commanded a proclamation to be made throughout the hoste, that every man should assault it according to his standing.

50 So the valiant men set upon it, & assaulted the city all that day, and all that night, and the city was giuen over into his hands:

51 Who slew all the males with the edge of the sword, and destroyed it, and tooke the spoyle thereof, and went thorow the city over them that were slaine.

52 Then went they ouer Jordan into the great plaine before Bethsan.

53 And Judas gathered together those that were behinde, and gaue the people good exhortation all the way thorow, till they were come into the land of Juda.

54 Thus they went by with joy and gladnes unto mount Sion, where they offered burnt offerings because there were none of them slaine but came home againe in safety.

55 Now whiles Judas & Jonathan were in the land of Galaad, and Simon their brother in Galle before Ptolemais, 56 Joseph the sonne of Zacharias and Azarias the captaines, hearing of the valiant actes, and battels which they had achieved, said, 57 Let vs get vs a name also, and goe fight against the heathen that are round about vs.

58 So they gaue their host a commandement and went toward Iamnia.

59 But Gorgias and his men came out of the city to fight against them.

60 And Joseph & Azarias were put to flight, & pursued unto the borders of Judea: and there were slaine that day of the people of Israel about two thousand men: so that there was a great overthrow among the people of Israel.

61 Because they were not obedient unto Judas and his brethren, but thought to doe some valiant thing.

62 Also they came not of the stocke of these men, by whose handes deliuerance was giuen to Israel.

63 But the man Judas, and his brethren were greatly commended in the sight of all Israel, and of all the heathen, wherefoever their name was heard of.

64 And the people came unto them, bidding them welcome.

65 Afterward went Judas forth with his brethren, & fought against the children of Elian in the land toward the South, where hee wanne Bethon, and the townes thereof, and he destroyed the castle thereof, & burnt the towers thereof round about.

66 Then remooued hee to goe into the land of the strangers, and went thorow Samaria.

67 At the same time were the Priestes of the city slaine in the battel, which would shew their valiantnesse, and went forth to battel without counsell: and when Judas came to Azotus in the strangers land, hee brake downe their altars, and burnt with fire the images of their gods, and tooke away the spoiles of the cities, & came againe into the land of Juda.

CHAP. VI.

1 Antiochus willing to take the citie of Elimaïs, is driven away of the citizens. 2 Hee falleth into sickness, and dieth. 3 His sonne Antiochus is made King. 34 The manner to prouoke elephants to fight. 43 Eleazarus valiant at. 48 The siege of Sion.

Now when King Antiochus traualled thorow the high countries, he heard that Elimaïs in the countrey of Persia, was a city greatly renowned for riches, siluer, and gold.

2 And that there was in it a very rich temple, whereas were coverings of gold, coate armours, and harnesse, which Alexander King of Macedonia the sonne of Phillip (that reigned first in Grecia) had left there.

3 Therefore hee went about to take the city, and to spoyle it, but he was nor able: for the citizens were warned of the matter.

4 And rose up against him in battell, and hee fled and departed thence with great heavinesse, and came againe into Babylon.

5 Moreover, there came one which brought him tidings in the countrey of Persia, that the armies that went against the land of Juda, were driven away.

6 And that Lysias, which went forth first with a great power, was driven away of the Jewes, and that they were made strong by the armour, and power, and diuers spoiles which they had gotten of the armies whom they had destroyed.

7 And that they had pulled downe the abomination, which hee had set up upon the altar at Jerusalem, and fenced the Sanctuary with high walles, as it was afore, and Beth-sura his city.

8 So when the King had heard these words, he was astonished, and sore moued: therefore hee layd him downe upon his bed, and fell sicke for very sorow, because it was not come to passe as he had thought.

9 And there continued hee many dayes: for his griefe was ruer more and more, so that hee saw that he must needs die.

10 Therefore he sent for all his friends, and said unto them, The sleepe is gone from mine eyes, and mine heart faileth for very care.

11 And I thinke with my selfe, Into what aduersitie am I come, and into what floods of misery am I fallen now, whereas afore time I was in prosperitie, and greatly set by, by reason of my power.

12 And now doe I remember the evils that I have done at Jerusalem: for I tooke all the vessels of gold and silver that were in it, and sent to destroy the inhabitants of Iuda without cause.

12 I know that these troubles are come upon me for the same cause, and behold, I must die with great sorrow in a strange land.

14 Then called hee for Philip one of his friends, whom he made ruler of all his Realme.

15 And gaue him the crowne, and his robe, and the ring, that hee should instruct his sonne Antiochus, and bring him vp, till hee might reigne himselfe.

16 So King Antiochus died there in the hundredth and fourth and ninth yeere.

17 When Lysias knew that the King was dead, hee ordeined Antiochus his sonne (whom hee had brought vp) to reigne in his fathers stead, and called him Eupator.

18 Now they that were in the castle at Jerusalem, kept in the Israelites round about the Sanctuary, and sought alwayes their hurt, and the strengthening of the heathen.

19 Therefore Judas thought to destroy them, and called all the people together to besiege them.

20 So they came together, and besieged them in the hundredth and fify yeere, and made instruments to shoot, and other engines of warre.

21 But certaine of them that were besieged, gate forth, (vnto whom some vngodly men of Israel fornyed themselves.)

22 And they went vnto the King, saying, How long wilt thou cease from executing iudgment, and auenging our brethren?

23 We haue bene ready to serue thy Father and to goe forward in those things, that hee appointed, and to obey his commandements.

24 Therefore they of our nation fell from vs for this cause, and wheresoever they found any of vs, they slew them, and spoiled our inheritance.

25 And they haue not onely layd hand vpon vs, but vpon all about their borders.

26 And behold, this day are they besieging the castle at Jerusalem to take it, and haue fortified the Sanctuary, and Beth-tura.

27 And if thou doest not prevent them quickly, they will doe greater things then these, and thou shalt not be able to overcome them.

28 When the King heard this, hee was very angry, and called all his friends, the Captaines of his armie, and his hoysmen.

29 And bands that were hired, came vnto him from the Kings, that were confederate, and from the Isles of the Sea.

30 So the number of his armie was an hundredth thousand footmen, and twenty thousand hoysmen, and two and thirty Elephants exercised in battell.

31 These came through Idumea, and drew neere to Beth-tura, and besieged it a long season, and made engines of warre: but they came out and burnt them with fire, and fought valiantly.

32 Then departed Judas from the castle, and remooued the hoste toward Beth-zacarias, ouer againe the Kings campe.

33 So the King arose very early, and brought the armie and his power toward the way of Beth-zacarias, where the armie let themselves in aray to the battell, and blew the trumpets.

34 And to prouoke the elephants for to fight, they shewed them the blood of grapes and mulberries.

35 And they set the beastes according to the ranges: so that by euery elephant there stood a thousand men armed with coates of male and helmets of brasse vpon their heads, and vnto euery beast were ordeined fush hundredth hoysmen of the best,

36 Which were ready at all times wheresoeuer the beast was: and whiche soeuer the beast went, they went also, and departed not from him.

37 And vpon them were strong towies of wood that couered euery beast, which were fastened thereon with instruments, and vpon euery one was two & thirty men that fought in them, and the Indian that ruled him.

38 They set also the remnant of the hoysmen vpon both the sides in two wings of the hoste, to stirre them vp and to keepe them in the valleyes.

39 And when the Sunne shone vpon the golden shields, the mountaines glistered therewith, and gaue light as lampes of fire.

40 Thus part of the Kings armie was spread vpon the high Mountaines, and part beneath: so they marched forward warily, and in order.

41 And all they that heard the noise of their multitude, and the marching of the companie and the rattling of the harness, were astonied: for the army was very great and mighty.

42 Then Judas and his hoste entered into the battell, and they slew fife hundredth men of the Kings armie.

43 Now when Eleazar the sonne of Abiaron, saw one of the Elephants armed with royal harness, and was more excellent then all the other beastes, he thought that the King should be vpon him.

44 Wherefore he leaped himselfe to deliuer his people, and to geue him a perpetual name, 45 And ranne boldly vnto him through the middes of the hoste, slaying on the right hand and on the left, so that they departed away on both sides.

46 So went hee to the Elephants secte, and gaue him vnder him, and slew him, then fell the Elephant downe vpon him and there he died.

47 But the other, seeing the power of the King, and the fiercenesse of his armie, departed from them.

48 And the Kings armie went vp to meete them toward Jerusalem, and the King pitched his tents in Iudea toward mount Sion.

49 Moreover the King tooke truce with them that were in Beth-tura: but when they came out of the citie, because they had no victuals there, and were shut vp therein, and the land had rested,

50 The King tooke Beth-tura, and set there a garison to keepe it.

51 And besieged the Sanctuary many daies, and made instruments to shoote, and other engines of warre, and instruments to cast fire and stones, and pieces to cast darts and slings.

52 They also made engines against their engines, and fought a long season.

53 But in the garners there were no vittails, for it was the fourth yeere, and then they that were in Iudaea, and were delivered from the Gentiles, had eaten up the residue of the store, 54 So that in the Sanctuary were few men left: for the famine came so upon them, that they were scattered every man to his owne place.

55 ¶ Now when Lysias heard that Philty, (whome Antiochus the King, whilst hee lived, had ordeined to bring up Antiochus his sonne, that he might be King.)

56 Was come againe out of Persia and Media and the Kings hoste with him, and thought to take vnto him the rule of things, 57 Hee and his hostes, & were stirred forward by them in the castle to goe & tell the King, and the Captaines of the holte, and to others, laying, Wee decrease dayly, and our victuals are but small: and the place that wee lay siege vnto, is strong, and the affaires of the realme depend vpon vs.

¶ Or, giue hands,

58 Now therefore let vs || agree with these men, and take truce with them, and with all their nation,

59 And graunt them to liue after their Law, as they did afore: for they bee grieved, and doe all these things, because wee haue broken their Lawes.

60 So the King and the Princes were content, and sent vnto them to make peace, and they received it.

61 When the King and the Princes had made an othe vnto them, they came vpon this out of the ffortresse.

62 And the King went up to mount Sion: but when hee saw that the place was well defended, hee brake his othe that hee had made, and commanded to breake downe the wall round about.

63 Then departed hee in all haste, and returned vnto Antiochia, where hee found Philty hauing dominion of the citie: so he fought against him, and tooke the city by force.

¶ In the hundredth and one and fiftieth yere, departed Demetrius the sonne of Seleucus from Rome, and came up with a few men vnto a citie of the Sea coast, and reigned there.

2 And when hee came into the possession of his Fathers kingdome, his souldiers tooke Antiochus and Lysias, and brought them vnto him.

3 But when it was told him, he said, Shew me not their faces.

4 So they put them to death. Now when Demetrius was set vpon the throne of his Kingdome, 5 There came vnto him all the wicked and vngodly men of Israel whose captaine was Alcimus, that would haue beene the high Priest.

6 These men accused the people vnto the King, saying, Iudas and his brethren haue slaine all thy friends, and driuen vs out of our owne land.

7 Wherefore send now some man, whome thou trustest, that hee may goe and see all the destruction, which he hath done vnto vs, and to the Kings land, and let him punish them with all their partakers.

8 ¶ Then the King chose Bacchides a friend of his, which was a great man in the Realme, and ruled beyond the flood, and was faithfull vnto the King, and sent him.

9 And that wicked Alcimus, whome he made high Priest, and commanded him to be auenged of the children of Israel.

10 So they departed, and came with a great holte into the land of Iuda, and sent messengers to Iudas and his brethren, deceitfully with peaceable words.

11 But they believed not their saying: for they saw that they were come with a great host.

12 ¶ Then a company of the gouernours assembled vnto Alcimus and Bacchides to intreat of reasonable points.

13 And the || Addueans were the first that required peace among the children of Israel.

¶ Or, Haddims.

14 For, sayd they, He that is a Priest of the Lord of Aaron, is come with this armie: therefore he will not hurt vs.

15 ¶ Then he spake vnto them peaceably, and sware vnto them, and sayd, We will doe you no harme, neither your friends:

16 And they beleued him: but hee tooke of them thre score men, and slew them in one day, according to the words that were written,

17 They haue cast the bodies of thy Saints, and their blood round about Ierusalem, & there was no man that would bury them.

¶ Psal. 79. 3.

18 So there came a feare and a rembling among all the people: for they sayd, There is neither tructh nor right counsel in them: for they haue broken the appointment and othe that they made.

19 ¶ Then Bacchides remooued from Ierusalem, and pitched his tent at || Beth-zecha, where he sent forth & tooke many of the men that had forsaken him, and certaine of the people, whome he slew and cast into the great pit.

¶ Or, Beth-zeth, or, Beth-zeth.

20 ¶ Then committed hee the countrey vnto Alcimus, and left men of war with him to helpe him: so Bacchides went vnto the King.

21 ¶ Thus Alcimus strove for the Priesthood.

22 And all such as troubled the people, reported vnto him: in so much that they oppressed the land of Iuda, and did much hurt in Israel.

23 ¶ Now when Iudas saw all the mischief that Alcimus and his company had done among the Israelites more then the heathen, 24 Hee went forth round about all the borders of Iuda, and punished those that were fallen away, so that they came no more abroad in the countrey.

25 ¶ But when Alcimus saw that Iudas and his people had gotten the upper hand, and knew that hee was not able to abide them, hee went againe to the King, and accused them of wicked things.

26 ¶ Then the King sent Nicanor, one of his chiefe Princes, which hated Israel deadly, and commanded him that hee should destroy the people.

Ioseph. Ant. 12. chap. 16.

27 ¶ So Nicanor came to Ierusalem with a great holte, & sent vnto Iudas and his brethren deceitfully with friendly words, saying,

28 Let there bee no warre betwene mee and you, I will come with fewe men, to see how yee doe friendly, 29 So he came vnto Judas, and they saluted one another peaceably: but the enemies were prepared to take away Judas.

30 Nevertheless, it was told Judas that hee came vnto him vnder deceit: therefore he feared him, and would see his face no more.

31 When Micanor perceived that his counsell was betrayed, he went out to fight against Judas, beside Carphalalama,

Or, Caphar-saruma.

33 After this came Micanor vnto mount Sion, and some of the Priests with the elders of the people went forth of the Sanctuary to salute him peaceably, and to shew him the burnt offering that was offered for the king.

34 But hee laughed at them, and mocked them, and counted them prophane, and spake proudly.

35 And sware in his wrath, saying, If Judas and his hoste bee not deliuered now into mine hands, if ever I come againe in safety, I will burne vp this house. With that, went he vp in a great anger.

36 Then the Priests came in, and stood before the Altar in the Temple, weeping, and aying, 37 Forasmuch as thou, O Lord, hast chosen this house, that thy Name might be called vpon therein, and that it should be an house of prayer, and petition for thy people, 39 When Micanor was come from Jerusalem, he pitched his tent at Beth-horon, and there an hoste met him out of Syria.

Or, Adorah.

40 And Judas pitched in Adala, with three thousand men, where Judas prayed, saying, 42 So destroy thou this host before vs to day, that all other may know that hee hath spoken wickedly against thy Sanctuary, and punish him according to his malice.

43 So the armies joined together in battell, the thirteenth day of the moneth Adar: but Micanors hoste was discomfited, & he himselfe was first slaine in the battell.

44 Now when his army saw that Micanor was slaine, they cast away their weapons, and fled.

45 But they pursued after them a dayes journey from Adala vnto Gadera, blowing an alarme with the trumpets after them.

46 So they came forth of all the townes of Judea round about, and rushed vpon them, and slew them from one to another, so that they all fell by the sword, and there was not one of them left.

47 Then they took the spoiles, and the pray, and smote off Micanors head, and his right hand, which he held vp so proudly, and brought it with them, and hanged them by afoze Jerusalem.

48 So the people reioyced greatly, and kept that day as a day of great gladnesse.

49 And they ordained to keepe yearly that day on the thirteenth day of the moneth Adar.

50 Thus the land of Iuda was in rest a little while.

1 Judas, considering the power and policies of the Romans, maketh peace with them. 22 The conditions of that friendship sent to the Lawes.

Judas heard also the fame of the Romanes, that they were mighty and valiant, and agreeable to all things that were required of them, and made peace with all that came vnto them,

Joseph. Ant. 12. cap. 18.

2 And that they were men of great power, and they tolde him of their battels, and their worthy actes which they did among the Galatians whom they had conquered, and made to pay tribute,

Or, Frenchman.

3 And what they had done in the countrey of Spaine: how that they had wonne there the mines of silver and gold,

4 And that by their counsel and gentle behaviour they were rulers in euery place, though the place was farre from them, and that they had discomfited and giuen great overthrowes to the Kings that came against them, from the uttermost part of the earth, & that others gaue them tribute euery yere,

5 Now they had also discomfited by battell Philip and Perles kings of the Macedonians and others that arose against them, & how they overcame them,

Or, Chima.

6 And how great Antiochus King of Asia, that came against them in battell, hauing an hundred and twenty Elephants, with horsemen and charrets, and a very great army was discomfited by them,

7 And how they tooke him alive, and ordered him, with such as should reigne after him, to pay a great tribute, and to giue hostages, and a separate portion,

8 Euen the countrey of India and Media, and Lydia, and of his best countreyes, which they tooke of him, and gaue them to King Eumenes.

9 Againe, when it was told them that the Grecians were coming to destroy them,

10 They sent against them a captaine, which gaue them battell, & slew many of them, and took many prisoners with their wiues and children, and spoiled them, and conquered their land, and destroyed their strong holds, and subdued them to be their bondmen vnto this day.

11 Wherefore, how they destroyed & brought into subiection other kingdomes and ples, who sooner had withstood them:

12 But that they kept amity with their own friends, and those that stayed vpon them: finally, that they conquered kingdomes, both far and neere, insomuch that whosoever heard of their renowne, was afraid of them.

13 For whom they would helpe to their kingdomes, those reigned; and whom they would they put downe: thus were they in most high authority.

14 Yet for all this that none of them ware a crowne, neither was clothed in purple, to be magnified thereby,

15 But that they had ordered themselves a Councill, wherein three hundred and twenty men consulted daily, and provided for the common affaires, to gouerne them well.

16 And that they committed their gouernement to one man every yeere, who did rule ouer all their countrey, to whom every man was obedient: and there was neither hatred nor enuie among them.

17 ¶ Then Judas chose Eupolemus the son of John, the sonne of Accus, and Jason the sonne of Eleazar, and sent them vnto Rome, to make friendship and mutuall fellowship with them,

18 That they might take from them the yoke (for they saw that the kingdome of the Grecians would keepe Israel in bondage.)

19 So they went vnto Rome, which was a very great iourney, and came into the Senate, where they spake, and laid, 20 Judas Maccabeus with his brethren, and the people of the Iewes hath sent vs vnto you, to make a bond of friendship and peace with you, and ye to register vs as your partakers and friends.

21 And the matter pleased them.

22 And this is the copy of the Epistle that they wrote in tables of brass, and sent to Jerusalem, that they might haue by them a memoire all of the peace and mutuall fellowship.

23 Good successe be to the Romanes, and to the people of the Iewes, by sea and by land for ever, and the sword and enemye be from them.

24 If there come first any war vpon the Romanes, or any of their friends throughout all their dominion, 25 The people of the Iewes shall help them, as the time shall be appointed with all their heart.

26 Also ¶ they shal giue nothing to them that come to fight for them, nor serue them with wheate nor weapons, nor money, nor shippes, as it pleaseth the Romanes, but ¶ they shall keepe their covenants without taking any thing of them.

27 Likewise also, if warre come first against the nation of the Iewes, the Romanes shall helpe them with a good will, according as the time shall be appointed them.

28 Neither shall wheate be giuen vnto them, that take their part, nor weapons, nor money, nor shippes, as it pleaseth the Romanes, who will keepe these covenants without deceit.

29 According to these Articles the Romanes made the bond with the people of the Iewes.

30 If after these points the one party, or the other will adde or diminish, they may doe it at their pleasures, and whatsoever they shall adde or take away, shall be ratified.

31 And as touching the end that Demetrius hath done vnto the Iewes, we haue written vnto him, saying, Wherefore lovest thou thine heauie yoke vpon our friends and confederates the Iewes?

32 If therefore they complaine any more against thee, we will doe them iustice, and fight with thee by sea and by land.

CHAP. IX.

¶ After the death of Nicanor, Demetrius sendeth his army against Judas, 18 Judas is slaine, 19 Jonathan is put in the stead of his brother. 20 The battell betweene Jonathan and Bacchides. 21 Alcimus is slain.

ten with the palse, and dieth. 22 He cometh vpon Jonathan by the counsell of certaine wicked persons, and is ouercome, 23 The truce of Jonathan with Bacchides.

¶ In the meane season, when Demetrius had heard how Alcator and his hoste had giuen the battell, he sent Bacchides and Alcimus againe into Iudea, and his chief strength with them.

2 So they went forth by the way that is toward Galgala, and pitched their tents before Basaloth, which is in Arbelis, and wanted, and slew much people.

3 And in the first moneth of the hundred fiftie and two yeere, they laye their siege against Jerusalem.

4 But they raised their campe, and came to Berea with twenty thousand footmen, and two thousand horsemen.

5 Now Judas had pitched his tent at Elc-aza, and thre thousand chosen men with him.

6 And when they saw that the multitude of the army was great, they were sore afraid, and many conueyed thirselues out of the hoste, so that there abode no more of them but eight hundred men.

7 ¶ When Judas saw that his hoste failed him, and that he must needs fight, he was sore troubled in mind that he had no time to gather them together, and was discouraged.

8 Nevertheless, he said vnto them that remained, Let vs rise, and goe vp against our enemies, if peradventure wee may be able to fight with them.

9 But they would haue stayed him, saying, We are not able: but let vs rather saue our liues: turne backe now, seeing our brethren are departed: for shall wee fight against them that are so few?

10 ¶ Then Judas said, God forbid, that we should doe this thing, to flee from them: if our time be come, let vs die manfully for our brethren, and let vs not staine our honour.

11 ¶ Then the hoste remoued out of the tents, and stood against them, who had diuided their horsemen into two troupes, and they chareged with slings, & the archers marched in the forward, and they that fought in the forward, were all valiant men.

12 And Bacchides was in the right wing. So the army drew nere on both sides, and blew the trumpets.

13 They of Judas side blew the trumpets also, and the earth shooke at the noise of the armies, and the battell continued from morning to night.

14 And when Judas saw that Bacchides and the strength of his army was on the right side, he tooke with him all the hardy men, 15 And brake the right wing, and followed vpon them vnto mount Azotus.

16 Now when they which were of the left wing, saw that the right wing was discomfited, they followed Judas behinde, and them that were with him, hard at the heels.

17 ¶ Then was there a sore battell: for many were slaine of both the parties.

18 Judas also himselfe was killed, and the remnant fled.

19 So Jonathan and Simon tooke Judas their brother, and buried him in his fathers sepulchre sepulchre in the cite of Bethan.

20 And all the Israelites wept for him, and mourned greatly for him, and lamented many dayes, saying,

21 How is the valiant man fallen, which deliuered Israel!

22 Concerning the other things of Judas both the battels & the valiant actes that he did, and of his worthinesse, they are not written: for they were very many.

23 ¶ Now after the death of Judas, wicked men came, by in al the coasts of Israel, and there arose all such as gaue themselves to iniquitie.

24 In those dayes was there a very great famine in the land, and all the countrey gaue ouer themselves with them.

25 And Bacchides did chuse wicked men, and made them lords in the land.

26 These sought out, and made search for Judas friends, and brought them vnto Bacchides, which auenged himselfe vpon them, and mocked them.

27 And there came so great trouble in Israel, as was not since the time that no Prophet was seene among them.

28 Then came all Judas friends together, and said vnto Jonathan,

29 Seeing thy brother Judas is dead, and there is none like him to goe forth against our enemies, euen against Bacchides, and against them of our nation that are enemies vnto vs, 30 Therefore this day wee chuse thee that thou mayest bee our prince and captaine in his place to order our battell.

31 So Jonathan toke the gouernance vpon him at the same time, and ruled in stead of his brother Judas.

32 But when Bacchides knew it, he sought for to slay him.

33 Then Jonathan and Simon his brother perceiuing that, fled into the wilderness of Thebua with all their company, and pitched their tents by the water poole of Alphon.

34 Which when Bacchides vnderstood, he came ouer Iordan with all his hoste vpon the Sabbath day.

35 ¶ Now had Jonathan sent his brother John a captaine of the people, to pray his friends the Nabatites, that they would keepe their baggage which was much.

36 ¶ But the children of Ambri came out of Medaba, and tooke John, and all that hee had, and when they had taken it, went their way.

37 After this came word vnto Jonathan, and to Simon his brother, that the children of Ambri made a great marriage, and brought the bride from Medaba with great pompe: for she was daughter to one of the noblest Princes of Canaan.

38 Therefore they remembered John their brother, and went vp and hid themselves vnder the couert of the mountaine.

39 So they lift vp their eyes, and looked, and behold, there was a great noyse, and much preparation: then the bridegrome came forth, and his friends and his brethren met them with tymbrels and instruments of musick, and many weapons.

40 Then Jonathans men that lay in ambush rose vp against them, and slew many of them, and the remnant fled into the mountaines, so that theyooke all their spoiles.

41 Thus the marriage was turned to mourning, and the noyse of their melodie into lamentation.

42 And so when they had auenged the blood of their brother, they turned againe vnto Iordan.

43 When Bacchides heard this, he came vnto the border of Iordan with a great power vpon the Sabbath day.

44 Then Jonathan said vnto his company, Let vs rise now, and fight against our enemies: for it is not to day as in time past.

45 Behold, the battell is before vs, and behind vs, and the water of Iordan on this side & that side, and the marile and forest, so that there is no place for vs to turne aside.

46 Wherefore cry now vnto heauen, that ye may bee deliuered from the power of your enemies: for they toyned battell.

47 Then Jonathan stretched out his hande to smite Bacchides: but hee turned aside from him and reculed.

48 Then Jonathan and they that were with him leapt into Iordan, and swimmmed ouer vnto the further bankes: but the other would not passe through Iordan after them.

49 So in that day were slaine of Bacchides side about a thousand men.

50 Then he turned againe to Ierusalem, and built by the strong cities in Iuda, as the castle of Jericho, and Ennans, and Bethoron, and Bethel, and Cannatha, Pharathon, and Tephos, with hie walles, with gates, and with barres, 51 And set garisons in them, that they might ble their malice vpon Israel.

52 He fortified also the city of Beth Sur, and Gazara, and the castle, and set a garison in them with prouision of victuals.

53 Hee tooke also the chiefeest mens sonnes in the countrey for hostages, and put them in the castle at Ierusalem to be kept.

54 ¶ Afterward in the hundredth fiftie and three yeere, in the second moneth, Alcimus commanded that the walles of the inner court of the Sanctuary should bee destroyed, and hee pulled downe the monuments of the Prophets, and began to destroy them.

55 But at the same time Alcimus was plagued, and his enterpises were hindered, and his mouth was stopped: for hee was smitten with a palse, and could no more speake, nor giue order concerning his house.

56 Thus dyed Alcimus with great torment at the same time.

57 And when Bacchides saw that Alcimus was dead, hee returned againe to the Kings, and so the land of Iuda was in rest two yeeres.

58 Then all the vngodly men held a counsell, saying, Behold, Jonathan and his company dwell at ease, and without care: wherefore let vs bring Bacchides hither, and hee will take them all in one night.

59 So they went and consulted with him.

60 Who arose and came with a great hoste, and sent letters priuily to his adherents, which were in Iuda, to take Jonathan, and those that were with him: but they could not, for 61 And they took fiftie men of the countrey, which were the chiefe workers of this wickednesse, and slew them.

62 ¶ Then Jonathan and Simon with their company departed vnto ¶ Beth-basin, which is in the wilderness, and repaired the decay thereof, and made it strong.

63 ¶ When Bacchides knew this, he gathered all his holte, and sent word to them that were of Judea.

64 ¶ Then came he and laid siege to Beth-basin, and fought against it a long season, & made instruments of warre.

65 But Jonathan had left his brother Simon in the citie, and went secretly into the countrey, and came with a certaine number, 66 And slew ¶ Odavers and his brethren, and the children of Phasiron in their tents: so he began to slay, and increased in power.

67 Simon also and his company went out of the citie, and burnt by the instruments of warre, 68 And fought against Bacchides, and discomfited him, & bereft him sore, so that his counsell and journey was in vaine.

69 ¶ Wherefore he was very wroth at the wicked men, b that gaue him counsell to come into the countrey, and slew many of them, and purposed to returne into his owne countrey.

70 ¶ Whereof when Jonathan had knowledge, he sent ambassadours vnto him, to entreat of peace with him, and that the prisoners should be deliuered.

71 Which thing he accepted, & did according to his desire, and made an othe, that he would neuer doe him harme all the dayes of his life.

72 So hee restored vnto him the prisoners that he had taken aforesaid out of the land of Juda, and so returned and went into his owne land, neither did he come any more into their borders.

73 ¶ Thus the sword ceased from Israel, and Jonathan dwelt at Beth-basin, and began there to gouerne the people, and destroyed the brigdily men out of Israel.

CHAP. X.

4 Demetrius desireth to haue peace with Jonathan. 48 Alexander also desireth peace with the Jewes. 49 Alexander maketh warre against Demetrius. 50 Demetrius is slaine. 51 The friendship of Ptolemius and Alexander.

¶ Joseph. Ant. 13. cap. 2. 3.

¶ In the hundredth and threescore yeere came Alexander the sonne of Antiochus Epiphanes and took Ptolemius, and they received him, and there he resigned.

2 Now when Demetrius the king heard it, he gathered an exceeding great holte, and went forth against him to fight.

3 Also Demetrius sent letters vnto Jonathan, with loving words, as though hee would preferre him.

4 For he said, We will first make peace with him, before he ioyne with Alexander against vs.

5 ¶ So he will remember all the enill that we haue done against him, and against his brethren and his nation.

6 And so he gaue Jonathan leaue to gather an holte, and to prepare weapons, and to be confederate with him, and commanded the hostages that were in the castle, to be deliuered vnto him.

7 ¶ Then came Jonathan to Jerusalem, and read the letters in the audience of all the people, and of them that were in the castle.

8 ¶ Therefore they were sore auaile, because they heard that the king had giuen him licence to gather an armie.

9 So they that were of the castle, deliuered the hostages vnto Jonathan, who restored them to their parents.

10 Jonathan also dwelt at Jerusalem, and began to build and repair the citie.

11 And he commanded the workmen to build the walles, and the mount Sion round about with hewen stone, to fortifie it: and so they did.

12 ¶ Then the strangers that were in the castles which Bacchides had made, fled, 13 So that every man left his place, & went into his owne countrey.

14 ¶ Only at Beth-sura remained certaine which had forsaken the Law and the commandments: for it was their refuge.

15 ¶ Now when king Alexander had heard of the promises that Demetrius had made vnto Jonathan: and when it was tolde him of the battels and noble actes, which hee and his brethren had done, and of the paines that they had endured, 16 ¶ Hee sayd, ¶ Might we finde such a man? now therefore we will make him our friend and confederate.

17 ¶ Upon this he wrote a letter, and sent it vnto him with these words, saying,

18 KING ALEXANDER to his brother Jonathan sendeth salutation.

19 ¶ We haue heard of thee that thou art a very valiant man, and worthy to be our friend.

20 ¶ Therefore this day we ordaine thee to be the hie Priest of thy nation, and to be called the Kings friend: (and hee sent him a purple robe, and a crowne of golde,) that thou mayest consider what is for our profit, and keepe friendship toward vs.

¶ Or, mistre. ¶ Or, take our part.

21 So the seventh moneth of the hundredth and threescore yeere, upon the feast day of the tabernacles, Jonathan put on the holy garment and gathered an holte, and prepared many weapons.

22 ¶ Which when Demetrius heard, he was maruillous sorry, and sayd, ¶ Joseph. Ant. 13. cap. 3.

23 ¶ What haue we done that Alexander hath presented vs in getting the friendship of the Jewes for his strength?

24 ¶ Yet will I write and exhort them, and promise them dignities and rewards that they may helpe me.

25 ¶ Whereupon hee wrote vnto them these words, KING DEMETRIUS vnto the nation of the Jewes sendeth greeting.

26 ¶ We haue heard that ye haue kept your couenant toward vs, and continued in our friendship, and haue not ioyued with our enemies, whereof we are glad.

27 ¶ Now therefore remaine still, and keepe fidelitie towards vs, and we will recompense you for the good things that ye haue done for vs.

28 And will releafe you of many charges, and giue you rewards.

29 And nowe I discharge for your sake all the Jewes from tributes, and free you from the customes customs of salt, and the crowne taxes, and from the third part of the seede.

30 And from the halfe of the fruit of the trees which is mine owne duety, I so release them, that from this day forth, none shall take any thing of the land of Iuda, or of the thre governments, which are added therunto, as of Samaria and of Galile, from this day forth for evermore.

a And of the countrey beyond Iordan, as Iosephus writeth.

31 Jerusalem also with all things belonging thereto, shall be holy and free from the tenthes and tributes.

32 Also I release the power of the castle which is at Jerusalem, and give it unto the hie Priest, that he may let in such men, as he shall chuse to keepe it.

33 Moreover I freely deliver every one of the Jewes that were taken away prisoners out of the land of Iuda throughout all my realme, and every one of them shalbe free from tributes, yea, even their cattell.

34 And all the feasts, and Sabbathes, and new moones, and the dayes appointed, and the three dayes before the feast, and the three dayes after the feast, shall be dayes of freedom and liberty for all the Jewes in my realme.

35 So that in them no man shall have power to doe any thing, or to bere any of them in any manner of cause.

36 Also thertie thousand of the Jewes shall be written vp in the Kings holte, and have their wages payed them as appertaineth to all them that are of the Kings armie: and of them shall be ordeined certaine to keepe the Kings strong holds.

37 And some of them shall beset over the Kings most secret affaires, and their governors and their princes shalbe of themselves, and they shall live after their owne lawes, as the King hath commanded in the land of Iuda.

38 And the thre governments that are added unto Iudea from the countrey of Samaria, shall be ioyned unto Iudea, and they shall be as under one, and obey none other power, but the hie Priest.

39 And I give Ptolemas and the borders thereof unto the Sanctuary at Jerusalem, for the necessary expences of the holy things.

40 Moreover I will give every yere fiftene thousand sickles of silver of the Kings reuenues, out of the places appertaining unto me.

41 And all the ouerplus which they have not payed for the things due, as they did in the former yeres, from henceforth they shall give it toward the works of the Temple.

42 And besides this, the five thousand sickles of silver which they received yere of the account appointed for the entertainment of the Sanctuary, these yeres passed, even these things shall be released, because they appertaine to the Priests that minister.

43 Item, whosoever they be that flee unto the Temple at Jerusalem, or within the liberties thereof, and are indebted to the king for any manner of thing, they shall be pardoned, and all that they haue in my Realme.

44 For the building also and repairing of the works of the Sanctuary, expences shalbe giuen of the kings reuenues.

45 And for the making of the walles of Jerusalem, and fortifying it round about, that the holds in Iudea may be built vp, shall also the costs be giuen out of the kings reuenues.

46 ¶ But when Jonathan and the people heard these words, they gaue no credite vnto them, neither receiued them: for they remembered the great wickednesse that he had done in Israel, and how sore he had vexed them.

47 Wherefore they agreed vnto Alexander: for he was the first that had intreated of true peace with them, and so were confederate with him alway.

48 Then gathered king Alexander a great holte, and camped ouer against Demetrius.

49 So the two kings ioyned battell: but Demetrius holte fled, and Alexander pursued him and preailed against them.

50 So that sore battell continued till the sunne went downe, and Demetrius was slaine the same day.

51 ¶ Then Alexander sent Ambassadors vnto Ptolemas the king of Egypt, with these words, saying, Ioseph. Anis 13. cap. 6.

52 For so much as I am come againe to my Realme, and am set in the throne of my fathers, and haue gotten the dominion, & haue destroyed Demetrius, and enioy my countrey.

53 Seeing that I haue euen giuen him the battell, and he and his armie is discomfited by me, and I sit in the throne of his kingdome, 54 Let vs now make friendship together, and giue me now thy daughter to wife: so shall I be thy sonne in law, and giue thee rewards, and vnto her things according to thy dignity.

55 Then Ptolemas the king gaue answer, saying, Wappy be the day wherein thou art come againe vnto the land of thy fathers, and sittest in the throne of their kingdome.

56 Now therefore will I fulfil thy writing: but meete me at Ptolemas, that we may see one another, and that I may make thee my sonne in law, according to thy desire.

57 So Ptolemas went out of Egypt, with his daughter Cleopatra, and came vnto Ptolemas in the hundredth threescore and two yere.

58 Where king Alexander met him, and he gaue vnto him his daughter Cleopatra, and married them at Ptolemas, with great glory, as the manner of kings is.

59 ¶ Then wrote king Alexander vnto Jonathan, that he should come and meete him.

60 So he went honourably vnto Ptolemas, and there he met the two kings, and gaue them great presents of silver and gold, and so their friends, and found fauour in their sight.

61 And there assembled certaine pestilent fellows of Israel, and wicked men to accuse him: but the king would not heare them.

62 And the king commanded that they should take off the garments of Jonathan, and clothe him in purple, and so they did: and the king appointed him to sit by him.

63 And said vnto his Princes, Goe with him into the mids of the cite, and make a proclamation, that no man complaine against him of any matter, and that no man trouble him for any manner of cause.

64 So when his accusers saw his honour according as it was proclaimed, and that he was clothed in purple, they fled all away.

65 And the king preferred him to honour, and wrote wrote him among his chiefe friends, and made him a duke and partaker of his dominion.

66 Thus Jonathan returned to Jerusalem with peace and gladnesse.

67 In the hundredth threescore and five yere, came Demetrius the sonne of Demetrius, from Creta into his fathers land.

68 Whereof when king Alexander heard, he was very sorry, and returned vnto Antiochia.

69 Then Demetrius appointed Apollonius the gouernour of Coelosyria, who gathered a great host, and camped in Iamnia, and sent vnto Jonathan the high Priest, saying,

70 Darest thou, being but alone, lift vp thy selfe against vs? and I am laughed at, and reproched, because of thee: now therefore why dost thou vaunt thy selfe against vs in the mountaynes?

71 Now then, if thou trust in thine owne strength, come downe to vs into the plaine field, and there let vs try the matter together: for I haue the strength of cities.

72 Alke and learne who I am, and they shall take my part: and they shall tell thee that your foote is not able to stand before our face: for thy fathers haue bene thus chaled in their owne land.

73 And now how wilt thou be able to abide so great an hoste of horsemen and footmen in the plaine, where is neither stone, nor rocke, nor place to flee vnto?

74 When Jonathan heard the words of Apollonius, he was moued in his minde: wherefore he choise ten thousand men, and went out of Jerusalem, and Simon his brother met him, for to helpe him.

75 And he pitched his tents at Joppe: but they shut him out of the city: for Apollonius garison was in Joppe.

76 Then they foughte against it: and they that were in the city, for very feare let him in: so Jonathan warne Joppe.

77 Apollonius hearing of this, tooke three thousand horsemen, with a great hoste of foote men, and went toward Azotus, as though hee would goe forward, and came immediatly into the plaine field, because he had so many horsemen, and put his trust in them.

78 So Jonathan followed vpon him to Azotus, and the armie skirmished with his arriere band.

79 For Apollonius had left a thousand horsemen behind them in ambush.

80 And Jonathan knew that there was an ambushment behind him, and though they had compassed in his hoste, and shot darts at the people from the morning to the evening, 81 Yet the people stood still, as Jonathan had commanded them, till their horses were weary.

82 Then brought Simon forth his host, and set them against the band: but the horses were weary, and he discomfited them, and they fled: so the horsemen were scattered in the field.

83 And they fled to Azotus, and came into the temple of Dagon their idole, that they might there save themselves.

84 But Jonathan set fire vpon Azotus and all the cities round about it, and tooke their spoiles, and burnt with fire the temple of Dagon, with all them that were fled into it.

85 Thus were Azotus and burnt about right thousand men.

86 So Jonathan remoued the hoste from thence, and camped by Alkalon, where the men of the city came forth, and met him with great honour.

87 After this went Jonathan and his hoste againe to Jerusalem with great spoiles.

88 And when king Alexander heard these things, he began to doe Jonathan more honour.

89 And sent him a collar of gold, as the yle is to bee giuen vnto such as are of the Kings blood: he gaue him also Accaron, with the borders thereof in possession.

CHAP. XI.

1 The diffention betwene Ptolemeus and Alexander his sonne in law. 17 The death of Alexander. 19 Demetrius reigneth after the death of Ptolemeus. 22 Sion is besieged of Jonathan. 42 Demetrius seeing that no man resisted him, sendeth his armie againe. 54 Tryphon moueth Antiochus against Demetrius.

AND the king of Egypt gathered a great hoste, like the sand that lieth vpon the sea shore, and many ships, and went about through deceit to obtaine the kingdome of Alexander, and to reuenge it vnto his owne Realme.

2 Vpon this he went into Syria with friendly words, and was let into the cities, and men came forth to meete him: for king Alexander had commanded them to meete him, because he was his father in law.

3 Now when hee entered into the cite of Ptolemais, he left bands and garisons in euery city.

4 And when he came nere to Azotus, they shewed him the temple of Dagon that was burnt, and Azotus, and the suburbs thereof that were destroyed, and the bodies cast abroad, and them that he had burnt in the battell: for they had made heapes of them by the way where hee should passe.

5 And they told the king what Jonathan had done, to the intent they might get him with will: but the king held his peace.

6 And Jonathan met the king with great honour at Joppe, where they saluted one another, and lay there.

7 So when Jonathan had gone with the king vnto the water that was called Eleuthernus, he turned againe to Jerusalem.

8 So king Ptolemeus gate the dominion of the cities by the sea vnto Seleucia vpon the sea coast, imagining wicked counsels against Alexander.

9 And sent ambassadours vnto king Demetrius, saying, Come, let vs make a league betwene vs, and I will giue thee my daughter, which Alexander hath, and thou shalt reigne in thy fathers kingdome.

10 For I repect that I gaue Alexander my daughter: for he goeth about to slay me.

11 Thus he slandered Alexander, as one that should delire his Realme.

12 And he tooke his daughter from him, and gaue her vnto Demetrius, and forsooke Alexander, so that their hatred was openly known.

13 Then Ptolemeus came to Antiochia, where he let two crownes vpon his owne head, of Asia, and of Egypt.

14 In the meane season was king Alexander in Cilicia: for they that dwelt in those places, had rebelled against him.

15 But

Joseph. Ant.
13. cap. 7.

15 But when Alexander heard it, he came to warre against him, and Ptolemeus brought forth his hoste, and met him with a mighty power, and put him to flight.

16 Then fled Alexander into Arabia, there to be defended: so Ptolemeus was exalted.

17 And Sabbel the Arabian smote off Alexanders head, and sent it vnto Ptolemeus.

18 But the third day after, king Ptolemeus died, and they that were in the holdes, were slaine one of another.

19 And Demetrius reigned in the hundred threescore and seuen yeere.

20 ¶ At the same time gathered Jonathan them that were in Iudea, to lay siege vnto the castle which was at Ierusalem, and they made many instruments of warre against it.

21 Then went there certayne vngodly persons (which hated their owne people) vnto king Demetrius, and told him that Jonathan besieged the castle.

22 So when he heard it, he was angry, and immediately came vnto Ptolemas, and wrote vnto Jonathan, that he should lay no more siege vnto it, but that he should meet him, and speake with him at Ptolemas in all haste.

23 Wherehelesse, when Jonathan heard this, he commanded to besiege it: hee chose also certayne of the Elders of Israel, and the Dukes, and put himselfe in danger.

24 And tooke with him siluer and gold, and apparell, and diuers presents, and went to Ptolemas vnto the king, and found fauour in his sight.

25 And though certayne vngodly men of his owne nation had made complaints vpon him,

26 Yet the king intreated him as his predecessors had done, and promoted him in the sight of all his friends, 27 And confirmed him in the high Priesthood with all the honorable things that he had afore, and made him his chiefe friend.

28 Jonathan also desired the king, that hee would make Iudea free with the three governments, and the countrey of Samaria, and Jonathan promised him three hundred talents.

29 Whereunto the king consented, and gaue Jonathan writing of the same, concerning these words.

30 KING DEMETRIUS vnto his brother Jonathan, and to the nation of the Iewes sendeth greeting.

31 Alce send you heere a copie of the letter, which wee did write vnto our cousin Lathenes concerning you, that ye should see it.

32 King Demetrius vnto Lathenes his father sendeth greeting.

33 For the faithfulness that our friends the nation of the Iewes keepe vnto vs, and for their good will toward vs, we are determined to doe them good.

34 Wherefore we assigne to them the coasts of Iudea, with the three governments, Apherea, and Lydda, and Ramathe (which are added vnto Iudea from the countrey of Samaria) and all that pertaineth to all them that sacrifice in Ierusalem: both concerning the payments which the king tooke yere by aforetime, both for the fruits of the earth, and for the fruits of the trees.

35 As for the other things pertaining vnto us of the tenths and tributes which were due vnto vs, and the customes of salt, and crowne taxes, which were payed vnto vs, we discharge them of all from henceforth.

36 And nothing hereof shalbe reckoned from this time forth and for ever.

37 Therefore see that ye make a copy of these things, and deliuer it vnto Jonathan, that it may bee set vpon the holy Mount in an open place.

38 After this, when Demetrius the king saw that his land was in rest, and that no resistance was made against him, hee sent away all his host, euery man to his owne place, except certayne bands of strangers, whom he brought from the yles of the heathen: wherefore all his fathers hoste hated him.

39 Now was there one Tryphon, that had bene of Alexanders part afore, which when he saw that all the hoste murmured against Demetrius, he went to Simalone the Arabian, that brought up Antiochus the sonne of Alexander,

¶ Or, Simalone.

40 And lay fore vpon him, to deliuer him this young Antiochus, that he might reigne in his fathers stead: he told him also what great enill Demetrius had done, and how his men of warre hated him, and he remained there a long season.

41 Also Jonathan sent vnto king Demetrius to driue them out which were in the castle at Ierusalem, and those that were in the fortresses: for they fought against Israel.

42 So Demetrius sent vnto Jonathan, saying, I will not only doe these things for thee and thy nation, but if opportunity serue, I will honour thee and thy nation.

43 Now therefore thou shalt doe me a pleasure, if thou wilt send me men to helpe me: for all mine armie is gone from me.

44 So Jonathan sent him three thousand strong men vnto Antiochia, and they came vnto the king: wherefore the king was very glad at their coming.

45 ¶ But they that were of the cite, euen an hundred and twentie thousand men, gathered them together in the mids of the city, and would haue slaine the king.

46 But the king fled into the palace, and the citizens kept the streetes of the city, and began to fight.

47 Then the king called to the Iewes for helpe, which came to him all together, and went abroad thorow the city.

48 And from the same day an hundred thousand, and set fire vpon the cite, and tooke many spoiles in that day, and deliuered the king.

49 So when the citizens saw that the Iewes had gotten the vpper hand of the cite, and that they themselves were disappointed of their purpose, they made their supplication vnto the king, saying,

50 ¶ Grant vs peace, and let the Iewes cease from bering vs and the city.

¶ Or, giue vs the right hand.

51 So they cast away their weapons, & made peace, and the Iewes were greatly honoured before the king, and before all that were in his realme, and they came again to Ierusalem with great pray.

52 Then king Demetrius late in the throne of his kingdom, and had peace in his land.

53 Wherehelesse, he dissembled in all that euer he he spake, & withdrew himselfe from Jonathan, neither did he reward him according to the benefits which he had done for him, but troubled him very sore.

54 ¶ After this returned Tryphon with the young child Antiochus, which reigned, and was crowned.

55 Then there gathered vnto him all the men of warre, whom Demetrius had scattered, and they fought against him, who fled, and turned his backe.

56 So Tryphon tooke the 11 beastes, and wan Antiochia.

57 And young Antiochus wrote vnto Jonathan, saying, I appoint thee to be y^e chiefe Priest, and make thee ruler over the foure governments that thou mayest be a friend of the Kings.

58 Upon this he sent him golden vessels to be serued in, and gaue him leaue to drinke in gold, and to weare purple, & to haue a collar of gold.

59 He made his brother Simon also captaine from the coastes of Tyrys vnto the borders of Egypt.

60 Then Jonathan went forth, and passed thorow the cities beyond the flood, & all the men of warre of Syria gathered vnto him for to help him: so he came vnto Ascalon, and they of the cite receiued him honourably.

61 And from thence went he vnto Gaza: but they of Gaza shut him out: wherefore hee layde siege vnto it, & burned the suburbs thereof with fire, and spoiled them.

62 Then they of Gaza made supplication vnto Jonathan, and he made peace with them, and tooke of the sons of the chiefe men for hostages, and sent them to Ierusalem, and went thorow the countrey vnto Damascus.

63 And when Jonathan heard that Demetrius princes were come into Cades, which is in Galile, with a great hoste, purposing to driue him out of the countrey, 64 Hee came against them, and left Simon his brother in the countrey.

65 And Simon besieged Beth-sura, and fought against it a long season, and shut it vp.

66 So they desired to haue peace with him, which he graunted them, & afterward put them out from thence, and tooke the city, and let a garrison in it.

67 Then Jonathan with his host came to the water of Genesar, and betimes in the morning came to the plaine of Azor.

68 And behold, the hostes of the 11 strangers met him in the plaine, & had layd ambushments for him in the mountaynes.

69 So that when they came against them, the ambushments rose out of their places and skirmished.

70 So that all that were of Jonathans side, fled: and there was not one of them left, except Mattathias the sonne of Absolomus, and Judas the sonne of Calphit the Captaines of the hoste.

71 Then Jonathan rent his clothes, and cast earth vpon his head, and prayed, 72 And turned againe to them to fight, and put them to flight, so that they fled away.

73 Now when his owne men that were fled saw this, they turned againe vnto him, and helped him to follow after all vnto their tents at Cades, and there they camped.

74 So there were slaine of the strangers the same day about three thousand men, and Jonathan turned againe to Ierusalem.

C H A P. XII.

1 Jonathan sendeth ambassadours to Rome, 2 and to the people of Sparta, to renew their covenant of friendship. 34 Jonathan putteth to flight the Princes of Demetrius. 40 Tryphon taketh Jonathan by deceit.

1 Jonathan now seeing that the time was meete for him, chose certaine men, and sent them vnto Rome, to establish and renew the friendship with them.

2 He sent letters also vnto the 11 Spartians, and to other places for the same purpose.

3 So they went vnto Rome, and entred into the Senate, and said, Jonathan the high Priest and the nation of the Iewes sent vs vnto you, for to renew friendship with you, and the bond of loue, as in times past.

4 So the Romanes gaue them free passports: that men should leade them home into the land of Iuda peaceably.

5 AND THIS is the copy of the letters that Jonathan wrote vnto the Spartians, 6 Jonathan the hie Priest with the Elders of the nation, and the Priests, and the rest of the people of the Iewes, send greeting vnto the Spartians their brethren.

7 Heretofore were letters sent vnto Onias the hie Priest from 11 Arius, which then reigned among you, that you would be our brethren, as the copy hereunder written specifieth.

8 And Onias intreated the ambassadour honourably, and receiued the letters: wherein there was mention made of the bond of loue & friendship.

9 But as for vs, we neede no such writings: for wee haue the holy bookes in our hands for comfort.

10 Neuerthelesse, we thought it good to send vnto you, for the renewing of the brotherhood and friendship, lest wee should be strange vnto you: for it is long since the time that ye sent vnto vs.

11 Therefore we remember you at all seasons continually, and in the feasts and other dayes appointed, when we offer sacrifices and prayers, as it is meete and conuenient to thinke vpon our brethren.

12 And wee reioyce at your prosperous estate.

13 And though we haue bene inuironed with great troubles and warres, so that the kings round about vs haue fought against vs, 14 Yet would we not be grieved vnto you, nor to other of our confederates and friends in these warres.

15 For we haue had helpe from heauen, that hath succoured vs, and wee are deliuered from our enemies, and our enemies are subdued.

16 Yet haue we chosen Numentius the sonne of Antiochus, and Antipater the sonne of Jason, and sent them vnto the Romanes, for to renew the former friendship with them, and league.

17 We commaunded them also to goe vnto you, and to salute you, and to deliuer you our letters concerning the renewing of our brotherhood.

18 And now ye shall doe vs a pleasure to giue vs an answer of these things.

19 And this was the copy of the Letters, which Arius the king of Sparta sent vnto D. nias.

20 THE KING of the Spartians vnto D. nias the high Priest sendeth greeting.

21 It is found in writing that the Spartians and Iewes are brethren, and come out of the generation of Abraham.

22 And nowe for so much as this is come to our knowledge, ye shall doe well to write vnto vs of your prosperitie.

23 As for vs wee haue written vnto you, that your cattell and goods are ours, and ours are yours: these things haue wee commanded to be shewed vnto you.

24 Nowe when Jonathan heard that Demetrius princes were come to fight against him, he took a greater hoste then afore.

25 Hee went from Ierusalem, and met them in the land of Damath: for hee gaue them no space to come into his owne countrey.

26 And hee sent spies vnto their tents, which came againe and tolde him, that they were appointed to come vpon him in the night.

27 Wherefore, when the Sunne was gone downe, Jonathan commanded his men to watch, and to be in armes ready to fight all the night, and sent watchmen round about the hoste.

28 But when the aduersaries heard that Jonathan was ready with his men to the battell, they feared, and trembled in their hearts, and kindled fires in their tents, and fled away.

29 Neuerthelesse Jonathan and his company knew it not till the morning: for they saw the fires burning.

30 Then Jonathan followed vpon them, but he could not overtake them: for they were gone ouer the flood Eleutherus.

31 So Jonathan turned to the Arabians, which were called Zabedei, and slew them, and tooke their spoile.

32 Hee proceeded further also, and came vnto Damascus, and went thowow all the countrey.

33 But Simon his brother went forth, and came to Alcalon, and to the next holds, departing vnto Ioppe, and wanne it.

34 For hee heard that they would deliuer the hold to them that tooke Demetrius part: wherefore he set a garrison there to keepe it.

35 After this came Jonathan home, and called the Elders of the people together, and deuised with them for to build vp the strong holds in Iudea.

36 And to make the walles of Ierusalem higher, and to make a great mount betwixt the castle and the citie, for to separate it from the citie that it might bee alone, and that men should neither buy, nor sell in it.

37 So they came together to build vp the citie: for part of the wall vpon the backe of the East side was fallen downe, and they repaired it, and called it Caphenatha.

38 Simon also set vp Adva in Sephela, and made it strong with gates and barres.

39 In the meane time Tryphon purposed to reigne in Asia, & to be crowned when he had slaine the King Antiochus.

40 But he was afraid that Jonathan would not suffer him, but fight against him: wherefore he went about to take Jonathan, & to kill him: so he departed and came vnto Bethsan.

41 Then went Jonathan forth against him to the battell with fourtie thousand choyse men, and came vnto Bethsan.

42 But when Tryphon saw that Jonathan came with so great an hoste, hee durst not lay hand vpon him.

43 But receiued him honourably, and commended him vnto all his friends, and gaue him rewards, and commanded his men of warre to be as obedient vnto him, as to himselfe.

44 And layd vnto Jonathan, Why hast thou caused this people to take such trauaile, seeing there is no warre betwene vs?

45 Therefore send them now home againe, and chuse certaine men to waite vpon thee, and come thou with mee to Ptolemias: for I will giue it thee, with the other strong holds, and the other garrisons, and all them that haue the charge of the common affaires: so will I returne, and depart: for this is the cause of my coming.

46 Jonathan beleued him, and did as hee sayd, and sent away his hoste, which went into the land of Iuda.

47 And retained but three thousand with him, whereof hee sent two thousand into Galilee, and one thousand went with himselfe.

48 Now as soone as Jonathan entred into Ptolemias, they of Ptolemias shut the gates, and tooke him, & slew all them with the sword, that came in with him.

49 Then sent Tryphon an hoste of footemen and horsemen into Galilee, and into the great plaine to destroy all Jonathans company.

50 But when they knew that Jonathan was taken, and slaine, and those that were with him, they encouraged one another, and came forth against them ready to the battell.

51 But when they which followed vpon them, saw that it was a matter of life, they turned backe againe.

52 By this meanes all they came into the land of Iuda peaceably, and bewailed Jonathan, and them that were with him, and feared greatly, and all Israel made great lamentation.

53 For all the heathen that were round about them, sought to destroy them.

54 For they said, Now haue they no captaine, nor any man to helpe them: therefore let vs now fight against them, and roote out their memory from among men.

CHAP. XIII.

1 After Jonathan was taken, Simon is chosen captaine.

17 Tryphon, taking his children and money for the redemption of Jonathan, killeth him and his children.

31 Tryphon killeth Antiochus, and possesseth the realme.

36 Demetrius taketh truce with Simon.

43 Simon winneth Gaza.

50 He possesseth the towne of Sion.

53 He maketh his sonne Iohn captaine.

Now when Simon heard that Tryphon gathered a great hoste to come into the land of Iuda, and to destroy it,

2 And sawe that the people was in great trembling and feare, hee came vp to Ierusalem, and gathered the people together.

3 And gaue them exhortation, saying, Wee know

*Ioseph. Ant.
13. chap. 9.*

know what great things I, and my brethren, and my fathers house have done for the Law, and the Sanctuary, and the battels, and troubles that we haue seene.

4 By reason whereof all my brethren are aaine for Israels sake, and I am left alone.

5 Now therefore God forbid, that I should spare mine owne life in any time of trouble: for I am not better then my brethren.

6 But I will auenge my nation, and the Sanctuary, and our wiues and our children: for all the heathen are gathered together to destroy vs of very malice.

7 In hearing these words the hearts of the people were kindled,

8 So that they cryed with a loud voyce, saying, Thou shalt be our captaine in stead of Judas and Jonathan thy brethren.

9 Fight thou our battels, and whatsoever thou commandest vs, we will doe it.

10 So hee gathered all the men of warre, making hast to finish the walles of Ierusalem, and fortified it round about.

11 Then sent hee Jonathan the sonne of Absalomus with a great hoste vnto Ioppe, which dyone them out that were therein, and remained there himselfe.

12 Tryphon also remoued from Ptolemais with a great armie, to come into the land of Iuda, and Jonathan was with him as prisoner.

Or, Addus.

13 And Simon pitched his tents at Addis vpon the open plaine.

14 But when Tryphon knew that Simon stood by in stead of his brother Jonathan, and that he would fight against him, he sent messengers vnto him, saying,

15 Whereas we haue kept Jonathan thy brother, it is for money that hee is owing in y^e kings account concerning the businesse that hee had in hand.

16 Wherefore send now an hundred talents of silver, and his two sonnes for hostages, that when he is letten forth hee will not turne from vs, and we will send him againe.

17 Neuerthelesse Simon knew that hee dissembled in his wordes, yet commanded hee the money and children to be deliuered vnto him, lest hee should be in greater hatred of the people of Israel:

18 Who might haue sayd, Because hee sent him not the money and the children, therefore is Jonathan dead.

19 So hee sent the children and an hundred talents: but hee dissembled and would not let Jonathan goe.

20 Afterward came Tryphon into the land to destroy it, and went round about by the way, that leadeth vnto Adora: but wheresoeuer they went, thither went Simon and his hoste.

21 Now they that were in the castle sent messengers vnto Tryphon, that hee should make haste to come by the wilderness, and to send them vittalles.

22 So Tryphon made ready all his horsemen: but the same night fell a very great snow, so that he came not, because of the snow: but hee remoued & went into the countrey of Galaad.

23 And when he came nere to Balsama, hee slew Jonathan, and he was buried there.

24 So Tryphon returned, and went into his owne land.

25 Then sent Simon to take the bones of Jonathan his brother, and they buried him in Modin his fathers cite.

26 And all Israel bewailed him with great lamentation, and mourned for him very long.

27 And Simon made vpon the pulchre of his father and his brethren, a building high to looke vnto of hewen stone behind and before.

28 And set vp seuen pillars vpon it, one against another, for his father, his mother, and foure brethren, 29 And set great pillars round about them, and set armes vpon the pillars for a perpetuall memory, and carued shippes beside the armes, that they might bee seene of men sayling in the Sea.

30 This sepulchre which he made at Modin, standeth yet vnto this day.

31 Now as Tryphon went forth with the young King Antiochus, he slew him traittously, Ioseph. Ant. 3. chap. 10.

32 And reigned in his stead, and crowned himselfe King of Asia, & brought a great plague vpon the land.

33 Simon also built vp the castles of Iuda, and compassed them about with high towres, and great walles, euen with towres, and gates, and barres, and layd by vittalles in the strong holds.

34 Moreover, Simon chose certaine men and sent them to King Demetrius, that he would discharge the land: for all Tryphons doings were robberies.

35 Whereupon Demetrius the King answered him, and wrote vnto him after this manner, 36 DEMETRIVS the King vnto Simon the hie Priest, and the friend of Kings, and to the Elders, and to the nation of the Jewes, sendeth greeting.

37 The golden crowne, and // precious stone that yee sent vnto vs haue we receiued, and are ready to make a stedfast peace with you, and to write vnto the officers to release you of the things wherein we made you free.

Or, collar, or baudricke: in Greeke Bainen, or, bah: m.

38 So the things that we haue granted you, shall be stable: the strong holds which yee haue builded, shall be your owne.

39 Also we forgive the oversightes, and fautes committed vnto this day, and the crowne tax that yee ought vs, and wheras was any other tribute in Ierusalem, it shall be now no tribute.

40 And they that are meete among you to be written with our men, let them be written by, that there may be peace betwene vs.

41 Thus the yoke of the heathen was taken from Israel in the hundredth and seventy yeere.

42 And the people of Israel began to write in their letters and publike instruments, IN THE FIRST YEERE of Simon, the hie and chiefe Priest, gouernour and Prince of the Jewes.

43 In those dayes Simon camped against Gaza, and besieged it round about, where hee set vp an engine of warre, and approached nere the cite, and beat a tower and took it.

44 So they that were in the engine, leapt into the cite, and there was great trouble in the city.

45 In so much that the people of the city, rent their clothes, and climed vp vpon the walles with with their wives, and children and cryed with a loud voyce, beseeching Simon to graunte them peace, saying;

46 Deale not with vs according to our wickednesse, but according to thy mercy.

47 Then Simon pitied them, & would fight no more against them, but put them out of the citie, and cleansed the houses, wherein the idoles were, and so entered thereunto with Psalmes and thanksgiving.

48 So when he had cast all the filthinesse out, he set such men in it as kept the Law, and fortified it, and builded there a dwelling place for himselfe.

49 Now, when they in the castle at Jerusalem were kept, that they could not come forth nor goe into the country, neither buy nor sell, they were very hungry, and many of them were famished to death.

50 Insomuch that they besought Simon to make peace with them: which he granted them, and put them out from thence, and cleansed the castle from filthinesse.

51 And upon the thirte and twenty day of the second moneth, in the hundredth seuentie and one yere they entred into it with thanksgiving, and branches of palme trees, and with harpes, and with cymbals, and with viols, & with Psalmes, and songs, because the great enemy of Israel was overcome.

52 And he ordained that the same day should be kept every yere with gladnesse.

53 And he fortified the mount of the Temple that was besides the castle, where he dwelt himselfe with his company.

54 Simon also seeing that John his sonne was now a man, he made him capitaine of all the hosts, and caused him to dwell in || Gazara.

CHAP. XIII.

1 Demetrius is overcome of Arsaces. 21 Simon making captaine, there is great quietnesse in Israel. 28 The covenant of friendship with the Romans, and with the people of Sparta is renewed.

In the hundredth seuentie and two yere, gathered king Demetrius his hoste, and departed unto Media, to get him helpe for to fight against Tryphon.

2 But when Arsaces the king of Persia and Media heard that Demetrius was entred within his borders, he sent one of his princes to take him alive.

3 So he went and overcame the armie of Demetrius, and tooke him, and brought him to Arsaces which kept him in ward.

4 Thus all the land of Iuda was in rest, so long as Simon lived: for he sought the wealth of his nation: therefore were they glad to haue him for their ruler, and to do him worship alway.

5 Simon also wane the citie of Ioppe to his great honour, to be an haven towne, and made it an entrance vnto the ples of the sea.

6 He enlarged also the borders of his people, and conquered the countreys.

7 He gathered up many of their people that were prisoners, and he had the dominion of Gazara, and Beth sura, and the castle, which hee cleansed from filthinesse, and there was no man that resisted him.

8 So that every man tilled his ground in peace, and the land gaue her fruits, and the trees gaue their fruit.

9 The Elders sate in the open places, and consulted all together for the Common wealth, and the yong men were honourably clothed and armed.

10 He prouided vittalles for the cities, and all kind of munition, so that his glorious name was renowned vnto the end of the world.

11 He made peace thorowout the land, and Israel had perfitt mirth and toy.

12 For every man sate vnder his vine, and the fig trees, and there was no man to fray them.

13 There was none in the land to fight against them: for then the kings were overcome.

14 He helped all those that were in aduersitie among his people: hee was diligent to see the Law kept, and he tooke away the vngodly and wicked.

15 He beautified the Sanctuary, and increased the vessels of the Temple.

16 When the Romans heard, and the Spartians had knowledge that Jonathan was dead, they were very sorry.

17 But when they heard that Simon his brother was made high Priest in his stead, and how he had wonne the land againe with the cities in it.

18 They wrote vnto him in tables of brass, to renew the friendship and bond of loue, which they had made with Iudas and Jonathan his brethren.

19 Which writings were read before the congregation at Jerusalem, and this is the copie of the letters that the Spartians sent.

20 THESE SENATORS and citie of Sparta vnto Simon the great Priest, and to the Elders, and to the Priests, and to the residue of the people of the Jewes their brethren send greeting, 21 When your ambassadours that were sent vnto our people, certified vs of your glory and honour, we were glad of their coming.

22 And haue registred their ambassage in the publike records in this manner, NV MENIVS the sonne of Antiochus, and Adripater the sonne of Jason, the Jewes ambassadours came vnto vs, to renew amitie with vs.

23 And it pleased the people, that the men should be honourably intreated, and that the copie of their ambassage should be registred in the publike records, that it might bee for a memoriall vnto the people of Sparta, and a copie of the same was sent to Simon the chiefe Priest.

24 After this, Simon sent Pammenius to Rome with a great shield of gold of a thousand pound weight to confirme the friendship with them.

25 Which when the people understood, they sayd, What thanks shall we recompense againe vnto Simon and his children?

26 For he and his brethren, and the house of his father haue stablished Israel, and overcome their enemies, and haue confirmed the libertie thereof: therefore they wrote this in tables of brass, and let it vpon pillars in mount Sion.

27 The copy of the writing is this, In the eight and twentieth day of the month || Elul, || August, in the hundredth seuentie and two yere, in the third yere of Simon the hie Priest.

¶ Or Ierusalem.

28 In // Saramel in the great congregation of the Priests, and of the people, and of the governors of the nation; and of the elders of the country, we would signifie vnto you, that many battels haue been fought in our country.

29 Wherein Simon the sonne of Mattathias (come of the child of Jarib) and his brethren put themselves in danger, and resisted the enemies of their nation, that their Sanctuary, and Law might be maintained, and did their nation great honour.

30 For Jonathan gathered his nation together, and became their high Priest, and is laide with his people.

31 After that would their enemies haue invaded their country, and destroyed their land, and lay their hands on their Sanctuary.

32 Then Simon resisted them, and fought for his nation, and spent much of his owne substance, and armed the vallant men of his nation, and gaue them wages.

33 We fortified also the cities of Iudea, and Bethlura that lieth vpon the borders of Iudea, (where the ordinance of their enemies lay sometime) and set there a garrison of the Jewes.

34 And he fortified Joppe, which lieth vpon the sea, and // Gazara that bordereth vpon Azotus (where the enemies dwelt afore) and there be placed Jewes, & furnished them with things necessary for the reparacion thereof.

35 Now when the people saw the faithfulness of Simon, and to what glory hee thought to bring his nation vnto, they made him their gouernour and the chiefe Priest, because he had done all these things, and for the uprightness and fidelitie that he had kept to his nation and that sought by all meanes to exalt his people.

36 For in his time they prospered wel by him, so that the heathen were taken out of their country, and they also which were in the city of David at Ierusalem, where they had made them a castle, out of the which they went, and visited all things that were about the Sanctuary, and did great hurt vnto religion.

37 And he set Jewes in it, and fortified it, for the assurance of the land and cite, and raised vp the walles of Ierusalem.

38 And King Demetrius confirmed him in his hie Priesthood for these causes, 39 And made him one of his friends, & gaue him great honour.

40 For it was reported that the Romans called the Jewes their friends and confederates, and that they honourably received Simons ambassadours,

41 And that the Jewes and Priests consented that Simon should be their Prince and high Priest perpetually, till God raised vp the true Prophet, 42 And that he should be their capitaine and haue the charge of the Sanctuary, and to set men ouer the workes, and ouer the Countrey, and ouer the weapons and ouer the fortresses, and that should make provision for the holy things.

43 And that he should be obeyed of every man, and that all the writings in the country should be made in his name, and that he should be clothed in purple, and weare gold,

44 And that it should not bee lawfull for any of the people, or Priests to breake any of these things, or to withstand his words, or to call any congregation in the country without him, or be clothed in purple, or weare a collar of gold;

45 And if any did contrary to these things, or brake any of them, he should be punished.

46 So it pleased all the people to agree that it should be done to Simon according vnto these words.

47 Simon also accepted it, and was content to be the high Priest, and the capitaine, and the Prince of the Jewes and of the Priests, and to be the chiefe of all.

48 And they commanded to set by this writing in tables of brasse, and to fasten it to the wall that compassed the Sanctuary in an open place, 49 And that a copy of the same should be laide by in the treasure, that Simon and his sonnes might haue it.

CHAP. XV.

1 Antiochus maketh a covenant of friendship with Simon. 11 Tryphon is pursued. 15 The Romans write letters vnto kings and nations in the defence of the Jewes.

27 Antiochus refusing the helpe that Simon sent him, breaketh his covenant.

MDecuer, King Antiochus the sonne of Demetrius sent letters from the yles of the sea, vnto Simon the Priest and Prince of the Jewes and to all the nation,

2 Conteyning these words, ANTIOCHVS the King vnto Simon the great Priest, and to the nation of the Jewes, sendeth greeting.

3 For so much as certaine pestilent men haue vniuersed the kingdome of our Fathers, I am purposed to challenge the Realme againe, and to restore it to the olde estate: wherefore I haue gathered a great hoste, and prepared ships of warre.

4 That I may goe through the country, and bee auenged of them, which haue destroyed our country, and wasted many cities in the realme.

5 Now therefore I do confirme vnto thee all the liberties, whereof all the Kings my progenitors haue discharged thee, and all the payments, whereof they haue released thee.

6 And I giue thee leaue to coyne money of thine owne stamp within thy country,

7 And that Ierusalem and the Sanctuary be free, and that all the weapons that thou hast prepared, and the fortresses, which thou hast builded, and keepest in thine hands, shall bee thine.

8 And all that is due vnto the King: and all that shall bee due vnto the King, I forgive thee, from this time forth for evermore,

9 And when we haue obtained our kingdome, we will giue thee and thy nation, and the temple great honour, so that your honour shall be knowne throughout the world.

10 In the hundredth, seventy and foure yere, went Antiochus into his fathers land, and all the bands came together vnto him, so that few wercked with Tryphon.

11 So the King Antiochus pursued him, but he fled and came to Doza, which lieth by the sea side

12 For hee saw that troubles were toward him, him, and that the armie had forsaken him.

13 Then camped Antiochus against Dora with an hundred and twenty thousand fighting men, and eight thousand horsemen.

14 So he compassed the citie about, and the ships came by the sea. Thus they pressed the citie by lande, and by sea, insomuch that they suffered no man to goe in nor out.

15 In the meane season came Pumentius, and his company from Rome, hauing letters written vnto the kings and countreyes, wherein were contained these words, 16 L V C I V S the Consul of Rome vnto king Ptolomeus sendeth greeting.

17 The ambassadours of the Jewes are come vnto vs as our friends and confederates from Simon the high Priest, and from the people of the Jewes, to renew friendship, and the bond of loue.

18 Who haue brought a shield of gold weighing a thousand pound.

19 Wherefore we thought it good to write vnto the kings and countreyes, that they should not go about to hurt them, nor to fight against them nor their citie, nor their countrey, neither to maintaine their enemies against them.

20 And we were content to receiue of them, the shield.

21 If therefore there be any pestilent felowes fled from their countrey vnto you, deliuer them vnto Simon the high Priest, that he may punish them according to their owne law.

22 The same things were written to Demetrius the King, And to Attalus, And to Archies, and to Arsaces.

23 And to all the countreyes, as Samplames and to them of Sparta, and to Delus, and to Indus, & to Sydon, & to Caria, and to Samos, and to Pamphylia, and to Lycia, and to Halicarnassus, and to Rodus, and to Phaselis, and to Coos, and to Siden, and to Coryna, and to Gnidon, and to Cyprius, and to Cyrene.

24 And they sent a copy of them to Simon the high Priest.

25 So Antiochus the king camped against Dora the second time ever ready to take it, and make diuers engines of warre, and kept Tryphon in, that he could neither go in nor out.

26 Then Simon sent him two thousand chosen men to helpe him with siluer and golde, and much furniture.

27 Nevertheless, he would not receiue them, but brake all the covenant, which hee had made with him afore, and withdrew him selfe from him.

28 And sent vnto him Athenobius one of his friends, to commune with him, saying, We withhold Ioppe, and Gazara, with the cattle that is at Ierusalem the citie of my Realme.

29 Those borders wee haue destroyed, and done great hurt in the land, and haue the gouernment of many places of my kingdome.

30 Wherefore now deliuer the citie, which ye haue taken, with the tributes of the places, that ye haue rule ouer without the borders of Iudea.

31 Or else giue me for them five hundred talents of siluer, and for the harme that wee haue done, and for the tributes of the places other five hundred talents, if not, wee will come and fight against you.

32 So Athenobius the kings friend came to Ierusalem, and when he saw the honour of Simon, and the cupboard of gold and siluer plate, and so great preparation, hee was astonished, and told him the kings message.

33 Then answered Simon, and saide vnto him, We haue neither taken other mens lands, nor withholden that which appertained to others: but our fathers heritage, which our enemies had vnrightheously in possession a certaine time.

34 But when we had occasion, we recovered the inheritance of our fathers.

35 And whereas thou requirest Ioppe and Gazara, they did great harme to our people, and thow our countrey, yet will wee giue an hundred talents for them. But Athenobius answered him not one word.

36 But turned againe angry vnto the king, and told him all these words, and the dignity of Simon, with all that he had seene: and the king was very angry.

37 In the meane time fled Tryphon by ship vnto Orchosas.

38 Then the king made Cendebeus captaine of the sea coast, and gaue him bands of footmen and horsemen, 39 And commanded him to remoune the host toward Iudea, and to build vp Cedron, and to fortifie the gates, and to warre against the people: but the king pursued Tryphon.

40 So Cendebeus came vnto Iamnia, and began to bere the people, and to inuade Iudea, and to take the people prisoners, & to slay them.

41 And he built vp Cedron, where he set horsemen and garisons, that they might make out-rides by the wayes of Iudea, as the king had commanded him.

CHAP. XVI.

1 Cendebeus the captaine of Antiochus hoste is put to flight by the sonnes of Simon. 11 Ptolemus the sonne of Abubus killeth Simon and his two sonnes at a banquet.

25 Iohn killeth them that lie in wait for his life.

Then came Iohn vp from Gazara, and tolde Simon his father, what Cendebeus had done.

2 So Simon called two of his eldest sonnes, Iudas and Iohn, and said vnto them, I and my brethren, and my fathers house, haue euer from our youth vnto this day fought against the enemies of Israel, and the matters haue had good successe vnder our hands, and we haue deliuered Israel often times.

3 But I am now old, and yet by Gods mercy are of a sufficient age: be ye therefore in stead of me and my brother, and goe forth and fight for our nation, and the helpe of heauen be with you.

4 So he chooseth twenty thousand fighting men of the countrey with the horsemen, which went forth against Cendebeus, and rested at Modin.

5 In the morning they arose, and went into the plaine field: and behold, a mighty great hoste came against them, both of footmen, and horsemen: but there was a ruier betwixt them.

6 And Iohn ranged his armie ouer against him, and when hee saw that the people was afraid to goe ouer the ruier, hee went ouer first himselfe, and the men seeing him, passed thowow after him.

7 Then he diuided his men, and set the horsemen men in the mids of the footmen.

8 For their enemies horsemen were very many: but when they blew the trumpets, Cendebeus fled with his host: whereof many were slaine, and the remnant gate them to the fortreffe.

9 Then was Judas Johns brother wounded: but John followed after them, till he came to Cesron, which Cendebeus had built.

10 Also they fled vnto the towers, that were in the fields of Azotus, and those did Iohn burne with fire: thus were there slaine two thousand men of them, so he returned peaceably into the land of Iuda.

11 Now in the field of Jericho was Ptolemeus the sonne of Abubus made captaine, and he had abundance of siluer and gold.

12 For he had married the daughter of the high Priest.

13 Therefore hee waxed proud in his minde, and thought to rule the land, and thought to slay Simon and his sonnes by deceit.

14 Now as Simon went about thorow the cities of the countrey, and studied carefully for them, he came downe to Jericho with Balthas, and Judas his sonnes, in the hundredth seuentie and seuen yeere, in the eleuenth moneth, which is the moneth Sabat.

15 Then the sonne of Abubus receiued them by treason into a litle hold called Dochus, which he had built, where he made them a great banquet, and had hid men there.

16 So when Simon & his sonnes had made good cheere, Ptolemeus stood vp with his men and tooke their weapons, and entred in to Simon in the banquet house, and slew him with his two sonnes and certaine of his seruants.

17 Whereby hee committed a great villenie, and recompensed euill for good.

18 Then wrote Ptolemeus these things and sent to the king, that he might send him an hoste to helpe him, and so would deliuer him the countrey with the cities.

19 He sent other men also vnto Gazara, to take Iohn, and sent letters vnto the captaines to come to him, and he would giue them siluer, and gold and rewards.

20 And to Jerusalem he sent other to take it, and the mountaine of the Temple.

21 But one ran before, and told Iohn in Gazara, that his father & his brethren were slaine, and that Ptolemeus had sent to slay him.

22 When he heard this, he was sore astonished, and layd hands on them that were come to slay him, and slew them: for he knew that they went about to kill him.

23 Concerning other things of Iohn, both of his warres, and of his noble actes (wherein hee behaued himselfe manfully) of the building of walles which he made, and other of his deeds, 24 Beholde, they are written in the Chronicles of his Priesthood, from the time that he was made high Priest after his father.

The second booke of the Maccabees.

CHAP. I.

1 An Epistle of the Iewes that dwelt at Jerusalem, sent vnto them that dwelt in Egypt, wherein they exhort them to giue thanks for the death of Antiochus.
19 Of the fire that was hid in the pit. 24 The prayer of Neemias.

We brethren the Iewes which be at Jerusalem, and they that are in the countrey of Iudea, vnto the brethren the Iewes that are thorowout Egypt, send salutation, and prosperitie.

2 God be gracious vnto you, and remember his covenant made with Abraham, and Isaac, and Jacob his faithfull seruants.

3 And giue you all an heart to worship him, and to doe his will with a whole heart and with a willing minde,

4 And open your hearts in his Law and commandements, and send you peace,

5 And heare your prayers, and bee reconciled with you, & neuer forsake you in time of trouble.

6 Thus now we pray here for you.

7 When Demetrius reigned in the hundredth threescore and ninth yeere, we Iewes wrote vnto you in the trouble and violence that came vnto vs in those yerres, after that Jason and his companie departed out of the holy land and kingdom.

8 And burnt the porch, & shed innocent blood. Then wee prayed vnto the Lord, & were heard: wee offered sacrifice and fine flour, and lighted the lampes, and set forth the bread.

9 Now therefore keepe yee the dayes of the feast of the Tabernacles in the moneth Chasleu.

10 In the hundredth, fourescore and eight yeere, the people that was at Jerusalem, and in Iudea, and the counsel, and Judas, vnto Aristobulus king Ptolemeus master, which is of the stocke of the anointed Priests, and to the Iewes that are in Egypt, sendeth greeting and health.

11 Inasmuch as God hath deliuered vs from great perils, wee thanke him highly, as though we had ouercome the king.

12 For he brought them into Persia by heaps that fought against the holy citie.

13 For albeit the captaine and the armie that was with him, seemed vincible, yet they were slaine in the Temple of Panea, by the deceit of Paneas priests.

14 For Antiochus as though he would dwel with her, came thither, hee and his friends with him to receiue money vnder the title of a dowrie.

15 But when the priests of Panea had laid it forth, and he was entred with a small company within the temple, they shut the temple, when Antiochus was come in.

16 And by opening a priuite doore of the vault, they cast stones, as it were thunder, vpon the captaine and his, and hauing bruised them in pieces, they cut off their heads, and threw them to those that were without.

17 God be blessed in all things, which hath deliuered by the wicked.

18 Whereas wee are now purposed to keepe the the purification of the temple upon the five and twentieth day of the moneth Challen, we thought it necessary to certifie you thereof, that yee also might keepe the feast of the Tabernacles, and of the fire, which was given vs when Neemias offered sacrifice, after that he had built the Temple and the altar.

*Leuit 6.13.

19 For when as our fathers were led away vnto Persia, the Priests, which sought the honour of God, tooke the fire of the altar priuily, and hid it in an hollow pit, which was hid in the bottome, and therein they kept it, so that the place was vnknown vnto euery man.

20 Now after many yeeres when it pleased God that Neemias should be sent from the king of Persia, hee sent of the posteritie of those Priests, which had hid it, to fetch the fire, and as they tolde vs, they found no fire, but thicke water.

21 Then commaunded hee them to drawe it vp, and to bring it: and when the things appertaining to the sacrifices were brought, Neemias commaunded the Priests to sprinkle the wood, and the things layd thereupon, with water.

22 When this was done, and the time came that the Sunne shone, which afore was hid in the cloud, there was a great fire kindled, so that euery man maruelled.

23 Now the Priests, and all prayed, while the sacrifice was consuming: Jonathan began, and the other answered therunto.

24 And the prayer of Neemias was after this manner: O Lord, Lord God, maker of all things, which art fearefull and strong, and righteous, and mercifull, and the onely and gracious King,

25 Onely liberall, onely iust and Almightye and euerslasting, thou that deliuerest Israel from all trouble, and hast chosen the fathers and sanctified them,

26 Receiue the sacrifice for thy whole people of Israel, and preserve thine owne portion, and sanctifie it.

27 Gather those together, that are scattered from vs: deliuer them that serue among the heathen: look vpon them which are despised, and abhorred, that the heathen may know that thou art our God.

28 Punish them that oppresse vs, and with pride doe vs wrong.

Deut. 30.5.

29 Plant thy people againe in thine holy place, as Moyses hath spoken.

30 And the Priests sang Psalmes therunto.

31 Now when the sacrifice was consumed, Neemias commaunded the great stones to be sprinkled with the residue of the water.

32 Which when it was done, there was kindled a flame, which was consumed by the light, that shined from the altar.

33 So when this matter was knowne, it was told the King of Persia, that in the place where the Priests, which were led away, had hid fire, there appeared water, wherewith Neemias and his company had purified the sacrifices.

34 The king tryed out the thing, and closed the place about, and made it holy.

35 And to them that the king fauoured, hee gaue and bestowed many gifts.

36 And Neemias called the same place

* Ephthar, which is to say, purification: but many men call it Nephtar.

CHAP. II.

4 How Ieremie hid the Tabernacle, the Arke and the Altar in the hill. 23 Of the fine booke of Iason contained in one.

It is found also in the writings of Ieremias the Prophet, that he commanded them which were caried away, to take fire, as was declared, and as the Prophet commanded them that were led into captiuitie,

2 * Giuing them a law, that they should not forget the commandements of the Lord, and that they should not erre in their mindes, when they saw images of golde and silver, with their ornaments.

Baruch 6.

3 These and such other things commanded hee them, and exhorted them that they should not let the law goe out of their hearts.

4 It is written also, how the Prophet, by an oracle that he had, charged them to take the Tabernacle and the Arke, & followed him: and when hee came vp into the mountaine where Moyses went vp, and saw the heritage of God,

Deut. 34.1.

5 Ieremias went forth, and found an hollow caue, whereto hee layd the Tabernacle, and the Arke, and the altar of incense, and so stopped the doore.

6 And there came certaine of those that followed him, to marke the place: but they could not finde it.

7 Which when Ieremias perceiued, hee re- proued them, saying. As for that place, it shall bee vnknown, vntill the time that God gather his people together againe, and that mercy bee shewed.

8 Then shall the Lord shewe them these things, and the maiestie of the Lord shall appeare and the cloud also, as it was shewed vnder Moyses, and as * when Salomon desired, that the place might be honourably sanctified.

9 For it is manifest that hee, being a wise man, offered the * sacrifice of dedication, and consecration of the Temple.

10 * And as when Moyses prayed vnto the Lord, the fire came downe from heauen, and consumed the sacrifice: so when Salomon prayed * the fire came downe from heauen, and consumed the burnt offering.

11 And Moyses sayd, because the sinne offering was not eaten, therefore it is consumed.

12 So Salomon kept those eight dayes.

13 These things also are declared in the writing and registers of // Neemias, and how hee made a library, and how hee gathered the actes of the Kings, and of the Prophets, & the actes of Dauid, and the epistles of the Kings concerning the holy gifts.

[Some reade Ieremie.]

14 Euen so Judas also gathered all things that came to passe by the warres that were among vs, which things we haue.

15 Therefore if yee haue neede thereof, send some to fetch them vnto you.

16 Whereas wee then are about to celebrate the purification, wee haue written vnto you, and ye shall doe well, if yee keepe the same dayes.

17 Wee hope also that the God which deliuered all his people, and gaue an heritage to them all, and the kingdome, and the Priesthood and the Sanctuary,

18 * As he promised in the Law, will shortly haue mercy vpon vs, and gather vs together from vnder the heauen into his holy place: for hee hath saued vs from great perils, and hath cleansed the place.

19 As concerning Judas Maccabeus and his brethren, the purification of the great Temple and the dedication of the altar,

20 And the warres against Antiochus Epiphanes, and Eupator his sonne, 21 And the manifest signes that came from heauen vnto those, which manfully stood for the Jewes religion: (for though they were but few, yet they ran thorow whole countreyes, and pursued the barbarous armies.

22 And repayed the Temple that was renowned thorowout all the world, and deliuered the citie, and established the Lawes, that were like to be abolished, because the Lord was mercifull vnto them with all lenitie.)

23 Wee will assay to abridge in one volume those things that Jason the Cyrenian hath declared in five bookes.

24 For considering the wonderfull number, and the difficultie that they haue that would be occupied in the rehearall of stories, because of the diuersitie of the matters,

25 Wee haue endeouored, that they that would read, might haue pleasure, and that they which are studious, might easily keepe them in memorie, and that whosoever read them, might haue profit.

26 Therefore to vs that haue taken in hand this great labour, it was no easie thing to make this abridgement, but required both sweat and watching.

27 Like as hee that maketh a feast, & seeketh other mens commoditie hath no small labour: so wee also for many mens sakes are very well content to undertake this great labour.

28 Leauing to the author the exact diligence of euery particular, wee will labour to goe forward according to the prescript order of an abridgement.

29 For as hee that will build a new house, must prouide for the whole building, but he that setteth out the plat, or goeth about to paint it, seeketh but onely what is comely for the decking thereof:

30 Euen so I thinke for vs, that it appertaineth to the first writer of a story to enter deeply into it, and to make mention of all things, and to be curious in euery part.

31 But it is permitted to him that will shorten it, to vse few words, & to auoyd those things that are curious therein.

32 Here then will we begin the story, adding thus much to our former words, that it is but a foolish thing to abound in words before the storie, and to bee short in the story.

C H A P. III.

2 Of the honour done to the Temple by the kings of the Gentiles. 6 Simon uttereth what treasure is in the Temple. 7 Heliodorus is sent to take them away. 26 Hee is stricken of God, and healed at the prayer of Onias.

What time as the holy citie was inhabited with all peace, and when the lawes were very wel kept, because of the godlinesse of Onias

the high Priest, and hatred of wickednesse,

2 It came to passe that euen the Kings did honour the place, and garnished the Temple with great gifts.

3 In so much that Seleucus King of Asia, of his owne rents, bare all the costs belonging to the seruice of the sacrifices.

4 But one Simon of the tribe of Benjamin being appoynted ruler of the Temple, contended with the high Priest concerning the iniquity committed in the citie.

For, the state & provision.

5 And when he could not overcome Onias, hee gate him to Apollonius the sonne of Tryphileas which then was gouernour of Coelosyria, and Phenice,

6 And told him that the treasure in Jerusalem was full of innumerable money, which did not belong to the prouision of the sacrifices, and that it were possible that these things might come into the kings hands.

7 Now when Apollonius came to the King, and had shewed him of the money, as it was told him, the king chose out Heliodorus his treasurer, and sent him with a commaundement, to bring him the foresayd money.

8 Immediately Heliodorus tooke his iourney as though he would visite the citie of Coelosyria and Phenice, but in effect to fulfil the kings purpose.

9 So when he came to Jerusalem, and was courteously receiued of the high Priest into the citie, hee declared what was determined concerning the money, and shewed the cause of his coming, and asked if these things were so indeed.

10 Then the high Priest tolde him that there were such things laid up by the widowes and fatherlesse, 11 And that a certaine of it belonged vnto Hircanus the sonne of Tobias a noble man, and not as that wicked Simon had reported, and that in all, there were but foure hundred talents of siluer, and two hundred of gold.

12 And that it were altogether impossible to do this wrong to them that had committed it of trust to the holinesse of the place and Temple, which is honoured through the whole world for holinesse and integritie.

13 But Heliodorus because of the kings commaundement giuen him, sayd that in any wise it must be brought into the kings treasure.

14 So he appoynted a day, & went in to take order for these things: then there was no small griefe thorowout the whole citie.

15 For the Priests fell downe before the altar in the Priests garments, and called vnto heauen vpon him which had made a Law concerning things giuen to be kept, that they should be safely preferred for such as had committed them to be kept.

16 Then they that looked the high Priest in the face, were wounded in their heart: for his countenance, and the changing of his colour declared the sorow of his minde.

17 The man was so wrapped in feare and trembling of the body, that it was manifest to them that looked vpon him, what sorow he had in his heart.

18 Others also came out of their houses by heapes vnto the common prayer, because the place was like to come vnto contempt.

19 And

19 And the women, girt with sackcloth vnder their breasts, filled the streets, and the virgins that were kept in, raune some to the gates, and some to the walles, and others looked out of the windowes.

20 And all held by their hands toward heauen, and made prayer.

21 It was a lamentable thing to see the multitude that fell downe of all sorts, and the expectation of the high Priest being in such anguish.

22 Therefore they called vpon the Almighty Lord, that he would keepe safe & sure the things which were laid vp for those that had deliuered them.

23 Neuerthelesse, the thing that Heliodorus was determined to doe, that did he performe.

24 And as he and his souldiers were now there present by the treasure, he that is the Lord of the spirits, and of all power, shewed a great vision. so that all they which presumed to come with him, were astonished at the power of God, and fell into feare and trembling.

25 For there appeared vnto them an horse with a terrible man sitting vpon him, most richly habited, and he ran fiercely, and smote at Heliodorus with his foze feete, and it seemed that he that sat vpon the horse, had harness of gold.

26 Moreover, there appeared two yong men, notable in strength, excellent in beauty, & comely in apparel, which stood by him on either side, and scourged him continually, and gaue him many foze stripes.

27 And Heliodorus fell suddenly vnto the ground, and was couered with great darkness: but they that were with him, tooke him vp, and put him in a litter.

28 Thus he that came with so great company, and many souldiers into the said treasury, was borne out: for he could not helpe himselfe with his weapons.

29 So they did know the power of God manifestly, but hee was dumbe by the power of God, and lay destitute of all hope and health.

30 And they praised the Lord that had honored his own place: for the Temple which a little afore was full of feare and trouble, when the Almighty Lord appeared, was filled with joy and gladnesse.

31 Then straightway certaine of Heliodorus friends, prayed Onias, that he would call vpon the most High to graunt him his life, which lay ready to giue vp the ghost.

32 So the high Priest, considering that the King might suspect that the Jewes had done Heliodorus some euill, he offered a sacrifice for the health of the man.

33 Now when the high Priest had made his prayer, the same young men in the same clothing appeared, and stood beside Heliodorus, saying, Gue Onias the high Priest great thanks: for, for his sake hath the Lord graunted thee thy life.

34 And seeing that thou hast bene scourged from heauen, declare vnto all men the mighty power of God: and when they had spoken these words, they appeared no more.

35 So Heliodorus offered vnto the Lord sacrifice, and made great vowes vnto him which had graunted him his life, and thanked Onias, and went againe with his hoste to the king.

36 Then testified hee vnto euery man of the great works of God that hee had seene with his eyes.

37 And when the king asked Heliodorus, who were meet to be sent yet once againe to Ierusalem, he sayd, 38 If thou hast any enemy, or traitour, send him thither, & thou shalt receiue him well scourged, if he escape with his life: for in that place, no doubt, there is a speciall power of God.

39 For he that dwelleth in heauen, hath his eye on that place, and defendeth it, and hee beatech and destroyeth them that come to hurt it.

40 This came to passe concerning Heliodorus, and the keeping of the treasury.

CHAP. IIII.

1 Simon reporteth euill of Onias. 7 Iason obtaineth the office of the high Priest by corrupting the King. 27 and was by Menelaus defrauded by like bribing. 34 Onias is slaine traiterously by Andronicus.

THIS Simon now, of whom wee spake afore, being a betrayer of the money, and of his owne natural countrey, reported euill of Onias, as though he had mooued Heliodorus vnto this, and had bene the inuenter of the euill.

2 Thus was he bold to call him a traitour, that was so beneficiall to the city, and a defender of his nation, and so zealous of the Lawes.

3 But when his malice increased so far, that through one that belonged to Simon, murders were committed,

4 Onias considering the danger of this contention, and that Apollonius, as he that was the gouernour of Coelosyria and Phenice, did rage, and increased Simons malice,

5 Hee went to the king, not as an accuser of the citizens, but as one that intended the common wealch both priuately and publicly.

6 For he saw it was not possible, except the king tooke order, to quiet the matters, and that Simon would not leaue off his folly.

7 But after the deatch of Seleucus, when Antiochus called Epiphanes, tooke the kingdom, Iason the brother of Onias laboured by vnlawfull meanes to be high Priest.

8 For he came vnto the king, and promised him three hundredeth and threescore talents of siluer, and of another rent fourescore talents.

9 Besides this, he promised him an hundred and fiftie, if hee might haue licence to let vp a place for exercise, and a place for the youth, and that they would name them of Ierusalem, Antiochians.

10 The which thing when the king had granted, and he had gotten the supererogation, he began immediately to draw his kindred to the customs of the Gentiles.

11 And abolished the friendly priuiledges of the Kings, that the Jewes had let vp by John the father of Cyrenus, which was sent Ambassadour vnto Rome, to become friends and confederates: he put downe their lawes and policies, and brought vp new statutes, and contrary to the Law.

12 For he presumed to build a place of exercise vnder the castle, and brought the chiefe yong men vnder his subiection, and made them weare hats.

¶ Or, that he would write the Antiochians that were at Ierusalem among them.

¶ Or, buskins, in token of wantonnesse as the Gentiles did.

a In working some treachery or forerie against him.

12 So there began a great desire to follow the manners of the Gentiles, and they tooke up the fashions of strange nations by the exceeding wickednes of Jason, not the high Priest, but the vngodly person,

14 So that the Priests were now no more diligent about the service of the altar, but despyed the Temple, and regarded not the sacrifices, but made haste to be partakers of the wicked expences at the play, after the casting of the stone.

15 For they did not set by the honour of their fathers, but liked the glory of the Gentiles best of all.

16 By reason whereof great calamitie came vpon them: for they had them to bee their enemies and punishers, whose custome they followed so earnestly, and desired to be like them in all things.

17 For it is not a light thing to transgresse against the lawes of God, but the time following shall declare these things.

18 Now when the games that were used every fift yeere, were played at Tyrys, the King being present,

19 This wicked Jason sent from Jerusalem men to looke vpon them, as though they had bene Antiochians, which brought three hundred drachmes of silver for a sacrifice to Hercules: albeit they that caried them, desired they might not be bestowed on the sacrifice, (because it was not comely) but to be bestowed for other expences.

20 So hee that sent them, sent them for the sacrifice of Hercules: but because of those that brought them, they were given to the making of gallies.

21 Now Apollonius the sonne of Menestheus was sent into Egypt because of the coronation of king Ptolemeus Philometor: but when Antiochus perceived that he was evil affectioned toward his affairs, hee sought his owne assurance, and departed from thence to Ioppe, and so came to Jerusalem, 22 Where he was honourably receiued of Jason, & of the city, and was brought in with torchlight, and with great shoutings, and so he went with his hoste vnto Phenice.

23 Three yeere afterwarde Jason sent Menelaus, the foresaid Simons brother, to beare the money vnto the King, and to bring to passe certaine necessary affaires, whercof he had given him a memoriall.

24 But hee, being commended to the King, magnified him for the appearance of his power, and turned the Priesthood vnto himselfe: for he gaue three hundred talents of silver more then Jason.

25 So he gate the kings letters patents, albeit he had nothing in himselfe worthy of the high Priesthood, but bare the stomacke of a cruell tyrant, and the wrath of a wilde beast.

26 Then Jason which had deceived his owne brother, being deceived by another, was compelled to flee into the countrey of the Ammonites.

27 So Menelaus gate the dominion: but as for the money that hee had promised vnto the King, he tooke none other for it, albeit Sostratus the ruler of the castle required it.

28 For vnto him appertained the gathering of the customes: wherefore they were both called before the King.

29 Now Menelaus left his brother Lysimachus in his stead in the Priesthood, and Sostratus left Crates which was gouernour of the Cyprians.

30 Whiles these things were in doing, the Chasians and they of Gallot made insurrection, because they were given to the kings concubine called Antiochis.

31 Then came the King in all haste to appease the businesse, leauing Andronicus a man of authority to be his lieutenant.

32 Now Menelaus, supposing that he had gotten a convenient time, stole certaine vessels of gold out of the Temple, and gaue certaine of them to Andronicus: and some he sold at Tyrys and in the cities thereby.

33 Which when Onias knew of a surety, hee reprooued him, and withdrew himselfe into a Sanctuary at Daphne by Antiochia.

34 Wherefore Menelaus, taking Andronicus apart, prayed him to slay Onias: so when hee came to Onias, hee counselled him craftily, giuing him his right hand with an oath: (howbeit hee suspected him, and perswaded him to come out of the Sanctuary) so he slew him incontinently without any regard of righteousness.

35 For the which cause not onely the Iewes, but many other nations also were grieved, and tooke it heauily, for the vnrightheous death of this man.

36 And when the King was come againe from the places about Cilicia, the Iewes that were in the city, and certaine of the Greeks that abhorred the fact also, complained because Onias was slaine without cause.

37 Therefore Antiochus was sorrie in his mind, and he had compassion, and wept because of the modestie and great discretion of him that was dead.

38 Wherefore being kindled with anger, he tooke away Andronicus garment of purple, and rent his clothes, and commanded him to be led thoroughout the city, and in the same place where hee had committed the wickednes against Onias, he was slaine as a murderer. Thus the Lord rewarded him his punishment as he had deserved.

39 Now when Lysimachus had done many wicked deedes in the city through the counsel of Menelaus, and the bruit was spread abroad, the multitude gathered them together against Lysimachus: for hee had caried out now much vessel of gold.

40 And when the people arose, and were full of anger, Lysimachus armed about three thousand, and began to vse vnlawfull power, a certaine tyrant being their Captaine, who was no lesse decayed in wit then in age.

41 But when they vnderstood the purpose of Lysimachus, some gate stones, some great clubs, and some cast handfulls of dust which lay by, vpon Lysimachus men, and those that innaded them.

42 Whereby many of them were wounded, some were slaine, and all the other chased away: but the wicked Churchrobber himselfe they killed besides the treasure.

43 For these causes an accusation was layde against a This game was to try strength by casting a stone that had an hole in the mids, or a piece of mettall, b Or, Olympian sports, which were games kept every fift yeere.

c Or, commanders.

b That is, of them that measured the corne.

against Menelaus.

44 And when the King came to Tyrus, three men sent from the Senate pleaded the cause before him.

45 But Menelaus being now convinced, promised to Ptolemy the sonne of Doximenus much money, if he would persuade the king.

46 So Ptolemy went to the King into a court, whereas he was to cole himselfe, and turned the Kings minde.

47 Insomuch that hee discharged Menelaus from the accusation (notwithstanding hee was the cause of all mischiefe) and condemned those poore men to death, which if they had told their cause, yea, before the Scythians, they should haue bene heard as innocent.

48 Thus were they loone punished vnjustly, which followed vpon the matter for the city, and for the people, and for the holy vessels.

49 Wherefore they of Tyrus hated that wickednesse, and ministred all things liberally for their buriall.

50 And so through the couetousnesse of them that were in power, Menelaus remained in authority, increasing in malice, and declared himselfe a great traitour to the citizens.

CHAP. V.

2 Of the signes and tokens seene in Ierusalem. 6 Of the ends and wickednesse of Iason. 11 The pursuit of Antiochus against the Iewes. 15 The spoiling of the Temple. 27 Maccabews fleeth into the wilderness.

ABout the same time Antiochus undertooke his second voyage into Egypt.

2 And then were there seene thorowout all the cite of Ierusalem fortie dayes long, hoysmen running in the ayre, with robes of golde, and as bands of spearmen.

3 And as troupes of hoysmen set in aray, encountering and couling one against another with shaking of shields and multitude of darts, and drawing of swords and shooting of arrows, and the glittering of the golden armour seene and harnesse of all sorts.

4 Therefore every man prayed, that those tokens might turne to good.

5 Now when there was gone forth a false rumour, as though Antiochus had bene dead, Iason tooke at the least a thousand men, and came suddenly vpon the cite, and they that were vpon the walles, being put backe, and the cite at length taken.

6 Menelaus fled into the castle, but Iason slaw his owne citizens without mercy, not considering, that to haue the aduantage against his kinsmen his greatest diuantage, but thought that hee had gotten the victory of his enemies, and not of his owne nation.

7 Yet he gate not the superiourtie, but at the last receiued shame for the reward of his treason, and went againe like a vagabond into the countrey of the Ammonites.

8 Finally he had this end of his wicked conuersation, that he was accused before Areta the king of the Arabians, and fled from city to city, being pursued of every man, and hated as a forsaker of the Lawe, and was in abomination, as an enemy of his countrey and citizens, and was driven into Egypt.

9 Thus he that had chased many out of their owne countrey, perished as a banished man, after that hee was gone to the Lacedemonians, thinking there to haue gotten succour by reason of kintred.

10 And he that had cast many out vnburied, was throwen out himselfe, no man mourning for him, nor putting him in his graue: neither was he partaker of his fathers sepulchre.

11 Now when these things that were done, were declared to the king, he thought that Iudea would haue fallen from him: wherefore hee came with a furious minde out of Egypt, and tooke the cite by violence.

12 Hee commaunded his men of warre also, that they should kill and not spare such as they met, and to slay such as went into their houses.

13 Thus was there a slaughter of young men, and old men, and a destruction of men and women and children, and virgins and infants were murdered:

14 So that within three dayes were slaine fourescore thousand, and fourtie thousand taken prisoners, and there were as many solde as were slaine.

15 Yet was hee not content with this, but durst goe into the most holy Temple of all the world, hauing Menelaus that traitour to the lawes, and to his owne countrey, to be his guide,

16 And with his wicked hands tooke the holy vessels, which other kings had giuen for the garnishing, glory, and honour of that place, and handled them with his wicked hands.

17 So haucie in his minde was Antiochus, that he considered not that God was not a little wroth for the sinnes of them that dwelt in the city, for the which such contempt came vpon that place.

18 For if they had not bene wrapped in many sinnes, he, as soone as he had come, had suddenly bene punished, and put backe from his presumption, as Heliodorus was, whom Seleucus the king sent to view the treasury.

19 But God hath not cholen the nation for the places sake, but the place for the nations sake.

20 And therefore is the place become partaker of the peoples trouble, but afterward shall it be partaker of the benefits of the Lord, and as it is now forsaken in the wrath of the Almighty, so when the great Lord shall be reconciled, it shall be set by in great worship againe.

21 So when Antiochus had taken eigheteene hundred talents out of the Temple, hee gate him to Antiochia in all haste, thinking in his pride to make men saile vpon the drie lands, and to walke vpon the sea: such an high minde had he.

22 But he left deputies to bere the people: at Ierusalem Philip a Phrygian by birth, in manners more cruell then he that set him there:

23 And at Garizin Audronicus, and with them Menelaus, which was more grienous to the citizens then the other, and was despitefull against the Iewes his citizens.

24 Hee sent also Apollonius a cruell prince, with an armie of two and twentie thousand, whom he commanded to slay those that were toward mans age, and to sell the women, and the yonger sort.

25 So when he came to Ierusalem, he fastned peace, and kept him still untill the holy day of Sabbath: and then finding the Jewes keeping the feast, he commaunded his men to take their weapons.

26 And so hee slew all them that were gone forth to the shew, and running thorow the citie with his men armed, hee murdered a great number.

27 But Judas Maccabeus, being as it were the tenth, fled into the wildernes, and liued there in the mountaines with his company among the beaſts, and dwelling there, and eating graſſe, lest they should be partakers of the filthinesse.

C H A P. VI.

1 The Jewes are compelled to leave the Lawe of God.

4 The Temple is defiled. 10 The women cruelly punished.

28 The grievous paine of Eleazarus.

||Or, Antiochia.

N^OT long after this, sent the king an old man of Athens, for to compell the Jewes to transgresse the lawes of the fathers, and not to be governed by the law of God,

2 And to defile the Temple that was at Jerusalem, and to call it the Temple of Jupiter Olympius, and that of Garizin, according as they did that dwelt at that place, Jupiter that keepeth hospitalitie.

3 This wicked government was sore and grievous unto the people.

4 For the temple was full of dissolution, and gluttony of the Gentiles, which dallied with harlots, and had to doe with women within the circuit of the holy places, and brought in such things as were not lawfull.

5 The altar also was full of such things, as were abominable and forbidden by the law.

6 Neither was it lawfull to keepe the Sabbath, nor to observe their ancient feastes, nor plainly to confesse himselfe to be a Jew.

7 In the day of the Kings birth they were grievously compelled perforce every moneth to banquet, and when the feast of Bacchus was kept, they were constrained to goe in the procession of Bacchus with garlands of Iule.

8 Moreover, through the counsell of Ptolemus, there went out a commandement unto the next cities of the heathen against the Jewes, that the like custome, and banketting should be kept.

||Or, eating of the flesh that was sacrificed.

9 And who so would not conforme themselves to the manners of the Gentiles, should be put to death: then might a man have seene the present miserie.

10 For there were two women brought forth that had circumcised their sonnes, whom when they had ledde round about the citie (the babes hanging at their breasts) they cast them downe headlong over the walles.

11 Somewhat were run together into denes to keepe the Sabbath day secretly, were discovered unto Philip, & were burnt together, because that for the reverence of the honourable day they were afrayd to helpe themselves.

12 Now I beseech those which reade this booke, that they be not discouraged for these calamities, but that they iudge these afflictions not to be for destruction, but for a chastening of our nation.

13 For it is a token of his great goodness, not to suffer sinners long to continue, but straightwayes to punish them.

14 For the Lord doeth not long wait for vs, as for other nations, whom he punisheth when they are come to the fulnesse of their sinnes.

15 But thus hee dealeth with vs, that our sinnes should not be heaped up to the full, so that afterward he should punish vs.

16 And therefore hee neuer withdraweth his mercy from vs: and though he punish with adversity, yet doeth he neuer forsake his people.

17 But let this be spoken now for a warning unto vs: and now will we come to the declaring of the matter in few words.

18 Eleazar then one of the principall Scribes, an aged man, and of a well favoured countenance was constrained to open his mouth, and to eate swines flesh.

19 But hee desiring rather to die gloriously then to live with hatred, offered himselfe willingly to the torment and spilt it out:

20 As they ought to goe to death which suffer punishment for such things, as it is not lawfull to taste of for the desire to live.

21 But they that had the charge of this wicked banquet, for that olde friendship of the man, took him aside privately, and prayed him that hee would take such flesh, as was lawfull for him to use, and as hee would prepare for himselfe, and dissemble as though hee had eaten of the things appointed by the king, even the flesh of the sacrifice,

22 That in so doing hee might bee delivered from death, and that for the olde friendship that was among them, he would receive this favour.

23 But he began to consider discretely, and as became his age, and the excellency of his ancient yeeres, and the honour of his gray haire, whereunto hee was come, and his most honest conversation from his childehood, but chiefly the holy Law made and given by God: therefore he answered consequently, & willed them straightwayes to send him to the graue.

24 For it becommeth not our age, sayd he, to dissemble, whereby many young persons might thinke that Eleazar being foure score yeeres old and ten, were now gone to another religion,

||Or, to another manner of life.

25 And so through mine hypocritisie (for a little time of a transitory life) they might be deceived by me, and I should procure malediction, and reproch to mine olde age.

26 For though I were now delivered from the torments of men, yet could I not escape the hand of the Almighty, neither alive nor dead.

27 Wherefore I will now change this life manfully, and will shewe my selfe such as mine age requireth, 28 And so will leave a notable example for such as be young to doe willingly, and courageously, for the honourable and holy lawes. And when he had sayd these words, immediately hee went to torment.

29 Now they that led him, changed the tone which they bare him before, into hatred, because of those words that he had spoken: for they thought it had bene a rage.

30 And as he was ready to give the ghost because of the strokes, hee sighed and sayd, The Lord that hath the holy knowledge, knoweth manifestly, that whereas I might have bene delivered from death, I am scourged, and suffer these these sore paines of my body: but in my minde I suffer them gladly for his religion.

31 Euen now after this manner ended he his life, leauing his death for an example of a noble courage, and a memorie of vertue, not onely vnto yong men, but vnto all his nation.

CHAP. VII.

The punishment of the seven brethren, and of their mother.

I came to passe also that seven brethren, with their mother, were taken to be compelled by the king against the Law to taste swines flesh, and were tormented with scourges and whips.

2 But one of them which spake first, sayd thus, What seekest thou? and what wouldest thou know of vs? wee are ready to die rather then to transgresse the lawes of our fathers.

3 Then was the king angry, and commanded to heate pannes and caldrons, which were incontinently made hote.

4 And he commanded the tongue of him that spake first to be cut out, and to slay him, and to cut off the vtmost parts of his body in the sight of his other brethren, and his mother.

5 Now when he was thus mangled in all his members, he commanded him to be brought alive to the fire, and to frye him in the pan: and while the smoke for a long time smoked out of the pan, the other brethren with their mother exhorted one another to die courageously, saying in this maner:

Deut. 32.36.

6 The Lord God doth regard vs, & in deede taketh pleasure in vs, as Moyses declared in the song wherein hee testified openly, saying, That God will take pleasure in his seruants.

7 So when the first was dead after this maner, they brought the second to make him a mocking stocke: and when they had pulled the skinne with the haire ouer his head, they asked him if he would eate, or he were punished in all the members of the body.

8 But hee answered in his owne language, and sayd, No. Therefore he was tormented forthwith like the first.

9 And when hee was at the last breath, hee said, Thou murderer takest this present life from vs, but the King of the world will raise vs vp, which die for his Lawes, in the resurrection of euerlasting life.

10 After him was the third had in derision, and when they demaunded his tongue, he put it out incontinently, and stretched forth his hands boldly,

11 And spake manfully, These haue I had from the heauen, but now for the Law of God I despise them, and trust that I shall receiue them of him againe.

12 Inasmuch that the King and they which were with him, marvelled at the yong mans courage, as at one that nothing regarded the paines.

13 Now when he was dead also, they beheaded and tormented the fourth in like maner.

14 And when hee was now ready to die, hee sayd thus, It is better that we should change this which we might hope for of men, and waite for our hope from God, that wee may be raised vp againe by him: as for thee, thou shalt haue no resurrection to life.

15 Afterward they brought the fift also and tormented him,

16 Who looked vpon the King, and sayd, Thou hast power among men, and though thou bee a mortall man, thou dost what thou wilt: but thinke not that God hath forsaken our nation.

17 But abide a while, and thou shalt see his great power, how he will torment thee and thy seede.

18 After him also they brought the sixt, who being at the point of death, said, Deceiue not thy selfe foolishly: for we suffer these things, which are worthy to be wondered at for our owne sakes, because we haue offended our God.

19 But thinke not thou, which undertakest to fight against God, that thou shalt be unpunished.

20 But the mother was maruillous aboue all other, and worthy of honourable memoire: for when she saw her seven sonnes slaine within the space of one day, she suffered it with a good will, because of the hope that she had in the Lord.

21 Yea, she exhorted every one of them in her owne language, and being full of courage, and wisdom, stirred by her womanly affections, with a manly stomacke, and sayd vnto them,

22 I cannot tell how yee came into my wombe: for I neither gaue you breath nor life: it is not I that set in order the members of your body,

23 But doubtlesse the Creator of the world, which formed the birth of man, and found out the beginning of all things, will also of his owne mercy giue you breath, and life againe, as yee now regard not your owne selues, for his lawes sake.

24 Now Antiochus thinking himselfe despised, and considering the iniurious words, while the yongest was yet alive, he did exhort him not onely with words, but swaie also vnto him by an othe that he would make him rich and wealthy, if he would forsake the lawes of his fathers, and that he would take him as a friend, and giue him offices.

25 But when the yong man would in no case hearken vnto him, the King called his mother, and exhorted that she would counsell the yong man to saue his life.

26 And when he had exhorted her with many words, she promised him that she would counsell her sonne.

27 So she turned her vnto him, laughing the cruell tyrant to scorne, and spake in her owne language, O my sonne, haue pittie vpon mee, that bare thee nine moneths in my wombe, and gaue thee sucke three yeres, and nourished thee, and tooke care for thee vnto this age, & brought thee vp.

28 I beseech thee, my sonne, looke vpon the heauen and the earth, and all that is therein, and consider that God made them of things that were not, and so was mankind made likewise.

29 Feare not this hangman, but shew thy selfe worthy such brethren by suffering death, that I may receiue thee in mercy with thy brethren.

30 While she was yet speaking these words, the yong man said, Whom waite ye for? I will not obey the kings commandement: but I will obey the commandment of the Law that was giuen vnto our fathers by Moyses.

31 And

31 And thou that imaginest all mischief against the Hebrewes, shalt not escape the hand of God.

32 For we suffer these things because of our sinnes.

33 But though the living Lord be angry with us a little while for our chaitening and correction, yet will he be reconciled with his owne servants.

34 But thou, O man without religion, and most wicked of all men, lift not thy selfe up in vaine, which art puffed up with vncertain hope, and liftest thine hands against the servants of God.

35 For thou hast not yet escaped the iudgement of Almighty God, which seeth all things.

36 My brethren that haue suffered a little paine, are now vnder the diuine Covenant of euerlasting life: but thou through the iudgement of God, shalt suffer iust punishments for thy pride.

37 Therefore I, as my brethren haue done, offer my body and life for the Lawes of our fathers, beseeching God, that he will soone be mercifull vnto our nation, and that thou by torment and punishment mayest confesse, that hee is the onely God.

38 And that in me and my brethren the wrath of the Almighty, which is righteously fallen vpon all our nation, may cease.

39 Then the king being kindled with anger, ragged more cruelly against him then the others, and tooke it grieuously that he was mocked.

40 So he also died holily, and put his whole trust in the Lord.

41 Last of all after the sonnes, was the mother put to death.

42 Let this now bee enough spoken concerning the bankets, and extreme cruelties.

CHAP. VIII.

1 Judas gathereth together his hoste. 9 Nicanor is sent against Judas. 16 Judas exhorteth his souldiers to constancie. 20 Nicanor is overcome. 27 The Iewes giue thanks, after they haue put their enemies to flight, diuiding part of the spoiles vnto the fatherlesse and vnto the widows. 30 Timotheus and Bacchides are discomfited. 35 Nicanor flieth vnto Antiochus.

Then Judas Maccabeus, and they that were with him, went priuily into the townes, and called their kindred and friends together, and tooke vnto them all such as continued in the Iewes religion: and assembled fixe thousand men.

2 So they called vpon the Lord, that hee would haue an eye vnto his people, which was bereed of euery man, and haue pitie vpon the Temple that was defiled by wicked men.

3 And that he would haue compassion vpon the cite that was destroyed, and almost brought to the ground, and that he would heare the voyce of the blood, that cryed vnto him.

4 And that hee would remember the wicked slaughter of the innocent children, and the blasphemies committed against his Name, and that he would shew his hatred against the wicked.

5 Now when Maccabeus had gathered this multitude, he could not be withstood by the heathen: for the wrath of the Lord was turned into mercy.

6 Therefore he came at vnwares, and burnt vp the townes and cities: yet he tooke the most commodious places, and slew many of the enemies.

7 But specially hee vled the nights to make such assaults, insomuch that the bruit of his manlinesse was spread euery where.

8 So when Philip saw that this man increased by little and little, and that things prospered with him for the most part, he wrote vnto Ptolemus the gouernour of Coelosyria and Phenice to helpe him in the kings businesse.

9 Then sent he speedily Nicanor the sonne of Patroclus, a speciall friend of his, and gaue him of all nations of the heathen no lesse then twenty thousand men, to rooe out the whole generation of the Iewes, and ioyned with him Gorgias a captaine, which in matters of warre had great experience.

10 Nicanor ordained also a tribute for the king of two thousand talents, which the Romanes should haue, to bee taken of the Iewes that were taken prisoners.

11 Therefore immediately he sent to the cities on the sea coast, prouoking them to buy Iewes to be their seruants, promising to sell fourescore and ten for one talent: but he considered not the vengeance of Almighty God, that should come vpon him.

12 When Judas then knew of Nicanors coming, he told them that were with him, of the coming of the armie.

13 Now were there some of them fearefull, which trusted not vnto the righteousness of God, but fled away, and abode not in that place.

14 But the other sold all that they had left, and besought the Lord together to deliuer them from that wicked Nicanor, which had sold them or euer he came nere them.

15 And though he would not doe it for their sakes: yet for the Covenant made with their fathers, and because they called vpon his holy and glorious Name.

16 And so Maccabeus called his men together, about fixe thousand, exhorting them not to bee afraid of their enemies, neither to feare the great multitude of the Gentiles, which came against them vnrightheously, but to fight manly.

17 Setting before their eyes the iniurie that they had vniustly done to the holy place, and the cruelty done to the cite by derelion, and the destruction of the orders established by their fathers.

18 For they, said he, trust in their weapons and boldnesse: but our confidence is in the Almighty God, which at a becke can both destroy them that come against vs, and all the world.

19 Moreover, hee admonished them of the helpe that God shewed vnto their fathers, as when there perished an hundred and fourescore and fixe thousand vnder Sennacherib.

20 And of the battell that they had in Babylon against the Galatians, how they came in all to the battell // eight thousand, with foure thousand Macedonians: and when the Macedonians were astonished, the eight thousand slew an hundred and twenty thousand through the helpe that was giuen them from heauen, whereby they had receiued many benefits.

21 Thus when he had made them bold with these wordes, and readie to die for the Lawes and fixe thousand.

and the countrey, he diuided his army into foure parts,

22 And made his own brethren captaines ouer the army, to wit, Simon, and Ioseph, and Jonathan, giuing each one fifteene hundred men.

24 And because the Almighty helped them, they slew about nine thousand men, & wounded and maimed the most part of Aicanozs host, and so put all to flight,

24 And because the Almighty helped them, they slew about nine thousand men, & wounded and maimed the most part of Aicanozs host, and so put all to flight,

25 And tooke the money from those that came to buy them, and pursued them farre: but lacking time, they returned.

26 For it was the day before the Sabbath, and therefore they would no longer pursue them.

27 So they tooke their weapons, and spoiled the enemies, & kept the Sabbath, giving thanks and praising the Lord wonderfully, which had deliuered them that day, and powred upon them the beginning of his mercy.

28 And after the Sabbath,*they distributed the spoiles to the sick, and to the fatherlesse, and to the widowes, and diuided the residue among themselves and their children.

29 When this was done, and they all had made a generall prayer, they besought the mercifull Lord to be reconciled at the length with his seruants.

30 Afterward with one consent they fel vpon Timotheus & Bacchides, and slew aboute twenty thousand, and waime high and strong holds, and diuided great spoiles, and gaue an equal portion vnto the sick, and to the fatherlesse, and to the widowes, and to aged persons also.

31 Moreover, they gathered their weapons together, and layd them v^y diligently in conuenient places, and brought the remnant of the spoiles to Ierusalem.

32 They slew also Philarches a most wicked person which was with Timotheus, and had vexed the Jewes many wayes.

33 And when they kept the feast of Victorie in their Countrey, they burnt Calisthenes that had set fire vpon the holy gates, which was fled into a little house: so he receiued a reward meete for his wickednesse.

34 And that most wicked Picanoz, which had brought a thousand merchants to buy y^e Jewes, 35 Hee was through the helpe of the Lord brought downe of them whom he thought as nothing, inasmuch that he put off his glorious rayment, and fled overthwart the countreylike a fugitiue servant, and came alone to Antiochia, with great dishonour through the destruction of his hoste.

36. Thus hee that promised to pay tribute to the Romanes, by meanes of the prisoners of Ierusalem, brought newes, that the Iewes had a defender, and for this cause none could hurt the Iewes, because they followed the Lawes appointed by him.

CHAP. IX.

1: Antiochus willing to spoyle Persopolis, is put to flight.
2: As he persecuteth the Iewes, he is stricken of the Lord.
13: The famed repentance of Antiochus. 28 Hee dieth miserably.

AT the same time came Antiochus againe with dishonour, out of the Countrey of Persia.

2 For when he came to Persepolis, and went about to rob the Temple, and to subdue the citie, the people ranne in a rage to defend themselves with their weapons, and put them to flight, and Antiochus was put to flight by the inhabitants and returned with shame.

3 Now when he came to Ecbatane, he understood the things that had come unto Nicanoꝝ and Timotheus.

4 And then being chafed in his fume, he thought to impute to the Jews their fault, which had put him to flight, and therefore commanded his charetman to drive continually, and to dispatch the journey: for Gods iudgement compelled him: for he had said thus in his pride, I will make Ierusalem a common burying place of the Jewes, when I come thither.

5 But the Lord Almighty, and God of Israel smote him with an incurable and inuisible plague: for as much as he had spoken these words, a paine of the bowels that was remedlesse came vpon him, and sore torments of the inner parts.

6 And that most iustly: for he had tormented other mens bowels with diuers and strange torments.

7 Howbeit he would in no wise cease from his arrogancie, but swelled the more with pride, breathing out fire in his rage against the Jewes, and commanded to haste the Iourney: but it came to passe that he fell downe from the charet that ranne swiftly, so that all the members of his body were bruised with the great fall.

8. And thus he that a litle afore thought he might commaund the floods of the Sea (so proud was he beyond the condition of man) and to weigh the high mountaines in the ballance, was now cast on the ground, and carried in a hogseitter, declaring vnto all the manifest power of God.

9 * So that the wormes came out of the bodie of this wicked man in abundance: & whiles hee was alive, his flesh fell off for paine and torment: and all his armie was grieved at his // sinell.

13. Thus no man could beare because of his stinke, him that a little afore thought he might reach to the starres of heauen.

11. Then he began to leane off his great pride and selfe will when hee was plagued, and came to the knowledge of himselfe by the scourge of God, and by his paine which increased euery moment.

12 And when he himselfe might not abide his owne sinke, he said these words, It is meete to be subiect vnto God, and that a man which is mortall, should not thinke himselfe equall vnto God though wilde.

13. This wicked person prayed also vnto the Lorde, who would now haue no mercie on him.

14 And said thus, that he would set at liberty the holy city vnto the which he made haste to destroy it and to make it a burying place.

15 And as touching the Jewes (whom he had iudged not worthy to bee buried, but would haue cast them out with their ehe-driven to be devoured of the foules & wilde beasts) hee would make them all like the citizens of Athens.

16 And whereas he had spoiled the holy Temple afore, he would garnish it with great gifts, and increase the holy vessels, and of his own rents beare the charges belonging to the sacrifices.

17 Yea, and that he would also become a Jew himselfe, and goe thorow all the world that was inhabited, and preach the power of God.

18 But for all this, his paines would not cease: for the iust iudgement of God was come upon him: therefore despairing of his health, he wrote vnto the Jewes this letter under written, containing the forme of a supplication.

19 THE KING, and prince Antiochus vnto the Jewes his loving citizens, wisheth much joy, and health and prosperitie.

20 If ye and your children fare wel, and if all things goe after your mind, I give great thanks vnto God, having hope in the heauen.

21 Though I lie sicke, yet I am mindfull of your honour, and good will for the loue I beare you: therefore when I returned from the countrey of Persia, & fell into a sore disease, I thought it necessary to care for the common safetie of all,

22 Not distrusting mine health, but having great hope to escape this sicknesse.

23 Therefore considering that when my father led an host against the high countreys, hee appointed who should succeed him:

24 That if any controuersie happened contrary to his expectation, or if that any tydings were brought that were grievous, they in the land might knowe to whom the affaires were committed, that they should not be troubled.

25 Again, when I ponder how that the gouernors, that are borderers and neighbours vnto my kingdom, wait for all occasions, and looke but for opportunitie, I haue ordeined that my sonne Antiochus shall be king, whom I oft commended and committed to many of you, when I went into the high prouinces, and haue written vnto him as followeth hereafter.

26 Therefore I pray you, and require you to remember the benefites that I haue done vnto you generally, and particularly, and that every man will be faithfull to me and to my sonne.

27 For I trust that he will bee gentle and loving vnto you according to my minde.

28 Thus the murderer and blasphemers suffered most grievously, and as he had intreated other men, so hee dyed a miserable death in a strange countrey among the mountaines.

29 And Philip that was brought by with him, carried away his body, who fearing the sonne of Antiochus, went into Egypt to Ptolemus Philometor.

CHAP. X.

1 Judas Maccabeus taketh the citie and the Temple. 10 The actes of Eupator. 16 The Jewes fight against the Idumeans. 24 Timotheus invadeth Iudea, with whom Judas ioyneth battell. 29 Five men appeare in the aire to the helpe of the Jewes. 37 Timotheus is slaine.

Maccabeus now and his company, through the helpe of the Lord, won the Temple and the citie againe,

2 And destroyed the altars, & chappels that the heathen had builded in the open places,

3 And cleaned the Temple, and made another altar, and burned stones, and tooke fire of them, and offered sacrifices, and incense two yeeres, and sixe moneths after, and set forth the lampes, and the shewbread.

4 When that was done, they fell downe flat vpon the ground, and besought the Lord, that they might come no more into such troubles; but if they sinned any more against him, that he himselfe would chasten them with mercy, and that they might not be deliuered to the blasphemous, and barbarous nations.

5 Now vpon the same day, that the strangers polluted the Temple, on the very same day it was cleaned againe, even the five and twentieth day of the same moneth which is Chassen.

10r, No-
ember.

6 They kept eight dayes with gladnesse as in the feast of the Tabernacles, remembering, that not long afore they held the feast of the Tabernacles, when they liued in the mountaines and denneslike beasts.

7 And for the same cause they bare greene boughes, and faire branches & palmes, and sang Psalmes vnto him that had giuen them good successe in cleansing his place.

8 They ordeined also by a common statute and decree, that every yeere those dayes should be kept of the whole nation of the Jewes.

9 And this was the end of Antiochus called Epiphanes.

10 Now will we declare the acts of Antiochus Eupator, which was the sonne of this wicked man, gathering briefly the calamities of the warres that followed.

11 For when he had taken the kingdome, he made one Lysias, which had bin captaine of the hoste in Idenice and Coelospia, ruler ouer the affaires of the Realme.

12 For Ptolemus that was called Macron, purposed to doe iustice vnto the Jewes for the wrong that had bene done vnto them, and went about to behaue himselfe peaceably with them.

13 For the which cause, he was accused of his friends before Eupator, and was called oft times traitour, because he had left Cyprus that Philometor had committed vnto him, and came to Antiochus Epiphanes: therefore seeing that he was no more in estimation, he was discouraged, and poisoned himselfe, and died.

14 But when Gorgias was gouernour of the same places, he entertained strangers, and made warre oft times against the Jewes.

15 Moreover, the Idumeans that held the strong holdes which were meete for their purpose, troubled the Jewes, and by receiuing them that were driven from Ierusalem, took in hand to continue warre.

16 When they that were with Maccabeus, made prayers, and besought God that he would be their helper, and so they fell vpon the strong holdes of the Idumeans, 17 And assaulted them sore, that they wanne the places, and slew all that fought against them on the wall, and killed all that they mette with, and slew no lesse then twentie thousand.

18 And because certaine (which were no lesse then then nine thousand) were fled into two strong castles, having all manner of things convenient to sustaine the siege.

19 Maccabeus left Simon, and Joseph, and Zaccheus also, and those that were with them, which were enow to besiege them, and departed to those places which were more necessary.

20 Now they that were with Simon, being led with couetousnes, were entreated for money (through certaine of those that were in the castle) and tooke seventie thousand drachmes, and let some of them escape.

21 But when it was told Maccabeus what was done, hee called the gouernours of the people together, and accused those men, that they had sold their brethren for money, and let their enemies goe.

22 So he slew them when they were conuict of treason, and immediatly wanne the two castles:

23 And hauing good successe, as in all the warres that he tooke in hand, he slew in the two castles more then twentie thousand.

24 Now Timotheus whom the Iewes had overcome afore, gathered an armie of strangers of all sorts, and brought a great troupe of horsemen out of Asia, to winne Iewrie by strength.

25 But when he drew neere, Maccabeus and they that were with him, turned to pray vnto God, and sprinkled earth vpon their heads, and girded their reines with sackcloth,

26 And fell downe at the foote of the altar, and besought the Lord to be mercifull to them, and to be an enemy to their enemies, and to bee an aduersary to their aduersaries, * as the Law declareth.

27 So after the prayer they tooke their weapons, and went on further from the citie, and when they came neere to the enemies, they tooke heed to themselves.

28 And when the morning appeared, they both ioyned together: the one part had the Lord for their refuge, and pledge of prosperitie, and noble victorie, and the other tooke courage as a guide of the warre.

29 But when the battell waxed strong, there appeared vnto the enemies from heauen five comely men vpon horses with bridles of golde, and two of them led the Iewes,

30 And tooke Maccabeus betwixt them, and couered him on euery side with their weapons, and kept him safe, but shot darts & lightnings against the enemies, so that they were confounded with blindness, and beaten downe and full of trouble.

31 There were slaine of soote men twentie thousand and five hundred, and sixe hundred horsemen.

32 As for Timotheus himselfe, he fled vnto Gazara, which was called a very strong hold, wherein Cherias was captaine.

33 But Maccabeus and his company layd siege against the fortreasses with courage for foure dayes.

34 And they that were within, trusting to the height of the place, blasphemed exceedingly, and spake horrible words.

35 Neuerthelesse, vpon the fifth day in the morning, twentie young men of Maccabeus company, whose hearts were inflamed, because of the blasphemies, came vnto the wall, & with bold stomacks smote downe those that they met.

36 Others also that climbed vp vpon the engines of warre against them that were within, set fire vpon the towers, and burnt those blasphemers quicke with the fires that they had made, and others brake vp the gates, and received the rest of the armie, and tooke the citie.

37 And hauing found Timotheus, that was crept into a caue, they killed him, and Cherias his brother with Apolophanes.

38 When this was done, they prayled the Lord with Psalmes and thanksgiving, which had done so great things for Israel, and giuen them the victory.

CHAP. XI.

1 Lysias goeth about to overcome the Iewes. 8 Succour is sent from heauen vnto the Iewes. 16 The letter of Lysias vnto the Iewes. 20 The letter of king Antiochus vnto Lysias. 27 A letter of the same vnto the Iewes. 34 A letter of the Romanes to the Iewes.

VERY shortly after this, Lysias the Kings steward, and a kinsman of his, which had the gouernance of the affaires, tooke soze displeasure for the things that were done.

2 And when hee had gathered about foure score thousand, with all the horsemen, he came against the Iewes, thinking to make the city an habitation of the Gentiles.

3 And the Temple would he haue to get money by, like the other temples of the heauen: for he would sell the Priests office euery yeere.

4 And thus being puffed vp in his minde, because of the great number of footemen, and thousands of horsemen, and in his fourescore Elephants,

5 Hee came into Iudea, and drew neere to Beth-lura, which was a castle of defence, five furlongs from Ierusalem, and laid soze siege vnto it.

6 But when Maccabeus and his company knew that he besieged the holds, they and all the people made prayers with weeping and teares before the Lord, that he would send a good Angel to deliuer Israel.

7 And Maccabeus himselfe first of all tooke weapons, exhorting the other that they would leopord themselves together with him to helpe their brethren: so they went forth together with a couragious minde.

8 And as they were there besides Ierusalem, there appeared before them vpon horsebacke a man in white clothing, shaking his harnesse of golde.

9 Then they prayled the mercifull God all together, and tooke heart, inso much that they were ready, not onely to fight with men, but with the most cruel beastes, and to breake downe walles of yron.

10 Thus they marched forward in aray, hauing an helper from heauen: for the Lord was mercifull vnto them.

11 And running vpon their enemies like tyons, they slew eleuen thousand footemen, and sixteene hundred horsemen, and put all the other to flight.

12 Many of them also being wounded, escaped naked, & Lysias himselfe fled away shamefully, fully, and so escaped.

13 Who as he was a man of vnderstanding, considering what losse he had had, and knowing that the Hebrewes could not be overcome because the Almighty God helped them, sent vnto them,

14 And promised that he would consent to all things which were reasonable, and perswade the king to be their friend.

15 Maccabeus agreed to Lysias requests, having respect in all things to the common wealth, and whatsoever Maccabeus wrote vnto Lysias concerning the Jewes, the king granted it.

16 For there were letters written vnto the Jewes from Lysias containing these wordes, Lysias vnto the people of the Jewes sendeth greeting.

Or, Absalom, or Absalom.

17 John and Absalom, which were sent from you, deliuered me the things that you demand by writing, and required me to fulfill the things that they had declared.

18 Therefore what things soeuer were meete to be reported to the king himselfe, I haue declared them, and he granted that that was possible.

19 Therefore if yee behaue your selues as friends toward his affaires, hereafter also I will endeavour my selfe to doe you good.

20 As concerning these things, I haue given commandement to these men, & to those whom I sent vnto you, to commune with you of the same particularly.

21 Fare ye well, the hundred and eight and forty yeere, the foure and twentieth day of the moneth Dioscorinthius.

22 Now the kings letter contained these wordes, KING ANTIOCHVS vnto his brother Lysias sendeth greeting.

23 Since our father is translated vnto the gods, our will is, that they which are in our Realme, liue quietly, that every man may apply his owne affaires.

24 We vnderstand also that the Jewes would not consent to our father, for to be brought vnto the custome of the Gentiles, but would keepe their owne maner of liuing: for the which cause they require of vs, that we would suffer them to liue after their owne lawes.

25 Wherefore our minde is, that this nation shall be in rest, and haue determined to restore them their Temple, that they may be gouerned according to the custome of their fathers.

26 Thou shalt doe well therefore to send vnto them, and grant them peace, that when they are certified of our minde, they may be of good comfort, and cheerefully goe about their owne affaires.

27 And this was the Kings letter vnto the nation, KING ANTIOCHVS vnto the Elders of the Jewes, and to the rest of the Jewes sendeth greeting.

28 If ye fare well, we haue our desire: we are also in good health.

29 Menelaus declared vnto vs that your desire was to returne home, and to apply your owne businesse.

30 Wherefore, those that will depart, we giue them free liberty, vnto the thirtieth day of the moneth of Panthicus,

31 That the Jewes may vse their owne maner of liuing and lawes, like as afoze, and none of them by any manner of wayes to haue harme for things done by ignorance.

32 I haue sent also Menelaus to comfort you.

33 Fare ye well: the hundred and eight and forty yeere, the fiftenth day of the moneth of Panthicus.

34 The Romanes also sent a letter containing these wordes, QVINTVS MEMMIVS, and Titus Danilius ambassadours of the Romanes, vnto the people of the Jewes send greeting.

Or, Manlius.

35 The things that Lysias the Kings kinsman hath granted you, we grant the same also.

36 But concerning that which he shall report vnto the King, send hither some with speed, when yee haue considered the matter diligently, that wee may consult thereupon, as shall be best for you: for we must goe vnto Antiochia.

37 And therefore make haste, and send some men, that we may know your minde.

38 Farewell: this hundred and eight and forty yeere, the fiftenth day of the moneth of Panthicus.

CHAP. XII.

2 Timotheus troubleth the Jewes. 3 The wicked deeds of them of Ioppe against the Jewes. 6 Judas is auenged of them. 9 Hee setteth fire in the haven of Iamnia. 20 The pursuit of the Jewes against Timotheus. 24 Timotheus is taken, and let goe unhurt. 32 Judas pursueth Gorgias.

When these covenants were made, Lysias went vnto the King, and the Jewes filled their ground.

2 But the gouernours of the places, as Timotheus, and Apollonius the sonne of Genneus, and Ieronimus, and also Demophon, and besides them Picanor the gouernour of Cyprius, would not let them liue in rest and peace.

3 They of Ioppe also did such a vile acte: they prayed the Jewes that dwelt among them, to goe with their wines and children into the ships, which they had prepared as though they had ought them none euill will.

4 And so by the common aduice of the citie, they obeyed them, and suspected nothing: but when they were gone forth into the deepe, they drowned no lesse then two hundred of them.

5 Now when Judas knew of this cruelty shewed against his nation, he commanded those men that were with him, to make them ready.

6 And hauing called vpon God the righteous Iudge, hee went forth against the murderers of his brethren, and set fire in the haven by night, and burnt the shippes, and those that fled thence, he slew.

7 And when the citie was shut vp, he departed as though hee would come againe, and roote out all them of the citie of Ioppe.

8 But when he perceived that the Iammites were minded to doe in like manner vnto the Jewes which dwelt among them,

9 He came vpon the Iammites by night, and set fire in the haven with the nauise, so that the light of the fire was seene at Ierusalem, vpon a two hundred and forty furlongs.

10 Now when they were gone from thence nine furlongs, in their iourney toward Timotheus, about five thousand men of foote and 11 So the battell was sharpe, but it prospered with Judas through the helpe of God: the nomades of Arabia being overcome, besought Judas to make peace with them, and promised to giue him certaine cattell, and to helpe him in other things.

12 And Judas thinking that they should in deue bee profitable concerning many things, granted them peace: whereupon theyooke hands, and so they departed to their tents.

13 And Judas also assaulted a city called Capitis, which was strong by reason of a bridge, and fenced round about with walles, and had diuers kinds of people dwelling therein.

14 So they that were within it, put such trust in the strength of the walles, and in store of victuals, that they were the slacker in their doings, renising them that were with Judas, and reproching them: yea, they blasphemed and spake such words as were not lawfull.

Josb. 6 20.

15 But Maccabeus souldiers calling vpon the great Prince of the world (which without any instruments, or engines of warre, did cast downe the walles of Jericho, in the time of Iesus) gaue a fierce assault against the walles.

16 And tooke the city by the will of God, and made an exceeding great slaughter, insomuch that a lake of two furlongs broad, which lay thereby, seemed to flow with blood.

17 Then departed they from thence, seven hundred and fiftie furlongs, and came to Characa vnto the Iewes, that are called Eubient.

18 But they found not Timotheus there: for he was departed from thence, and had done nothing, and had left a garrison in a very strong hold.

19 But Dositheus & Sosipater, which were captains with Maccabeus, went forth, and slew those that Timotheus had left in the fortreffe, more then ten thousand men.

20 And Maccabeus prepared and ranged his army by bands, and went courageously against Timotheus, which had with him an hundred and twenty thousand men of foot, and two thousand and five hundred horsemen.

21 When Timotheus had knowledge of Judas comming, hee sent the women and children, and the other baggage afore, vnto a fortreffe called Carnion (for it was hard to besiege, and vncasie to come vnto, because of the straits on all sides.)

22 But when Judas first band came in sight, the enemies were smitten with feare, & a trembling was among them through the presence of him that seeth all things, insomuch that they fleeing one here, another there, were oft times hurt by their owne people, and wounded with the points of their owne swords.

23 But Judas was very earnest in pursuing, and slew those wicked men: yea, hee slew thirtie thousand men of them.

24 Timotheus also himselfe fell into the hands of Dositheus and Sosipater, whom hee besought with much craft to let him go with his life, because he had many of the Iewes parents, and the brethren of some of them, which, if they put him to death, should be despised.

25 So when he had assured them with many words, and promised that he would restore them without hurt, they let him goe for the health of their brethren.

26 Then went Maccabeus toward Carnion, and Artagaron, and slew five and twenty thousand persons.

27 And after that hee had chased away and slaine them, Judas remooued the hoste toward Ephron a strong citie, wherein was Lysias and a great multitude of all nations, and the strong young men kept the walles, defending them mightily: there was also great preparation of engines of warre, and darts.

28 But when they had called vpon the Lord, which with his power breaketh the strength of the enemies, they wanne the citie, and slew five and twentie thousand of them that were within.

29 From thence went they to Scythopolis, which lieth sixe hundred furlongs from Jerusalem.

30 But when the Iewes which dwelt there, testified that the Scythopolitans dealt louingly with them, and intreated them kindly in the time of their aduersitie,

Or, Scythians.

31 They gaue them thanks, desiring them to bee friendly still vnto them, and so they came to Jerusalem, as the feast of the weekes approached.

32 And after the feast called Pentecost, they went forth against Gorgias the gouernour of Idumea:

33 Who came out with three thousand men of foote, and foure hundred horsemen.

34 And when they ioyned together, a few of the Iewes were slaine, 35 And Dositheus one of the Baccenors, which was on horsebacke and a mightie man, tooke Gorgias, and layd hold of his garment, and drew him by force, because hee would haue taken the wicked man aliuie: but an horseman of Thracia fell vpon him, and smote off his shoulder, so that Gorgias fled into Marisa.

Or, Maresa.

36 And when they that were with Elestin, had foughten long, and were wearie, Judas called vpon the Lord, that hee would shew himselfe to bee their helper, and Captaine of the field.

Or, with Gorgias.

37 And then he began in his owne language, and sung Psalms with a loude voice, insomuch that straightwayes hee made them that were about Gorgias, to take their flight.

38 So Judas gathered his hoste, and came into the citie of Ddolla. And when the seuenth day came, they cleansed themselves (as the custome was) and kept the Sabbath in the same place.

39 And vpon the day following, as necessitie required, Judas and his company came to take vp the bodies of them that were slaine, and to bury them with their kinsmen in their fathers graues.

40 Now vnder the coates of euery one that was slaine, they found iewels that had bene consecrate to the idoles of the Tamnites, which thing is forbidden the Iewes by the Law. Then euery man saw that this was the cause wherefore they were slaine.

Deut. 7. 25.
Josb 7. 1, 15.
12.

41 And so euery man gaue thanks vnto the Lord, the righteous Iudge, which had opened the things that were hid.

42 And

42 And they gaue themselves to prayer, and belought him, that they should not utterly be destroyed for the fault committed. Besides that, noble Judas exhorted the people to keepe themselves from sinne, forasmuch as they saw before their eyes the things which came to passe by the sinne of these that were slaine, 43 And hauing made a gathering thorow the company, sent to Jerusalem about two thousand drachmes of siluer, to offer a sinne offering, doing very well and honestly, that he thought of the resurrection.

44 For if hee had not hoped that they which were slaine, should rise againe, it had bene superfluous and vaine, to pray for the dead.

45 And therefore he perceiued that there was great fauour layed by for those that died godly. (It was an holy & good thought.) So hee made a reconciliation for the dead, that they might be deliuered from sinne.

a From this verse to the end of this chapter, the Greeke text is corrupt, so that no good sense, much lesse certaine doctrine can be gathered thereby. Also it is euident that this place was not written by the holy Ghost, both because it dissenteth from the rest of the holy Scriptures, and also the authour of this booke acknowledging his owne infirmities, desireth pardon, if he haue not attained to that hee should. And it seemeth that this Iason the Cyrenian, out of whom he tooke this abridgement, is Ioseph Ben-gurion, who hath written in Hebrew five books of these matters, & in creating this place, maketh no mention of this prayer for the dead, Lib. 3. cap. 19. For it is contrary to the custome of the Iewes euen to this day to pray for the dead. And though Judas had so done, yet this particular example is not sufficient to establish a doctrine, no more then Zipporahs was to proue that women might minister the Sacraments, Exod. 4. 25. or the example of Razis, that one might kill himselfe, whom this authour so much commendeth, Chap. 14. 41.

CHAP. XIII.

1 The coming of Eupator into Iudea. 4 The death of Menelaus. 10 Maccabeus going to fight against Eupator, moueth his souldiers vnto prayer. 15 Hee killeth foureteene thousand men in the tents of Antiochus. 21 Rhodocus the betrayer of the Iewes is taken.

In the hundredth forty and nine yeere, it was tolde Judas that Antiochus Eupator was coming with a great power into Iudea,

2 And Lysias the steward and ruler of his affaires with him, hauing both in their armie an hundred and ten thousand men of foote of the Grecians, and five thousand horsemen, and two and twenty Elephants, and three hundred charrets set with bowes.

3 Menelaus also toynd himselfe with them, and with great decett encouraged Antiochus, not for the safeguard of the countrey, but because he thought to haue bene made the gouernour.

4 But the King of kings moued Antiochus minde against this wicked man, and Lysias enformed the king, that this man was the cause of all mischief, so that the King commaunded to bring him to Berea to put him vnto death as the manner was in that place.

5 Now there was in that place a tower of fiftie cubits high, full of ashes, and it had an instrument that turned round, and on euery side it rouled downe into the ashes:

6 And there whosoener was condemned of sacriledge, or of any other greivous crime, was cast of all men to the death.

7 And so it came to passe that this wicked man should die such a death, and it was a most iust thing that Menelaus should want buriall.

8 For because he had committed many sins by the altar, whose fire and ashes were holy: hee himselfe also died in the ashes.

9 Now the king raged in his minde, and came to shew himselfe more cruel vnto the Iewes then his father.

10 Which things when Judas perceiued, he commanded the people to call vpon the Lord night and day, that if euer hee had holpen them, he would now helpe them, when they should bee put from their Law, from their countrey, and from the holy Temple:

11 And that hee would not suffer the people which a little before began to recouer, to be subdued vnto the blasphemous nations.

12 So when they had done this altogether, and belought the Lord for mercie with weeping and fasting, and falling downe three dayes together, Judas exhorted them to make themselves ready.

13 And he being apart with the Elders, took counsell to goe forth, as for the king brought his hoste into Iudea, and should take the citie, and commit the matter to the helpe of the Lord.

14 So committing the charge to the Lord of the world, hee exhorted his souldiers to fight manfully, euen vnto death for the Lawes, the Temple, the citie, their countrey, and the common wealth, and camped by Bethan.

15 And so giuing his souldiers for a watchword, The victorie of God, hee picked out the manliest yong men; and went by night into the Kings campe, and slew of the hoste foureteene thousand men, and the greatest Elephant with all that late vpon him.

16 Thus when they had brought a great feare, and trouble in the campe, and all things went prosperously with them, they departed.

17 This was done in the breake of the day, because the protection of the Lord did helpe them.

18 Now when the King had tasted the manknesse of the Iewes, he went about to take the holds by policie, 19 And marched toward Bethsura, which was a strong hold of the Iewes: but hee was chased away, hurt, and lost of his men.

20 For Judas had sent vnto them that were in it, such things as were necessary.

21 But Rhodocus which was in the Iewes hoste, disclosed the secrets to the enemies: therefore he was sought out, and when they had gotten him, they put him in prison.

22 After this, did the King commune with them that were in Bethsura, and tooke truce with them, departed and toynd battell with Judas, who ouercame him.

23 But when hee vnderstood, that Philip (whom he had left to be ouerser of his businesse at Antiochia) did rebell against him, he was astonished, so that he yeeled himselfe to the Iewes, and made them an othe to doe all things that were right, and was appealed toward them, and offered Sacrifice and adorned the Temple, and shewed great gentlenesse to the place, 24 And embraced Maccabeus, & made him capitaine and gouernour from Ptolemais vnto the Gerreneans.

25 Neuerthelesse,

Or, gaue and tooke the right hand.

25 Nevertheless, when he came to Prolemais; the people of the citie were not content with this agreement: and because they were grieved, they would that he should breake the covenants.

26 Then went Lysias up into the iudgement seat, and renewed the fact as well as he could, and periwaded them, and pacified them, and made them well affected, and came againe unto Antiochia. This is the matter concerning the kings courtney, and his returne.

CHAP. XIII.

1 Demetrius moved by Alcimus, sendeth Nicanor to kill the Iewes. 18 Nicanor maketh a compact with the Iewes. 29 Which hee yet breaketh thorow the motion of the King. 37 Nicanor commandeth Razai to be taken, who slayeth himselfe.

After three yeeres was Judas informed that Demetrius the sonne of Seleucus was come by with a great power and name by the haven of Tripolis,

2 When he had won the countrey, and slaine Antiochus, and his lieutenant Lysias.

3 Now Alcimus, which had bene the high Priest, and wilfully desired himselfe in the time that all things were confounded, seeing that by no meanes hee could save himselfe, nor have any more entrance to the holy Altar,

4 Hee came to king Demetrius in the hundredth fiftie and one yeere, presenting unto him a crowne of gold, and a pallas, and of the boughes which were vled solemnly in the Temple, and that day he held his tongue.

5 But when he had gotten opportunity, and occasion for his rage, Demetrius called him to counsell, and asked him what devices or counsels the Iewes learned unto.

6 To the which hee answered, The Iewes that be called Aithians, whose captaine is Judas Maccabees, maintaine warres, and make insurrections, and will not let the Realme be in peace.

7 Therefore I, being deprived of my fathers honour (I meane the high Priesthood) am now come hither.

8 Partly because I was well affected unto the kings affaires, and secondly because I sought the profit of mine owne citizens: for all our people, chooseth their rashness, are not a little troubled.

9 Wherefore, O king, seeing thou knowest all these things, make provision for the countrey, and our Nation which is abused, according to thine owne humanitie, that is ready to helpe all men.

10 For as long as Judas liveth, it is not possible that the matter should be well.

11 When he had spoken these words, other friends also having euill will at Judas, set Demetrius on fire.

12 Who immediately called for Nicanor, the ruler of the Elephants, and made him captaine ouer Iudea.

13 And sent him forth, commanding him to slay Judas, and to scatter them that were with him, and to make Alcimus the priest of the great Temple.

14 When the heathen which fled out of Iudea from Judas, came to Nicanor by flocks, thinking the harme and calamities of the Iewes to be their welfare.

15 Now when the Iewes heard of Nicanors coming, and the gathering together of the heathen, they sprinkled themselves with earth, and prayed unto him which had appointed himselfe a people for ever, and did alwayes defend his own position with euident tokens.

16 So at the commandment of the captaine, they remoued straightwayes from thence, and came to the towne of Delfan.

17 Where Simon Judas brother had ioyned battell with Nicanor, and was somewhat astonished through the sudden silence of the enemies.

18 Nevertheless Nicanor hearing the manliness of them that were with Judas, and the bolde stomacks that they had for their countrey, durst not prooue the matter with bloodshedding.

19 Therefore he sent Hosidontus, Theodotus, and Pothias before to make peace.

20 So when they had taken long aduilement thereupon, and the captaine shewed it unto the multitude, they were agreed in one minde, and consented to the covenants.

21 And they appointed a day when they should particularly come together: so when the day was come, they set for every man his fooke.

22 Nevertheless Judas commanded certaine men of armes to waite in convenient places: least there should suddenly arise any euill through the enemies: and so they continued together of the things whereupon they had agreed.

23 Nicanor, while hee abode at Ierusalem, did none hurt, but sent away the people that were gathered together.

24 Hee allowed Judas, and favoured him in his heart.

25 He prayed him also to take a wife, and to beget children: so he married, and they liued together.

26 But Alcimus perceiving the loue that was betwene them, and understanding the covenants that were made, came to Demetrius and told him that Nicanor had taken strange matters in hand, and ordered Judas a traitour to the Realme, to be his successor.

27 Then the King was displeased, and by the reports of this wicked man, hee wrote to Nicanor, saying, that hee was very angry for the covenants, commanding him that he should send Maccabees in all haste prisoner unto Antiochia.

28 When these things came unto Nicanor, he was astonished and sore grieved, that hee should breake the things wherein they had agreed, seeing that that man had committed no wickedness.

29 But because it was not commodious to him to with stand the King, he sought craftily to accomplish it.

30 Notwithstanding when Maccabees perceived that Nicanor beganne to be rough unto him, and that hee entreated him more rudely then he was wont, he perceived that such rigour came not of god, and therefore hee gathered a few of his men, and withdrew himselfe from Nicanor.

31 But the other perceiving that hee was presented by Maccabeus worthy policy, came into the great and holy Temple, and commanded the Priests, which were offering their usuall sacrifices, to deliver him the man.

22 And when they sawe that they could not tell where the man was, whom he sought,

23 Hee stretched out his right hand toward the Temple, and made an othe in this maner, If ye will not deliver mee Iudas as a prisoner, I will make this Temple of God a plaine field, and will breake downe the Altar, and will erect a notable temple unto Bacchus.

34 After these words he departed : then the Princes lift up their hands toward heaven, and besought him that was ever the Defender of their nation, saying in this maner,

35 Thou, O Lord of all things, which hast need of nothing, wouldest that the Temple of thyne habitation should be among vs.

36. Therefore now, O most holy Lord, keepe this House ever undefiled, which lately was cleansed, and stop all the mouthes of the unrighteous.

27 Now was there accused unto Sicanos, Razis one of the Elders of Ierusalem, a lover of the Curie, and a man of very good report, which for his love was called a father of the Jewes.

28 For this many aforesayes when the Jewes were intinded to keepe themselves undefiled and pure, being accused to be of the Religion of the Jewes, did offer to spend his body and life with all contrivance for the Religion of the Jewes.

29 So Pilat was willing to declare the hatred that he bare to the Jewes, sent about five hundred men of warre to take him.

40 For he thought by taking him to doe the Jewes much hurt.

41 But when this company would haue taken his castle, and would haue broken the gates by violence, he commanded to bring fire to burne the gates, so that he was ready to be taken on euery side, he fell on his sword.

42 Whilling rather to die manfully, then to give himselfe into the hands of wicked men, and to suffer reproch unworthy for his noble stocke.

42 Notwithstanding what time as he miled of his stroke for halfe, and the multitude rushed in violently betwene the doores, he ran boldly to the wall, and cast himselfe downe manfully among the multitude.

44 Which conveyed themselves lightly away, and gave place, so that he fell upon his belly.

4-5. Perceyethelife while there was yet breath in him, being kindled in his minde, hee rose up, and though his blood gushed out like a fountaine, and he was very sore wounded, yet hee ran through the minds of the people.

46 And gave him to the top of an high rock: so when his blood was utterly gone, he rooke out his owne bowels with both his handes, and threw them upon the people, calling upon the Lord of life and death, that hee would restore them againe unto him, and thus he died.

commandeth Nicodemus: head and hands to be cut off, and his tongue to be given to the fowls. 39 The author ex-poseth himself.

Now when Nicodemus knew that Judas and his company were in the country of Samaria, he thought with all assurance to come upon them, upon the Sabbath day.

2 Feuerbelesse the Jewes that were compelled to goe with him, said, I will not so cruelly and barbarously, but honour and sanctifie the day that is appointed by him that seeth all things.

3 But this most wicked person demanded,
Is there a Lord in heaven, that commanded the Sabbath day to be kept?

4. And when they sayd, There is a living Lord, which ruleth in the heauen, that commanded the seventh day to be kept,

5 Then hee sayd, And I am mighty vpon earth to command them for to arme themselves, and to performe the kings businesse. Notwith- standing he could not accomplish his wicked en- terpryse.

6 For Pirano lifted up with great pride, purposed to set up a memoriall of the victory obtained of all them that were with Judas.

7 But Baccabens had ever sure confidence and a perfect hope that the Lord would helpe
him,

8 And exhorted his people not to be afraid at the coming of the heathen, but alway to remember the bribe that had bene shewed unto them from heauen, and to trust now also that they should haue the victorie by the Almighty.

9 Thus he encouraged them by the Law, and Exhorters, putting them in remembrance of the benefits that they had wrought afore, and so made them more willing.

IO And stirred up their hearts, and shewed them also the deceitfulness of the heathen, and how they had broken their othes.

11. Thus hee armed every one of them, not with the assurance of shields and speares, but with wholesome words and exhortations, and shewed them a dreame worthy to be believed, and relieved them greatly.

12 And this was his vision, He thought that he saw Othas, (which had bene the high Priest, a vertuous and a good man, reuerent in behaviour, and of sober conversation, well spoken, and one that had bene exercised in all points of godliness from a child) holding up his hands toward heauen, and praying for the whole people of the Jewes.

13 ¶ After this there appeared vnto him another man which was aged, honourable, and of a wonderfull dignitie, and excellencie aboue him.

14. And Dnias spake and said, This is a lover of the Iudæen, who prayeth much for the people, and for the holy Cille, to wit, Ieremias the Prophet of God.

15 He thought also that Ieremias held out his right hand, & gaue vnto Iudas a sword of gold:
and as he gaue it, he saide thus.

16 Take this holy sword a gift from God, wherewith thou shalt wound the adversaries.
17 And thou shalt be comforted by the words of

...and it being controlled by the hands of Judas, which was, very sweet and able to serve them

them by to ballantnes, & to encourage the hearts of the young men, they determined to pitch no campe, but courageously to set vpon them, and manfully to assaile them, and to trie the matter hand to hand, because the City, and the Sanctuary, and the Temple were in danger.

18 As for their wiues and childezen, and brethren and kinsfolkes, they set lesse by their danger: but their greatest and principall feare was for the holy Temple.

19 Againe they that were in the Citie, were carefull for the armie that was abroad.

20 Now whiles they all waited for the triall of the matter, and the enemies now met with them, and the hoste was set in aray, & the beasts were separated into conuenient places, and the horsemen were placed in the wings:

21 Maccabeus considering the comming of the multitude, and the diuers preparations of weapons, and the fiercenesse of the beastes, held by his hands toward heauen, calling vpon the Lord that doeth wonders, and that looked vpon them, knowing that the victorie commeth not by the weapons, but that hee giveth the victorie to them that are worthy, as setteth good vnto him.

22 Therefore in his prayer he sayd after this manner, O Lord, * thou that didst send thine Angel in the time of Ezekias king of Iudea, who in the host of Sennacherib, slew an hundred fourescore and foure thousand,

23 Send now also thy good Angel before vs, O Lord of heauens, for a feare and dread vnto them, 24 And let them be discomfited by the strength of thine arme, which come against thine holy people to blaspheme. Thus with these words he made an end.

25 Then Micanor and they that were with him, drew neere with trumpets and shoutings for ioi.

26 But Indas and his company praying and calling vpon God, encountered with the enemies.

27 So that with their hands they fought, but with their hearts they prayed vnto God, and slew no lesse then fure and thirtie thousand men: for through the presence of God they were wonderfully comforted.

28 Now when they left off, and were turning againe with ioi, they vnderstood that Micanor himselfe was slaine for all his armour.

29 Then they made a great shout and a crie, praising the Almighty in their owne language.

30 Therefore Iudas which was euer the chiefe defender of his citizens both in body and mind, and which bare euer good affection towards them of his nation, commanded to smite off Micanors head, with his hand and shoulder, and to bring it to Ierusal:m.

31 And when he came there, he called all them of his nation, and set the priests by the altar, and sent for them of the castle,

32 And shewed them wicked Micanors head, and the hand of that blasphemer which hee had holden vp against the holy Temple of the Almighty with proud brags.

33 Hee caused the tongue also of wicked Micanor to be cut in little piéces, and to be cast vnto the fowles, and that the rewards of his madness should be hanged by before the Temple.

34 So euery man prayed toward the heauen the glorious Lord, saying, Blessed be he that hath kept his place vndefiled.

35 Hee hanged also Micanors head vpon the high castle, for an euident and plaine token vnto all of the helpe of God.

36 And so they established altogether by a common decree, that they would in no case suffer this day without keeping it holy:

37 And that the feast should be the thirtenth day of the twelfth moneth, which is called Adar in the Syrians language, the day before Mardocheus day.

38 Thus farre as concerning Micanors matters, and from that time the Hebrewes had the citie in possession. And heere will I also make an ende.

39 If I haue done well, and as the story required, it is the thing that I desired: but if I haue spoken slenderly and barely, it is that I could.

40 For as it is hurtfull to drinke wine alone, and then againe water: and as wine tempered with water is pleasant and delighteth the taste: so the setting out of the matter delighteth the eares of them that reade the story. And heere shall be the end.

The end of the Apocrypha.

Creation of man

Moreouer, these Bookes teach vs, that this very God Almighty, after he created all things, shope also Adam the first man, to the image and spirituall similitude of himselfe, and that he did constitute him Lord ouer all things that he had created in earth. Which Adam by the enuie and fraude of the deuill, transgressing the precept of his Creator, by this his sinne brought in such and so great sinne into the worlde, that we which be sprung from him by the flesh, bee in nature the children of wrath, and thereupon we be made subiect and thrall to death, to damnation, to the yoke and tyranny of the deuill.

Christ promised.

Furthermore, we are taught by these excellent bookes, that God promised to Adam, Abraham, Isaac, Iacob, Dauid, and to other Fathers of the olde time, that he would sende that blessed seede, his sonne Iesus Christ our sauour, which should deliuer all those from sinne, and from the tyrannie of the deuill which by a liuely and working faith should beleue this promise, and put their trust in Iesus Christ, hoping that of him and by him, they should obtaine this deliuerance.

The Law.

Also they giue vs to vnderstand, that in the meane season, while those Fathers the Israelites looked for the saluation, and deliuerance promised (for that the nature of man is such, so proud and so corrupt, that those would not willingly acknowledge themselves to bee sinners, which had neede of the sauour promised) God the Creator gaue by Moses his Lawe written in two Tables of stone: that by it, sinne & the malice of mans heart being knowne, men might more vehemently thirst for the comming of Iesus Christ, who should redeeme and deliuer them from sinne: which thing, neither the Lawe, nor yet the sacrifices and oblations of the Law did performe. For they were shadowes and figures of the true oblation of the body of Christ: by which oblation all sinne should be blotted out, and quite put away.

Christ God our sauour came.

By the bookes of the new Testament we be taught, that Christ so afore promised (* which is God) about all things most blessed for euer) euen he, I say, was shadowed in the bookes of the olde Testament, and in sacrifices figured, that hee was sent at the last from the Father, the selfe same time which the Father did constitute within himselfe: I say, at that time when all wickednesse abounded in the world, then hee was sent: And this Iesus our sauour being borne in the flesh, suffered death, and rose againe from the dead. Which actes of his were not done by him in respect of the good workes of any man (for we were all sinners) but that this God our Father should appeare true, in exhibiting the abundant riches of his grace which he promised, and that through his mercie hee might bring vs to saluation.

A Lambe.
A sacrifice.
Peace.
Adoption.

Whereupon it is evidently shewed in the New Testament, that Iesus Christ, being the true Lambe, the true sacrifice of the worlde, putting away the sinnes of men, came into this worlde to purchase grace and peace for vs with the Father, walking vs from our sinnes in his owne blood, and should deliuer vs from the bondage of the deuill, whom by sinne we did serue: And so we should be adopted by him to be the sonnes of God, made heires with him of that most excellent and euerlasting kingdome.

The holy Ghost.
Faith.

Now that we should acknowledge this singular and excellent benefit of God towards vs, almighty God giueth vs his holy Spirit: the fruit and effect of which, is faith in God, and in his Christ. For without the holy Ghost, by which we are instructed and sealed, neither can we beleue that God the Father sent Messias, nor yet that Iesus is Christ: For no man (saith Paul) can say that Iesus is the Lord, but by the holy Ghost. The same Spirit witnesseth to our spirit, that we are the children of God, and powreth into our bowels that Charitie which Paul describeth to the Corinthians. Furthermore, that holy Spirit doth giue vs hope, which is a sure looking for eternall life, whereof he himselfe is the certaine token and pledge. Also he giueth vs other spirituall gifts, of the which Paul writeth to the Galatians. Therefore the benefit of faith is not yet to be despised or little to be set by. For by the means of this trust & faith in Christ, which worketh by charity, & sheweth it selfe forth by the works of charity, mouing man thereto, we are iustified and sanctified: that is to say, God and the Father of our Lord Iesus

	Iesus Christ (which is made our Father also by him, being our brother) doeth accompt vs to be iust and holy through his grace, and through the merite of his Sonne Iesus Christ, not imputing our sinnes to vs, so farre forth, that we should suffer the paines of hell for them.	d Matth. 5. 41 and 23. 9
Good workes.	Finally, Christ himselfe came into the world, to the intent that we through him being sanctified and cleansed from our sinnes, following his will in good workes, should deny the things pertaining to the flesh, and freely serue him in righteousnesse and holinesse all the dayes of our life: and that by good workes (which God hath prepared for vs to walke in) we should shew our selues to be called to his grace, and gift of faith: which good workes who so hath not, doeth shew himselfe not to haue such a faith in Christ as is required in vs.	e Heb. 2. 11 f 2. Therefore let vs not doubt, if we sinne at any time, to come with a repentance (to the which he doeth inuite and stirre vs at the very beginning of his preaching) and with sure trust to the throne of his grace, with this beliefe, that we shall obtaine mercy. ¶ Certaine

Certaine questions and answeres touching doctrine of Predestination, the vse of Gods word and Sacraments.

Question.

By doe men so much varie in matters of religion?

Answer.

Because all haue not the like measure of knowledge, neither do all beleue the Gospel of Christ.

Question.

What is the reason thereof?

Answer.

Because they onely beleue the Gospel and doctrine of Christ, which are ordained vnto eternall life.

Question.

Are not all ordained vnto eternall life?

Answer.

Some are vessels of wrath ordained vnto destruction, as others are vessels of mercie prepared to glory.

Question.

How standeth it with Gods iustice, that some are appointed vnto damnation?

Answer.

Very well: because all men haue in themselves sinne, which deserueth no lesse: and therefore the mercie of God is wonderfull in that hee vouchsafeth to saue some of that sinfull race, and to bring them to the knowledge of the truth.

Question.

If Gods ordinance and determination must of necessitie take effect, then what need any man to care? for hee that lieth well, must needs be damned, if hee be thereunto ordained: and hee that lieth ill must needs be saued, if he be thereunto appointed.

Answer.

Not so: for it is not possible, that either the elect should alwayes bee without care to doe well, or that the reprobate should haue any will thereunto. For to haue either good will or good worke, is a testimonie of the Spirit of God which is giuen to the Elect onely, whereby faith is so wrought in them, that being graft in Christ, they grow in holinesse to that glory, whereunto they are appointed. Neither are they so vaine as once to thinke that they may doe as they list themselves, because they are predestinate vnto saluation: but rather they endeavour to walke in such good workes as God in Christ Iesus hath ordained them vnto, and prepared for them to bee occupied in, to their owne comfort, stay and assurance, and to his glory.

Question.

But how shall I know my selfe to bee one of those whom God hath ordained to life eternall?

Answer.

By the motions of spirituall life, which belongeth onely to the children of God: by the which that life is perceived, euen as the life of this body is discerned by the sense and motions thereof.

Question.

What meane you by the motions of spirituall life?

Answer.

I meane remorle of conscience, loyned with the loching of sinne, and lope of righteousness: the hand of faith reaching vnto life eternall in Christ, the conscience comforted in distresse, and raised vp to confidence in God by the worke of his Spirit: a thankfull remembrance of Gods benefites received, and the vling of all aduersities as occasion of amendment sent from God.

Question.

Cannot such perish as at some time or other feele these motions within themselues?

Answer.

It is not possible that they should: for as Gods purpose is not changeable, so hee repenteth not of the gifts and graces of his adoption: neither doeth hee cast off those whom he hath once received.

Question.

Why then should wee pray by the example of Dauid, that he cast vs not from his face, and that hee take not his holy Spirit from vs?

Answer.

In so praying we make protestation of the weakenesse of flesh, which moueth vs to doubt: yet should not wee haue courage to aske, if wee were not assured that God will giue according to his purpose and promise, that which we require.

Question.

Doe the children of God feele the motions aforesaid alwayes alike?

Answer.

No truely: for God sometime to proue his, seemeth to leaue them in such sort, that the flesh ouermatcheth the spirit, whereof ariseth trouble of conscience for the time:

Questions and answers.

yet the spirit of adoption is neuer taken from them, that haue once receiued it: else might they perish. But as in many diseases of the body, the powers of bodily life are letted: So in some ailments these motions of spirituall life are not perceived, because they lie hid- den in our manifold infirmitie, as the fire couered with ashes. Yet as after sicknesse cometh health, & after cloudes the Sunne shineth cleare: so the powers of spirituall life will more or lesse be felt and perceived in the children of God.

Question.

What if I neuer feele these motions in my selfe, shall I despair and thinke my selfe a castaway?

Answer.

God forbid: for God calleth his at what time hee seeth good: and the instruments whereby he usually calleth, haue not the like effect at all times, yet it is not good to neglect the meanes whereby God hath determi- ned to worke the saluation of his. For as ware is not melted without heate, nor clay hardened but by meanes thereof: so God v- seth meanes both to drawe those vnto him- selfe, whom hee hath appoynted vnto salua- on, and also to bewray the wickednesse of them whom he iustly condemneth.

Question.

By what meanes vseth God to draw men to himselfe that they may be saued?

Answer.

By the preaching of his word, and the mi- nistring of his Sacraments thereunto an- nered.

Question.

What meane you by the word of God?

Answer.

I meane the doctrine of the Prophets and Apostles which they receiued of the Spirit of God, and haue left written in that Booke which we commonly call the Old and New Testament.

Question.

How may I be assured that it is the word of God, which that Booke containeth?

Answer.

By the maiestie of God appearing in that plaine and simple doctrine: by the purenes, brightness and holinesse thereof: by the certaintie of euery thing therein affirmed: by the successe of all things according to it: by perpetuall consent which is to be seene in euery part thereof: by the excellencie of the matters vttered: But especially by the testi- mony of Gods Spirit, whereby it was writ- ten who moueth the hearts of those in whom it rellerh, to consent vnto the word, and re- uerently to embrace it.

Question.

How doth this word of God serue to draw men vnto him?

Answer.

When it is so preached and heard, that men may vnderstand and learne what God tea- cheth: accept and receiue thankfully that which is thereby giuen, promised and asse- red: and be moued with desire and diligence to do that which it commandeth.

Question.

Do the Sacraments also serue to this ende?

Answer.

Yea verily: that by sight, tast and feeling, as well as by hearing wee might be instruc- ted, assured, and brought to obedience.

Question.

How doth our Baptisme serue herunto?

Answer.

It teacheth vs to put on Christ, that with his righteousnesse our sinfulness may be hid- den: it assureth vs that wee are so graft into Christ, that all our finnes by him are washed away: it chargeth vs to die to sinne, to con- tinue in the profession of Christ, and to loue each other.

Question.

What the Lords supper also this vse?

Answer.

Yea double: for it teacheth, that the bo- dy and blood of Christ crucified, is the onely food of the new borne children of God: it as- sureth that Christ is wholly theirs to giue and to continue life spirituall and heauenly to body and soule, to flourish, strengthen, re- fresh, and to make cheerefull the hearts of the elect: it requireth thankfull remem- brance of the death of Christ, vnitie among those that doe professe him, with a free con- fession of his truth.

Question.

Why is not this vse of the Sacraments commonly knowne?

Answer.

Because they are abused for forme, for fa- shion, for custome and company, without re- gard vnto the word, whereunto they are so annexed, that they ought not vpon any ne- cessity by any person be seuered fro it, which teacheth the right vse of euery thing.

Question.

I perceiue that nothing is more necessary then the word of God: therefore I pray you shew mee how I may attaine to some know- ledge and profit thereby.

Answer.

By diligent hearing of such as preach it, by continuall and orderly exercise of reading and praying.

Question.

What orderly exercise thinke you must con- uenient to be vied herein?

Answer.

Of Predestination, &c.

Answers.

That as every day twice at the least, we most commonly receive food to the nourishment of this corporall life: so no day bee let passe without some reading, in such sort that occasion thereby may bee taken to speake againe unto God by prayer, as he in his word speaketh unto vs: So that at the least two Chapters would bee orderly and aduisedly read euery day, all other businesse, impediments and lets set apart.

Question.

This seemeth very easie to be done: what thinke you else requisite?

Answers.

That some especiall places of Scripture be so committed to manorie, that the minde may euer be furnished with some good matter against all temptations. To which end

I note these Scriptures unto you, whereunto you may some other at your owne choice: Psalmes 139, 37, 50. Eia. 53. Job. 17. Rom. 8. 1. Tim. 4.

Question.

But the Scriptures are hard and not easie to vnderstand.

Answers.

Discourage not your selfe herewith: for God maketh them easie to such as in humilitie seeke him: and that hardnesse that you finde, serueth to moue you to the more diligence, and to make enquire of such as haue knowledge when any doubt ariseth. That which you perceiue not at one time, God shall reueale at another: So that you shall haue your growing in grace, knowledge and godlinesse, to Gods glory and your owne comfort in Christ, whose name for euer be praised, Amen.

The holy Gospel of Iesus Christ

^b according to Matthew.

THE ARGUMENT.

^a This word signifieth good tidings, and is taken here for the story which containeth the joyful message of the coming of the Sonne of God, promised from the beginning.

^b That is, written and taught by Matthew.

IN this history written by Matthew, Marke, Luke, and Iohn, the Spirit of God so governed their hearts, that although they were foure in number, yet in effect & purpose they so consent, as though the whole had beene composed by any one of them. And albeit in style & manner of writing they be diuers, and sometime one writeth more largely than which the other doeth abridgement, yet the matter and argument, they all tend to one end: which is to publish to the world the sauer of God toward mankind through Christ Iesus, whom the Father hath giuen as a pledge of his mercy and loue. And for this cause they entitle their story, Gospel, which signifieth good tidings, forasmuch as God hath performed indeed that which the fathers hoped for. So that hereby we are admonished to forsake the world, and the vanities thereof, and with most affectionate hearts embrace this incomparable treasure freely offered vnto vs: for there is no ioy nor consolation, no peace nor quietnesse, no felicitie nor saluation, but in Iesus Christ, who is the very substance of this Gospel, and in whom all the promises are, Yea, and Amen. And therefore vnder this word is contained the whole new Testament: but commonly we vse this name for the historie, which the foure Euangelists write, containing Christs coming in the flesh, his death and resurrection, which is the perfect summe of our saluation. Matthew, Marke, and Luke are more copious in describing his life and death: but Iohn more laboureth to set forth his doctrine, wherein both Christs office, and also the vertue of his death and resurrection more fully appeare: for without this, to know that Christ was borne, dead, and risen againe, should nothing profit vs. The which thing notwithstanding that three first touch partly, as hee also sometime intermedleth the historicall narration, yet Iohn chiefly is occupied herein. And therefore as a most learned interpreter writeth, they describe as it were, the body, and Iohn setteth before our eyes the soule. Wherefore the same aptly termeth the Gospel writen by Iohn, the key which openeth the doore to the vnderstanding of the others: for whosoever doeth know the office, vertue, and power of Christ, shall reade that which is written of the Sonne of God come to be the Redeemer of the world with most profit. Now as concerning the writers of this history, it is euident that Matthew was a Publicane or custome gatherer, & was thence chosen of Christ to be an Apostle. Marke is thought to haue been Peters disciple, and to haue planted the first Church at Alexandria, where he died the eight yere of the reign of Nero. Luke was a Physician of Antiochia, and became Pauls disciple, and fellow in all his traualles: he liued fourescore and foure yeres, and was buried at Constantinople. Iohn was that Apostle whom the Lord loued, the sonne of Zebedee, and brother of Iames: he died threescore yeres after Christ, and was buried neere to the cite of Ephesus.

14 And Iozabegate Sadoc. And Sadoc begate Achin. And Achin begate Eliud.

15 And Eliud begate Eleazar. And Eleazar begate Matthan. And Matthan begate

Jacob.

16 And Jacob begate Ioseph, the husband of Mary, of whom was borne Iesus, that is called Christ.

17 So all the generations from Abraham to David, are foueteene generations: & from David vntill they were caried away into Babylon, foueteene generations: and after they were caried away into Babylon, vntill

Christ, foueteene generations.

18 Now the birth of Iesus Christ was thus: When as his mother Mary was betrothed to Ioseph, before they came together, she was found with childe of the holy Ghost.

19 Then Ioseph her husband hearing a just man, and not willing to make her a publique example, was minded to put her away secretly.

20 But whiles he thought these things, behold, the Angel of the Lord appeared vnto him in a dreame, saying, Ioseph the sonne of David, feare not to take Mary for thy wife: for that which is conueined in her, is of the holy Ghost.

21 And she shall bring forth a sonne, and thou shalt call his Name Iesus: for he shal save his people from their sinnes.

22 And all this was done that it might be fulfilled, which was spoken of the Lord

by the Prophet, saying,

23 Behold, a Virgine shalbe with child, and shall beare a sonne, and they shall call his Name Emmanuel, which is by interpretation, God with vs.

24 Then Ioseph being rayled from sleep, did as the Angel of the Lord had informed him, and tooke his wife.

25 But hee knew her not, till shee had brought forth her first borne sonne, and he called his Name Iesus.

And in those dayes, Iohn the Baptist came and preached in the wilderness of Judea.

2 And sayd, Repent: for the Kingdome of heauen is at hand.

3 For this is he of whom it is spoken by the Prophet Esaias, saying, The voyce of him that cryeth in the wilderness, is, Prepare ye the way of the Lord: make his paths straight.

4 And this Iohn had his garment of camels haire, and a girdle of a skinne about his loynes: his meat was also locusts and wild hony.

5 Then went out to him Ierusalem and all Judea, & all the region round about Iordan.

6 And they were baptized of him in Iordan, confessing their sinnes.

7 Now when hee saw many of the Pharisees and of the Sadducees come to his baptism, hee sayd vnto them, O generation of vipers, who hath forewarned you to flee from the anger to come?

8 Bring forth therefore fruits worthy of amendment of life,

9 And thinke not to say with your selues, We haue Abraham to our father: for I say vnto you, that God is able of these stones to raise vp children vnto Abraham.

10 And now also is the axe put to the root of the trees: therefore euery tree which bringeth not forth good fruit, is hewen down and cast into the fire.

11 Indeed I baptize you with water to amendment of life, but he that cometh after me, is mightier then I, whose shoes I am not worthy to beare: he will baptize you with the holy Ghost, and with fire.

13 Then came Iesus from Galilee to Iordan vnto Iohn, to be baptized of him.

14 But Iohn put him backe, saying, I haue neede to be baptized of thee, and comest thou to me?

15 Then Iesus answering, sayd to him, Let bee now: for thus it becometh vs to fulfill all righteousness. So hee suffered him.

16 And Iesus when hee was baptized, came straight out of the water. And loe, the heauens were opened vnto him, and Iohn sawe the Spirit of God descending like a dove, and lighting vpon him.

3 Then came to him the tempter, and said, If thou be the Sonne of God, command that these stones be made bread.

4 But he answering, said, It is written, Man shall not liue by bread onely, but by euery word that proceedeth out of the mouth of God.

5 Then the deuill tooke him vp into the holy Citie, and set him on a pinnacle of the Temple, ship the Lord thy God, and him onely shalt thou serue.

11 * Then the deuill left him: and behold, the Angels came and ministred vnto
him.

12 * And when Jesus had heard that John was deliuered vp, he returned into Galile.

13 And leauing Nazareth, went & dwelt in Capernaum, which is nere the sea, in the borders of Zabulon and Nephtalim,

14 That it might be fulfilled which was spoken by Elias the Prophet, saying,

15 * The land of Zabulon, and the land of Nephtalim by the way of the sea, beyond Jordan, * Galile of the Gentiles:

16 The people which sat in * darkenesse, saw great light: and to them which sat in the region and shadow of death, light is risen vp.

17 * From that time Jesus beganne to preach, and to say, Amend your liues: for the Kingdome of heauen is at hand.

18 * And Jesus walking by the sea of Galile, saw two brethren, Simon, which was called Peter, and Andrew his brother, casting a net into the sea (for they were fishers.)

19 And he sayd vnto them, Follow mee, and I will make you fishers of men.

20 And they straightway leauing the nets followed him.

21 And when hee was gone forth from thence, he saw other two brethren, James the sonne of Zebedeus, and John his brother in a ship, with Zebedeus their father mending their nets, and he called them.

22 And they without tarrying, leauing the ship and their father, followed him.

23 So Jesus went about all Galile, teaching in their Synagogues, and preaching the Gospel of the Kingdome, and healing every sicknesse, and every disease among the people.

24 And his fame spread abroad through all Syria: and they brought vnto him all sicke people that were taken with diuers diseases and gripings, and them that were possessed with deuils, and those which were lunaticke, and those that had the palsey and he healed them.

25 And there followed him great multitudes out of Galile, and Decapolis, and Jerusalem, and Iudea, & from beyond Jordan.

18 That thou seme not vnto men to fast, but vnto thy Father which is in secret, and thy Father which seeth in secret, will reward thee openly.

19 Lay not by treasures for your selues vpon the earth, where the moth and canker corrupt, and where thieves dig thorow, and steale.

20 But lay by treasures for your selues in heauen, where neither the moth nor canker corrupteth, and where thieves neither dig thorow nor steale.

21 For where your treasure is, there will your heart be also.

22 The light of the body is the eye: if then thine eye be single, thy whole body shall be light.

23 But if thine eye be wicked: then all thy body shall be darke. Wherefore if the light that is in thee, be darknes, how great is that darknesse?

24 No man can serue two masters: for either he shall hate the one, and loue the other, or els he shall leane to the one, and despise the other. Yee cannot serue God and riches.

25 Therefore I say vnto you, Bee not carefull for your life, what ye shall eat, or what ye shall drinke: nor yet for your body, what ye shall put on. Is not the life more worth, then meate? and the body then raiment?

26 Behold the fowles of the heauen: for they sowe not, neither reape, nor carry into the barnes: yet your heavenly Father feedeth them. Are ye not much better then they?

27 Which of you by taking care, is able to adde one cubite vnto his stature?

28 And why care ye for raiment? Learne how the lilies of the field doe grow: they labour not, neither spin:

29 Yet I say vnto you, that euen Salomon in all his glory was not arrayed like one of these.

30 Wherefore if God so clothe the grasle of the field which is to day, and to morrow is cast into the ouen, shall he not doe much more vnto you, O ye of little faith?

31 Therefore take no thought, saying, What shall we eat? or what shall we drinke? or wherewith shall we be clothed?

32 (For after all these things seeketh the Gentiles) for your heavenly Father knoweth that ye haue need of all these things.

33 But seeke ye first the kingdom of God and his righteousness, and all these things shall be ministred vnto you.

23 And then will I professe to them, I neuer knew you: depart from mee, ye that worke iniquitie.

24 Whosoever then heareth of mee these words, and doeth the same, I will liken him to a wise man, which hath builded his house on a rocke:

25 And the raine fell, & the floods came, and the winds blew, and beat vpon that house, and it fell not: for it was grounded on a rocke.

26 But whosoever heareth these my words, and doeth them not, shall be likened vnto a foolish man, which hath builded his house vpon the sand:

27 And the raine fel, and the floods came, and the winds blew, and beat vpon that house, and it fel, & the fall thereof was great.

28 * And it came to passe when Iesus had ended these words, the people were astonished at his doctrine.

29 For hee taught them as one hauing authoritie, and not as the Scribes.

NOW when hee was come downe from the mountaine, great multitudes followed him.

3 And Iesus putting forth his hand touched him, saying, I will, be thou cleane: and immediately his leprosie was cleansed.

4 Then Iesus said vnto him, See thou tell no man, but goe, and shew thy selfe vnto the Priest, and offer the gift that Moses commanded, for a witnesse to them.

5 * When Iesus was entered into Capernaum, there came vnto him a Centurion, beseeching him,

6 And said, Master, my seruant lieth sick at home of the palsey, & is grievously pained.

7 And Iesus said vnto him, I will come and heale him.

8 But the Centurion answered, saying, Master, I am not worthy that thou shouldest come vnder my roofo: but speake the word onely, and my seruant shall be healed.

9 For I am a man also vnder the authoritie of another, & haue souldiers vnder mee: and I say to one, Goe, and hee goeth: and to another, Come, and he cometh: and to my seruant, Doe this, and he doeth it.

10 When Iesus heard that, he marvelled and said to them that followed him, Verely I say vnto you, I haue not found so great faith euen in Israel.

11 But I say vnto you, that many shall come from the East and West, and shall sit downe with Abraham, and Isaac, and Iacob in the kingdome of heauen.

12 And the children of the kingdom shall be cast out into utter darknes: there shall be weeping and gnashing of teeth.

13 Then Iesus said vnto the Centurion, Go thy way, and as thou hast beleued, so be it vnto thee. And his seruant was healed the same houre.

14 * And when Iesus came to Peters house, he saw his wifes mother layd downe, and sicke of a feuer.

15 And he touched her hand, and the feuer left her: so she arose, & ministered vnto them.

20 But Iesus said vnto him, The foxes haue holes, and the birds of the heauen haue nests, but the Sonne of man hath not whereon to rest his head.

Then hee entred into a ship, and passed o-sicke of the palse, lying on a bed. And Iesus seeing their faith, sayd to the sicke of the palse, Sonne, be of good comfort: thy sin-nes are forgiven thee.

3 And behold, certaine of the Scribes said with themselves, This man blasphemeth.
4 But when Iesus saw their thoughts, he said, Wherefore thinke ye euill things in your hearts?

5 For whether is it easier to say, Thy sinnes are forgiven thee, or to say, Arise, and walke?

6 And that ye may know that the Sonne of man hath authoritie in earth to forgive sinnes, (then said hee vnto the sicke of the 7 And he arose, and departed to his own

8 So when the multitude sawe it, they maruelled, and glorified God, which had gi-

9 ¶ And as Iesus passed forth from ed him.

10 And it came to passe as Iesus sate at meate in his house, beholde, many Publicanes and sinners, that came thither, sat downe at the table with Iesus and his diciples.

11 And when the Pharisees saw that, they said to his disciples, Why eateth your Ma-

12 Now when Iesus heard it, hee sayd vnto them, The whole need not a physician, but they that are sicke.

13 But go ye, and learne what this is,
I will haue mercy, and not sacrifice: for I am not come to call the righteous, but the sinners to repentance.

14 ¶ Then came the disciples of Iohn to him, saying, Why doe we and the Pharisees fast oft, and thy disciples fast not?

15 And Iesus said vnto them, Can the children of the marriage chamber mourne as long as the bridegrome is with them?
But the dayes will come when the bridegrome shall bee taken from them, and then shall they fast.

16 Moreover, no man pieceth an old gar-

17 Neither doe they put new wine into olde vessels: for then the vessels would breake, and the wine would be spilt, and the vessels should perish: but they put newe wine into new vessels, and so are both preserued.

18 ¶ While hee thus spake vnto them, behold, there came a certain ruler, and worshipped him, saying, My daughter is now deceased, but come and lay thine hand on her, and shee shall liue.

Mar. 9. 41.

24 * The discipule is not aboue his master, nor the seruant aboue his lord.

25 It is enough for the discipule to bee as his master is, and the seruant as his lord. * If they haue called the master of the house Beelzebub, how much more them of his household?

26 Feare them not therefore: * for there is nothing couered, that shall not be disclosed, nor hid, that shall not be knowen.

27 What I tell you in darkenesse, that speake ye in light: and what yee heare in the eare, that preach ye on the houses.

28 And feare ye not them which kill the body, but are not able to kill the soule: but rather feare him, which is able to destroy both soule and body in hell.

29 Are not two sparrowes sold for a farthing, and one of them shall not fall on the ground without your Father?

30 * Yea, and all the haire of your head are numbered.

31 Feare ye not therefore, ye are of more value then many sparrowes.

32 * Whosoener therefore shall confesse me before men, him will I confesse also before my Father which is in heauen.

33 But whosoener shall denie me before men, him will I also denie before my Father which is in heauen.

34 * Thinke not that I am come to send peace into the earth: I came not to send peace, but the sword.

35 For I am come to set a man at variance against his father, and the daughter against her mother, and the daughter in law against her mother in law.

36 * And a mans enemies shall be they of his owne household.

37 * He that loneth father or mother more then me, is not worthy of me. And he that loneth sonne or daughter more then mee, is not worthy of me.

38 * And he that taketh not his crosse, and followeth after me, is not worthy of me.

39 He that will saue his life, shall lose it, and he that loseth his life for my sake, shall saue it.

40 He that receiueth you, receiueth me: and he that receiueth me, receiueth him that hath sent me.

41 * He that receiueth a Prophet in the name of a Prophet, shall receiue a Prophetes reward: and he that receiueth a righteous man, in the name of a righteous man, shall receiue the reward of a righteous man.

42 * And whosoener shall giue vnto one of these litle ones to drinke a cup of colde water onely, in the name of a Discipule, verily I say vnto you, he shall not lose his reward.

Christ and Iohn. 20 Christ upbraideth the unthankfull cities. 25 The Gospel is revealed to the simple. 28 They that labour, and are laden. 29 Christs yoke.

And it came to passe, that when Iesus had made an ende of commaunding his twelue disciples, he departed thence to teach and to preach in their cities.

2 And when Iohn heard in the prison the workes of Christ, he sent two of his disciples, and said vnto him,

3 Art thou he that should come, or shall we looke for another?

4 And Iesus answering, said vnto them, Goe, and shew Iohn what things yee haue heard and seene.

5 The blinde receiue sight, and the halt goe: the lepers are cleansed, and the deafe heare: the dead are raised vp, * & the poore receiue the Gospel.

6 And blessed is he that shall not be offended in me.

7 And as they departed, Iesus began to speake vnto the multitude, of Iohn, What went yee out into the wilderness to see? A reede shaken with the winde?

8 But what went ye out to see? A man clothed in soft rayment? Behold, they that weare soft clothing, are in kings houses.

9 But what went ye out to see? A Prophet? Yea, I say vnto you, and more then a Prophet.

10 For this is he of whom it is written, Behold, I send my messenger before thy face, which shall prepare thy way before thee.

11 Verily I say vnto you, among them which are begotten of women, aroise there not a greater then Iohn Baptist: notwithstanding, hee that is the least in the kingdom of heauen, is greater then he.

6 But I say vnto you, that here is one greater then the Temple.

7 Therefore if ye knew what this is, I will haue mercy and not sacrifice, ye would not haue condemned the innocents.

8 For the Sonne of man is Lord, even of the Sabbath.

9 And he departed thence, and went into their Synagogue.

10 And beholde, there was a man which had his hand dyed by. And they asayed him, saying, Is it lawfull to heale vpon a Sabbath day? That they might accuse him.

11 And hee sayd vnto them, What man shall there bee among you, that shall haue a sheepe, and if it fall on a Sabbath day into a pit, will not hee take it and lift it out?

12 How much more then is a man better then a sheepe: therefore it is lawfull to doe well on a Sabbath day.

13 Then sayd hee to the man, Stretch forth thine hand. And he stretched it forth, and it was made whole as the other.

14 Then the Pharisees went out, and consulted against him how they might destroy him.

15 But when Iesus knew it, he departed thence, and great multitudes followed him, and he healed them all.

16 And charged them that they should not make him knowne.

17 That it might be fulfilled, which was spoken by Elias the Prophet, saying,

18 Behold my seruant whom I haue chosen, my beloued in whom my soule delighteth: I will put my Spirit on him, and hee shall shew iudgement to the Gentiles.

20 A bruised reede shall he not breake, and smoking flaxe shall hee not quench, till hee bring forth iudgement vnto victory.

21 And in his Name shall the Gentiles trust.

22 Then was brought to him one possessed with a deuill, both blinde and dumbe, and he healed him, so that he which was blinde and dumbe, both spake and saw.

23 And all the people were amazed, and sayd, Is not this the Sonne of Dauid?

24 But when the Pharisees heard it, they said, This man casteth the deuils no otherwise out, but through Beelzebub the prince of deuils.

25 But Iesus knew their thoughts, and sayd to them, Every kingdome diuided against it selfe, shall be brought to nought: and euery citie or house diuided against it selfe, shall not stand.

26 So if Satan cast out Satan, he is diuided against himselfe: how shall then his kingdome endure?

The same day went Jesus out of the house, and late by the sea side.

2 And great multitudes resorted unto him, so that hee went into a shippe, and late downe: and the whole multitude stood on the shore.

3 Then he spake many things to them in parables, saying, Behold, a sower went forth to sowe.

4 And as he sowed, some fel by the wayes side, and the fowles came and deuoured them vp.

5 And some fel vpon stony ground, where they had not much earth, & anon they sprang vp, because they had no depth of earth.

6 And when the sunne rose vp, they were parched, and for lacke of rooting, withered away.

7 And some fell among thornes, and the thornes sprang vp, and choked them.

8 Some againe fell in good ground, and brought forth fruite, one came an hundred folde, some sixtie folde, and another thirtie folde:

9 Vee that hath eares to heare, let him heare.

10 Then the disciples came, and sayd to him, Why speakest thou to them in parables?

11 And he answered, and said unto them, Because it is given unto you to know the secrets of the kingdome of heauen, but to them it is not given.

12 For whosoever hath, to him shall be given, & he shall haue abundance: but whosoever hath not, from him shall be taken away, euen || that he hath.

14 So in them is fulfilled the prophecie of Elias, which prophecie saith, "By hearing, ye shall hear, and shall not understand, and seeing ye shall see, and shall not perceive."

15 f For this peoples heart is waxed fat, and their eares are dull of hearing, and with their eyes they haue winked, lest they should see with their eyes, and heare with their eares, and should understand with their hearts, and should returne, that I might heale them.

16 But blessed are your eyes, for they see: and your eares, for they heare.

17 g For verily I say vnto you, that many Prophets and righteous men haue desired to see those things which yee see, and haue not seene them, and to heare those things which yee heare, and haue not heard them.

18 h i Heare yee therefore the parable of the sower.

19 When forer a man heareth the word of the kingdome, and understandeth it not, the euill one commeth, and catcheth away that which was sown in his heart: and this is he which hath receiued the seede by the way side.

20 And hee that receiued seede in the stonie ground, is hee which heareth the word, and incontinently with ioy recei-ueth it.

21 Yet hath hee no root in himselfe, and dureth but a season: for as soone as tribulation or persecution commeth because of the word, by and by he is offended.

22 And he that receiueh the seede among thornes, is hee, that heareth the word: but the care of this world, and the deceitfulness of riches choke the word, and he is made unfruitfull.

23 But he that receiueh the seede in the good ground, is hee that heareth the word, and understandeth it, which also beareth fruit, and bringeth forth, some an hundredfold, some sixty fold, and some thirty fold.

24 i Another parable put he forth vnto them, saying, The kingdome of heauen is like vnto a man which sowed good seede in his field.

25 h But while men slept, there came his enemy, and sowed tares among the wheate, and went his way.

26 And when the blade was sprung vp, and brought forth fruit, then appeared the tares also.

27 Then came the seruants of the householder, and said vnto him, Master, sowedst not thou good seed in thy field? from whence then hath it tares?

28 And hee sayd to them, The enuious man hath done this. Then the seruants said vnto him, Wilt thou then that we goe, and gather them vp?

29 But hee said, Nay, lest while yee goe about to gather the tares, ye plucke vp also with them the wheate.

30 Let both grow together vntill the harvest, and in time of harvest I will say to the reapers, Gather yee first the tares, and binde them in sheaves to burne them: but gather the wheate into my barn.

31 k Another parable he put forth vnto them, saying, The Kingdome of heauen is like vnto a graine of mustard seede, which a man taketh and soweth in his field:

32 Which in deed is the least of all seeds; but when it is growen it is the greatest among herbes, and it is a tree, so that the birds of heauen come and build in the branches thereof.

33 l Another parable spake he to them, The kingdome of heauen is like vnto leauen, which a woman taketh and hideth in three peckes of meale, till all bee leauened.

34 m All these things spake Iesus vnto the multitude in parables, and without parables spake he not to them,

35 That it might be fulfilled, which was spoken by the Prophet, saying, "I will open my mouth in parables, and will utter the things which haue been kept secret from the foundation of the world."

36 Then sent Iesus the multitude away, and went into the house. And his Disciples came vnto him, saying, Declare vnto vs the parable of the tares of the field.

37 Then answered he, and said to them, Ye that soweth the good seede, is the Sonne of man,

38 And the field is the world, and the good seede, they are the children of the Kingdome, and the tares are the children of the wicked, 39 And the enemy that soweth them, is the deuill, and the harvest is the end of the world, and the reapers be the Angels.

40 As then the tares are gathered and burned in the fire: so shall it be in the end of this world.

41 The Sonne of man shall send forth his Angels, and they shall gather out of his kingdome all things that offend, and them which doe iniquity.

42 And shall cast them into a furnace of fire. There shall be weeping and gnaishing of teeth.

43 Then shall the iust men shine as the Sonne in the Kingdome of their Father. Ver that hath eares to heare, let him heare.

44 n Againe, the Kingdome of heauen is like vnto a treasure hid in the field, which when a man hath found, hee hideth it, and for ioy thereof departeth, and selleth all that he hath, and buyeth that field.

45 o Againe, the Kingdome of heauen is like to a merchant man that seeketh good pearles, 46 Who hauing found a pearle of great price, went, and sold all that hee had, and bought it.

47 p Againe, the kingdome of heauen is like vnto a draw net cast into the sea, that gathereth of all kindes of things.

48 Which, when it is full, men draw to land, and sit and gather the good into vessels, and cast the bad away.

49 So shall it be in the end of the world.

2 Herods opinion concerning Christ. 10 John is beheaded. 19 Christ feedeth five thousand men with five loaves and two fishes. 23 Hee prayeth in the mountaine. 25 He appeareth by night unto his disciples upon the sea. 31 and saureth Peter. 33 They confesse him to be the Sonne of God. 36 He healeth all that touched the hemme of his garment.

¶ That time Herod the Tetrarch heard of the fame of Jesus,

2 And said unto his seruants, This is John Baptist: hee is risen againe from the dead, & therefore great workes are wrought by him.

3 For Herod had taken John & bound him, and put him in prison for Herodias lake, his brother Philips wife.

4 For John sayde vnto him, It is not lawfull for thee to haue her.

5 And when hee would haue put him to death, hee feared the multitude, because they counted him as a Prophet.

6 But when Herods birthday was kept, the daughter of Herodias daunced before them, and pleased Herod.

7 Wherefore he promised with an othe, that hee would giue her whatsoeuer she would aske.

8 And she being before instructed of her mother, said, Giue me here John Baptists head in a platter.

9 And the King was sorie: neuerthelesse because of the othe and them that sate with him at the table, he commanded it to be gi-uen her.

10 And sent, and beheaded John in the prison.

11 And his head was brought in a platter, and giuen to the mayd, and she brought it vnto her mother.

12 And his Disciples came and tooke vp his body, and buried it, and went, and told Jesus.

13 ¶ And when Jesus heard it, he departed thence by ship into a desert place a parte.
And when the multitude had heard it, they followed him a foot out of the cities.

14 And Jesus went forth and saw a great multitude, and was moued with compassion toward them, and hee healed their licke.

15 ¶ And when euen was come, his disciples came to him, saying, This is a desert place, and the houre is already past: let the multitude depart, that they may go into the townes, and buy them victuals.

16 But Jesus said to them, They haue no neede to goe away: giue ye them to eate.

17 Then said they vnto him, Wee haue here but five loaves and two fishes.

18 And he said, Bring them hither to me.

19 And he commanded the multitude to sit downe on the grasse, and tooke the five loaves and the two fishes, and looked vp to heauen and blessed and brake, and gaue the loaves to his Disciples, and the Disciples to the multitude.

20 And they did all eate, and were sufficed, and they tooke vp of the fragments that remained, twelue baskets full.

21 And they that had eaten, were about five thousand men, beside women and little children.

22 ¶ And straightway Jesus compelled his Disciples to enter into a ship, and to goe ouer before him, while he sent the multitude away.

23 And as soone as he had sent the multitude away, hee went by into a mountaine alone to pray: and when the euening was come, he was there alone.

24 And the ship was now in the middes of the Sea, and was tossed with waues: for it was a contrary wind.

25 And in the fourth watch of the night, Jesus went vnto them, walking on the sea.

26 And when his Disciples saw him walking on the sea, they were troubled, saying,
It is a spirit, and cried out for feare.

27 But straightway Jesus spake vnto them, saying, Be of good comfort, It is I, be not afraid.

28 Then Peter answered him, and said, Master, if it bee thou, bid mee come vnto thee on the water.

29 And he said, Come. And when Peter was come downe out of the ship, he walked on the water, to goe to Jesus.

30 But when he saw a mighty winde, he was afraid: and as he beganne to sink, he cried, saying, Master, saue me.

31 So immediately Jesus stretched forth his hand, and caught him, and said to him, thou doubt?

CHAP. XV.

3 Christ excuseth his disciples, and rebuketh the Scribes and Pharisees, for transgressing Gods Commandement by their owne traditions. 13 The plant that shall bee rooted out. 18 What things defile a man. 22 Hee deliuereth the woman of Canaan's daughter. 26 The bread of the children. 30 Hee healeth the sicke, 36 And feede foure thousand men, besides women and children.

Then came to Iesus the Scribes and Pharisees, which were of Ierusalem, saying,

2 Why doe thy disciples transgresse the tradition of the Elders: for they wash not their hands when they eat bread.

3 But he answered and said vnto them, Why doe ye also transgresse the commandement of God by your tradition?

4 For God hath commaunded, saying, Honour thy father and mother: and hee that curseth father or mother, let him die the death.

5 But ye say, Whosoever shall say to father or mother, By the gift that is offered by me, thou mayest haue profit.

6 Though hee honour not his father, or his mother, shall be free: thus haue ye made the commandement of God of no authority by your tradition.

7 Hypocrites, Elias prophesied well of you, saying,

8 This people draweth neare vnto me with their mouth, and honoureth mee with the lippes, but their heart is farre off from mee.

9 But in vaine they worship mee, teaching for doctrines mens precepts.

10 Then he called the multitude vnto him, and said vnto them, Heare and vnderstand.

11 That which goeth into the mouth, defileth not the man, but that which cometh out of the mouth, that defileth the man.

12 Then came his disciples, and said vnto him, Perceivest thou not that the Pharisees are offended in hearing this saying?

13 But he answered and said, Every plant which mine heavenly Father hath not planted, shall be rooted vp.

14 Let them alone: they be the blinde leaders of the blinde: and if the blinde leade the blinde, both shall fall into the ditch.

15 Then answered Peter, and said to him, Declare vnto vs this parable.

16 Then said Iesus, Are ye yet without vnderstanding?

17 Perceivest thou not yet, that what soeuer cometh into the mouth, goeth into the belly, and is cast out into the draught?

18 But those things which proceed out of the mouth, come from the heart, and they defile the man.

19 For out of the heart come euill thoughts, murders, adulteries, fornications, thefts, false testimonies, slanders.

20 These are the things which defile the man: but to eat with unwashen hands, defileth not the man.

21 And Iesus went thence, and departed into the coasts of Tyrus and Sidon.

22 And behold a woman, a Canaanite came out of the same coasts, and cryed, saying vnto him, Haue mercie on mee, O Lord, the sonne of David: my daughter is miserably vexed with a deuill.

23 But hee answered her not a worde. Then came to him his disciples, and besought him, saying, Send her away, for she crieth after vs.

24 But he answered, and sayd, I am not sent, but vnto the lost sheepe of the house of Israel.

25 Yet shee came and worshipped him, saying, Lord helpe me.

26 And he answered, and said, It is not good to take the childrens bread, and to cast it to the whelkes.

27 But shee said, Truth, Lord: yet in deed the whelkes eate of the crummes, which fall from their masters table.

28 Then Iesus answered, and said vnto her, O woman, great is thy faith: be it to thee, as thou desirest. And her daughter was made whole at that houre.

29 So Iesus went away from thence, and came neere vnto the sea of Galilee, and went vp into a mountaine and sat downe there.

30 And great multitudes came vnto him, bringing with them halfe, blinde, dumbe, maimed, and many other, and cast them downe at Iesus feete, and hee healed them.

31 Inasmuch that the multitude wondered, to see the dumbe speake, the maimed whole, the halt to goe, and the blinde to see: and they glorified the God of Israel.

32 Then Iesus called his disciples vnto him, and said, I haue compassion on this multitude, because they haue continued with mee already three dayes, and haue nothing to eate: and I will not let them depart fasting, lest they faint in the way.

33 And his disciples sayde vnto him, Whence should we get so much bread in the wilderness, as should suffice so great a multitude?

34 And Iesus sayd vnto them, How many loaves haue ye? and they sayde, Seuen, and a few little fishes.

35 Then he commaunded the multitude to sit downe on the ground,

36 And tooke the seuen loaves, and the fishes, and gaue thanks, and brake them, and gaue to his disciples, and the disciples to the multitude.

37 And they did all eate, and were sufficed:

1 The Pharisees require a token. 6 Iesus warneth his disciples of the Pharisees doctrine. 16 The confession of Peter. 19 The keyes of heauen. 24 The faithfull must beare the crosse. 25 To winne or lose the life. 27 Christs comming.

Then came the Pharisees and Sadducees, and did tempt him, desiring him to shew them a signe from heauen.

2 But he answered, and said vnto them, When it is evening, ye say, Faire weather: for the skie is red.

3 And in the morning ye say, To day shall be a tempest: for the skie is red and lowering. Hypocrites, can ye discerne the face of the skie, and can ye not discerne the signes of the times?

4 The wicked generation, and adulterous seeketh a signe, and there shall no signe be giuen it, but the signe of the Prophet Jonas: so he left them and departed.

6 And when his disciples were come to the other side, they had forgotten to take bread with them.

6 Then Iesus saide vnto them, Take heed and beware of the leauen of the Pharisees and Sadducees.

7 And they thought in themselves saying, It is, because wee haue brought no bread.

8 But Iesus knowing it, sayd vnto them, Ye of little faith, why thinke you thus in your selues, because ye haue brought no bread?

9 Doe ye not yet perceiue, neither remember the fise loaves, when there were fise thousand men, and how many baskets tooke ye vp?

10 Neither the seuen loaves when there were foure thousand men, and how many baskets tooke ye vp?

11 Why perceiue ye not, that I said not vnto you concerning bread, that ye should beware of the leauen of the Pharisees and Sadducees?

12 Then understood they that hee had not said, that they should beware of the leauen of bread, but of the doctrine of the Pharisees, and Sadducees.

13 Now when Iesus came into the coasts of Cesarea Philippi, he asked his disciples, saying, Whom do men say that I the Sonne of man am?

14 And they said, Some say, John Baptist: and some, Elias: and others, Jeremias, or one of the Prophets.

15 He sayd vnto them, But whom say ye that I am?

16 Then Simon Peter answered, and said, Thou art the Christ the Sonne of the liuing God.

17 And Iesus answered, and said to him

Blessed art thou, Simon, the sonne of Iona: for flesh and blood hath not reuealed it vnto thee, but my Father which is in heauen.

18 And I say also vnto thee, that thou art Peter, and vpon this rocke will I build my Church: and the gates of hell shall not overcome it.

19 And I will giue vnto thee the keyes of the kingdome of heauen, and whatsoever thou shalt bind vpon earth, shall bee bound in heauen: and whatsoever thou shalt loose on earth shall be loosed in heauen.

20 Then he charged his disciples, that they should tell no man that he was Iesus the Christ.

21 From that time forth Iesus began to shew vnto his disciples, that he must go vnto Ierusalem, and suffer many things of the Elders, and of the High Priests and Scribes, and be slaine, and rise againe the third day.

22 Then Peter tooke him aside, and began to rebuke him, saying, Master, pittie thy selfe: this shall not be vnto thee.

23 Then he turned backe, and said vnto Peter, Get thee behinde me, Satan: thou art an offence vnto me, because thou understandest not the things that are of God, but the things that are of men.

24 Iesus then saide to his Disciples, If any man will follow mee, let him forsake himselfe, and take vp his crosse and follow me.

25 For whosoever wil saue his life shall lose it: and whosoever shall lose his life for my sake, shall finde it.

26 For what shall it profit a man, though he should win the whole world, if he lose his owne soule: or what shall a man giue for recompense of his soule?

27 For the Sonne of man shall come in the glory of his Father with his Angels, and then shall bee giue to every man according to his deedes.

28 Verily I say vnto you, there be some of them that stand here, which shall not taste of death: till they haue seene the Sonne of man come in his kingdome.

13 Then were brought to him little children, that he should put his handes on them, & pray, and the disciples rebuked them.

14 But Iesus said, Suffer the little children, and forbid them not to come to me: for of such is the kingdome of heauen.

15 And when hee had put his handes on them, he departed thence.

22 And when the young man heard that saying, he went away sorrowfull: for he had great possessions.

23 Then Iesus said vnto his disciples, Verily I say vnto you, that a rich man shall hardly enter into the kingdome of heauen.

24 And againe I say vnto you, It is easier for a camel to goe thorow the eye of a needle, then for a rich man to enter into the kingdome of God.

25 And when his disciples heard it, they were exceedingly amazed, saying, Who then can be saved?

27 Then answered Peter, and sayd to him, Behold, we haue forsaken all, and followed thee: what shall we haue?

28 And Iesus sayd vnto them, Verily I say vnto you, then when the Sonne of man shall sit in the throne of his Maiestie, ye which followed mee in the regeneration,

CHAP. XX.

1 Christ teacheth by a similitude, that God is debtor to no man, and how he alway calleth men to his labour. 2 Hee admonisheth them of his passion. 26 Hee teacheth him to see ambition. 28 Christ payeth our ransom. 30 He giueth the blind men their sight.

For the kingdome of heauen is like vnto a certaine householder, which went out at the dawning of the day to hire labourers into his vineyard.

2 And he agreed with the labourers for a penny a day, and sent them into his vineyard.

3 And hee went out about the thirde houre, and sawe other standing idle in the market place,

4 And sayd vnto them, Goe ye also into my vineyard, and whatsoeuer is right I will giue you: and they went their way.

5 Again hee went out about the sixe and ninth houre, and did likewise.

6 And hee went about the eleventh houre, and found other standing idle, and sayd vnto them, Why stand ye heere all the day idle?

7 They sayd vnto him, Because no man hath hired vs. He said vnto them, Goe ye also into my vineyard, and whatsoeuer is right that shall ye receiue.

8 And when euen was come, the Master of the vineyard sayde vnto his steward, Call the labourers, and giue them their hire, beginning at the last, till thou come to the first.

9 And they which were hired about the eleventh houre, came and receiued euery man a penny.

10 And when the first came, they supposed that they should receiue more, but they likewise receiued euery man a penny.

11 And when they had receiued it, they murmured against the master of the house, 12 Saying, These last haue wrought but one houre, and thou hast made them equall vnto vs, which haue borne the burthen, and heat of the day.

13 And he answered one of them, saying, Friend, I doe thee no wrong: diddest thou not agree with me for a penny?

14 Take that which is thine owne, and goe thy way: I will giue vnto this last as much as to thee.

15 Is it not lawfull for mee to doe as I will with mine owne? Is thine eye enuied because I am good?

16 So the last shall be first, and the first last: for many are called, but few chosen.

20 Then came to him the mother of Zebedeus children with her sons, worshipping him, and desiring a certaine thing of him.

21 And he said vnto her, What wouldest thou? She said to him, Grant that these my two sons may sit, the one at thy right hand, and the other at thy left hand in thy kingdom.

22 And Iesus answered, and sayd, Ye know not what ye aske. Are ye able to drinke of the cup that I shall drinke of, and to be baptized with the baptisme that I shall be baptized with? They sayd to him, We are able.

23 And he said vnto them, Ye shall drinke in deed of my cuppe, and shall be baptized with the baptisme that I am baptized with, but to sit at my right hand, and at my left hand, is not mine to giue; but it shall be giuen to them, for whom it is prepared of my Father.

24 And when the other ten heard this, they disdained at the two brethren.

26 But it shall not be so among you; but whosoever will be great among you, let him be your seruant,

3 And if any man say ought vnto you, say ye, that the Lord hath need of them, and straightway he will let them goe.

4 All this was done, that it might be fulfilled which was spoken by the Prophet, saying,

5 Tell ye the daughter of Sion, Behold, thy king cometh vnto thee, meeke, and sitting vpon an asse, & a colt, the foale of an asse yoked to the yoke.

6 So the disciples went, and did as Iesus had commanded them.

7 And brought the asse & the colt, and put on them their clothes, and set him thereon.

8 And a great multitude spred their garments in the way: and other cut downe branches from the trees and strawed them in the way.

9 Moreover, the people that went before and they also that followed, cryed, saying, Hosanna the sonne of Dauid: blessed be hee that cometh in the Name of the Lord, Hosanna thou which art in the highest heauens.

10 And when he was come into Ierusalem, all the citie was moued, saying, Altho is this?

11 And the people sayd, This is Iesus the Prophet of Nazareth in Galile.

12 And Iesus went into the Temple of God, and cast out all them that solde and bought in the Temple, and ouerthrew the tables of the money changers, and the seates of them that solde dones.

13 And said to them, It is written, Mine house shall be called the house of prayer: but ye haue made it a denne of theecues.

14 Then the blinde and the halt came to him in the Temple, and he healed them.

33 ¶ Weare another parable. There was a certaine householder, which planted a vineyard, and hedged it round about, and made a winepresse therein, & built a towre, and let it out to husbandmen, and went into a strange countrey.

34 And when the time of the fruit drew nearer, he sent his seruants to the husband-men to receiue the fruits thereof.

35 And the husbandmen tooke his ser-uants, and beat one, and killed another, and stoned another.

36 Again hee sent other seruants, more then the first: and they did the like vnto them.

37 But last of all he sent vnto them his owne sonne, saying, They will reuerence my sonne.

38 But when the husbandmen saw the sonne, they said among themselves, * This is the heire: come, let vs kil him, and let vs take his inheritance.

39 So they tooke him, and cast him out of the vineyard, and slew him.

40 When therefore the Lord of the vineyard shall come, what will he do to those hus-bandmen?

41 They said vnto him, He will cruelly destroy those wicked men, and will let out his vineyard vnto other husbandmen, which shall deliuer him the fruits in their seasons.

42 Iesus said vnto them, Read ye neuer in the Scriptures, * The stone which the builders refused, the same is made the head of the corner: This was the Lords doing, and it is marvellous in our eyes.

43 Therefore say I vnto you, the kingdome uen to a nation which shall bring forth the fruits thereof.

44 * And whosoever shall fall on this stone, he shall be broken: but on whomsoeuer it shall fall, it will grinde him to powder.

45 And when the chiefe Priests and Pharises had heard his parables, they persecuted that he spake of them.

46 And they seeking to lay hands on him, feared the people, because they tooke him as

Then Iesus answered, and spake vnto them againe in parables, saying,

2 The kingdome of heauen is like vnto
a certaine King which married his sonne,

3 And sent forth his seruants to call them that were bidden to the wedding, but they would not come.

4 Again he sent forth other seruants, saying, Tell them which are bidden, Behold, I haue prepared my dinner: mine oxen and my fatlings are killed, and all things are ready: come vnto the marriage.

5 But they made light of it, and went about his merchandise.

6 And the remnant tooke his seruants, and intreated them sharply, and slew them.

7 But when the King heard it, hee was wroth, and sent forth his warriors, and destroyed those murderers, and burnt by their city.

8 Then said he to his seruants, Truly the wedding is prepared: but they which were bidden were not worthy.

9 Goe ye therefore out into the high wayes, and as many as ye finde, bid them to the marriage.

10 So those seruants went out into the high wayes, and gathered together all that e-uer they found, both good and bad: so the wedding was furnished with guests.

11 Then the King came in, to see the guests, and saw there a man which had not 14 For many are called, but few chosen.

15 Then went the Pharisees, and toke counsell how they might cangle him in talk.

16 And they lent vnto him their disciples with the Herodians, saying, Master, wee know that thou art true, & teachest the way of God truly, neither carest thou for any man: for thou considerest not the person of men.

17 Tell us therefore, how thinkest thou? Is it lawfull to giue tribute vnto Cesar, or not?

18 But Jesus perceived their wickednes, and said, Why tempt ye me, ye hypocrites?

19 Shew me the tribute money. And they brought him a peny.

20 And he said vnto them, Whose is this image and superscription?

21 They said vnto him Cessars. Then said he vnto them, Shue therefore to Cesar, the things which are Cessars, and giue vnto God, thoir things which are Gods.

22 And when they heard it, they marvelled, and left him, and went their way.

23 The same day the Sadduces came to him (which say that there is no resurrection) and asked him,

24 Saying, Master, Moses said, If a man die, hauing no children, let his brother marrie his wife, and raise vp seed vnto his brother.

25 Now there were with vs seven brethren, and the first married a wife, and deceased: and hauing no issue, left his wife vnto his brother.

26 Likewise also the second, and the third vnto the seuen.

27 And last of all the woman died also.

28 Therefore in the resurrection, whose wife shall she be of the seuen? for all had her.

29 Then Jesus answered, and said vnto them, Ye are deceived, not knowing the Scriptures, nor the power of God.

30 For in the Resurrection they neither marry wiues, nor wiues are bestowed in marriage, but are as the Angels of God in heauen.

31 And concerning the resurrection of the dead, haue ye not read what is spoken vnto you of God, saying,

32 I am the God of Abraham, and the God of Izhak, and the God of Iaakob: God is not the God of the dead, but of the liuing.

33 And when the people heard it, they were astonished at his doctrine.

34 But when the Pharisees had heard that hee had put the Sadduces to silence, they assembled together.

35 And one of them which was an erpounder of the Law, asked him a question, tempting him, and saying, 36 Master, which is the great commandment in the Law?

37 Jesus said vnto him, Thou shalt loue

the Lord thy God with all thine heart, with all thy soule, and with all thy mind.

38 This is the first and the great Commandment.

39 And the second is like vnto this, Thou shalt loue thy neighbour as thy selfe.

40 On these two Commandments hangeth the whole Law and the Prophets.

41 While the Pharisees were gathered together, Jesus asked them, 42 Saying, What thinke ye of Christ? Whose Sonne is he? They said vnto him, Dauids.

43 He said vnto them, How then doth Dauid in spirit call him Lord, saying, 44 The Lord said to my Lord, Sit at my right hand, till I make thine enemies thy footstool?

45 If then Dauid call him Lord, how is he his sonne?

46 And none could answer him a word, neither durst any from that day forth aske him any more questions.

touching his manhood, and his Lord concerning his Godhead,

CHAP. XXIII.

3 Christ condemneth the ambition, conetonsesse and hypocrisse of the Scribes and Pharisees. 31 Their persecutions against the seruants of God. 37 He propheseth the destruction of Ierusalem.

Then spake Jesus to the multitude, and to his disciples,

2 Saying, The Scribes and the Pharisees sit in Moses seat.

3 All therefore whatsoever they bid you obserue, that obserue and do: but after their works doe not: for they say, and doe not:

4 For they binde heauy burdens, and grievous to be borne, and lay them on mens shoulders, but they themselves will not moue them with one of their fingers.

5 All their works they doe for to be seene of men: for they make their phylacteries broad, and make long the stringes of their garments,

6 And loue the chiefe place at feasts, and to haue the chiefe seats in the assemblies,

7 And greetings in the markets, and to be called of men, Rabbi, Rabbi.

8 But hee now ye called Rabbi: for one is your Doctor, to wit, Christ, and all ye are brethren.

9 And call no man your father vpon the earth: for there is but one, your father which is in heauen.

10 Bee not called Doctors: for one is your Doctor, euen Christ.

11 But he that is greatest among you, let him be your seruant.

up the kingdom of heauen before men: for ye neither suffer ye them that would enter, to come in.

14 ¶ Woe be unto you Scribes and Phahouses, euen vnder a colour of long prayers:

wherefore ye shall receiue the greater damnation.

15 ¶ Woe be unto you Scribes and Phato make one of your profession: and when he is made, ye make him two folde more the childe of hell then you your selues.

16 ¶ Woe be unto you blind guides, which say, Whosoever sweareth by the Temple, it is nothing: but whosoever sweareth by the golde of the Temple, he is offendeth.

17 Ye fooles and blind, whether is greater, the gold, or the Temple that sanctifieth the golde?

18 And whosoever sweareth by the altar, it is nothing: but whosoever sweareth by the offering that is vpon it, offendeth.

19 Ye fooles and blind, whether is greater, the offering, or the altar which sanctifieth the offering?

20 Whosoever therefore sweareth by the altar, sweareth by it, and by all things thereon.

21 * And whosoever sweareth by the Temple, sweareth by it, and by him that dwelleth therein.

22 * And hee that sweareth by heauen, sweareth by the throne of God, and by him that sitteth thereon.

23 ¶ Woe be to you Scribes and Pharisees, hypocrites: for ye tithe mint, and anise, and cummin, and leaue the weightier matters of the Law, as iudgement, and mercie, and fidelitie. These ought ye to haue done, and not to haue left the other.

24 Ye blinde guides, which strain out a gnat, and swallow a camell.

25 ¶ Woe be to you, Scribes & Pharisees, hypocrites: for ye make cleane the vter side of the cup and of the platter, but within they are full of filthie and exesse.

26 ¶ Thou blind Pharise, cleanse first the inside of the cup and platter, that the outside of them may be cleane also.

27 ¶ Woe be to you Scribes and Pharisees, hypocrites: for ye are like vnto whitened tombes, which appeare beautifull outward, but are within full of dead mens bones and of all filthinesse.

28 So are ye also: for outward ye appeare righteous vnto men, but within ye are full of hypocrisie and iniquitie.

29 ¶ Woe be unto you Scribes & Pharisees, hypocrites: for ye build the tombes of the Prophets, and garnish the sepulchres of the righteous,

30 And say, If we had bene in the dayes of our fathers, we would not haue bin partners with them in the blood of the Prophets.

31 So then yee bee witnesses vnto your selues, that ye are the children of them that murdered the Prophets.

32 Fulfill ye also the measure of your fathers.

33 Serpents, the generation of vipers, how should ye escape the damnation of hel?

34 Wherefore behold, I send vnto you Prophets, and wise men, and Scribes, and of them ye shall kill and crucifie: and of them shall ye scourge in your Synagogues, and persecute from citie to citie,

35 That vpon you may come all the righteous blood that was shed vpon the earth, from the blood of Abel the righteous, vnto the blood of Zacharias the sonne of Barachias, whom ye slew betwene the Temple and the altar.

36 Verily I say vnto you, all these things shall come vpon this generation.

37 ¶ Jerusalem, Jerusalem, which killest the Prophets, and stonest them which are sent to thee, how often would I haue gathered thy children together, as the henne ga-thereth her chickens vnder her wings, and ye would not!

38 Behold, your habitation shall bee left vnto you desolate.

39 For I say vnto you, ye shall not see me henceforth, till that ye say, Blessed is hee that cometh in the name of the Lord.

f Hee will returne no more to them as a teacher, but as a Iudge, when as they shall bee compelled to confesse (although too late) that he is the very Sonne of God.

4 And Iesus answered, & said vnto them, Take heed that no man deceiue you.

and shall deceiue many.

12 And because iniquitie shall be increa-

13 * But he that endureth to the end, he shall be saved.

14 And this Gospel of the kingdom shall be preached through the whole world for a witness vnto all nations, and then shall the end come.

15 ¶ When yee therefore shall see the abomination of desolation spoken of by Daniel the Prophet, standing in the holy place, (let him that readeth consider it.)

16 Then let them which be in Iudea, flee into the mountaines.

17 Let him which is on the house top, not come downe to fetch any thing out of his house.

18 And he that is in the field, let not him returne backe to fetch his clothes.

19 And woe shall be to them that are with childe, and to them that giue sucke in those dayes:

20 But pray that your flight be not in the winter, neither on the Sabbath day.

21 For then shall be great tribulation, such as was not from the beginning of the world to this time, nor shall be.

22 And except those dayes should be short-ned, there should no flesh bee saved: but for the elects sake, those dayes shall be short-ned.

23 * Then if any shall say vnto you, Loe, here is Christ, or there, beleeue it not.

24 For there shall arise false Christs and false prophets, and shall shew great signes and wonders, so that if it were possible, they should deceiue the very elect.

25 Behold, I haue told you before.

26 ¶ Therefore if they shall say vnto you,
Behold, he is in the desert, goe not forth:
Behold, he is in the secret places, beleeue it not.

27 For as the lightning commeth out of the East, and shineth into the West, so shall also the coming of the Sonne of man be:

28 * For where soeuer a dead carkeis is, thither will the Eagles resort.

29 * And immediatly after the tribulations of those dayes, shall the Sonne bee darkened, and the Moone shall not giue her light, and the starres shall fall from heauen, and the powers of heauen shall be shaken.

30 * And then shall appeare the signe of the Sonne of man in heauen: and then shall all the kindreds of the earth mourne, and they shall see the Sonne of man come in the cloudes of heauen with power and great glory.

31 * And hee shall send his Angels with a great sound of a trumpet, and they shall gather together his elect from the foure winds, and from the one end of the heauen vnto the ther.

32 Now learne the parable of the figge tree: when her boughs yet tender, and it bringeth forth leaues, ye know that summer is nere.

33 So likewise ye, when yee see all these things, know that the kingdome of God is nere, even at the doores.

34 Verily I say vnto you, this generation shall not passe, till all these things bee done.

35 ¶ Heauen and earth shall passe away:
but my words shall not passe away.

36 But of that day and houre knoweth no man, no not the Angels of heauen, but my Father onely.

37 But as the dayes of Noe were, so likewise shall the coming of the Sonne of man bee.

38 * For as in the dayes before the flood, they did eate and drinke, marrie, and giue in marriage, vnto the day that Noe entred into the Arke,

39 And I knew nothing till the flood came, and tooke them all away: so shall also the coming of the Sonne of man bee.

40 ¶ ¶ Then two men shall be in the fields, the one shall be receiued, and the other shall be refused.

41 Two women shall be grinding at the mill: the one shall be receiued, and the other shall be refused.

42 ¶ ¶ Make therefore: for yee knowe not what houre your Master will come.

43 ¶ ¶ Of this be sure, that if the good man of the house knew at what watch the thiefe would come, he would surely watch, and not suffer his house to be digged chozow.

44 ¶ Therefore be ye also ready: for in the houre that ye thinke not, will the Sonne of man come.

45 ¶ ¶ Who then is a faithfull seruant and wise, whom his Master hath made ruler ou-er his household, to giue them meate in season:

46 Blessed is that seruant, whom his master when he commeth, shall find so doing,

47 Verily I say vnto you, hee shall make him ruler over all his goods.

48 But if that euill seruant shall say in his heart, My master doth deferre his com-ming,

49 And begin to smite his fellowes, and to eat, and to drinke with the drunken,

50 That seruants Master will come in a day, when hee looketh not for him, and in an houre that he is not ware of,

51 And will cut him off, and giue him his portion with hypocrites: there shall bee weeping and gnashing of teeth.

Then the kingdome of heauen shall be likened vnto ten virgins, which tooke their lampes, and went to meete the bridegrome.

2 And five of them were wise, and five foolish.

3 The foolish tooke their lampes, but tooke none oyle with them.

4 But the wise tooke oyle in their vessels with their lampes.

5 Now while the bridegrome tarried long, all slumbered and slept.

6 And at midnight there was a cry made, Behold, the bridegrome cometh: go out to meete him.

7 Then all those virgins arose, and trimmed their lampes.

8 And the foolish said to the wise, Give vs of your oyle, for our lampes are out.

9 But the wise answered, saying, Wee feare lest there will not be enough for vs and you: but goe ye rather to them that sell, and buy for your selues.

10 And while they went to buy, the bridegrome came: and they that were ready, went in with him to the wedding, and the gate was shut.

11 Afterwards came also the other virgins, saying, Lord, Lord, open to vs.

12 But he answered, and said, Certly I say vnto you, I know you not.

13 Watch therefore: for ye know neither the day nor the houre, when the Sonne of man will come.

14 For the kingdome of heauen is as a man that going into a strange countrey, called his seruants, and deliuered to them his goods.

15 And vnto one hee gaue five talents, and to another two, and to another one, to euery man after his owne abilitie, & straightway went from home.

16 Then he that had receiued the five talents, went and occupied with them, and gained other five talents.

17 Likewise also, he that receiued two, he also gained other two.

18 But he that receiued that one, went and digged it in the earth; and hid his masters money.

19 But after a long season, the master of those seruants came, and reckoned with them.

20 Then came he that had receiued five talents, and brought other five talents, saying, Master, thou deliueredst vnto me five talents: behold, I haue gained with them other five talents.

21 Then his master said vnto him, It is well done good seruant and faithfull, thou hast bene faithfull in little, I will make thee ruler ouer much: enter in into thy masters ioy.

22 Also he that had receiued two talents, came and said, Master, thou deliueredst vnto me two talents: behold, I haue gained two other talents with them.

23 His master said vnto him, It is well done good seruant and faithfull, thou hast bene faithfull in little, I will make thee ruler ouer much: enter in into thy masters ioy.

24 Then he which had receiued the one talent, came and said, Master, I know that thou wast an hard man, which reapest where thou sowedst not, and gatherest where thou strawedst not:

25 I was therefore afraid, and went and hid thy talent in the earth: behold, thou hast thine owne.

26 And his master answered, and sayd vnto him, Thou evil seruant and slothfull, thou knewest that I reape, where I sowed not, and gather where I strawed not.

27 Thou oughtest therefore to haue put my money to the exchangers, and then at my coming should I haue receiued mine owne with vantage.

28 Take therefore the talent from him, & giue it vnto him which hath ten talents.

29 For vnto euery man that hath, it shall be giuen, and he shall haue abundance, and from him that hath not, even that he hath, shall be taken away.

30 Cast therefore that unprofitable seruant into utter darkenesse: there shall be weeping and gnashing of teeth.

31 And when the Sonne of man cometh in his glory, and all the holy Angels with him, then shall he sit vpon the throne of his glory.

32 And before him shall be gathered all nations, and he shall separate them one from another, as a shepherd separateth the sheepe from the goates.

33 And he shall set the sheepe on his right hand, and the goates on the left.

34 Then shall the King say to them on his right hand, Come ye blessed of my Father: inherit ye the kingdome prepared for you from the foundations of the world.

35 For I was an hungred, & ye gaue me meate: I thirsted, and ye gaue me drinke: I was a stranger, and ye lodged me:

36 I was naked, and ye clothed me: I was in prison, and ye came vnto me.

37 Then shall the righteous answer him, saying, Lord, when saw we thee an hungred, and fed thee? or athirst, and gaue thee drinke?

38 And when saw we thee a stranger and lodged thee? or naked, and clothed thee?

39 Or when saw we thee sicke, or in prison, and came vnto thee?

40 And the King shall answer and say vnto them, Certly I say vnto you, In as much as ye haue done it vnto one of the least of these my brethren, ye haue done it to me.

41 Then shall he say vnto them on the left hand, Depart from me ye cursed into euermolting fire, which is prepared for the deuill and his angels.

42 For I was an hungred, and ye gaue me no meate: I thirsted, and ye gaue me no drinke:

43 I was a stranger, and ye lodged mee not: I was naked, and ye clothed me not: sicke, and in prison, and ye visited me not.

3 Conspiracie of the Priests against Christ. 10 He excuseth Magdalene. 26 The institution of the Lords Supper. 31 The disciples weakenesse. 48
 The treason of Iudas. 62 The sword. 64 Because Christ calleth himselfe the Sonne of God, he is iudged worthy to die. 69 Peter denieth, and repenteth.

Ad * It came to passe when Iesus had finished all these sayings, hee sayd vnto his disciples,

2 We know that within two dayes is the Pasceouer, and the Sonne of man shall bee deliuered to be crucified.

3 Then assembled together the chiefe Priests, and the Scribes, and the Elders of the people into the hall of the hie Priest, called Caiaphas,

4 And consulted how they might take Iesus by subtilty, and kill him.

5 But they said, Not on the feast day, lest any bpore be among the people.

6 And when Iesus was in Bethania, in the house of Simon the leper,

7 There came vnto him a woman, which had a boxe of very costly oymntment, & pow-red it on his head, as he sat at the table.

8 And when his disciples saw it, they had indignation, saying, What needed this waste?

9 For this oymntment might haue bene solde for much, and bene giuen to the poore.

10 And Iesus knowing it, sayde vnto them, Why trouble ye the woman? for shee hath wrought a good worke vpon me.

11 For ye haue the poore alwayes with you, but me shall ye not haue alwayes.

12 For in that she powred this oymntment on my body, she did it to bury me.

13 Certily I say vnto you, wheresoeuer this Gospel shall be preached throughout all the world, there shall also this that she hath done, be spoken of for a memorie of her.

14 Then one of the twelue called Iudas Iscariot, went vnto the chiefe Priests,

15 And said, What will ye giue me, and I will deliuer him vnto you? And they appointed vnto him thirtie pecies of silver.

16 And from that time he sought opportunity to betray him.

17 Now on the first day of the feast of unleaueued bread, the disciples came to Jesus, saying vnto him, Where wilt thou that we prepare for thee to eate the Pasceouer?

18 And he said, Goe into the city to such a man, and say to him, The master saith, My time is at hand: I will keepe the Pasce-ouer at thine house with my disciples.

19 And the disciples did as Iesus had gi-uen them charge, and made ready the Pasce-ouer.

20 So when the euen was come, he sat downe with the twelue.

21 And as they did eate, he said, Certily I say vnto you, that one of you shall betray me.

22 And they were exceeding sorrowfull, and beganne euery one of them to say vnto him, Is it I, Master?

23 And he answered, and said, He that dipperth his hand with mee in the dish, he shall betray me.

24 Surely the Sonne of man goeth his way, as it is writen of him: but woe be to that man, by whom the Sonne of man is betrayed: it had bene good for that man, if he had neuer bene borne.

25 Then Iudas which betrayed him, answered, & said, Is it I, Master? He said vnto him, Thou hast said it.

26 And as they did eate, Iesus tooke the bread: and when he had giuen thanks, he brake it, and gaue it to the Disciples, and said, Take, eate: this is my body.

27 Also he tooke the cup, and when he had giuen thanks, hee gaue it them, saying,
 Driinke ye all of it.

28 For this is my blood of the new Testament, that is shed for many, for the remission of sinnes.

29 I say vnto you, that I wil not drinke henceforth of this fruit of the vine, vntill that day, when I shall drinke it new with you in my Fathers kingdome.

30 And when they had sung a Psalme,
 they went out into the mount of Olives,

31 Then said Iesus vnto them, All ye shall be offended by me this night: for it is writen, I will smite the Shepheard, and the Sheepe of the flocke shall be scattered.

32 But after I am risen againe, I will goe before you into Galilee.

33 But Peter answered, and said vnto him, Though that all men should be offended by thee, yet will I neuer be offended.

34 Iesus said vnto him, Certily I say vnto thee, that this night, before the Cocke crow, thou shalt denie me thrise.

35 Peter said vnto him, Though I should die with thee, yet will I not denie thee. Likewise also said all the Disciples.

36 Then went Iesus with them into a place which is called Gethsemane, and said vnto his Disciples, Sit ye here, while I goe and praye.

37 And he tooke Peter, & the two sonnes of Zebedeus, and began to waxe sorrowfull, & grievously troubled.

38 Then said Iesus vnto them, My soule is very heauie, euen vnto the death: tary ye here, and watch with me.

39 So he went a litle further, & fel on his face, and prayed, saying, O my Father, if it be possible, let this cup passe from me: neverthelesse, not as I will, but as thou wilt.

40 After, he came vnto the disciples, and found them asleepe, & said to Peter, What?
 couldest thou not watch with me one houre?

41 Watch, and pray, that ye enter not into temptation: the spirit indeede is ready, but the flesh is weak.

42 Again he went away the second time, and prayed, saying, O my Father, if this be thy will, take hence this cup, and therefore was ready to obey: but he prayeth as the faithful doe in their troubles, without respect of the eternall counsell of God.
 And therefore we must continually fight against the flesh.

43 And he came, and found them asleepe againe: for their eyes were heavy.

44 So he left them, & went away againe, and prayed the third time, saying the same words.

45 Then came he to his Disciples, and said vnto them, Sleepe henceforth, and take your rest: behold, the houre is at hand, and the Sonne of man is giuen into the hands of sinners.

46 Rise, let vs goe, behold, he is at hand that betrayeth me.

47 And while he yet spake, lo Judas one of the twelue, came, with him a great multitude with swords and stauers from the high Priests and Elders of the people.

48 Now he that betrayed him, had giuen them a token, saying, Whomsoeuer I shall kisse, that is he, lay hold on him.

49 And forthwith he came to Iesus, and said, God saue thee, Master, and kissed him.

50 Then said Iesus vnto him, Friend, wherefore art thou come? Then came they, and laid hands on Iesus, and tooke him.

51 And behold, one of them which were with Iesus, stretched out his hand, and drew his sword, and strooke a servant of the high Priest, and smote off his eare.

52 Then said Iesus vnto him, Put up thy sword into his place: for all that take the sword, shall perish with the sword.

53 Whether thinkest thou that I cannot now pray to my Father, and he will giue me more then twelue legions of Angels?

54 Now then should the Scriptures be fulfilled, which say, that it must be so?

55 The same houre said Iesus to the multitude, We be come out as it were against a thiefe with swords and stauers to take me: I sate dayly teaching in the Temple among you, and ye tooke me not.

56 But all this was done, that the Scriptures of the Prophets might be fulfilled.

* Then all the disciples forsooke him, & fled.

57 And when tooke Iesus, & led him to Caiaphas the high Priest, wherethe Scribes and the Elders were assembled.

58 And Peter followed him a far off vnto the high Priests hall, and went in, and sate with the seruants to see the end.

59 Now the chiefe Priests and the Elders, and al the whole Councill sought false witness against Iesus, to put him to death.

60 But they found none, and though many false witnesses came, yet found they none: but at the last came two false witnesses, 61 And sayd, This man sayd, I can destroy the temple of God, and build it in three dayes.

62 Then the chiefe Priest arose, and said to him, Answerest thou nothing? What is the matter that these men witness against thee?

63 But Iesus held his peace. Then the chiefe Priest answered, and sayd to him, I charge thee by the liuing God, that thou tell us if thou bee the Christ the Sonne of God.

64 Iesus sayd to him, Thou hast said it: neuerthelesse I say vnto you, hereafter shall ye see the Sonne of man sitting at the right hand of the power of God, and come in the clouds of the heauen.

65 Then the high Priest rent his clothes, saying, He hath blasphemed: what haue we any more need of witnesses? behold, now ye haue heard his blasphemy.

66 What thinke yee? They answered, and sayd, He is worthy to die.

67 And spat they in his face, and buffeted him: and other smote him with their rods, 68 Saying, Prophecie to vs, O Christ, who is he that smote thee?

69 Peter sate without in the hall: and a maid came to him, saying, Thou also wast with Iesus of Galilee.

70 But he denied before them all, saying, I wote not what thou sayest.

71 And when he went out into the porch, another mayd saw him, and sayd vnto them that were there, This man was also with Iesus of Nazareth.

72 And againe he denied with an oath, saying, I know not the man.

73 So after a while, came vnto him they that stood by, and said vnto Peter, Surely thou art also one of them: for euen thy speech betrayeth thee.

74 Then began he to curse himselfe, and to sweare, saying, I know not the man. And immediately the cocke crew.

75 Then Peter remembered the words of Iesus, which had said vnto him, Before the cocke crow, thou shalt deny me thrise. So he went out, and wept bitterly.

When the morning was come, all the chiefe Priests, and the Elders of the people took counsell against Iesus, to put him to death.

2 And led him away bound, and deliuered him vnto Pontius Pilate the gouernor.

3 Then when Iudas which betrayed him, saw that he was condemned, he repented himselfe, & brought againe the thirty pieces of silver to the chiefe Priests & Elders.

4 Saying, I haue sinned betraying the innocent blood. But they said, What is that to vs? see thou to it.

5 And when he had cast downe the silver pieces in the Temple, he departed, and went, & hanged himselfe.

6 And the chiefe Priests tooke the silver pieces, and said, It is not lawfull for vs to shed innocent blood, they make nothing at it.

d These hypocrites lay the whole fault vpon Iudas. e The hypocrites are full of conscience in a matter of nothing, but to shed innocent blood, they make nothing at it.

11 ¶ And Jesus stood before the governor, and the governor asked him, saying, Art thou the King of the Jewes? Jesus said unto him, Thou sayest it.

12 And when he was accused of the chiefe Priests and Elders, he answered nothing.

13 Then said Pilate unto him, Hearest thou not how many things they lay against thee?

14 But he answered him not to one word, in so much that the Governor marvelled greatly.

15 Now at the feast the Governor was wont to deliver unto the people a prisoner, whom they would.

16 And they had then a notable prisoner called Barabbas.

17 When they were then gathered together, Pilate said unto them, Whether will ye that I let loose unto you, Barabbas, or Jesus which is called Christ?

18 For he knew well, that for ennie they had delivered him.

19 Also when he was set downe upon the iudgement seat, his wife sent to him, saying, Have thou nothing to doe with that iust man: for I have suffered many things this day in a dreame by reason of him.)

20 But the chiefe Priests and the Elders had perswaded the people, that they should aske Barabbas, and should destroy Jesus.

21 Then the Governor answered, and said unto them, Whether of the twaine will ye that I let loose unto you? And they sayd, Barabbas.

22 Pilate said unto them, What shall I doe then with Jesus which is called Christ? They all said to him, Let him be crucified.

23 Then said the Governor, What evil hath he done? Then they cried the more, saying, Let him be crucified.

24 When Pilate saw that he availed nothing, but that more tumult was made, he tooke water and washed his hands before the multitude, saying, I am innocent of the blood of this iust man, looke you to it.

25 Then answered all the people, saying, His blood be on us, and on our children.

26 Thus let he Barabbas loose unto them, and scourged Jesus, and delivered him to be crucified.

27 ¶ Then the souldiers of the governor tooke Jesus into the common hall, and gathered about him the whole band.

28 And they stripped him, and put upon him a scarlet robe,

29 And platted a crowne of thornes, and put it upon his head, and a reed in his right hand, and bowed their knees before him, and mocked him, saying, God save thee, King of the Jewes,

30 And spitte upon him, & tooke a reede and smote him on the head.

31 Thus when they had mocked him, they tooke the robe from him, and put his owne rayment on him, and led him away to crucifie him.

32 And as they came out, they found a man of Cyrene, named Simon: him they compelled to beare his crosse.

33 And when they came unto the place called Golgotha, (that is to say the place of dead mens skulls)

34 They gave him a vineger to drinke mingled with gall: and when he had tasted thereof, he would not drinke.

35 And when they had crucified him, they parted his garments, and did cast lots, that it might bee fulfilled which was spoken by the Prophet, * They divided my garments among them, and upon my vesture did cast lots.

36 And they sat and watched him there.

37 ¶ They set by also over his head his cause written, * THIS IS IESVS THE KING OF THE IEWES.

38 And there were two theeves crucified with him, one on the right hand, and another on the left.

39 And they that passed by, reviled him, wagging their heads, 40 And saying, * Thou that destroyest the Temple, and buildest it in three dayes, save thy selfe: if thou be the Sonne of God, come downe from the crosse.

41 Likewise also the chiefe Priests mocking him, with the Scribes & Elders, and Pharisees, said, 42 He saith others, but he cannot save himselfe: if he be the King of Israel, let him now come downe from the crosse, and wee will beleue him.

43 ¶ He trusteth in God, let him deliver him now, if he will have him: for he said, I am the Sonne of God.

47 And some of them that stood there, when they heard it, said, This man calleth Elias.

56 Among whom was Marie Magdalene, and Marie the mother of James and Ioses, and the mother of Zebedeus sonnes.

57 And when the euen was come, there came a rich man of Arimathea, named Ioseph, who had also himselfe bene Iesus disciple.

58 He went to Pilate, and asked the body of Iesus. Then Pilate commanded the body to be deliuered.

59 So Ioseph tooke the body and wrapped it in a cleane linnen cloth, 61 And there was Marie Magdalene, and the other Mary sitting ouer against the sepulchre.

63 And said, Sir, we remember that that deceiver said, while he was yet aliu, I will rise in three dayes I will rise.

64 Command therefore that the Sepulchre be made sure vntill the third day, lest his Disciples come by night, and steale him away, and say vnto the people, He is risen from the dead: so shall the last error be worse then the first.

65 Then Pilate said vnto them, Ye haue a watch: goe, and make it sure as ye know.

66 And they went & made the sepulchre sure with the watch, and sealed the stone.

CHAP. XXVIII.

6 The resurrection of Christ. 10 The brethren of Christ. 12 The high Priests bribe the souldiers. 17 Christ appeareth to his disciples, & sendeth them forth to preach and to baptize, 20 Promising to them continuall assistance.

Now in the end of the Sabbath, when the first day of the weeke beganne to dawning, Marie Magdalene, and the other Mary came to see the sepulchre.

2 And behold, there was a great earthquake: for the Angel of the Lord descended from heauen, and came and rolled backe the stone from the doore, and sat vpon it.

3 And his countenance was like lightning, and his raiment white as snow.

4 And for feare of him the keepers were astonied, and became as dead men.

5 But the Angel answered, and said to the women, Feare ye not: for I know that ye seeke Iesus which was crucified:

6 He is not here, for he is risen, as he said: Come, see the place where the Lord was laid,

7 And goe quickly, and tell his disciples that he is risen from the dead: and behold, hee goeth before you into Galilee: there ye shall see him: loe, I haue told you.

8 So they departed quickly from the sepulchre, with feare and great ioy, and did runne to bring his disciples word.

9 And as they went to tell his disciples, behold, Iesus also met them, saying, God saue you. And they came, and tooke him by the feet, and worshipped him.

10 Then said Iesus vnto them, Be not afraid: Goe, and tell my brethren, that they goe into Galilee, and there shall they see me.

11 Now when they were gone, behold, some of the watch came into the citie, and shewed vnto the high Priests all the things that were done.

12 And they gathered them together with the Elders, and tooke counsell, and gaue large money vnto the souldiers, 13 Saying, Say, His disciples came by night, and stole him away while we slept.

14 And if the gouernour heare of this, we will perswade him, and saue you harmlesse.

15 So they tooke the money, and did as they were taught: and this saying is now spread among the Iewes vnto this day.

16 Then the eleuen Disciples went into Galilee, into a mountaine, where Iesus had appointed them.

17 And when they saw him, they worshipped him: but some doubted.

18 And Iesus came and spake vnto them, saying, All power is giuen vnto me in heauen, and in earth.

19 Goe therefore, and teach all nations, baptizing them in the Name of the Father, and the Sonne, and the holy Ghost,

The holy Gospel of Iesus Christ, according to Marke.

CHAP. I.

2 The office, doctrine and life of Iohn the Baptist.
9 Christ baptizeth, 13 and tempted. 14 He preacheth, 17 calleth the fishers. 23 Christ healeth the man with the unclean spirit. 27 New doctrine. 29 He healeth Peters mother in law. 34 The devils know him. 41 He cleanseth the leper, and healeth diverse others.

He beginning of the Gospel of Iesus Christ, the Sonne of God:

2 As it is written in the Prophets, * Behold, I send my messenger before thy face which shall prepare thy way before thee.

3 * The voyce of him that cryeth in the wilderness, is, * Prepare the way of the Lord, make his paths straight.

4 * Iohn did baptize in the wilderness, and preach the baptisme of amendment of life for remission of finnes.

5 And all the countrey of Iudea, and they of Ierusalem went out unto him, and were all baptized of him in the river Iordan, confessing their finnes.

6 * Now Iohn was clothed with camels haire, and with a girdle of a skin about his loynes: and he did eate * Locusts and wild honie,

7 * And preached, saying, I stronger then I cometh after mee, whose shoes Iatchet I am not worthy to stoupe downe, and vnloose.

8 Truth it is, I haue baptizeth you with water: but hee will baptize you with the holy Ghost.

9 * And it came to passe in those dayes, that Iesus came from Nazareth a citie of Galile, and was baptized of Iohn in Iordan.

10 And as soon as hee was come out of the water, Iohn saw the heavens clouen in twaine, and the holy Ghost descending upon him like a doue.

11 Then there was a voyce from heauen, saying, Thou art my beloued: Sonne in whom I am well pleased.

12 * And immediately the holy Spirit dyueth him into the wilderness.

13 And hee was there in the wilderness forty dayes, and was tempted of Satan: hee was also with the wilde beastes, and the Angels ministred vnto him.

14 * Now after that Iohn was committed to prison, Iesus came into Galile, preaching the Gospel of the kingdome of God, 15 And saying, The time is fulfilled, and the kingdome of God is at hand: repent and beleeue the Gospel.

16 * And as hee walked by the Sea of Galile, he saw Simon, and Andrew his brother, casting a net into the Sea, (for they were fishers.)

17 Then Iesus said vnto them, Follow me, & I will make you to be fishers of men.

18 And straightway they forsooke their nets, and followed him.

19 And when he had gone a litle further thence, he saw James the sonne of Zebedeus, and Iohn his brother, as they were in the ship, mending their nets.

20 And anon hee called them: and they left their father Zebedeus in the ship with his hired seruants, and went their way after him.

21 * So they entred into Capernaum, and straightway on the Sabbath day he entred into the Synagogue, and taught.

22 And they were astonished at his doctrine: for hee taught them as one that had authoritie, and not as the Scribes.

23 And there was in their Synagogue a man which had an vncleane spirit, and hee cryed, 24 Saying, Ah, what haue wee to doe with thee, O Iesus of Nazareth? Art thou come to destroy vs? I know thee what thou art, euen that holy One of God.

25 And Iesus rebuked him, saying, Hold thy peace, and come out of him.

26 And the vncleane spirit tare him, and cryed with a loud voyce, & came out of him.

27 And they were all amazed, so that they demanded one of another, saying, What thing is this? What new doctrine is this? for hee commaundeth the foule spirits with authoritie, and they obey him.

28 And immediately his fame spread abroad throughout all the region bordering on Galile.

29 * And as soon as they were come out of the Synagogue, they entred into the house of Simon and Andrew, with James and Iohn.

30 And Simons wifes mother lay sicke of a feuer, and anon they told him of her.

31 And hee came & tooke her by the hand, and lift her up, and the feuer forsooke her by and by, and she ministred vnto them.

32 And when euen was come, and the Sonne was downe, they brought to him all that were diseased, and them that were possessed with devils.

33 And the whole cite was gathered together at the doore.

34 And hee healed many that were sicke of diuers diseases: and he cast out many devils, and suffered not the devils to say that they knew him.

35 And in the morning very early, hee rose day, Iesus arose and went out into a solitary place, and there prayd.

36 And Simon, and they that were with him, followed after him.

39 And hee preached in their Synagogues throughout all Galile, and cast the devils out.

40 ¶ And there came a leper to him, beseeching him, and kneled downe vnto him, and said to him, If thou wilt, thou canst make me cleane.

41 And Jesus had compassion, and put forth his hand, and touched him, and said to him, I will: be thou cleane.

42 And as soone as hee had spoken, immediately the leprosie departed from him, and he was made cleane.

43 And after he had given him a strait commandement, he sent him away forthwith, 44 And said vnto him, See thou say nothing to any man, but get thee hence, & shew thy selfe to the Priest, & offer for thy cleansing those things which Moses commanded, for a testimoniall vnto them.

45 But when he was departed, he began to tell many things, and to publish the matter: so that Jesus could no more openly enter into the citie, but was without in desert places: and they came to him from every quarter.

CHAP. II.

3 He healeth the man of the palse. 5 Hee forgiveth sinnes. 14 Hee calleth Lemi the custome. 16 He eateth with sinners. 18 He excofith his disciples, as touching fasting, and keeping the Sabbath day.

¶ After a few dayes he entred into Capernaum againe, and it was noised that he was in the house.

2 And anon many gathered together, in so much that the places about the dooze could not receive any more: and he preached the word vnto them.

3 And there came vnto him that brought one sicke of the palse, borne of foure men.

4 And because they could not come neere vnto him for the multitude, they vncovered the rooffe of the house where hee was: and when they had broken it open, they let down the bed wherein the sicke of the palse lay.

5 Now when Jesus saw their faith, hee sayd to the sicke of the palse, Sonne, thy sinnes are forgiven thee.

6 And there were certain of the Scribes, sitting there, and reasoning in their hearts,

7 Why doeth this man speake such blasphemies? Who can forgive sinnes, but God onely?

8 And immediately when Jesus perceived in his spirit, that thus they thought with themselves, hee sayd vnto them, Why reason ye these things in your hearts?

9 Whether is it easier to say to the sicke of the palse, Thy sinnes are forgiven thee: or to say, Arise, and take vp thy bed, and walke?

10 And that yee may knowe, that the Sonne of man hath authoritie in earth, to forgive sinnes, (he sayd vnto the sicke of the palse.)

11 I say vnto thee, Arise and take vp thy bed, & get thee hence into thine owne house.

12 And by and by he arose, & tooke vp his bed, and went forth before them all, in so much that they were all amazed, & glorified God, saying, We never saw such a thing.

13 ¶ Then hee went againe toward the sea, and all the people resorted vnto him, and he taught them.

14 ¶ And as Jesus passed by, he saw Lemi the sonne of Alphaeus sit at the receit of custome, and said vnto him, Follow me. And he arose and followed him.

15 ¶ And it came to passe, as Jesus sate at table in his house, many Publicanes and sinners sate at table also with Jesus, and his disciples: for there were many that followed him.

16 And when the Scribes and Pharises saw him eate with the Publicanes and sinners they sayd vnto his disciples, How is it, that hee eateth and drinketh with Publicanes and sinners?

17 Now when Jesus heard it, he said vnto them, The whole haue no need of the physician, but the sicke. I came not to call the righteous, but the sinners to repentance.

18 ¶ And the disciples of John & the Pharises did fast, and came and said vnto him, Why doe the disciples of John and of the Pharises fast, and thy disciples fast not?

19 And Jesus said vnto them, Can the children of the marriage chamber fast, whiles the bridegrome is with them? as long as they haue the bridegrome with them they cannot fast.

20 But the dayes will come, when the bridegrome shall bee taken from them, and then shall they fast in those dayes.

21 Also no man lotheth a piece of new cloth in an old garment: for els the new piece taketh away the filling vp from the old, and the breach is worse.

22 Likewise, no man putteth new wine into old vessels: for els the new wine breake the vessels, and the wine runneth out, and the vessels are lost: but new wine must be put into new vessels.

23 ¶ And it came to passe as hee went thorow the corne on the Sabbath day, that his disciples as they went on their way, began to plucke the eares of corne.

24 And the Pharises said vnto him, Behold, why doe they on the Sabbath day that which is not lawfull?

25 And he sayd to them, Have ye neuer read what David did when he had neede, and was an hungred, both he, and they that were with him?

26 Now hee went into the house of God, in the dayes of Abiathar the hie Priest, and did eate the shewbread, which were not lawfull to eate, but for the Priests, and gaue also to them which were with him?

27 And he said to them, The Sabbath was made for man, and not man for the Sabbath, 28 Wherefore the sonne of man is Lord euen of the Sabbath.

Luke 6. 6.

And hee entred againe into the Synagogue, and there was a man which had a withered hand.

2 And they watched him whether hee would heale him on the Sabbath day, that they might accuse him.

3 Then he said vnto the man which had the withered hand, Arise: stand forth in the midst.

4 And hee said to them, Is it lawfull to doe a good dedde on the Sabbath day, or to doe euil: to saue the life, or to kill: But they held their peace.

a They helde their tongues of malice: for they would neither confesse nor denie.

b Christ is in such sort angry with man, that he putteth him and seeketh to winne him.

c Although they hated one another deadly, yet this hindered them not to ioyne their malice to resist Christ. Reade Matth. 22. 16.

5 Then he looked round about on them angrily, mourning also for the hardnesse of their hearts, and said to the man, Stretch forth thine hand: And he stretched it out: and his hand was restored as whole as the other.

6 And the Pharisees departed, and straightway gathered a Councell with the Herodians against him, that they might destroy him.

7 But Iesus auoyded with his disciples to the Sea: and a great multitude followed him from Galile, and from Iudaea,

8 And from Ierusalem, and from Iudaea, and beyond Iordan, and they that dwelled about Tyrus & Sidon, when they had heard what great things hee did, came vnto him in great number.

9 And he commanded his disciples, that a ship should waite for him, because of the multitude, lest they should throng him.

10 For hee had healed many, insomuch that they pressed vpon him to touch him, as many as had // plagues.

|| Or, scourges, meaning diseases.

11 And when the vncleane spirits sawe him, they fell downe before him, and cried, saying, Thou art the Sonne of God.

12 And he sharply rebuked them, to the end they should not vter him.

16 And the first was Simon, and hee named Simon, Peter.

18 And Andrew, and Philip, and Bartemew, and Matthew, and Thomas, and James the sonne of Alphaeus, and // Chaddeus, and Simon the // Canaanite, 19 And Judas Iscariot who also betrayed him, and they came home.

20 And the multitude assembled againe, so that they could not so much as eate bread.

21 And when // his kinsfolkes heard of it, they went out to lay hold on him: for they thought he had bene beside himselfe.

22 And the Scribes which came from Ierusalem, sayd, He hath Beelzebub, and through the prince of deuils he casteth out deuils.

23 But he called them vnto him, and said vnto them in parables, How can Satan driue out Satan?

24 For if a kingdome be diuided against it selfe, that kingdome cannot stand.

25 Or if a house be diuided against it selfe, that house cannot continue.

26 So if Satan make insurrection against himselfe, and be diuided, he cannot endure, but is at an end.

27 No man can enter into a strong mans house, and take away his goods, except hee first binde that strong man, and then spoile his house.

28 Certely I say vnto you, all sins shal be forgiven vnto the children of men, & blasphemies, wherewith they blaspheme:

29 But he that // blasphemeth against the holy Ghost, shal neuer haue forgiveness, but is culpable of eternall damnation.

30 Because they said, He had an vncleane spirit.

31 Then came his // brethren and mother, and stood without, and sent vnto him, and called him.

32 And the people sate about him, & they said vnto him, Behold, thy mother and thy brethren seeke for thee without.

33 But he answered them, saying, Who is my mother and my brethren?

34 And he looked round about on them, which sate in compasse about him, and said, Behold my mother and my brethren.

35 For whosoener doeth the will of God, he is my brother, and my sister, and mother.

6 But as soone as the sunne was vp, it caught heate, and because it had no roote, it withered away.

i These two similitudes following, proue, that although the kingdome of God seemeth to haue very little appearance or beginning, yet God doth increase it aboue mans reason.

k If the ministers doe their duety, God will giue the increase yeeld fruit that sprung vp, and grew, and it brought forth some thirty fold, some fiftie fold, and some an hundred fold.

9 Then he said vnto them, He that hath eares to heare, let him heare.

10 And when hee was alone, they that were about him with the twelue, asked him of the parable.

11 And he sayd vnto them, To you it is giuen to know the mystery of the kingdome of God: but vnto them that are without, all things be done in parables, 12 That they seeing, may see, and not discern: and they hearing may heare, and not vnderstand, least at any time they should turne, and their sinnes should bee forgiven them.

13 Again he said vnto them, Perceiue ye not this parable? how then should ye vnderstand all other parables?

14 The sower soweth the word.

15 And these are they that receiue the seed by the wayes side, in whome the word is sown: but when they haue heard it. Satan commeth immediatly, and taketh away the word that was sown in their hearts.

16 And likewise they that receiue the seed in stony ground, are they, which when they haue heard the word, straightwayes receiue it with gladnes.

17 Yet haue they no roote in themselves, and indure but a time: for when trouble and persecution ariseth for the word, immediatly they be offended.

18 Also they that receiue the seed among the thornes, are such as heare the word:

19 But the cares of this world, and the deceitfulness of riches, and the lusts of other things enter in, and choke the word, and it is vnfruitfull.

20 But they that haue receiued seed in good ground, are they that heare the word, and receiue it, and bring forth fruit, one cometh thirty, another sixty, and some an hundred.

21 Also hee sayd vnto them, As the candle is lighted to be put vnder a bushell, or vnder the table, and not to be put on a candlestick?

22 For there is nothing hid that shall not be opened: neither is there a secret, but that it shall come to light.

23 If any man haue eares to heare, let him heare.

24 And he sayd vnto them, Take heede what ye heare. With what measure ye mete, it shall bee measured vnto you: and vnto you that heare, shall more be giuen.

25 For vnto him that hath, shall it be giuen, and from him that hath not, shall be taken away, euen that he hath.

26 Also he sayd, So is the kingdome of God, as if a man should cast seed in the ground, 27 And should sleep, and rise by night and day, and the seed should spring and grow vp, he not knowing how.

28 For the earth bringeth forth fruit of her selfe, first the blade, then the eares, after that, full cometh in the eares.

29 And as soon as the fruit sheweth it selfe, anon hee putteth in the sickle, because the harvest is come.

30 He said moreover, Whetherunto shall we liken the kingdome of God? or with what comparison shall we compare it?

31 It is like a graine of mustard seede, which when it is sown in the earth, is the least of all seeds that be in the earth:

32 But after that it is sown, it groweth vp, and is greatest of all herbes, and beareth great branches, so that the fowles of heauen may build vnder the shadow of it.

33 And with many such parables hee preached the word vnto them, as they were able to heare it.

34 And without parables spake he nothing vnto them, but he expounded all things to his disciples apart.

35 Now the same day when euen was come, hee said vnto them, Let vs passe ouer vnto the other side.

36 And they left the multitude, & tooke him as he was in the ship: and there were also with him other ships.

37 And there arose a great storm of wind and the waues dashed into the ship, so that it was now full.

38 And he was in the sterne asleepe on a pillow: and they awoke him, and sayd to him, Master, carest thou not that wee perishe?

39 And hee arose vp, and rebuked the wind, and sayd vnto the sea, Peace, and be still. So the wind ceased, and it was a great calme.

40 Then he said vnto them, Why are ye so fearful? how is it that ye haue no faith?

41 And they feared exceedingly, and said one to another, Who is this, that both the wind and the sea obey him?

9 And he asked him, What is thy name? And he answered, saying, My name is Legion: for we are many.

10 And he prayed him instantly, that hee would not send them away out of the countrey.

11 Now there was there in the mountaines a great heard of swine feeding.

12 And all the deuils besought him, saying, Send vs into the swine, that we may enter into them.

13 And incontinently Iesus gaue them leaue. Then the vnclane spirits went out, and entered into the swine, and the herd ran headlong from the hie banke into the Sea, (and there were about two thousand swine) and they were drowned in the sea.

14 And the swineherds fledde, and told it in the city, and in the countrey, and they came out to see what it was that was done.

15 And they came to Iesus, and saw him that had bene possessed with the deuill, and had the Legion, sit both clothed, and in his right mind: and they were afraid.

16 And they that saw it, told them what was done to him that was possessed with the deuill, and concerning the swine.

17 Then they began to pray him, that he would depart from their coasts.

18 And when he was come into the ship, hee that had bene possessed with the deuill, prayed him that he might be with him.

19 Howbeit Iesus would not suffer him, but said vnto him, Goe thy way home to thy friends, and shew them what great things the Lord hath done vnto thee, and how hee hath had compassion on thee.

20 So he departed, and began to publish in Decapolis, what great things Iesus had done vnto him: and all men did maruile.

21 And when Iesus was come ouer again by ship vnto the other side, a great multitude gathered to him, and hee was neere vnto the sea.

22 And behold, there came one of the rulers of the Synagogue, whose name was Tairus: and when he saw him, he fell downe at his feet, 23 And besought him instantly, saying, My little daughter lyeth at poynt of death: I pray thee that thou wouldest come and lay thine handes on her, that she may be healed and liue.

24 Then hee went with him, and a great multitude followed him, and thronged him.

25 And there was a certaine woman, which was diseased with an issue of blood twelue yeeres, 26 And had suffered many things of many physicians, and had spent all that she had, and it availed her nothing, but she became much worse.

27 When she had heard of Iesus, she came in the presse behind, and touched his garment.

28 For she said, If I may but touch his clothes, I shalbe whole.

29 And straightway the course of her blood was dried up, and she felt in her body, that she was healed of that plague.

30 And immediately when Iesus did know in himselfe the vertue that went out of him, he turned him round about in the presse, and said, Who hath touched my clothes?

31 And his disciples said vnto him, Thou seest the multitude throng thee, and sayest thou, Who did touch me?

32 And he looked round about, to see her that had done that.

33 And the woman feared and trembled: for she knew what was done in her, and shee came and fell down before him, and told him the whole truerth.

34 And he said to her, Daughter, thy faith hath made thee whole: goe in peace, and bee whole of thy plague.)

35 While hee yet spake, there came from the same Ruler of the Synagogues house, certaine which said, Thy daughter is dead: why diseatest thou the Master any further?

36 Assoone as Iesus heard that worde spoken, he said vnto the Ruler of the Synagogue, Be not afraid: onely beleene.

37 And he suffered no man to follow him, saue Peter, and James, and Iohn the brother of James.

38 So he came vnto the house of the ruler of the Synagogue, and saw the tumult, and them that wept and wailed greatly.

39 And he went in, and said vnto them, Why make ye this trouble, and weepe? the childe is not dead, but sleepeth.

40 And they laughed him to scorne: but he put them all out, and tooke the father, and the mother of the childe, and them that were with him, and entered in where the childe lay.

41 And tooke the childe by the hand, and said vnto her, Talitha cumi, which is by interpretation, Maiden, I say vnto thee, Arise.

42 And straightway the mayden arose and walked: for she was of the age of twelue yeeres: and they were astonished out of measure.

31 Then he began to teach them that the Sonne of man must suffer many things, and should be reprobued of the Elders, and of the high Priests, and of the Scribes, and be slaine, and within three dayes rise againe.

32 And hee spake that thing plainly. Then Peter tooke him aside, and began to rebuke him.

33 Then he turned backe, and looked on his disciples, and rebuked Peter, saying, Get thee behind mee, Satan: for thou understandest not the things that are of God, but the things that are of men.

34 And he called the people vnto him, with his Disciples, and sayd vnto them, Whosoener will follow mee, let him forsake himselfe, and take vp his crosse, and follow mee.

CHAP. IX.

2 The transfiguration. 7 Christ is to bee heard. 26 The dumbe spirit is cast out. 29 The force of prayer and fasting. 31 Of the death and resurrection of Christ. 33 The disputation who should be the greatest. 38 Not to hinder the course of the Gospel. 42 Offences are forbidden.

And hee said vnto them, Verely I say vnto you, that there be some of them that stand here, which shall not taste of death till they haue scene the kingdom of God come with power.

2 And sixe dayes after, Iesus tooke Peter, and James, and John, and brought them vp into an high mountaine out of the way alone, and he was transfigured before them.

3 And his raiment did shine, and was very white as snow, so white as no fuller can make vpon the earth.

4 And there appeared vnto them Elias with Moses, and they were talking with Iesus.

5 Then Peter answered and said to Iesus, Master, it is good for vs to be here: let vs make also three tabernacles, one for thee, and one for Moses, and one for Elias.

6 Yet hee knew not what hee said: for they were afraid.

7 And there was a cloude that shadowed them, and a voyce came out of the cloude, saying, This is my beloued Sonne: heare him.

8 And suddenly they looked round about, and saw no more any man save Iesus onely with them.

9 And as they came downe from the mountaine, he charged them that they should tell no man what they had seene, saue when the Sonne of man were risen from the dead againe.

10 So they kept that matter to themselves, & demanded one of another, what the rising from the dead againe should meane.

11 And they asked him, saying, Why say the Scribes, that Elias must first come?

12 And he answered and said vnto them, Elias verely shall first come, and restore all things: and as it is written of the Sonne of man, he must suffer many things, and bee set at nought.

13 But I say vnto you, that Elias is come, (and they haue done vnto him whatsoener they would) as it is written of him.

14 And when he came to his disciples, hee saw a great multitude about them, and the Scribes disputing with them.

15 And straightway all the people, when they beheld him, were amazed, and ranne to him, and saluted him.

16 Then hee asked the Scribes, What dispute you among your selues?

17 And one of the company answered, and said, Master, I haue brought my sonne vnto thee, which hath a dumbe spirit:

18 And wheresoener hee taketh him, hee teareth him, and hee smeth, and gnaweth his teeth, and pineth away: and I spake to thy disciples, that they should cast him out, and they could not.

19 Then he answered him, and said, O faithlesse generation, how long now shall I be with you! How long now shall I suffer you bringing him vnto me.

20 So they brought him vnto him: and as soone as the spirit sawe him, hee tare him, and he fell downe on the ground, wallowing and foaming.

21 Then he asked his father, How long time is it since hee hath bene thus? And hee said, Of a child.

22 And oft times he casteth him into the fire, and into the water to destroy him: but if thou canst doe any thing, helpe vs, and haue compassion vpon vs.

23 And Iesus said vnto him, If thou canst beleue it, all things are possible to him that beleueth.

24 And straightway the father of the childe crying with teares, said, Lord, I beleue: helpe my vnbeleefe.

25 When Iesus saw that the people came running together, hee rebuked the vncleane spirit, saying vnto him, Thou dumbe & deafe spirit, I charge thee, come out of him, and enter no more into him.

That is contray to his will, or that is not revealed in his word. That is, the feeblenesse and imperfection of my faith.

l All things that are agreeable to the will of God, shall be granted to him that beleue: he for faith seeketh nothing.

n Meaning, the

26 Then the spirit rested, and rent him fore and came out, and he was as one dead, in so much that many said, he is dead.

27 But Iesus tooke his hand, and lift him up, and he rose.

28 And when he was come into the house, his disciples asked him secretly, Why could not we cast him out?

29 And hee sayd vnto them, This kinde can by no other meanes come forth, but by prayer and fasting.

30 ¶ And they departed thence, and went through Galilee, and he would not that any should haue knowen it.

31 For he taught his disciples, and said vnto them, The Sonne of man shall be de-liuered into the hands of men, and they shall kill him, but after that he is killed, he shall rise againe the third day.

32 But they understood not that saying, and were afrayd to aske him.

33 ¶ After hee came to Capernaum: and when hee was in the house, hee asked them, What was it that yee disputed among you by the way?

34 And they held their peace: for by the way they reasoned among themselves, who should be the chiefest.

35 And hee satte downe, and called the twelue, and said to them, If any man desire to be first, the same shall be last of all, and seruant vnto all.

36 And he tooke a little childe, and set him in the middes of them, and tooke him in his armes, and sayd vnto them,

37 Whosoener shall receiue one of such little children in my Name, receiue me:
and whosoener receiue me, receiue me not me, but him that sent me.

38 ¶ Then Iohn answered him, saying, Master, wee saw one casting out devils by thy Name, which followed not vs, and wee forbade him, because he followeth vs not.

39 ¶ But Iesus sayd, Forbid him not:
for there is no man that can doe a miracle by my Name, that can lightly speake cuss of me.

40 For whosoener is not against vs, is on our part.

41 ¶ And whosoener shall giue you a cup of water to drinke for my Names sake, because ye belong to Christ, verily I say vnto you, he shall not lose his reward.

42 ¶ And whosoener shall offend one of these little ones, that beleeue in me, it were better for him rather, that a millstone were hanged about his necke, and that hee were cast into the sea.

43 ¶ Therefore, if thine hand cause thee to offend, cut it off: it is better for thee to enter into life maimed, then hauing two hands, to goe into hell, into the fire that neuer shall be quenched.

44 ¶ Where their woyme dieth not, and the fire neuer goeth out.

45 Likewise if thy foote cause thee to offend, cut it off: it is better for thee to go halt into life, then hauing two feete, to be cast into hell, into the fire that neuer shall be quenched,

46 Where their woyme dyeth not, and the fire neuer goeth out.

47 And if thine eye cause thee to offend, plucke it out: it is better for thee to goe into the kingdome of God with one eye, then hauing two eyes, to be cast into hell fire,

48 Where their woyme dieth not, and

49 For every man shall be salted with

And he arose from thence, and went into the costes of Iudea by the farre side againe, and as he was wont he taught them againe.

2 Then the Pharisees came and asked him, if it were lawfull for a man to put away his wife, and tempted him.

3 And he answered, and said vnto them,
What did Moses command you?

4 And they said, Moses suffered to write a bill of diuorcement, and to put her away.

5 Then Iesus answered, and said vnto them, For the hardnesse of your heart hee wrote this precept vnto you.

6 But at the beginning of the creation
God made them male and female.

7 For this cause shall man leaue his father and mother and cleaue vnto his wife.

8 And they twaine shall be one flesh:
so that they are no more twaine, but one flesh.

9 Therefore, what God hath coupled together, let no man separate.

10 And in the house his Disciples asked him againe of that matter.

11 And he said vnto them, Whosoener shall put away his wife, and marry another, committeth adulterie against her.

12 And if a woman put away her husband, and be married to another, shee com-mitteth adulterie.

13 ¶ Then they brought little children to him, that he should touch them: and his disciples rebuked those that brought them.

14 But when Iesus sawe it, he was displeased, and sayde to them, Suffer the little children to come to me, and forbid them not:
for of such is the kingdome of God.

15 Verily I say vnto you, Whosoener shall not receiue the kingdome of God as a little childe, he shall not enter therein.

16 And hee tooke them by in his armes, and put his hands vpon them, and blessed them.

way,

way, there came one * running, and kneeled to him, and asked him, Good Master, what shall I do, that I may possesse eternall life?

18 Iesus sayd to him, Why callest thou me good? there is none good but one, euen God.

19 Thou knowest the commandements, * Thou shalt not commit adulterie. Thou shalt not kill. Thou shalt not steale. Thou shalt not beare false witness. Thou shalt hurt no man. Honour thy father and mother.

20 Then he answered, and said to him, Master, all these things I haue obserued from my yonth.

21 And Iesus beheld him, and loued him, and said vnto him, One thing is lacking vnto thee. Goe and sell all that thou hast, and giue to the poore, and thou shalt haue treasure in heauen, and come, follow me, and take vp the crosse.

22 But hee was sad at that saying, and went away sorrowfull: for hee had great possessions.

23 And Iesus looked round about, and said vnto his disciples, how hardly doe they that haue riches enter into the kingdom of God!

24 And his disciples were astonied at his words. But Iesus answered againe, and said vnto them, Children, how hard is it for them that trust in riches, to enter into the kingdom of God!

25 It is easier for a camel to go thorow the eye of a needle, then for a rich man to enter into the kingdom of God.

26 And they were much more astonied, saying with themselves, Who then can be saved?

27 But Iesus looked vpon them, and sayd, With men it is impossible, but not with God: for with God all things are possible.

28 ¶ Then Peter began to say vnto him, Lord, we haue forsaken all and haue followed thee.

29 Iesus answered, and said, Verely, I say vnto you, there is no man that hath forsaken house, or brethren, or sisters, or father, or mother, or wife or children, or lands for my sake and the Gospels, 30 But he shall receiue an hundred fold, now at this present: houses, and brethren and sisters, and mothers, and children, and lands with persecutions, and in the world to come eternall life.

31 * But many that are first, shall be last, and the last first.

32 ¶ And they were in the way going vp to Ierusalem, and Iesus went before them, and they were amazed, and as they followed, they were afraid, and Iesus tooke the twelue againe, and began to tell them what things should come vnto him, 33 Saying, Behold, we goe vp to Ierusalem, and the Sonne of man shall be deliuered vnto the chief priests, and to the Scribes, and they shall condemne him to death, and shall deliuer him to the Gentiles.

34 And they shall mocke him, & scourge him, and spit vpon him, and kill him: but the third day he shall rise againe.

35 ¶ Then James & John the sonnes of Zebedeus came vnto him, saying, Master, we would that thou shouldest do for vs that that we desire.

36 And he sayd vnto them, What would ye I should doe for you?

37 And they sayde to him, Graunt vnto vs, that we may sit one at thy right hand, and the other at thy left hand in thy glory.

38 But Iesus sayd vnto them, Ye know not what ye aske. Can ye drink of the cup that I shall drinke of, and bee baptized with the baptisme that I shall bee baptized with?

39 And they sayd vnto him, We can. But Iesus sayd vnto them, Ye shall drinke indeed of the cup that I shall drinke of, and be baptized with the baptisme wherewith I shall be baptized.

40 But to sit at my right hand, and at my left, is not mine to giue, but it shall be giuen to them for whom it is prepared.

41 And when the ten heard that, they began to disdaime at James and John.

42 But Iesus called them vnto him, and sayd to them, * Ye know that they which delight to beare rule among the Gentiles, haue domination ouer them, and they that be great among them, exercise authority ouer them.

43 But it shall not bee so among you: but whosoever will be great among you, shall be your seruant.

44 And whosoever will be chiefe of you, shall be the seruant of all.

45 For euen the Sonne of man came not to be serued, but to serue, and to giue his life for the ransom of many.

46 ¶ Then they came to Iericho: and as he went out of Iericho with his disciples, and a great multitude, Bartimeus the son of Timeus, a blind man, sat by the way side begging.

47 And when he heard that it was Iesus of Nazaret, he began to cry and to say, Iesus the sonne of Dauid haue mercy on me.

48 And many rebuked him, because hee should hold his peace: but he cryed much more, O Sonne of Dauid, haue mercy on me.

49 Then Iesus stood still, and commanded him to be called: and they called the blind, saying vnto him, Be of good comfort: arise, he calleth thee.

50 So he threw away his cloke, and rose, and came to Iesus.

51 And Iesus answered, and said vnto him, What wilt thou that I doe vnto thee? And the blinde sayd vnto him, Lord, that I may receiue sight.

52 Then Iesus sayd vnto him, Goe thy way: thy faith hath saved thee. And by and by he receiued his sight, and followed Iesus in the way.

And when they came nere to Ierusalem, to Bethphage and Bethania vnto the mount of Olives, hee sent forth two of his disciples,

2 And said vnto them, Goe your wayes into that towne that is ouer against you, and as soone as ye shall enter into it, ye shall finde a colt bound, whereon neuer man late: loose him, and bring him.

3 And if any man say vnto you, Why doe ye this? Say that the Lord hath neede of him, and straightway he will send him thither.

4 And they went their way, and found a colt tyed by the doore without, in a place where two wayes mette, and they loosed him.

5 Then certaine of them that stood there, sayd vnto them, What doe ye looking the colt?

6 And they said vnto them as Iesus had commanded them. So they let them goe.

7 And they brought the colt to Iesus, and cast their garments on him, and he satte vpon him.

8 And many spread their garments in the way: other cut downe branches off the trees, and strawed them in the way.

9 And they that went before, and they that followed, cryed, saying, Hosanna, Blessed be he that commeth in the Name of the Lord.

10 Blessed bee the kingdome that commeth in the Name of the Lord of our father Dauid: Hosanna, O thou which art in the highest heauens.

11 So Iesus entred into Ierusalem, and into the Temple: and when he had looked about on all things, and now it was euening, he went forth vnto Bethania with the twelve.

12 And on the morrow when they were come out from Bethania, hee was hungry.

13 And seeing a figge tree a farre off, that had leaues, he went to see if he might finde any thing thereon: but when he came vnto it, he found nothing but leaues: for the time of figs was not yet.

14 Then Iesus answered, and sayd to it, Neuer man eate fruite of thee hereafter while the world standeth: and his disciples heard it.

15 And they came to Ierusalem, and Iesus went into the Temple, and began to cast out them that solde and bought in the Temple, and ouerthrew the tables of the money changers, and the seats of them that sold dones.

16 Neither would he suffer that any man should cary a vessell thowow the Temple.

17 And hee taught, saying vnto them, Is it not written, Mine house shall be called the house of prayer vnto all nations? but you haue made it a den of theennes.

18 And the Scribes & hie Priests heard it, and sought how to destroy him: for they feared him, because the whole multitude was astonished at his doctrine.

19 But when euen was come, Iesus went out of the citie.

20 And in the morning as they passed by, they saw the figge tree dyed vp from the rootes.

21 Then Peter remembered, and said vnto him, Master, behold, the figge tree which thou curdest, is withered.

22 And Iesus answered, and said vnto them, Hane faith in God.

23 For verily I say vnto you, that whatsoever shall say vnto this mountaine, Take thy selfe away, and cast thy selfe into the sea, and shall not wauer in his heart, but shall beleue that those things which he saith shall come to passe, whatsoeuer he saith, shall be done to him.

24 Therefore I say vnto you, Whatsoeuer ye desire when ye pray, beleue that yee shall haue it, and it shall be done vnto you.

25 But when yee shall stand and pray, forgive, if you haue any thing against any man, that your Father also which is in heauen, may forgive you your trespasses.

26 For if you will not forgive, your Father which is in heauen will not pardon you your trespasses.

27 Then they came againe to Ierusalem: and as hee walked in the Temple, there came to him the hie Priests, and the Scribes, and the Elders, 28 And said vnto him, By what authoritie dost thou these things: and who gaue thee this authoritie, that thou shouldst doe these things?

29 Then Iesus answered, and said vnto them, I wil also aske of you a certaine thing, and answer ye mee, and I will tell you by what authoritie I doe these things.

30 The baptisme of John, was it from heauen, or of men? answer me.

31 And they thought with themselves, saying, If we shal say, From heauen, he will say, Why then did ye not beleue him?

32 But if we say, Of men, we feare the people: for all men counted John, that he had bene a very Prophet.

33 Then they answered and said vnto Iesus, We cannot tell. And Iesus answered, and said vnto them, Neither will I tel you by what authoritie I doe these things.

3 But they tooke him, and beat him, and sent him away empty.

4 And againe, he sent vnto them another seruant, and at him they cast stones, and brake his head, and sent him away shamefully handled.

5 And againe he sent another, and him they slew, and many other, beating some, and killing some.

6 Per had he one sonne, his deare beloved: him also he sent the last vnto them, saying, They will reuerence my sonne.

7 But y^e husbandmen said among themselves, This is the heire: come, let vs kill him, and the inheritance shall be ours.

8 So they tooke him, and killed him, and cast him out of the vineyard.

9 What shall then the Lord of the vineyard doe? He^b will come and destroy these husbandmen, and glue the vineyard to others.

10 Haue ye not read so much as this scripture? The stone which the builders did refuse, is made the head of the corner?

11 This^c was done of the Lord, and it is marueilous in our eyes.

12 Then they went about to take him, but they feared the people: for they perceiued that he spake that parable against them: therefore they left him, and went their way.

13 And they sent vnto him certaine of the Pharisees, and of the Herodians, that they might take him in his talke.

14 And when they came, they sayd vnto him, Master, wee know that thou art true, and carest for no man: for thou considerest not the person of men, but teachest the way of God truly. Is it lawfull to giue tribute to Cesar, or not?

15 Should we giue it, or should we not giue it? But he knew their hypocrisie, and said vnto them, Why tempt ye me? Bring me a penny, that I may see it.

16 So they brought it, and he said vnto them, Whose is this image and superscription? And they said vnto him, Cessars.

17 Then Iesus answered, and said vnto them, Giue to Cesar the things that are Cessars, and to God, those that are Gods: and they maruelled at him.

18 Then came the Sadduces vnto him (which say there is no resurrection) and they asked him, saying,

19 Master, Moses wrote vnto vs, If any mans brother die, and leaue his wife, and leaue no children, that his brother should take his wife, and raise vp seed vnto his brother.

20 There were seuen brethren, & the first tooke a wife, and when he died, left no issue:

21 Then the second tooke her, and hee died, neither did he yet leaue issue, and the third likewise.

22 So seuen had her, and left no issue: last of all the wife died also.

23 In the resurrection then, when they shall rise againe, whose wife shall shee be of them? for seuen had her to wife.

24 Then Iesus answered, and said vnto them, Are ye not therefore deceived, because ye know not the Scriptures, neither the power of God?

25 For when they shall rise againe from the dead, neither men marrie, nor wiues are married, but are^b as the Angels which are in heauen.

26 And as touching the dead, that they shall rise againe, haue ye not read in the booke of Moses, how in the bush God spake vnto him, saying, I am the God of Abraham, and the God of Isaac, and the God of Jacob?

27 He is not the God of the dead, but the God of the liuing. Ye are therefore greatly deceived.

28 Then came one of the Scribes, that had heard them disputing together, and perceiuing that he had answered them well, he asked him, Which is the first commandment of all?

29 Iesus answered him, The first of all the commandments is, Heare Israel, the Lord our God is the onely Lord.

30 Thou shalt therefore loue the Lord thy God, with all thine heart, and with all thy soule, & with all thy minde, and with all thy strength: this is the first commandment.

31 And the second is like, that is, Thou shalt loue thy neighbour as thy selfe. There is none other commandment greater then these.

32 Then the Scribe said vnto him, Well Master, thou hast said the trueth, that there is one God, and that there is none but he,

33 And to loue him with all the heart, and with all the vnderstanding, and with all the soule, and with all the strength, and to loue his neighbour as himselfe, is more then all burnt offerings and sacrifices.

34 Then when Iesus saw that hee answered discretely, he said vnto him, Thou art not farre from the kingdome of God. And no man after that durst alke him any question.

35 And Iesus answered, and said, teaching in the Temple, how say the Scribes that Christ is the sonne of David?

36 For David himselfe said by the holy Ghost, The Lord said to my Lord, Sit at my right hand, til I make thine enemies thy footstool.

37 Then David himselfe calleth him Lord: by what meanes is he then his sonne? and much people heard him gladly.

38 Whereouer he said vnto them in his doctrine, Beware of the Scribes, which loue to goe in long robes, and loue salutations in the markets,

39 And the chiefe seates in the Synagogues, and the first roomes at feasts, 40 Which deuoure widowes houses, euen vnder a colour of long prayers. These shall receiue the greater damnation.

41 And as Iesus sate ouer against the treasure, he beheld how the people cast money into the treasure, and many rich men cast in much.

42 And there came a certaine pooze widow, and shee threw in two mites, which make a quadran.

43 Then hee called vnto him his Disciples, and said vnto them, Verily I say vnto

CHAP. XLII.

2 The destruction of Ierusalem. 10 The Gospel shall be preached to all. 9. 22 The persecution and false prophets, which shall bee before the comming of Christ, whose houre is vncertaine. 33 He exhorteth euery one to watch.

As he went out of the Temple, one of his disciples said vnto him, Master, see what stones and what buildings are here.

2 Then Iesus answered and said vnto him, Seest thou these great buildings? there shall not be left one stone vpon a stone, that shall not be throwen downe.

3 And as he sat on the mount of olives, ouer against the Temple, Peter, and James,
and Iohn, and Andrey asked him secretly,

4 Tels vs when shall these things be, and what shall be the signe when all these things shall be fulfilled?

5 And Iesus answered them, and began to say, Take heed lest any man deceiue you.

6 For many shall come in my name, saying, I am Christ, and shall deceiue many.

7 Furthermore, when yee shall heare of warres, and rumours of warres, be yee not troubled: for such things must needs be; but the end shall not be yet.

8 For nation shall rise against nation, and kingdome against kingdome, and there shall be earthquakes in diuers quarters: & there shall bee famine and troubles: these are the beginnings of sorowes.

9 But take heed to your selues: for they shall deliuer you vp to the Councils, & to the Synagogues: yee shall be beaten, and brought before rulers and kings for my sake, for a testimonie vnto them.

10 And the Gospel must first be published among all nations.

11 But when they leade you and deliuer you vp, take yee no thought afore, neither premeditate what yee shall say: but whatsoeuer is giuen you at the same time, that speake: for it is not yee that speake, but the holy Ghost.

12 Yea, and the brother shall deliuer the brother to death, and the father the sonne, and the children shall rise against their parents, and shall cause them to die.

13 And yee shall be hated of all men for my names sake: but whosoever shall indure vnto the end, he shall be saved.

14 Moreover, when yee shall see the abomination of desolation (spoken of by Daniel the Prophet) standing where it ought not (let him that readeth consider it) then let them that bee in Iudea, flee into the mountaines.

15 And let him that is vpon the house, not come downe into the house, neither enter therein, to fetch any thing out of his house.

16 And let him that is in the field, not turne backe againe vnto the things which he left behind him, to take his clothes.

17 Then two shall be to them that are with hilde, and to them that giue sucke in those dayes.

18 Pray therefore that your flight bee not in the winter.

19 For there shall bee in those dayes such tribulation, as was not from the beginning of the creation which God created, vnto this time, neither shall be.

20 And except that the Lord had shortened those dayes, no flesh should bee saved:
but for the elects sake, which he hath chosen,
he hath shortened those dayes.

21 Then if any man say to you, Lo, here is Christ, or Lo, he is there, beleeue it not.

22 For false Christs shall rise, and false prophets, and shall shew signes and wonders to deceiue, if it were possible, the very elect.

23 But take yee heed: beholde, I haue shewed you all things before.

24 Moreover, in those dayes, after that tribulation, the Sunne shall waxe dark, and the Moone shall not giue her light,

25 And the stars of heauen shall fall: and the powers which are in heauen shall shake.

26 And then shall they see the Sonne of man comming in the cloudes, with great power and glory.

27 And he shall then send his Angels, and shall gather together his elect from the four winds, and from the vtmost part of the earth, to the vtmost part of heauen.

28 Now learne a parable of the fig tree.
When her bough is yet tender, and it bringeth forth leaues, yee know that Summer is neere.

29 So in like manner, when yee see these things come to passe, know that the kingdome of God is neere, euen at the doores.

30 Verily I say vnto you, that this generation shall not passe, till all these things be done.

31 Heauen and earth shall passe away, but my words shall not passe away.

32 But of that day & houre knoweth no man, no, not the Angels which are in heauen, neither the Sonne himselfe, saue the Father.

33 Take heed: watch, and pray: for yee know not when the time is.

34 For the Sonne of man is as a man going into a strange countrey, & leaueth his house, and giueth authority to his seruants, and to euery man his worke, and commandeth the porter to watch.

35 Watch therefore, (for yee know not when the Master of the house will come, at even, or at midnight, at the cocke crowing, or in the dawning.)

36 Lest if he come suddenly, he should finde you sleeping.

37 And those things that I say vnto you,
I say vnto all men, Watch.

might take him by craft, & put him to death.

2 But they said, Not in the feast day, lest there be any tumult among the people.

3 * And when he was in Bethania, in the house of Simon the leper, as he sat at table, there came a woman hauing a boze of ointment of spikenard very costly, and she brake the boze, and powred it on his head.

4 Therefore some disdained among themselves, and said, To what end is this waste of ointment?

5 For it might haue bene sold for more then three hundred pence, & been giuen vnto the poore, and they grudged against her.

6 But Iesus said, Let her alone: why trouble ye her? she hath wrought a good worke on me.

7 For ye haue the poore with you alwayes, and when ye will ye may doe them good, but me ye shall not haue alwayes.

8 She hath done that she could: she came aforhand to anoint my body to the burying.

9 Verely I say vnto you, Wheresoeuer this Gospel shall be preached throughout the whole world, this also that she hath done, shall be spoken of in remembrance of her.

10 * Then Iudas Iscariot one of the twelue, went away vnto the hie Priests to betray him vnto them.

11 And when they heard it, they were glad, & promised that they would giue him money: therefore hee sought how hee might conueniently betray him.

12 * Now the first day of vneauened bread, when they sacrificed the Pascheouer, his disciples said vnto him, Where wilt thou that we go and prepare, that thou mayest eat the Pascheouer?

13 Then he sent forth two of his disciples, and said vnto them, Goe ye into the citie, and there shall a man meet you, bearing a pitcher of water: follow him.

14 And whither soeuer he goeth in, say ye to the goodman of the house, The Master saith, Where is the lodging where I shall eat the Pascheouer with my disciples?

15 And he will shew you an upper chamber which is large, trimmed and prepared:
there make it ready for vs.

16 So his disciples went forth, and came to the citie, & found as he had said vnto them, and made ready the Pascheouer.

17 And at euen he came with the twelue

18 * And as they sat at table and did eat, Iesus said, Verely I say vnto you, that one of you shall betray mee, which eateth with mee.

19 Then they began to be sorrowfull, and to say to him one by one, Is it I? and another, Is it I?

20 And he answered, and said vnto them,
It is one of the twelue that * dippeth with me in the platter.

21 * Truely the Sonne of man goeth his way, as it is written of him: but woe be to that man, by whom the Sonne of man is betrayed: it had been good for that man, if he had neuer bene borne.

22 * And as they did eat, Iesus stooke the bread, and when he had giuen thanks, hee brake it and gaue it to them, and said, Take,

eate, this is my body.

23 Also he tooke the cup, and when he had giuen thanks, gaue it to them: and they all dranke of it.

24 And he sayd vnto them, This is my blood of the New Testament, which is shed for many.

25 Verely I say vnto you, I will drinke no more of the fruit of the Vine, vntill that day that I drinke it new in the kingdome of God.

26 And when they had sung a Psalme, they went out to the mount of Olives.

27 * Then Iesus said vnto them, All ye shall be offended by me this night: for it is written, * I will smite the Shepheard, and the sheepe shall be scattered.

28 But after that I am risen, I will goe into Galilee before you.

29 And Peter sayd vnto him, Although all men should bee offended, yet would not I.

30 Then Iesus said vnto him, Verely I say vnto thee, this day, euen in this night, before the cock crow twice, thou shalt denie me thrice.

31 But he said more earnestly, If I should diewith thee, I will not denie thee: likewise also said they all.

32 * After, they came into a place named Gethsemane: then he said to his disciples, Sit ye here till I haue prayed.

33 And hee tooke with him Peter, and James, and John, & he began to be afraid, and in great heauinesse,

34 And said vnto them, My soule is very heauie, euen vnto the death: tarry here and watch.

35 So he went forward a little, and fell downe on the ground, and prayed, that if it were possible, that houre might passe from him.

36 And he said, Abba, Father, all things are possible vnto thee: take away this cup from me: neuertheless, not that I will, but that thou wilt, be done.

37 Then he came & found them sleeping, and said to Peter, Simon, sleepest thou?
couldst not thou watch one houre?

38 Watch ye, and pray, that ye enter not into temptation: the spirit in dede is readie, but the flesh is weake.

39 And againe he went away, and prayed, and spake the same words:

40 And he returned, and found them asleepe againe: for their eyes were heauy: neither knew they what they should answer him.

41 And he came the third time, and said vnto them, * Sleepe henceforth, and take your rest: it is enough: the houre is come:
behold, the Sonne of man is deliuered into the hands of sinners.

42 Rise vp: let vs goe: loe, he that betray-eth me, is at hand.

43 * And immediatly while he yet spake, came Iudas that was one of the twelue, and and staves from the hie Priests & Scribes,

49 I was daily with you teaching in the Temple, and ye *t*ooke me not: but this is done that the Scriptures should be fulfilled.

50 Then they *a*ll forsooke him and fled.

51 And there followed him a certaine young man, clothed in linnen vpon his bare body, and the yong men caught him.

52 But he left his linnen cloth, and fled from them naked.

53 *S*o they led Iesus away to the high Priest, and to him came all the *h*ie Priests, and the Elders, and the Scribes.

54 And Peter followed him a farre off, euen into the hall of the high Priest, and sate with his seruants, and warmed himselfe at the *f*ire.

55 And the *h*ie Priests and all the Councell sought for witnessse against Iesus, to put him to death, but found none.

56 For many bare false witnessse against him, but their witnessse *a*greed not together.

57 Then there arose certaine, and bare false witnessse against him, saying,

58 *W*e heard him say, I will destroy this Temple made with hands, and within three dayes I will build another, made without hands.

59 But their witnessse yet agreed not together.

60 Then the hie Priest stood by amongst them, and asked Iesus, saying, Answerest thou nothing? What is the matter that these beare witnessse against thee?

61 But hee held his peace, and answered nothing. Again the hie Priest asked him, and sayde vnto him, Art thou *C*hrist the Sonne of the *B*lessed?

62 And Iesus said, I am hee, *a*nd ye shall see the *S*onne of man sit at the right hand of the power of God, and come in the cloudes of heauen.

63 Then the hie Priest rent his clothes, and sayde, What haue we any more neede of witnessses?

64 *W*e haue heard the blasphemie: what thinke ye? and they all condemned him to be worthy of death.

65 And some began to spit at him and to couer his face, and to beat him with fists, and to say vnto him, *P*rophesie. And the b sergeants smote him with their rods.

66 *A*nd as Peter was beneath in the hall, there came one of the maids of the high Priest.

67 And when shee sawe Peter warming himselfe, she looked on him, and saide, *T*hou wast also with Iesus of Nazaret.

68 But hee denied it, saying, I know him not, neither wote I what thou sayest. Then he went out into the *p*orch, and the cocke crew.

69 *T*hen a Maide saw him againe, and began to say to them that stood by, *T*his is one of them.

70 But hee denied it againe: and anone after they that stood by, sayd againe to Peter, *S*urely thou art one of them: for thou art of Galilee, and thy speech is like.

71 And he began to curse and sweare, saying, I know not this man of whom ye speake.

72 *T*hen the second time the Cocke crew, and Peter remembered the word that Iesus had said vnto him, Before the Cocke crow twice, thou shalt denie me thrise, and weighing that with himselfe, he wept.

CHAP. XV.

I Iesus is led to Pilate. 15 Hee is condemned, reuiled, and put to death, 46 and is buried by Joseph.

*A*nd anon in the dawning, the high Priests held a Councell with the Elders, and the Scribes, and the whole councell, and bound Iesus, and led him away, and deliuered him to Pilate.

2 Then Pilate asked him, Art thou the King of the Iewes? And hee answered, and sayd vnto him, *T*hou sayest it.

3 And the high Priests accused him of many things.

4 Wherefore Pilate asked him againe, saying, Answerest thou nothing? behold how many things they witnessse against thee.

5 But Iesus answered *n*o more at all, so that Pilate marvelled.

6 Now at the feast Pilate did deliuer a prisoner vnto them, whomsoeuer they would desire.

7 Then there was one named Barabbas, which was bound with his fellows, that had made insurrection, who in the insurrection had committed murder.

8 And the people cryed aloud, and began to desire that hee would doe as hee had *e*uer done vnto them.

9 Then Pilate answered them, and said, *W*ill ye that I let loose vnto you the King of the Iewes?

10 For hee knew that the hie Priests had deliuered him of enuy.

11 But the high Priests had mooued the people to desire that hee would rather deliuer Barabbas vnto them.

12 And Pilate answered, and sayde againe vnto them, *W*hat will ye then that I doe with him, whom ye call the King of the Iewes?

13 And they cryed againe, *C*rucifie him.

14 Then Pilate sayde vnto them, *B*ut what enill hath he done? And they cryed the more feruently, *C*rucifie him.

15 So Pilate *w*illing to content the people,
